Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1883.

A RECKLESS CHARGE.

SOME Reform journals, more ignorant or more unscrupulous than their fellows, are falsely charging Sir John Macdonald with illegally disfranchising either Lennox or Carleton by not electing for which constituencies will sit. If these critics would make themselves acquainted with the facts and the law of a case before launching their unfounded accusations it would be better. The reason why Sir John did not elect the constituency for which he will sit is that the law does not permit him to do so. If no petition against his return had been presented it would have been his duty to make his choice. But a petition has been filed and he cannot do so. Thus it is the action of the Reformers, not his own will, that has prevented Sir John Macdonald from declaring which of the two constituencies elected him he will represent.

A POLICE WANTED.

This is what the Toronto Times, an independent Reform journal, has to say about Mr. Mowat:

"Mr. Mowat's government must wake up and get a policy, or it is doomed. The qualities of timorousness, delay and love of office all enter largely into its composition. There is no snap in it. Everything is put off. Its members, as the natural heads of the Reform party in Ontario, have allowed their opponents to steal a march on them in several progressive measures, including the extension of the franchise. They are afraid to deal with the question of new Parliament buildings. They are afraid to appoint a successor to Mr. Wood. They are afraid to fill vacant offices. They are afraid to do anything. And just ahead of them are thirty election trials and a well-directed assault on provincial autonomy. Have they any determined policy to set against Sir John Macdonald's attack on the province? Are they prepared to arrest the first man who attempts to enforce a Dominion License Law in Ontario? Will they build decent Parliament buildings? Will they grapple with the university question? And on a dozen live issues will they declare a progressive policy? They are getting towards the last ditch and they must fight. If Mr. Mowat will not adopt a vigorous and determined policy he should make way for some one who will. It is better to lose office in maintaining the rights of Ontario, than it is to lose office by neglecting them."

Convincing Proof.

Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arnica and Oil Liniment. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine. I am yours truly, W. H. DICKSON, 218 St. Constant St., Montreal. To Henry, Johnson & Lord, Montreal. Arnica and Oil Liniment is sold by all Druggists.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

BREITLY, May 21.—A violent storm yesterday caused much damage to the hygienic exhibition building. The rain penetrated the roof, the partition walls of the Austrian department were overturned and several persons were injured.

OFFICES TO BE ABOLISHED.

LONDON, May 21.—Mr. Trevelyan stated that the Government intended to abolish the office of special resident magistrate in Ireland.

ENDED IN A ROW.

PARIS, May 21.—The so-called Workingmen's Congress last evening ended with a general fight. One man was stabbed, and several including Jaffrin, member of the Municipal Council, were otherwise injured.

CETEWAYO AGAIN DEFEATED.

LONDON, May 21.—Cetewayo has again been defeated, this time with great slaughter.

A MURDERER PREVIEWED.

DUBLIN, May 21.—Delaney, one of the Phoenix park murderers, has been previewed.

A MONUMENT TO MR. BURKE.

DUBLIN, May 21.—A monument, the cost of which was defrayed by the resident magistrates of Ireland, and constructed in memory of Mr. Burke, who was murdered in Phoenix Park, was placed in position in Glasnevin cemetery today. The monument is guarded.

AN OFFICIAL DENIAL.

LONDON, May 21.—In the House of Commons today the Attorney-General for Ireland denied that Delaney, one of the Phoenix park murderers, pleaded guilty because of a previous agreement that his life would be spared if he would criminate Kelly.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

AN ANARCHIST ARRESTED.
PARIS, May 22.—An anarchist Morphy, having returned here after being expelled, was rearrested. He intended to found an anarchist journal. IS TYNAN NO. ONE?

LONDON, May 22.—Great doubts are expressed as to whether Tynan, concerning whom General Pryor had correspondence with the British Consulate, is the real "Number One." It is suspected that Pryor has been imposed upon.

REBELS SUBMITTING.

CAIRO, May 22.—The Governor of Sudan telegraphed to the Khedive that in a battle on the 29th of April the rebel forces were pursued. Two vessels commanded by Hicks Pasha and Yehya Bey cut off their retreat at the passage of the Nile. The majority of the native chiefs submitted. The Egyptian Governor is sanguine that others will follow their example.

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN.

PARIS, May 22.—Cardinal Lavigne has been authorized by the Pope to call the attention of the French Government to the difficulty the Pope has of preventing the tension between the Vatican and France from becoming open rupture, and to show how impotently the enemies of the Republic await such a result. The Government made an amiable reply to the Cardinal's communication.

ATTEMPT ON THE CZAR.

BERLIN, May 22.—An unconfirmed report from St. Petersburg says that previous to the departure of the Emperor for Moscow an explosion occurred under a wash stand in the first place in his dressing-room, but that nobody was injured. The Emperor and Empress being in the dining-room at the time.

THE CZAR AT MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, May 22.—The weather this morning for the state entrance into Moscow of the Czar, was splendid. The whole route of the Imperial procession from Ploshchitsky palace to Kremlin for and a half mile, was crowded with people. At every point the Imperial standards were displayed, and the balconies are hung with gaily colored materials and the Russian colors. The only foreign flags allowed to be displayed are those of the various embassies, from which float the colors of their respective countries. Along the road which the procession travelled are a hundred Venetian masts from which banners are flying. All the domes and spires of the buildings in the city are decked with flags. A thousand persons passed the night out of doors so that they might get good places to witness the procession. Multitudes of others thronged the churches, praying for the safety of the Emperor. Diplomats and other dignitaries who did not take part in the procession occupied seats in the tribunes along the route.

AMERICAN.

THE STORMS ON THE LAKES.
PORT HURON, May 22.—The barge Wyoming is ashore six miles above Port Edward. The crew is on board. The vessel may last till the storm abates. The barge Ocotaw was broken up off Lake Port. Three schooners are ashore on Lake St. Clair, and the schooner Hazard, Ellen and Dobbin are at Lexington, with the water breaking over them at frequent intervals. Five unknown vessels are reported ashore between there and Pine Hill. The barges Meesell and St. Joseph, in tow of the tug Clark, are adrift off Lexington. The tug Champion will go out to help them. The wind continues.

A HURRICANE.

CLEVELAND, May 22.—There was a hurricane here yesterday. The wind blew over Lake Erie at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and last night increased in violence. Several vessels are reported lost, but it is thought that no lives were lost. A portion of the new breakwater was carried away. The iron factory was demolished by the wind. Loss $50,000. Small buildings, fences, timber, crops, and fruit suffered severely. The lake men say the storm was the heaviest in ten years.

THE FLOODS SUBSIDED.

DEADWOOD, May 22.—The flood in the Whitewater river has subsided and the stream has returned to its natural state. Business has generally been resumed. It is impossible to travel on the old road leading through Boulder Park, but repair forces are at work now. It is believed that the loss will not exceed $200,000.

KILLED AT A POLITICAL MEETING.

KYSSER, W. Va., May 24.—At a political meeting two leaders, Slade Lewis (white), Republican, and John L. Newson (coloured), Republican, became involved in a fight. Lewis shot and killed Newson. The meeting broke up in great confusion. The excitement in the county is intense.

FENELON FALLS.

ACCIDENT.—The Gazette says that on Wednesday evening the drum of one of the canal derricks underwent some repairs, and next morning, when the box in which the stone is raised was being lowered, for the first time that day, the wire rope from some cause slipped around the drum, and the empty box descended upon Mr. John Brandon, who was drilling a hole in the rock below. The blow which he received on the head inflicted only a slight wound, but he was thrown down and doubled up so forcibly that his back was badly injured, though no bones were broken. He was carried into the McArthur House and afterwards taken home as gently as possible in a spring wagon. He was then carefully examined by Dr. Lowe, who accompanied him, and who is of the opinion that the accident will not prove as bad a case as was it feared to be. Mr. Brandon would almost certainly have been killed on the spot, but for the fact that the descending box first struck the long drill with which he was working, and which projected above his head.

COBBOURG.

THE FLOUR MILL.—Letters patent have been issued incorporating Alexander Fox, miller; John Dawkins, miller; Alexander Pratt, flour and feed dealer, Cobourg; James M. Caruthers, township of Haldimand, farmer; and Alexander R. Eagleson, township of Haldimand, farmer, for the purpose of rebuilding the Cobourg Flour Mills as a roller mill and working the same, by the name of "The Cobourg Flour Milling Company," with a capital stock $10,000, in shares of $25 each.

A "Good Thing" Brought Home.

The Clinton New Era remarks that the foundry there has received an order from Manitoba for fifteen of their now world-renowned thrashing machines, to be furnished with horse-power complete. This order represents a large sum, and shows how highly their machines are valued in Manitoba. Our contemporary goes on to say that "this is a good thing for Clinton, as well as for the firm." Very well. But how much of this "good" would be realized, either for Clinton or its manufacturers, if it were not for the tariff readjustment known as the National Policy? Were the views of the late member for Centre Huron still to prevail, the above order would be received in St. Paul, or Indianapolis, rather than at Ontario town. Need it be said that our contemporary supported Sir Richard? It is to be hoped that with such an example at its own doors, of the benefit which the N. P. confers upon Canadian industry, the New Era will admit that "the flies on the wheel" were bad for the country, and the friends of country and the friends of industry did right to "shoo" them.—London Free Press.

Anti-Confederation Again.

At a dinner given to Mr. Anglin at St. John, N.B., on his leaving that city to pursue his profession of journalism in Toronto, he reviewed his political course. Among other things he took credit for his hostility to the Confederation of British North America, and to slench his point, added, "I hold the same opinion on that question to-day." If Mr. Anglin brings that opinion with him to Toronto, and acts upon it, he will prove a powerful ally of the Mowat faction, which seems bent upon making the existence of Confederation as precarious as possible. Mr. Blake wanted British Columbia to "go," and the same anti-national spirit pervades a large portion of the "Liberal" party. It is not fair to say, however, that Mr. Mackenzie has never displayed any feeling of this sort, and has within his own sphere been loyal to Confederation.—London Free Press.

An Opinion of the Governor-General.

Lord Lorne (says the London Daily Telegraph) has done his work well in the Dominion, and there is fair reason to presume that the qualities he has displayed would enable him to take India with credit to himself and advantage to the empire. Moreover, it would be fortunate in many ways were a daughter of Queen Victoria to visit the East and preside over Government House.

Wonderful Escape from Death.

Horton, a railroad navy, took a fit on the track near Shabot Lake, and lay unconscious when the train came thundering along. It could not be stopped, but it was slowed and knocked the man off the track. His head was badly wounded, but the wonder is that he was not fatally crushed.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and their modern splendorer invented by Mr. Souville, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Send a three-cent stamp for a copy of their International News, published monthly at 173 Church street, Toronto.

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Casson's Balm of Gilead. He says they give splendid relief. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer, every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. For sale by J. D. Tally.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Triangle Package Balm.—The genuine are in three-cornered packages to distinguish them from the old fashioned common cologne in square envelopes. 30 colors. Perfect in all their shades. Satisfaction guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtesy; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind promises poverty. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1883.

Now, Fine White and Colored Shirts at cost until the 31st of May, at W. J. GREEN'S. See window.

The Cells.
The police cells were occupied last night by one prisoner.

Lacrosse Meeting.
A meeting of the Managing Committee of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, will be held this evening at 7 o'clock sharp, at Mr. H. LeBrun's store.

The Cricket Club.
The annual meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held this evening in the office of Messrs Hutton & Beck, for the purpose of organizing for the season. It is to be hoped that the members who took a part in the affairs of the club last year, as well as all those who admire this manly game, will attend the meeting.

The Annual Drill.
The Canada Gazette of Saturday contains the announcement of the dates and places for the annual drill for all the military districts except this one, from which it would appear that it was not then decided whether this district will drill at Belleville or Niagara. No. 2 (Toronto) district goes into camp at Niagara on June 22nd.

A Fall from a Ladder.
Mr. Napoleon Tromley had a narrow escape from serious injury on Monday afternoon. In working on a new house which is being built by Mr. E. Dunsford, on the corner of Stewart and Sherbrooke streets, a ladder was placed on a scaffold, and Tromley ascended the ladder, while two men held it at the bottom. Part of the scaffold gave away and Tromley fell, striking on his feet on the scaffold and then falling to the ground on his head. He was considerably "shook up," but was able to resume his work in about half an hour. The other two men narrowly escaped falling, but saved themselves.

The Lindsay Boating Club.
The promoters of the Lindsay boating club appear to be determined to make it a success, no matter what may stand in the way. This is the style of the summons they issue to attend a meeting of the club.

Sudden and Important.—Lindsay Canoe and Rowing Club.—An adjourned meeting of the Lindsay Canoe and Rowing Club will be held at the Jervis House on Tuesday evening of this week, 22nd inst. A report from the committee appointed to select a site for the boat house and to arrange other details will be received. Election of officers will be completed. Be good enough to give politics, school board, athletic business, election protests, town council, snow-shoe tramping and other frivolous amusements a six month holiday, and turn to make the club a success. Meeting at 8 o'clock.

"F. H. Dunsford,"
"Secretary."

POLICE COURT.

THE LACROSSE LAW.

TUESDAY, May 22.—W. H. Chamberlain was charged by P. G. Pidgeon with having sold liquor during prohibited hours on Saturday evening. He did not appear and was fined $20 and $2.50 costs.

Wm. Rowden was charged by P. G. Pidgeon with having sold liquor on Sunday. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and $2.50 costs.

James Dolan was charged by P. C. Adams with having sold liquor after seven o'clock on Saturday night. He did not answer to his name, and was fined $20 and $2.50 costs.

Other cases in which charges were laid for violation of the license law were enlarged until Monday next.

ANASTY.

Wm. Bastin was charged with assaulting Timothy Cunnagh with intent to do grievous bodily harm. Mr. Cunnagh exhibited a cut on the head where he had been struck with a stone. Bastin pleaded guilty, at the same time saying that he did not know at the time what he was doing, as he was drunk. One of his eyes was swollen and blackened. He was sentenced to three months in gaol at hard labour.

A Sunday Night Disturbance.
On Sunday evening at about nine o'clock a disturbance took place at the corner of George and McDonnell streets. Some young men met there, and it would appear that there had been a previous quarrel or supposed grounds for one between two of them, and the result was that one was struck and knocked down with a stone. The victim, who he regained his feet, picked up a stone also, but his assailant fled. Complaints are made that several such occurrences have taken place in this vicinity lately.

The Weather Probabilities.
Of the 120 weather predictions issued for the lower lake region last month, 68 were fully verified, 19 partly and 23 not, leaving but 67.7 per cent. fully and 62.5 per cent. fully or in part verified. The weather to-day still continues cold, wet and disagreeable. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong north-easterly to north-westerly winds; clearing weather, with local rains; slightly higher temperature.

"Hazel Kirke."
It was unfortunate that the weather on Monday evening was very disagreeable, as the attendance at the presentation of "Hazel Kirke" in the Opera House was consequently not large. The play, as is pretty well known, is a good one, and the Madison Square Company which produced it on this occasion deserved a full house. Mrs. Belle Archer, in the title role, was greeted with applause every time she appeared, and Mr. Charles Wheatleigh acted well the part of the old man "Dunstan Kirke." Mr. E. M. Holland, the imaginative and legions "Pittacus Green," kept the audience continually roaring with laughter, and the character of "Dolly Dutton" was well sustained by Miss Kate V. Morris. Mr. W. L. Deacon was a model "Squire Rodney," and Mr. Herbert Archer displayed considerable talent as "Arthur Carrington." The company is a good one, and theatre-goers are indebted to the Madison Square Theatre for supplying such good actors composed this company and the one that presented "Emeralds" last week.

Oh, What A Cough!
Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving $500, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shill's Cure will cure your Cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It cures Croup, and Whooping Cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For sale by J. D. Tully.

CATARRH is the seed of Consumption, and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

THE village of Newkirk, Penna., was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday, and the entire population rendered homeless.

THE widowed Baroness Rothschild is credited with the intention of establishing in Versailles a home for aged and destitute authors and journalists.

We have a speedy and positive Cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Croup, Sore Throat, and Hoarseness, in Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. A nasal injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. For sale by J. D. Tully.

PHILADELPHIA has had two colored female baseball clubs, and may be said to be considerably ahead.

DANGERS throughout the country all speak highly of Dr. Carson's Bitters. The general opinion expressed is that it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine they sell, and never fails to cure in all cases of Disorders of Stomach, Bilelessness or Indigestion. Price, 50 cents a bottle.

THE Spanish Government has agreed to pay the American claims for indemnity for losses incurred in the Cuban insurrection.

ABOUT 4 o'clock Saturday morning a bay mare, harness, and buggy belonging to the Rev. B. J. Byers, of Lethbridge, was stolen.

NARROW, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his way to health. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED BROWN GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, external deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the splanometer invented by Mr. Souville, ex-arche surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicine in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are constantly increasing their number, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Send a three-cent stamp for a copy of their International News, published monthly at 173 Church street, Toronto.

Forest Fire.

Word comes from the back country, says a Kingston despatch, that fire is raging in the bush at Sherbrooke and Levan. A farmer named Burke, who lives in Ono, was compelled to leave his house, the flames were close upon him. Thus far no danger is apprehended, with the exception that at Sherbrooke the Quebec and Ontario Railway Company have a quantity of fuel stored, and it is feared that an explosion may take place. The excitement at the village therefore runs high. How the fire originated is not known, but the prospects are that they will die out in a few days.

The Fisheries Exhibition.

The Fisheries Exhibition attracts crowds of 15,000 to 20,000 daily. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, and other of the royal family are often present, manifesting in many ways their interest in the success of the exhibition. The Canadian, French, Russian, and other sections it is hoped will be in good order within a week.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Kleiber's Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine. If it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Bilelessness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1883.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

AGAIN the Examiner is doing its best to thwart the opening of the navigable route through these waters and to attack the Government in connection with them.

It begins by stating that our last article upon the subject was "from the pen of an occasional contributor," whom, without mentioning by name, it proceeds to assail. Believing as we do in the system of journalistic anonymity and of regarding the journal as an entity without reference to the personality of any writer or supposed writer, we do not care to refer to the personal authorship of what appears in these columns, but we are forced to do so rather than let others be unjustly attacked for our words or actions. The article in question was neither written, nor inspired, nor even suggested by anyone outside the Review office, but whatever its merits or demerits was the work of the editor alone. That is enough upon this subject, which is not a matter for the public, but is due to a gentleman entitled in so many and dastardly a manner by the Examiner, to say nothing of its impertinence.

As to the assertion that the only objection of our contemporary has been to "Government delay and dilatoriness," it will be in the recollection of those readers who have had the patience to wade through an Examiner editorial on the subject, that it never objected so strongly as when the Government has recommended and carried a grant in furtherance of the project—it has been instantly dubbed a corrupt act, and our contemporary's editorial heading "A permanent bribe," has this amount of reason in it, that it has been the text for a permanent charge of bribery reiterated again and again by the Examiner and other "Reform" journals of its own calibre. In this connection we may remark that the Frederic Falls Gazette, though a staunch Reform journal and never having sworn from its party allegiance, has throughout taken a manly and public spirited stand upon this question, not succumbing to petty and dishonest attacks upon a public improvement because it is being carried out by political potentates. As a contrast the Examiner and its compeers bellow and belittle it simply because it is so beneficial and therefore so likely to retard to the credit of the Government.

We are told by this professed friend of the work that it is a "political job" even in the opinion of the Review; we are told that it is safe to predict that none of those connected with it will live to see it completed. Is this the language of a friend? The previous week we were told by our imaginative contemporary that the canals on the route were 200 miles long, instead of less than 50, and would cost $202,000,000, instead of the $8,000,000 estimated by the Government engineers as the maximum. Was this to belittle the project in the eyes of those at a distance and not fully acquainted with the subject? Now, by the by, the Examiner says the Government "have money to push the work to completion," in which we think our contemporary does them more than justice by way of variety, for though we rejoice in their magnificent surplus after the reign of "Reform" deficits, we would not venture to estimate it as amounting to three hundred millions.

We would ask the Examiner, as it speaks so generally of "delay and dilatoriness," to name any special period, and any special manner in which dilatoriness has been shown, since the Review first called received attention to the dormant project by opposing, and fortunately with success, the gift of these works by Mr. Mackenzie to Mr. Mowat that he might destroy them to make Mr. Ferrie and some of his constituents a present of some drowned land for which compensation had already been paid. If it will give the particulars we will discuss them fairly and in accordance with the facts. We do not remember, by the by, that the Examiner protested against this contemplated destruction of these works, or even that it raised its voice in condemnation when an item was placed in the estimates to carry out the destruction. Our contemporary has always been an open and treacherous enemy of the project, while we have advocated it from the beginning through good and bad report, and will continue so to do, even if we have to "berate" those who may impede it, whoever they may be.

As to our remarks on the Chief Engineer and his want of attention to the subject, we have said no more than, if as much as, was justified by what has been publicly said in Parliament, which is fully borne out by what we have learnt from members of various deputations to advocate the project at Ottawa. We are quite prepared to speak more plainly still if we find it necessary.

THE NEW HUIRANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As one who took some part in promoting the passage of the by-law prohibiting cattle from running at large within the limits of the town, I have been greatly disappointed that the present Council have taken no steps to carry out its provisions, although it was their manifest duty to do so. It will probably be remembered that when I moved the temporary suspension of the rule requiring that a by-law shall not receive its third reading at the meeting on which it is read the second time, an amendment was carried referring the by-law back to committee, with instructions to so amend it as to exclude cows from its operation. I then, by leave of the Council, withdrew my motion and left the third reading for the next meeting of Council. Meantime the members acquiesced as far as they could, that the public in general were in favor of the by-law, and it consequently passed its third reading with but little opposition. I regretted at the time that I was under the necessity of conceding that the by-law should not take effect until the beginning of this year. I should have been pleased to assist in setting in motion the machinery by which it was intended to enforce the provisions. I was well aware that without an officer specially charged with the duty of enforcing the by-law it would become a dead letter. It was therefore enacted that the Council should, when making the other annual appointments, that is at its second meeting, appoint an Inspector whose sole duty it should be to see to the carrying out of this by-law, and I threw out the suggestion that as it would require a man on horseback to do the duty properly it would be well to get one of the livery stable keepers to take the appointment. Nevertheless the present Council, in direct contravention of the by-law, in neglect of a duty clearly devolving on them, and with that perfect disregard for the interests of the town which Councils usually display, have not yet appointed an officer to enforce the by-law. What encouragement is there for a man to beautify his own grounds or the adjoining street? Our enterprising citizen Mr. Stevenson, at considerable expense has "bouldered" the street in front of his residence, and no doubt others, following his example, might soon make similar improvements, but as matters now stand their labour and expense may be lost in a day through the depredations of a few cattle. The "police" force of the town as required by the by-law appointing them to have every by-law carried out; do they ever see the innocent cow on the street? Very likely not! We have heard of certain kinds of blindness. It was well observed a short time ago that the constables make themselves much more busy in laying complaints against merchants for leaving their packing cases on the street a little longer than they should, than in preventing cows or other animals from doing irreparable injury. These mischievous creatures (cows, I mean, not the constables) often in a night destroy what has taken years to cultivate and bring to excellence, but in mock sympathy for the poor man they are allowed to annoy the vast majority of the community. If the Council are so dead to any sense of their duty, and of pride in the town's fame, let the citizens themselves form a committee to take charge of this matter.

Yours, etc.

A. P. FOUSSETTE.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FIRE.

At a late hour on Saturday night, the steam saw mill at Julian's landing, owned by John Hall, Esq., of this place, was discovered to be on fire, but the flames had made such progress that the attention of those present was directed to the saving of the piles of lumber and shingles, and one of Mr. Cassment's cows, which was loaded with lumber and which had taken fire. Fortunately it was raining hard and everything was wet, or a far greater loss would have been sustained. It is not known for certain what caused the fire, but it is supposed to be from lightning, as a heavy storm passed over a short time before the fire was discovered, and the fire in the boiler had been put out early in the afternoon. Mr. Hall is absent in Toronto, but we learn he is fully insured.

BODY FOUND.

The body of Robert Young, who it will be remembered has been missing since last October, was found on Wednesday morning by a fisherman, floating not far from where he was last seen in his canoe at Roddick Narrows, Stony Lake. The body was brought down to Young's Point, and as there had been so many rumours of foul play a messenger was sent to Lakeshield to get Coroner Dr. Bell to hold an inquest. He, however, refused, until authorized to do so by the county attorney, but in the meantime went up to the point, and after a careful examination of the body was satisfied death had been caused by drowning, advised his burial at once. It was so decomposed, as an advertisement followed as soon as the necessary preparations could be made.

MANITOBA FAVOR.

Mr. W. C. Sanders, our village clerk, has fallen a victim to the Nor'-West fever. He last week took his departure to that land of promise on a tour of inspection. It is his intention to go as far west as Medicine Hat and see for himself what are the prospects for the future, when, if he finds them favorable, he may make a move and seek his future lot with the many who are now and will yet make their homes on our western prairies. Mr. Sanders expects to be gone about a month or six weeks, and no doubt the Review will be favored with an account of his trip and his impression of the country.

HEALING.

There has been a large amount of sickness in this locality this spring, and we regret to say our undertakers have been unusually busy. Spinal meningitis made its appearance some time since and causes a great deal of alarm to those who have children. Our council should see that our Health Inspector attends to his duties before the warm weather sets in, and have our village yards, &c., placed in a proper state. A little care and attention now may save a great deal of trouble in the future.

FISHING.

Large numbers of bass are now being caught every morning and evening in the rapids below the bridge. Artificial flies are the bait used, and it is no unusual thing for some parties to obtain from 12 to 15 fine bass in an hour. An occasional muskungee is hooked, but usually breaks the fine bass line and escapes.

NEW CAPTAIN.

Mr. John Millage, who is well-known in this place, has now taken charge of the steamer Cruiser, in place of Captain Secret, who has gone to Lindsay. Under Mr. Millage's charge the boat should be a success this summer, as he will be found very obliging and has a thorough knowledge of our back lakes.

O. L. TRUE BLUE.

Mr. John W. Lister was down to Cobourg this week to attend the Grand Lodge of True Blues, as a delegate from Lakeshield Lodge, No. 29.

WHY?

There are many reasons why H. LeBRUN, of the City Clothing Store, has now the confidence of the public, some of them may be very briefly stated.

First—The firm has had a business experience, extending over ten years.

Second—The establishment is the largest in the town, and the stock the most extensive.

Third—The City Clothing Store sets the prices lower than any other house in Peterborough.

Fourth—The styles are always correct, for the reason that Mr. LeBRUN employs none but the most skillful workmen.

Fifth—The fit, finish and durability of every garment made is perfect, because all the details of the business come under the minutest inspection.

Sixth—H. LeBRUN, City Clothing Store, never allows a customer to go unless they are satisfied. The good reputation of the firm will be sustained in the selection he has made.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1888.

THE Hamilton Spectator ask the following pertinent question:—"Will some friend explain how it is that Col. Smith advertises coal at Oswego '50 cents off to the Canadian trade'?"

THE Monetary Times has a special supplement devoted to "The paper trade of Canada." Among its valuable information are details showing the great importance and the rapid growth of the manufacture of wood pulp.

It is proposed to have an International Forestry Exhibition in Edinburgh next year. The Highland and Agricultural Society are to co-operate, and have subscribed £100 to the guarantee fund. Canada should be well represented at the Exhibition.

In another column we reproduce an editorial from the Newmarket Star, an independent Reform journal, describing the manner of filling the office of Registrar under Mr. Mowat's administration. Are we to expect similar proceedings in Peterborough when Mr. Mowat at length makes up his mind to take action in the matter of the vacancy in this county?

The Bobsaygon Independent utters the following well-deserved rebuke:—

"Some of the Grit papers have been making exceedingly unpleasant remarks about Mr. H. H. Smith, of Peterborough, who has gone to England on business connected with the C. P. Railway Company. This everlasting hounding of men on the slightest pretence, and attributing the basest motives to the smallest act, is one of the greatest faults of the Canadian press. It is not journalism, it is not politics. It is simply blackguardism."

THE Monetary Times, which certainly cannot be classed as a "Tory organ," has the following remarks, in reference to the new Liquor License Act:—

"If anything effective is to be done, it can perhaps best be done by uniform legislation. More rapid progress can be made in this way than by piecemeal legislation; and advance along the whole line tells far more than an isolated movement at one or two points. The federal legislature can no more be reproached with indifference to the subject of intemperance; it has shown a laudable desire to do what is, at present, within the limits of the practicable."

THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

The Emperor of Russia at last Crowned—Enthusiasm of the People.

By Telegraph to the Review.

Moscow, May 28.—Extraordinary preparations were taken on Thursday to insure the safety of the Czar during the entry into Moscow. For over eight miles two lines of soldiers stood arm to arm on either side of the street. At the back of these were single lines of Musjiks dressed in peasant costume, who had volunteered from the cities, towns, and villages all around to assist in the protection of the Emperor. Not a hand could be lifted without the danger that its possessor would immediately be torn to pieces. On every road soldiers stood guard to prevent possible escape should an attempt be made from the houses. It had been rumored that the windows would not be allowed to be opened during the passing of the procession, and that no person would be allowed to carry anything in their hands, but the rumor proved to be unfounded. Perfect freedom prevailed. Every window was opened and crowded with enthusiastic people. The police urged such measures, but the Emperor determined to trust entirely to his subjects. Many were nervous as to the result. When the Czar dismounted to enter the chapel he was visibly agitated, nervously standing first on one foot and then on the other, and twirling his moustache. In the evening ominous rumors spread of a fray during the day. The fact became known that fifty workmen, who were engaged on the electric lights in Kremlin, had been imprisoned. Then followed rumors that Hartman was in Moscow disguised as a priest. All that is certainly known is that scores of suspicious characters will be kept in prison until the fest is over. Hundreds of students have been sent home at the expense of the Government.

During the coronation yesterday many old soldiers were so deeply affected that they wept aloud. There were at least half a million people outside Kremlin and the enthusiasm was immense. The American Minister, Hunt, was placed in the third row on the diplomatic tribune, among the Chinese, Japanese and South American representatives. His wife was with the ladies of the French embassy. Rear-Admiral Baldwin, representing the American navy, was in a group of special envoys, including General Wolesey and others. After the coronation ceremonies were concluded the Czar prayed as follows:—"O Lord God of our fathers, King of Kings, who created all things by thy word and by thy wisdom madest man, who rulest the world in holiness and in justice, thou madest me to be judge over thy people. I confess thy unflinching watchfulness over me and bow down with thanksgiving before thy majesty. Do thou, O Lord and Ruler, support me in my appointed task. Inspire me with wisdom and guide me in this great service. Let the wisdom that is before thy throne be with me. Let it descend upon me from thy holy dwelling place, that I may know what is agreeable in thine eyes and the righteousness of thy commandments. Keep my heart by in thy hand that I may direct all things for the benefit of the people confided into my charge and into thy glory, so that I may answer thy judgment without shame, by the grace and bounty of thine only Son, to be blessed by him, and by thy holy, sanctified, and creative Spirit, ever and ever. Amen." The Czar's habitual style is "Kosovoyiski Gosudai," "Emperor of all the Russias," with the recognition of "Little Russia," the Territory of Ukraine and Cosacka, Red Russia, western portion, South Russia, which includes the Black Sea coasts, and Asiatic Russia, or Siberia, or Turkestan, or the original "Great Russia," formed by vast plains, extending from the White Sea to the Caspian.

THE IMPERIAL RECEIPT.

Moscow, May 28.—The Imperial receipt was issued to-day. It returns the thanks of the Czar to the Grand Duke Michael for his services, and announces his appointment as a member of the Commission. The receipt says the Grand Duke Alexis has been appointed admiral in charge of the Russian navy, and His Majesty has made the following awards:—"The order of St. Andrew to Count Tietzel, Minister of the Interior, Gen. Klitsin, Gen. Vajnski, Gen. Tiedeban, Gen. Adlerberg, and Rear-Admiral Dolgorouki, Governor-General of Moscow; and the Order of St. Alexander to Mowat. A heavy fall of rain last night interfered with the illuminations in honor of the coronation."

FIRED AT UXBIDGE.

A Dangerous Violation—A List of the Losses and Insurance.

UXBRIDGE, Ont., May 28.—This village was visited by a disastrous fire early on Saturday morning. The flames originated in the market building, and so incalculable is suspected. The losses and insurance are as follows:—Market buildings, loss $5,000, insurance $3,000; Vanhorn & Huntington's store, loss $5,000, fully insured; King's butcher shop, loss $2,000, no insurance; Hurst's butcher shop, loss $400, insurance unknown; G. Urquhart, ironmonger, loss $1,000, insurance unknown; Mr. D. Crosby, butcher, loss $500, no insurance; fire hall and waterworks of the village, loss $3,000, fully insured; W. Pemberton, Uxbridge Guardian office, loss $2,000, insurance $1,400; Jerome Terby, loss $1,000, insurance $500; Thos. McGratten, loss $2,000, insurance unknown; J. Bacon, hotel and stables, loss $5,000, insurance $2,000; M. D. Crosby, dwelling, loss $2,000, insurance $1,000; W. Jack, store and dwelling, loss $1,500, insurance $1,000; W. Perkins, loss $400, fully insured; J. L. Crosby, baker, loss $1,500, fully insured; G. Leak, contents of bakery, loss $400, no insurance; A. D. Weeks, druggist, loss $1,000, fully insured.

New List for Functions Weakened by Disease, Debility and Disipation.

Ask for the Great German Remedy, the only specific for impurity, nervous debility, universal lassitude, forgetfulness, pain in the back or sides, no matter how shattered the system may be from excess of any kind, the Great German Remedy will restore the lost functions and secure health and happiness. $1.00 per box, six boxes for $5.00. Sold by all druggists. Sent on receipt of price, postage paid, by F. J. Cheney, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for United States. Circulars and testimonials sent free. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

From Despatches to the Editor.

CABLE.

TRAINING SHIP BURNED. DUBLIN, May 28.—The training ship Mars was partially burned. The boys on board were all saved. It is suspected that the fire was incendiary.

CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED. KANBOM, May 28.—A conspiracy against the government has been discovered at Van. Three hundred arrests have been made.

FRANCO-CHINESE WAR. HANOI, May 28.—Captain Riviere, commander of the French forces in Tonquin, has been killed while making a sortie from Fort Ham; Captain Devilliers was dangerously wounded. General Bonet has been ordered from Saigon to succeed Captain Riviere.

TO BE BOMBARDED. SAIGON, May 28.—In the late attack upon Capt. Riviere's reconnoitering party the total loss was 30 killed and 51 wounded. A later despatch says it is believed it will be necessary to bombard Hue, and to send a strong expedition to Tonquin.

COMPENSATION. DUBLIN, May 28.—The courts have awarded £15,000 to the juror Field, and £7,500 to Mr. Burke, whose lives were attempted by the assassins. Mr. Burke is a brother of the Under-Secretary who was assassinated with Lord Cavendish.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAM.

CABLE.

THE THIRD MAN HANGED. DUBLIN, May 28.—Michael Fagan, one of the Phoenix Park murderers, was hanged this morning.

THE WAR IN TONQUIN. LONDON, May 28.—A Paris correspondent says that the country is thoroughly aroused concerning the Tonquin trouble. It is felt that the time for revolution is past and the only course for France is to act vigorously and swiftly. The latest news from China is that 6,000 troops armed in the manner of European troops have already arrived at the Tonquin frontier, and the feeling throughout China is intensely hostile to the French.

SAILED FOR AMERICA. HARVE, May 28.—MacDermott, who was mentioned during the inquiry at Cork into the dynamite conspiracy, has sailed for New York.

DISCONTENT IN INDIA. LONDON, May 28.—It is reported that Earl Kimberley, Secretary of State for India, has sent out despatches disapproving of Lord Ripon's plans for local self-government, and that great discontent prevails among the natives throughout India in consequence.

A REGICIDE PLOT. BUCHAREST, May 28.—There has been another attempt to take the life of King Charles, but the plot was discovered yesterday and when the eve of being carried out. A number of Poles and Moldavians have been arrested.

THE SOLE CONCESSION. BERLIN, May 28.—The only concession offered the Vatican in the Prussian note was a promise not to punish the priests who violated the May laws by officiating without the permission of the State. The note did not say a word about striking the obnoxious laws from the statute.

A PARISHIAN DUEL. PARIS, May 28.—In a duel with swords between Delpit, writer on Paris, and Alphonse Dauder, the well known novelist, the former was slightly wounded.

FAGAN'S EXECUTION. DUBLIN, May 28.—Fagan was convicted of the murder of Mr. Burke. His execution took place at Kilmainham jail. Since he received the sentence, Fagan has been very attentive to the instructions of the priests who visited him. In an interview recently with a colleague, he declared that he had not hurt a hair of Burke's head. His mother, who was confident of his innocence, wrote to the Queen repeating this declaration. Her letter was not answered. Canon Kennedy attended the condemned man this morning. The black flag accompanying the execution had taken place was hoisted over the jail at 8 o'clock. A strong force of police and military was present. Everything went off quietly. A small crowd collected outside of the prison, a few of whom knelt in prayer for the repose of Fagan's soul. The condemned man was pale, but appeared resigned to his fate. Death was instantaneous.

AMERICAN.

MORMON IMMIGRANTS. NEW YORK, May 28.—The steamship Nevada arrived yesterday with several hundred Mormon immigrants. These reported to be prisoners by the United States Consul in Switzerland and were well dressed, had about $5,000 in cash, and denied having been shipped at the expense of the community. They were in charge of fourteen Mormon missionaries.

A FAMILY WAR. HELENA WOOD, Tenn., May 28.—Yesterday John and Riley Cecil met three brothers named Smith and began firing at them. The Smiths returned the fire and killed both the Cecils. Four years ago the Cecils killed the father of the Smiths, and two years the latter killed two Cecil brothers.

A WRECKED SCHOONER. CHICAGO, May 28.—The wreck of the schooner Wells Burt, which went down with eleven men in the recent gale, was searched yesterday. No bodies were found. It is now believed that the schooner became disabled, that the masts toppled over and that the vessel foundered while the crew were attempting to cut them away.

ROSSA SAID TO BE A SPY. BOSTON, May 28.—A special cable despatch to-day to the Post, from London, says:—O'Donovan Rossa and Peter J. Tynan, the London evening papers of to-day declare, are undoubtedly British spies under regular pay. These declarations are backed up by certain detailed statements, and have created a genuine sensation among the Irish. Nearly all the members of the Irish parliamentary party ridicule the statement.

MEDICAL MEN RECOMMEND THEIR PATIENTS TO USE DR. CARRON'S STOMACH BITTERS. It is a mild, yet efficacious laxative, freeing the stomach and bowels from all impurities, restores the appetite and aids digestion. Is large 8 ounce bottle, 50 cents.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of clothes. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To bring your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind promises matrimony. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a sham. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to hear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Buy your Parasols and Umbrellas from Munro & Alexander.

All kinds on hand, in Silk, Alpaca, Scotch, German and Russian.

Parasols in Silk and Satin, Hood and unhooded, with and without Lace.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1883.

The Cells.
[There were four tramps in the police cells on Saturday night. They were empty last night.]

Council Meeting.
A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Is Your Watch Clean?
Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Huggan's Shop, Office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

A Wheel OK.
Early this morning a wheel run off a wagon filled with coal at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, and let the axle fall to the ground. The horses were held and no further damage was done.

The Weather.
Yesterday was a fine day with a strong breeze. Last evening rain again commenced to fall, but to-day is again fine, though partly cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh, southerly to south-westerly winds; fair weather, with higher temperature.

Sons of England.
As an effort is being made to organize a lodge of the Sons of England in Peterborough, the following information may be of interest. The R. W. G. B. has prepared a report of the Grand Lodge meeting in February last and issued it to the members in neat pamphlet form. By this report it is shown that the Grand Lodge has now 22 lodges under its jurisdiction, with a membership of over 1,500. During the year large additions were made to the membership. Only six died during the year. There were paid out to sick and funeral benefits $3,000.51. The collective financial strength of the lodges is $10,615.90 with only $378.50 liabilities.

What's all the Hurry About?
The following remarks from the Toronto Mail might be read with profit in other places besides Toronto:—

"The practice indulged in by some people at the theatre of not only standing up in their seats, peering over their shoulders in a way as if their very life depended upon the scenery which is to be seen, but in leaving before the curtain drops, is very offensive to those who remain seated, and also to the actors. It certainly is a poor compliment to the players, and shows a want of good breeding which is to be deplored. The occupants of the orchestra chairs would do well to take a lesson from the 'gods' in this respect, who remain quietly seated till the end of the performance."

This habit looks singular in another way, for often when the National Anthem is being played, and even sung, at the close of a performance, half or more of the audience are hurrying out, placing themselves in a false position, for they certainly do not feel as much disregard for the sentiment "God Save the Queen" as their actions would seem to indicate.

POLICE COURT.

THE LACROIX CASE.

MONDAY, May 28.—Mr. James Stevenson, J. P., presided on the bench this morning. The Lacroix case, which was adjourned from last week, was further adjourned until to-morrow morning at nine o'clock.

Church Opening.

It is announced that the Charlotte street Methodist Church will be re-opened on Sunday, June 10th. The Rev. Dr. Sutcliffe will preach at the morning service on that day.

Thunder Shower.

A heavy thunder shower accompanied by a slight fall of hail, passed over here just after noon. This approaching shower evidently escaped the graphic vision of the "probe."

Court of Sessions.

Division Court is being held in Millbrook to-day, and several members of the legal fraternity of Peterborough have gone there to attend in the interest of clients.

Place Glass.

The plate glass which was broken in the window of Mr. R. W. Munro's store has been replaced by a new glass. New glass is also being put in the windows of the stores of Messrs. T. Dolan & Co. and Mr. Melville Miller.

Pedestrianism.

The race between Bird and Williamson has apparently fallen through. It will be remembered that M. Bird, of Peterborough, challenged A. Williamson, of Oranmore, to run two miles for $100 a side, and that Williamson replied accepting the challenge, on condition that the distance should be one mile. Bird agreed to run a mile, but a disagreement has arisen in regard to the gate money, and the two are not likely to meet. Bird's backers, it is stated, wish to get up an exhibition, of which this race would be a part. Williamson will not run unless he shares the gate money, and it is claimed that this would upset their plans in regard to the exhibition and they will not agree to it. A friend of Williamson's says that he will run if there is no charge for admission to see the race, but if there is charge he will not run unless the receipts are divided. And thus the matter rests.

The Nashville Students.

The Globe of Saturday has this to say of the Original Nashville Students, who will appear in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Friday, June 1st:—

"The Nashville Students opened their engagement at the Horticultural Gardens last evening. The audience was thoroughly delighted with the performance. The fame of these exponents of the vocal music of old slavery days is wide-spread. The announcement made by this company that they were the original organization was fully sustained by the excellence of the programme presented. The names of Franklin, Campbell, Moore, Scott, Edwards, Tipton and Hopkins will be remembered as those of the members of the company who got such a welcome in Canada on a previous visit. The accompanist, Mr. G. F. McPherson, performed his task in a very creditable manner. The appearance of the company in the third part in plantation costumes is a popular feature of these performances. The troupe should have large houses."

Must We Wait?

The following paragraph is from the Lindsay Post:—
"Again the local editor takes his pen in hand to indicate an item. 'A big egg item too, or rather big eggs—there are two of them—in fact twins, so to speak. Mr. J. Greenan has shown the staff one egg 9 1/2 inches and weighing 4 1/2 ounces, and another 8 1/2 inches, weighing four ounces. What reason there may be in having the name of our town coupled with the champion egg Lindsay has, Peterborough may best see in brain hands and fence pickets, but on the egg question, never! There never! (It would be appropriate for the l. a. to express something definite—but we won't.) The local editor acted wisely in not becoming too defiant, because if he had assumed a too provokingly defiant attitude, he might have found that fence pickets are much better as weapons than large eggs. And when the Post sent forth such a challenge it might have informed the public what kind of an animal laid the eggs it boasts of, unless it cunningly and purposely withheld that information."

Railway Notes.

The Port Hope Times says that a great change has been made in the Midland Railway shops, necessitated by the increase of work to be performed and the number of employees—in fact throughout the entire working of the mechanical department of the railway. A general cleaning-up has been going on, and an entire re-arrangement of shafting, machines, etc., in order to economize space and labor. A considerable amount of machinery has been brought from other points, and new machines added. Port Hope is now the point for doing all the heavy repairs of the road, and the increase of work is provided for by a large staff of skilled workmen, and a systematic system of divided labor, which extends to every department. A new system of time-keeping has been introduced, and other innovations regarding time and labor, not of special interest to mention. "A hive of industry" is the most expressive way of describing the existing condition of affairs at the shops.

A Queen's Birthday Tragedy.

Alonzo Wingerden, a young man of weak mind, was fatally burned at Scotland, Ont., on the 24th. His clothing caught fire from fireworks in his pocket.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while it is a wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. DOMINION DAY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Will you allow me space in your paper to call the attention of the citizens generally, and the Fire Brigade, Boating Club, Cricket Club, and Lacrosse Club particularly, to the necessity for immediate action in making preparations for the celebration in a right loyal manner, of the 1st of July (Dominion Day), in Peterborough. We are, year after year, either towns of less importance than Peterborough, or towns of less importance than Peterborough, celebrating the birthday of our Queen, celebrating Dominion Day, and making strenuous efforts to get the start of their sister towns in everything. Now is the time to go to work. Do not wait until preparations are made for Port Hope, Cobourg, or Lindsay, intending having a gala day, and expect large numbers from Peterborough and other places to go and spend their money away from home. Let the citizens and the Lacrosse, Boating, and Cricket Clubs—aided by the Fire Brigade—go to work and show the inhabitants of other towns that Peterborough is not to be kept in the background on this occasion. Hoping to hear more on the subject from some of your readers, I remain, yours, etc., A. D. BROWNE. Peterborough, May 28, 1883.

FIRING ON THE STRIKERS.

One striker has his head riddled with bullets, and many Others Wounded.

By Telegram to the Review.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., May 29.—When the troops fired on the rioters at Reinecke Mine last evening, the latter fled and the troops chased them five hundred yards, the strikers scattering into the woods. A striker named John Rymer had his head riddled with bullets and another was picked up wounded. It is believed that many more rioters were wounded. 37 rioters were arrested at 9 o'clock. The soldiers are in possession. The women dispersed at the first sight of the militia. One militia man was slightly wounded. Only two revolvers were found on the rioters. One had two shells and exploded another one. The rioters are to be prosecuted under the statute against riotous conduct. Great excitement prevailed in Belleville. After parading the streets to the beat of a drum, the strikers held a mass meeting at the Court House. Several speakers denounced the action of the militia in firing on the miners. The exact number of miners hurt in the fight is not known, but the following is the best obtainable list: Fred Hoffmann, glass blower, killed, shot through the head; Wm. Sharkey, shot through the head and hip, will die; James Blanehead, wounded in the side, dangerously; Martin Carroll, wounded slightly. The prisoners are held in the camp of the Edwardsville company at the mine at Laylerville and Vurdan. The companies left late in the evening for home, but it is rumored to build themselves in readiness to move to Collinsville this morning, where trouble is anticipated. When the mob fired on the soldiers, two-thirds of them were still in the cars. The deputy sheriff arriving, ordered Colonel Barkley to give the word to fire, and the Colonel obeyed his order, and a volley was then poured into the miners. They retreated and returned after the first, the men and women scattered like sheep, and went helter skelter through the gullies and ravines. Colonel Barkley's instructions were to take his orders from the Sheriff in whatever county the soldiers were stationed. There were about 500 men and 100 women in the mob. The Deputy Sheriff was addressing them when the first shot was fired, and the fight immediately began. 500 shots were exchanged.

Vice-Royal Movements.

OTTAWA, May 28.—It is understood that the Marquis of Lorne will stay in Canada until the end of October and that his successor will arrive before the end of November. On the arrival of the former in England he will be raised to the peerage. It is expected that the princess will leave about the end of July.

THE TONGKIN AFFAIR.

LONDON, May 29.—A Hong Kong despatch says China takes a conciliatory attitude on the Tongkin question, but maintains the right of suzerainty over Tonquin. The Chinese troops were not engaged in fighting at Hanoi, but a number of Chinese joined the anti-French forces and will not interfere in the present conflict, but do not admit the right of France to conquer Tonquin.

A SLOOP OF WAR.

ADEN, May 29.—The British sloop of war Dugan has left for Madagascar.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT RESTORED.
AMSTERDAM, May 29.—The people of Bangkok by a popular vote sanctioning the bill for the restoration of capital punishment.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERALSHIP.
LONDON, May 29.—The Evening News publishes the statement, which is probably unfounded, that the Duke of Albany offered his services for the Governor-Generalship before the Marquis of Lansdowne was appointed.

CHANGE OF MINISTERS.

PARIS, May 29.—Fricton, now the French Minister to Japan, is expected to arrive at Peking shortly, to replace Bourne, the present representative. The Chinese embassy, in accordance with a request from the French Minister for Foreign Affairs, telegraphed to the Chinese Government to receive Fricton without awaiting the arrival of his credentials.

FRANCE AND TONGKIN.

PARIS, May 29.—It is reported that the French Government secured Great Britain that they do not intend to annex Tonquin, but will uphold their treaty rights and exact full satisfaction from the Emperor of Annam at its capital.

THE LETTER.

DUBLIN, May 29.—The letter sent to the Queen by the mother of Fagan, who was hanged yesterday, in which she protested the innocence of her son, was referred to Earl Spencer, the Lord Lieutenant, who refused to interfere.

AMERICAN.

A SALESMAN DROWNED.

CLIFTON, N. J., May 29.—On the 10th inst. James Wood, a travelling salesman residing at New Baltimore, N. Y., left the hotel here. His body was found in the creek yesterday. He was a great fisherman.

A DIVINE MISSING.

TRENTON, N. J., May 29.—There is much uncertainty as to the whereabouts of the Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor here of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He disappeared last Thursday.

A MADMAN'S FREAK.

BOSTON, May 29.—During the services at the Baptist Church, Quincy Point, on Sunday, a madman ran down the aisle and mounted the pulpit, flourishing a piece of lead pipe. The women screamed and several fainted. After a while a policeman secured him with the aid of six members of the congregation.

RAILWAY COMPETITION.

PHOENIA, Ill., May 29.—The Rock Island Road has made the fare from Peoria to Kansas City, to Council Bluffs at Chicago, Topeka, and Des Moines, 75 cents. The Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy road has made the rate 15 cents from Peoria to Chicago, Rock Island, Des Moines, Kansas City, Ottumwa, St. Joe, Mo., and Leavenworth.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 29.—Four fires started in different places here at 1 a. m. It is supposed by incendiaries. Reynolds & Weston's shoe and door factory was destroyed. Loss, $100,000. Averill, Russell & Carpell's paper warehouse was destroyed. Loss, $7,000; and other losses small but numerous. Spillbury's mill was endangered.

HONORING THE DEAD.

NEW YORK, R. I., May 29.—The friends of the late General G. K. Warren announce their intention of erecting a costly mausoleum at West Point in his honor.

A FUGITIVE'S CASE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Michael Cleary has sued the Mayor and Police for five thousand dollars damages for preventing the sparing exhibition between himself and Sullivan.

A DENIAL.

CHICAGO, May 29.—A letter from Senator Logan denies that he ever located lands near the Zuni Indian reservation. He says the facts are that his son-in-law, Capt. Lawton, and his associates made a location at the head of Neutra Valley sixteen miles south of Fort Wingate, including Neutra Spring, some 300 miles to the north and east of Zuni village. The statement that locations made by the parties named would deprive the Indians of their supply of water of grass is a villainous falsehood.

A NEW PRESIDENT.

HARTFORD, May 29.—Rev. Geo. Williamson Smith, Brooklyn, N. Y., has accepted the presidency of Trinity College.

PARIS IN FLAMES.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The following despatch was received from Paris at 2 o'clock this morning:—What will probably prove a very disastrous conflagration is now raging along the river front. The fire has lighted up the sky for many miles around, and over 100,000 people are assembled on the quays and bridges to witness the magnificent spectacle. The entire fire department is combating the flames, and a large force of military has been ordered out to establish a cordon around the burning district, and prevent loss of life from falling walls. It is probable that it will be necessary to blow up many buildings with gunpowder.

THE VERDICT.

JERSEY CITY, May 29.—The coroner's jury in the case of Rev. E. L. Stoddard, charged with killing his wife, rendered a verdict to the effect that the shooting was accidental.

STEEL CRUISERS.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Secretary of the Navy has received a number of responses from American manufacturers to proposals for the construction of steel cruisers.

CROOKS' ENGAGEMENT.

TUCSON, May 29.—General Crooks is reported to have had a battle with the Apaches, near Gila, Arizona, in the Sierra Madre. Crooks' forces numbered 500. Four hundred and fifty Indians were killed. Crooks' loss is not stated.

Triangle Package Paper.—The genuine are in three-cornered packets, distinguishing them from the cheap imitations. Perfect in all their shades. Satisfaction guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

CONTRARY TO THE CONSTITUTION.

BRUSSELS, May 29.—The committee of the Reichstag to which was referred the Socialist motion asking for the proposition of the Kiel police who arrested Hildebrand, Frohme and Vermyer, members of the Reichstag, on their return from the recent Socialist convention at Copenhagen, has decided that the police acted in good faith and cannot be prosecuted, though their action was contrary to the constitution.

A RAILWAY PROJECT.

LONDON, May 29.—A committee has been formed at Calcutta to consider the project of constructing a railway to the Soetan. There is an English and an American engineer on the committee.

A MALAGASCY PROCLAMATION.

PARIS, May 29.—The Ministry of Madagascar has issued a manifesto warning all citizens of France and all owing allegiance to the French Government to depart from the island. This is regarded here as Madagascar's official acceptance of the gage of war which the Malagasy consider as having been offered by France.

DEMAND FOR REVENGE.

PARIS, May 29.—The French press is unanimous in its demand for revenge for the death of Captain Riviere, commander of the French forces in Tonquin, who was killed while making a sortie from Fort Honori.

AMERICAN.

AN ABLE MAN GONE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Ex-Chief Justice George Sutherland, died this morning. He was the author of several legal works. In jury trials lawyers say he was the ablest man who ever occupied the bench in Pennsylvania and possibly in America.

DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A terrible tragedy occurred in Jefferson County yesterday, in which two persons were killed and another fatally wounded. At Cedar Hill Catholic church, about twenty-five miles south of this city, as Martha McDaniel and Amiel Desreux were coming from mass they were met by Hiram Sweeney, who carried a shotgun. As they approached he shouted, "Draw your revolver, Amiel," but without waiting an instant fired, killing Desreux on the spot. He then directed the second barrel at the girl, seriously, perhaps mortally, wounding her. The murderer then reloaded his gun by means of a forked stick and fired again, instantly killing himself. Sweeney is 19 and Desreux 25. Cause of the shooting not known.

CRYING FOR REVENGE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—An indignation meeting of Chinamen was held last evening to protest against the acquittal of Thomas Lyons, charged with the murder of Chung Wah Yau. Thirty Chinamen were present. The judge and jury, police and the audience who cheered the verdict were severely denounced. Some Chinamen cried like children over the result of their wrongs.

LET DOGS DELIGHT.

NEW YORK, May 29.—During the production of the play of Uncle Tom's Cabin at Haverly's Brooklyn theatre this evening, two large Siberian bloodhounds employed in the representation of the play attacked each other ferociously while on the stage, and rolled over the footlights into the orchestra. There was great excitement among the audience. The brutes were finally separated by the keeper and the play proceeded.

ATTEMPT TO RESCUE.

TRUST, May 29.—To-day at Schuylerville, Nicholas Vanderburg descended into a well to rescue a laborer overcome with gas. Vanderburg was suffocated. His wife went to his assistance and was also overcome. Husband and wife perished.

HER MAJESTY'S HEALTH.

Alarming Reports.—The Character of Her Illness Not Defined.

LONDON, May 29.—The queen's condition is alarming even to her physicians and personal attendants. The character of her illness is not well defined, but is of a nervous nature. At times her majesty is beyond control and borders on delirium.

A MINISTER WITH SOME FRIENDS.

Sir Hector Langevin Presented with Seven-hundred and Seventy Dollars.

OTTAWA, May 29.—To-day Messrs. Noel, of the Quebec Bank, and Charles Carriere, of the Bank Nationale, waited on Sir Hector Langevin at his private residence, near the Hotel de la Reine, to present him with a purse containing $7,000. It is understood that the subscriptions to the fund amounted to $25,000.—World.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To push your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Buy your Parasols and Umbrellas from Munro & Alexander.

All kinds on hand, in Silk, Alpaca, Fur, and various other materials. Parasols in Silk and Alpaca, lined and unlined, with and without lace.

TUESDAY, MAY 29, 1883.

The Cells.

On Monday night one tramp rested in the cells, and ten Italians who were trying to find a quiet place to rest for the night were escorted to this municipal hotel.

For the T. V. C.

Several car loads of implements for use on the Trent Valley Canal Works, including windlasses, stone boats, &c., passed through here on the Midland to-day.

A Breakman Hurt.

Mr. Edward Fynn, a brakeman on the Midland Railway, met with an accident between Millbrook and Port Hope this morning. He fell between the cars, and his leg was jammed, though not very seriously.

Got a Barking.

A little boy named Frank Jones, while fishing on Monday evening at the bay, fell into the water. After a short struggle he drew himself out of the water on to a log, none the worse for his adventure, except that he was thoroughly wet.

Locomotive Disabled.

An engine on the Midland Railway was disabled this morning between Lindsay and Otonabee. A fire blew out and put out the fire, and other damage was done to it. No person was injured. In consequence of this the morning train had to go through to Port Hope, and the mail did not arrive here at 8.30.

Cricket Club.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held at the office of Messrs. Hutton & Beck this evening at half-past seven o'clock. It is desirable that there should be punctual attendance, as some of the members have an engagement for a committee meeting of the American Canoe Association and will have to leave early.

The Victoria Harbour Advertisement.

The Orillia Packet of May 25, under the head of Victoria Harbour, has the following:—"I have much pleasure in saying that I was mistaken in sending you the item which appeared in your issue of the 11th inst., and in justice to Mr. Cox, President of the Midland, in reference to his being here on the 11th inst. My attention was called to the removal of the Mail pictorial advertisement in a joking manner by a leading Grit of this village. As the agent of the Mail, I asked the station-master (who is also agent for the Midland, in reference to his being here on the 11th inst.) for an explanation. The reply he gave was that he had been instructed to take the advertisement down; he would not say by whom. Being told that Mr. Cox and staff were here on the 11th inst., I inferred the instructions had been given by some of the staff. My authority for stating that the President and staff were here is not a resident of this village. The statement in the Peterborough Review of the 11th inst., that the advertisement was only removed for cleaning and re-arrangement is not correct. The Globe advertisement had only been received by the agent. It is true that the Mail advertisement has been placed in another part of the waiting-room, and that of the Globe, claiming to exceed in circulation by many thousands any other paper in Canada, is where the Mail was before."

POLICE COURT.

LIQUOR LAW.

TUESDAY, May 29.—John Sullivan was charged by P. C. Adams with selling liquor on Sunday, the 26th of May. He pleaded not guilty.

John Sullivan and John O'Leary were both called as witnesses, but Mr. O'Leary, who appeared for the defence, objected that they were both partners in the business, and they declined to answer questions.

P. C. Adams testified to seeing a light in the bar-room, and to admissions made to him by O'Leary.

The Magistrate found the charge proven, and a fine of $30 and costs was imposed.

A similar charge against T. Dancy was further adjourned for a week.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Michael Carroll, of Lindsay, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly on Monday afternoon. It was proven that he acted like a drunken man, but as he pleaded not guilty, perhaps, having come from the quiet town of Lindsay, he was only intoxicated with the brightness of George Street, and the life and business stir in it. He was fined $5 or ten days in goal, and was committed.

COURT OF REVISION.

The first session of the Court of Revision for 1883 was held in the Council chamber on Monday evening.

There were present:—Councillors Sowers (Chairman), Peterson, Menzies and Davidson, members of the Court. The Assessors, Clerk, and Councillor McNaughton were also present.

It was agreed, on motion, that all evidence given before the Court should be on oath.

Messrs. Hutton & Beck appealed, complaining of over assessment on income.—Assessment confirmed.

John E. Hammond asked to be assessed as tenant of part of lot 4, south of Edinburgh and west of George street.—Granted.

Wm. Cowie's appeal, asking to be assessed as owner, was withdrawn, as was also an appeal of the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, complaining of over assessment.

Joseph Pickard was changed from part of lot 7, south of Wolfe street, to part lot 5, lot 14, concession 12.

The Court then adjourned until the evening of Wednesday, June 6th.

Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

A. C. A.

The members of the Preparatory Works Committee of the A. C. A. Reception Committee are requested to meet in Messrs. Fennell & Rogers' office, to-morrow evening, at eight o'clock.

Telephone Connection.

The work of putting up the telephone line between Port Hope, Peterborough and Lindsay will be commenced about the 1st of June. Poles for the line are now being placed along the route. It is expected that it will be completed and in working order by the 1st of August.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is bright and warm with a slight breeze. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds; cloudy to fair weather, with local showers.

Personal.

Mr. H. H. Burnham, Town Councillor of Port Hope, is at the Cairnes House, and Mr. Geo. Goodwin, contractor for the Trent Valley Canal Works, is at the Oriental.

The Hon. D. Healy, Secretary of the Bureau of Statistics of the State of New York, called upon us to-day. He is in Canada for the purpose of gathering statistics as to our industries, prison management, etc. Mr. Healy is a native of Asphodel, and was educated in Newwood Grammar School, but left this country for the States 14 years ago, and has been engaged in journalism, having been editor of the Labour Advocate, Rochester.

Cattle Exportation.

Seventy-three head of cattle, purchased by Mr. James Alkins, of Port Hope, for exportation, were weighed on the market scales this morning. Their aggregate weight was 98,000 pounds, and the price paid was six and five and a half cents per pound, six cents being paid for the greater part of them. They were shipped at the Midland station to Montreal. The cattle were purchased from different persons, as follows:—Mr. Joseph Redmond, Otonabee, eleven head, 12,540 pounds; Mr. John Lang, Otonabee, four head, 5,130 pounds; Mr. James Henderson, four head, 4,300 pounds; Mr. Wm. Shearer, Otonabee, twelve head, 16,230 pounds; Mr. John Archer, Smith, three head, 4,180 pounds; Mr. C. Moore, Smith, six head, 6,400 pounds; and thirty-two head, 48,880 lbs; Mr. D. Armstrong, Otonabee, one head, 1,060 pounds. One young steer in Mr. Moore's herd weighed 1,950 pounds. The whole number were a fine-looking lot of cattle, and a credit to those who raised them. Besides these cattle a number of pigs were purchased from Messrs. Hugh Davidson, Stothart, and Walright. Six head of cattle also purchased by Mr. Alkins, were afterwards weighed. They were three head purchased from Mr. G. M. Roger, Peterborough, weighing 4,640 pounds, and three head from Mr. Curtis, Douro, weighing 4,470 pounds. This makes a total of seventy-nine head of cattle, and an aggregate weight of 102,700 pounds.

Shelley's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while it's wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since it's first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. For sale by J. D. Tully.

Save the Hardwood.

A local correspondent at Long Lake, Grand Traverse region, Mich., states that farmers in his section, though they are clearing land rapidly, do not slash the timber down in wind-rows and burn it up to get it out of the way. They are pursuing a much wiser course. They are making saw-logs of all that is available for that purpose, and fence rails and wood of the residue. The correspondent alluded to, wisely pleads with his neighbors to continue on in the good way of economy, "for the time is coming in the near future," he says, "when these majestic maples will be as it were gold mines to the owner." This advice is encouraging as showing that the farmers of that part of Michigan are awakening to the value of their timber, and that the slaughtering and destructive method sometimes pursued in clearing land is to be changed to a better one. A waste of timber in that section of Michigan, so near to Lake Michigan, and the great markets of the treeless prairie states, would be simply the most inexcusable folly.—Northwestern Lumberman.

A PANIC AND DISASTER

ON THE NEW BRIDGE CONNECTING NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN.

Many Persons Killed and a Number Seriously Injured—Men, Women and Children Trampled on—A Heap of Dying and Dead—A Terrible Scene.

By Telegram to the Review.

New York, May 30.—A terrible accident occurred on the Brooklyn bridge at half-past four o'clock. The bridge was crowded to its utmost capacity at that hour. On the platform at the New York tower the jam became so great that many persons fainted. A cry of distress was raised, and a dreadful struggle began between the panic-stricken crowds coming from the east and west. In the end the crowd coming from the Brooklyn side prevailed and rushed towards the New York anchorage, trampling down everything in its way. Men, women and children were trodden under foot, and falling down the steps leading to the tower platform, were buried under a mass of struggling humanity many feet high. The police were called and the bridge closed. The police report at least ten or fifteen killed, but as yet it is impossible to say who or how many. A number of persons, mostly women and children, were crushed, some to death, some fatally, and still some others severely. A scene of terror reigned for fully fifteen minutes that baffles description. The accident occurred on the New York anchorage where the solid bottom of the middle footway ends, and two flights of seven steps each with an intermediate landing lead up to the plankwalk of the span between the New anchorage and the tower.

New York, May 31.—One theory is that the panic on the Brooklyn bridge yesterday afternoon was started by pickpockets. After the alarm was given ambulances were sent to the bridge and reserves of policemen to the number of a hundred were ordered out from the different stations. The dead and dying were so quickly taken to the station house and hospital that before those who were passing the Brooklyn entrance when the disaster occurred, had reached the spot, almost every evidence of it was removed from between the cables. There had been, only a few minutes before, a panic in one of the blockades common to this point. This blockade was broken by bridge policemen. There was an unusual crowd on this particular section of the bridge, resulting from the blockade which had just been broken, and it seems to have been just at the time that this crowd reached the steps that the disaster occurred. Some say a child was thrown down by a gang of pickpockets, others say that a man fell first and still others say that a woman was the first victim. The footpath is already as smooth as glass by constant tramping of hundreds of thousands of feet. It might not have proved a serious calamity if the rush from above could have been stopped, but the current from above was as relentless as Niagara's. The people coming down knew nothing of what was happening until they were right upon the steps. There was no one to stop them. Stalwart men broke over the restraint that others sought to impose and trampled their way over the upturned faces of those who lay prostrate. The shrieks and moans, the cries of the children and the oaths of the men were terrible. After the dead and wounded were removed, a number of pools of blood could be seen around the steps. As far as learned there was no one at the scene whose authority was at once recognized, and there is no telegraph service on the bridge. One account says that half a dozen roughs headed themselves 200 feet above the stairs, laid their hands on each other's shoulders and forced themselves like a wedge into the crowd, shouting, "The D. D. Association can make its way through anything." The crowd seems to have had a horror of going over the steps, although the flight is only six feet high. They looked arms and moved furiously against the thousands coming from Brooklyn. In a few minutes there was yielding to the frightful pressure, and the front of the crowd was forced nearer to the edge. The people madly began to fight. A young girl lost her footing and fell down the ladder flight of steps. She raised herself on her hands, and would have got up, but in a moment she was buried under the bodies of those who came after. Men sprang upon the rails and waved the crowd back from New York and Brooklyn, but the people continued to crowd on the bridge. Those on the outer edge of the crowd clutched desperately at the railing, but the tremendous pressure tore them loose and carried them on with the crowd. A little girl was crushed between two laborers, who by their combined strength lifted and held her up senseless and bleeding at the nose and mouth, and from every corner came frantic shrieks of terror and agony, which added to the confusion, and made the danger worse. Several who attempted to climb up on or cling to the railing had bones or legs broken. The last to be lifted out of the crowd and bleeding humanly was a boy ten years of age. His face was bruised to a pulp. A young woman almost nude was laid on a drive and died almost immediately. Several children moaning and gasping were handed out. A young woman with a broken rib protruding through her breast was carried across the track. Vigorous efforts were made to resuscitate those who seemed to be lifelike. Water was brought from the New York entrance, and doctors in crowds relinquished their services. It was not until the dead were gone that the public in Park Row knew anything of the catastrophe. The wagons were followed off the bridge by women crying for children and men crying for wives. Some women were half naked and many in rags. There were hundreds of women dishevelled and crying. Their faces were white and they were covered with dust and dirt. In Park Row the celebration of Decoration Day had been going on briskly, but the news of the disaster at once stopped it. Nicholas Mockler, a carpenter, says if the people had acted with any kind of sense there would have been no trouble, and people would have been put across before anyone was hurt, and if they had been a little patient they would have turned the crowd off to the roadway without a mishap.

Of those taken out the first was a woman who lay on her back, just below the steps, with one arm twisted under her and the other hand clutching a child. She had gray hair. Her face was stained with blood. She died before they got her off the bridge. Next to her lay a Chinaman, stone dead. Lying half across the Chinaman was a young woman with dishevelled hair, her clothing torn and her pulse almost imperceptible. Next to her lay another woman, who evidently had been trampled on with no evidence of life. Next to her lay a woman with her neck twisted backwards and whose hands were tightly clenched. She was dead. The next woman's pulse was imperceptible. A man lay across her dead. He had evidently been trampled to death at the beginning of the trouble. Max Lep, a school teacher, was seen to jump from the railing of the bridge. He could not be found last night. It is stated that two gold rings were taken from the fingers of Mrs. Hennessy while she lay in the hospital collar. Ten policemen were put on the bridge to patrol after the accident. This is the first catastrophe of the kind ever recorded. Mrs. Emma Sherwood, of Bridgeport, Conn., with her husband on her bridal tour, were crossing the structure when the panic occurred. The husband clasped his wife in his arms and endeavored to retreat, but was hurled onward with reckless force. They were separated and she was never again seen alive.

THE DYNAMITE.

LONDON, May 31.—In the criminal criminal court to-day, the Recorder in charge of the grand jury returned to the dynamite case, the Gallager brothers, Whitehead, Curtis, Ansbrough and Wilson, and the indictments would charge them with treason-felony. He stated that Lynch, alias Wernicke, had been permitted to give evidence for the Queen. He would describe the plan of the Fenian conspiracy which existed in America. If the grand jury believed the prisoners would charge them with treason-felony, he would return a true bill against them. Lynch's evidence would be more fully corroborated. The charge had been postponed some days while the Queen was deciding as to the exact nature of the evidence. Second, had been preferred against six of the prisoners, including Lynch, for having in their possession nitro-glycerine with intent to murder. Lynch will also be permitted to give Queen's evidence in this case. The Grand Jury returned true bills in all the cases, within an hour after receiving the charge.

RIOT IN ST. PETERSBURG.
St. Petersburg, May 31.—The manifesto issued by the Czar on the day of his coronation, has created an unfavorable impression here. A riot occurred on the evening of the 29th, among the crowd which assembled in the streets. The mob assaulted the Director of Police, who was endeavoring to restore order. A detachment of Cossacks were called out, and dispersed the rioters, several of whom were wounded. The riot did not arise from political causes.

THE GENEVA AWARD.
LONDON, May 31.—A resolution relative to the disposition of the surplus of the Alabama award, which Kinnear intends to move in the House of Commons, says:—"In view of the public utterances of certain American statesmen with reference to the destination of the undistributed money resulting from the Geneva award, the House is of opinion that an exchange of views between the English and United States governments on the subject would be conducive to the development of the friendly relations between the two countries."

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Boston, May 31.—This morning a freight train on the Grand Trunk railway went through the iron bridge in Stratford, Halifax, Vermont, in consequence of a broken rail. Engineer Kavanagh, of Island Falls was killed. The train was killed, and the cars derailed.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS.

St. Petersburg, May 30.—The coronation has excited the Pan-Slavic element, and most serious riots against the Jews have taken place. The rioters, who were led by students, were perfectly suppressed by the troops, who were stationed in the cities where they had no acquaintance to prevent local sympathy. Many of the rioters were killed by the fire of the troops.

THREATENED.
LONDON, May 30.—The agent of the Allen Steamship Line at Glasgow has received a letter threatening him with death unless he quits the city. He has been engaging factory girls to go to Massachusetts.

ANNEXATION.
LONDON, May 30.—It is reported that Earl Derby, Colonial Secretary, will not sanction the annexation of New Guinea by Queensland, but has agreed to allow the establishment of English stations on the coast.

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.
Gratifying Assurance—Continues to Improve, but in Good Health.

The following telegram has been received from Ottawa, dated on the 30th:—"The reports in circulation concerning Her Majesty's health are exaggerated. Telegrams have been received since the Queen's arrival at Balmoral stating that with the exception of a continuance of the lameness from the effect of the accident her health is unimpaired. Her Majesty goes out twice a day in her carriage. You are authorized to publish this."

Discovery of America.
Chicago wants to give a world's exposition in 1893, in honor of the quadricentennial anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. The Inter-Ocean, which throws out the suggestion, predicts that by that time Chicago will have a population of 1,000,000; and that as everybody has been to St. Louis to see the great bridge, and to Cincinnati to witness the dramatic festival, and the world's fair project has failed out in New York, that Chicago is the place of all places for the Columbian exposition. As Christopher Columbus discovered America in October it suggests that month in 1893 for the opening of the exposition.

Mormonism.
Mormon missionaries are again at work in the western part of North Carolina. They induced a large number of women to join the church. The economy of baptizing new converts was attended by most horrible crimes. All that was previously known of the abominations of Mormonism was eclipsed by the crimes that took place on this occasion. The Mormons will probably be driven out of the State. The indignation is so great that lynching is feared.

Convincing Proof.
Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arsenic and Oil Linctament. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine.

HANLAN AND KENNEDY.

THE TORONTO SCULLER SCORES ANOTHER EASY VICTORY.

Twenty Lengths Ahead at the Finish—The Record Broken by Seventy Seconds—Kennedy also breaks the Record.

POINT OF PINES, Mass., May 31.—All day it looked as if another postponement of the Hanlan-Kennedy race was inevitable. A stiff gale from the southeast blew over the bay, curling up the surf in long rollers over the beach, and making a sea in which no racing could live.

Just before five o'clock a heavy thunder storm accompanied by a brisk rain came on, beating down the white caps and clearing the air, so that both water and weather were as favorable as could be.

The number of spectators is estimated at from five to ten thousand. The contestants were ordered to their stations at 6.35. The signal was promptly given, and Kennedy at once dashed to the front, leading a quarter of a length, and pulling 38 strokes to the minute, while Hanlan was rowing a 36 stroke, and rolling in his boat in a manner that seemed uncomfortable.

At the end of the first quarter of a mile, Kennedy still led by the same distance, and was rowing 39 strokes to Hanlan's 34; time, 1.25. At the half mile the boats were even, Hanlan rowing 36 and Kennedy 38; time, 2.52.

At the three-quarter mile buoy, Hanlan was leading by three quarters of a length, pulling 38 strokes to Kennedy's 36; time, 4.50. Hanlan's right shoulder was at this time going up in a suspicious manner, but he very quickly settled down to his work, and at the mile buoy he was two lengths ahead and rowing 32 strokes to Kennedy's 36; time 5.58.

At the mile and a quarter Hanlan led by four lengths, rowing 31 to Kennedy's 33; time 7.51. Both men now steered very wildly. At the turn Hanlan led by five lengths. He was rowing 32 strokes, and his time was 9.24. Kennedy was pulling 33 strokes per minute, and his time was 9.48.

At the mile and three-quarters Hanlan was a long way in front, rowing 28 strokes; time 11.21. At two miles Hanlan led by 15 lengths, rowing 28 strokes to his opponent's 31; time 12.26. At 2½ miles Hanlan was rowing easily at a 30 gait, with Kennedy pulling gamely at a rate of 32 to the minute; time 14.11.

Hanlan passed the 2½ mile buoy in 15.37, putting in 29 strokes, while Kennedy was putting in good efforts to the tune of one in two seconds. At 2½ miles the same distance divided the boats and both had slightly quickened the pace, Hanlan rowing 30 and Kennedy 32; time 16.44.

Just before the finish Hanlan spurred at 32 per minute, while Kennedy, thought a long way behind, hit her up again, and went over the line in good style.

The winner's time was 19 mins. 4 secs., which is the fastest on record for a three mile race with a turn, but the accuracy of the measurement of the course is doubted by some. Kennedy's time was 19.42, showing he was about 20 lengths behind. The fastest previous record for a three mile race was made by Courtney at Oswego, in 1877, namely 20.12. It was alleged that at Richfield Springs, N. Y., in 1882, Courtney rowed the same distance in 18.52, but the probabilities were against the genuineness of the performance.

The division on the Opposition amendment to the address in the Manitoba legislature resulted in a majority of more than two to one in favour of the Conservative Government. Yet we are told that the Prairie Provinces are "Reform."

MENTAL Depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSON, a Barba Drug-gist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERALSHIP.

LONDON, May 31.—The Duke of Albany recently received an urgent request from Canada to be the Marquis of Lorne's successor. The Duke, after studying the affairs of Canada, wrote Mr. Gladstone on the subject. The latter replied that the Duke was too young for such an important position, and lacked experience in governmental work. The Duke's physicians were of the opinion that his health would permit to accept the post.

THE AFGHAN WAR.

CALCUTTA, May 31.—There has been three days' steady fighting between the Afghans and the Shiwaris, and both sides have sustained very serious losses.

THE ANNAMITE WAR.

PARIS, May 31.—The bombardment of the capital of Annam, in revenge for the death of Capt. Riviere, probable. It is stated here that several German vessels will leave Kiel for China next week. The French have re-entered the citadel of Hanoi. Gunboats maintain the communication with the sea, and prevent the Annamites approaching. Steps are being taken to lay a cable between Hanoi and Saigon.

THE ROSTOFF ROITS.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—The outbreak against the Jews at Rostoff, on the 22nd inst., was quelled the same night after 130 houses belonging to Jews were destroyed. Fifteen rioters were killed by the troops.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

BERLIN, May 31.—Despite France's assurance that there is no danger of a war between France and China, the commerce of Germany with China is already much disturbed. It is hoped here that if France declares a blockade of the Chinese ports Great Britain and America will refuse to recognize it. A French blockade cannot be effective, and Germany will certainly support England and America in opposing it. The German Government is considering the question of sending more vessels to the Chinese coast.

ENGLAND AND MEXICO.

LONDON, May 31.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, Under Foreign Secretary, said England and Mexico would both appoint envoys to negotiate for a renewal of diplomatic relations between the two countries. Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice later announced that the British Minister to Peru has been appointed to act as the special envoy of the Government in Mexico. Despatches from Mexico state that Senor Ignacio Mariscal, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has been appointed special envoy to arrange for a renewal of the relations with England, and will sail for New York on June 14. After fulfilling his mission he will remain in England as Mexican Minister. London telegrams state that Sir Spencer St. John has already been appointed to confer with Senor Mariscal.

BECHUANA ANNEXED.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Gladstone has announced in the House of Commons the important intelligence that the Bechuana had decided to submit the whole of their territory to British jurisdiction, and the result will be a colonial gain of vast importance. The facts have transpired through the ordinary channels of press intelligence, and they are corroborated by an article declaring that the Bechuana must acquiesce in the fact that the British have been surrounded by the whole of the vast country lying north of the Orange Free State and west of the Transvaal has voluntarily submitted, and without any outside influence, even without any suggestion to the Colonial Government at the Cape. The territory extends east and west over about one-third the entire width of the continent and the definite extension of the colony northward contains about 40 large and well cultivated cities. It is the old story of Boer troubles with the natives, and at last the tribes have judged best to secure for themselves permanent protection against slavery and aggression by joining themselves with the powerful Cape Colony.

DIVIDING UP FRANCE.

PARIS, May 31.—Under the heading "Le Secret de Bismarck," Figaro yesterday published an article declaring that the French must acquiesce in the fact that the British have been surrounded by the whole of the vast country lying north of the Orange Free State and west of the Transvaal has voluntarily submitted, and without any outside influence, even without any suggestion to the Colonial Government at the Cape. The territory extends east and west over about one-third the entire width of the continent and the definite extension of the colony northward contains about 40 large and well cultivated cities. It is the old story of Boer troubles with the natives, and at last the tribes have judged best to secure for themselves permanent protection against slavery and aggression by joining themselves with the powerful Cape Colony.

THE MAYO CONSPIRACIES.

CANTON, May 31.—The prisoners connected with the recently discovered murder conspiracy in county Mayo were arraigned here to-day. Informer Coleman was sworn, and testified that he was a Fenian in 1866, and that one of the prisoners offered him £25 for shooting a gentleman. Coleman mentioned the names of others whom it had been resolved to murder.

THE TUKE'S COMMITTEE.

DUBLIN, June 1.—The work of the Tuke's Committee is rapidly drawing to a close. It has already despatched 45,000 emigrants from the counties of Galway and Mayo.

ARABS SUBDUED.

BENGHAZI, Tripoli, June 1.—The Turkish troops have completely subdued the Arabs who refused to pay taxes, after the killing and wounding of forty of them.

THE ATTACK ON THE FRENCH.

PARIS, June 1.—The account of the attack of the Annamites on the French near Hanoi says, says that Captain Riviere, on leaving the fort, advanced with 150 marines, leaving in reserve 250 men. These, however, remained too far in the rear to be of service to Riviere's advanced guard, which was surprised by a large force of Annamites, and almost annihilated. On the next day arrived at the scene the Annamites, carrying off Riviere and fifteen marines, all of whom were impaled next day.

THE BRIDGE DISASTER.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The relatives of those killed on the bridge threaten to bring suits against New York and Brooklyn for damages. Mayor Edson says the police force on the bridge was insufficient, and the stairways are dangerous. Hoagland, master of transportation on the bridge, says the organization of the police force was incomplete, and had really no head till Tuesday night. Had the police been properly drilled and instructed, the accident might never have happened. The trustees have offered to bear the expense of the burial of some of the victims. Gen. Vile, an eminent engineer, considered the placing of the steps where they are an engineering blunder. Measures have already been taken to prevent a crash in future.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

SEMA, Ala., June 1.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate post-master Cochran on Wednesday night. Cochran says he knows his assailant.

WHAT NEXT?

MAON, Ga., June 1.—The hanging of William and Bailey, which is to take place to-day, has drawn numerous crowds to the town. A citizen has erected tiers of seats near the gallows, which he will let out at a dollar a seat. The mayor says he must pay a show license of $100 a day, which he did.

STRIKE AVERTED.

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—People here are delighted over the fact that the iron manufacturers signed an agreement with the workmen yesterday and that there will be no strike. The iron workers in thirteen mills in this vicinity had a jubilee last night over the averting of the strike.

AN EXPLANATION.

CINCINNATI, June 1.—Mrs. Phil Thompson says in her statement that when she and Davis returned from the theatre to the hotel, they tried the door of Jesse Buckner's room, but there was some one else in there and she could not get in. Davis then asked her to go to his room and sit by the fire. She was cold, and being innocent of any wrong, complied. Davis turned up the gas and they chatted for an hour. Davis was not guilty of any impropriety. The Davis faction talk of bringing a suit for damages against Thompson. They assert that they do not want money, but desire to vindicate Davis' character.

COAL OIL.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The transactions in petroleum here yesterday aggregated nine million barrels.

THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The President spent the day fishing at Long Island yesterday.

A HIGH SCORE.

NEW YORK, June 1.—J. W. Griffith, practicing at Creedmore yesterday, made a score of 187 in a possible 210. This is the largest score ever made at Creedmore. It is expected that he will be appointed on the American team in place of J. F. Rabbut, of Boston, who is unable to go to England on account of sickness.

A CHINESE CONSULATE.

NEW YORK, June 1.—All the preparations were made to open a Chinese consulate here.

AN OPIUM DEN.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Four white women and thirteen men, six of whom were white, were captured in a Peck street opium den last night and were locked up.

AN AUTHOR ROBBED.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Pat. Remond, an actor, was robbed of jewelry valued at $5,000 Wednesday night after returning from Jerome Park. He says four men attacked him as he was about to enter his house. He fought them desperately. People were passing all the time, but did not offer to help him.

ARRESTING DESPERADOES.

FREMONT, Neb., June 1.—On the arrival of the Box City and Pacific passenger train yesterday, Sheriff Gregg and Assistant Moore attempted to arrest two desperadoes. One of them instantly shot Moore, inflicting a fatal wound. And both fled and were pursued by almost the entire population. They were making off in a boat when Gregg shot and killed one. The other surrendered. If Moore dies he will be lynched.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

DES MOINES, June 1.—The coal miners in this neighborhood have been on strike for several weeks against a reduction of wages. All efforts at a compromise have failed. The Standard Coal Company imported twenty-five colored miners and put them to work. This so enraged the white men that threats were made that no nigger should work in Des Moines. Besides blowing up the house of Scott Davis, it is believed the strikers burned the post-office and a store in Savatpool, because the proprietor refused to give them credit. The strikers had a meeting to-day.

A DUEL PREVENTED.

REHOBOTH, Va., June 1.—Warrants were issued last night for the arrest of Charles Fotts, Louis Minnegrade and J. D. Potts, on a charge that they were about to engage in a duel at Fairview, over a suit suit. The Fotts brothers were arrested, but Minnegrade was not found.

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1883.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

SPAIN AND PORTUGAL.

MADRID, June 2.—At a banquet to Portuguese and Spanish statesmen last evening Castelar advocated the union of Spain and Portugal. Viscount Alencastre, Portuguese, was opposed to a union between a tranquil nation like the Portuguese, and an agitated country like Spain.

THE BRITANNIA REPAIRED.

LIVERPOOL, June 2.—The steamship Britannia has been repaired. She sails for New York this afternoon.

THE SOUTHERN REVOLUTION.

PANAMA, May 24.—The revolution now completely around Ganayquil. It is believed the city will be taken within a week. The rebel commander has given assurance that the lives and property of foreigners will be protected.

THE FOURTH MAN HANGED.

DUBLIN, June 2.—Caffrey was hanged this morning. He was executed on the scaffold. Death was instantaneous.

THE TREACHEROUS TURK.

LONDON, June 2.—It is rumored that the Sultan asked Russia to join the coalition against England's control in Egypt.

CORONATION FETES.

MOSCOW, June 2.—It is stated that the Mayor intends to resign in consequence of the dissatisfaction that has been expressed of the speech he delivered at a banquet given by the mayors of the cities. The city is almost deserted to-day, the greater part of the population having gone to the park to participate in the immense fete in honor of the coronation of the Czar. The Emperor will visit the park this afternoon.

A LITTLE MORE LIBERTY.

St. PETERSBURG, June 2.—The Emperor has issued a rescript allowing "disenters from the Greek Church" liberty to change domicile, engage in trade, hold office, and perform religious rites, but they are prescribed from having public processions.

A BOMBARDMENT.

LONDON, June 2.—The Malagasy as rays believe that property belonging to Americans might have been put during the bombardment of Mananjary, as there are two large American houses there.

TO PROCEED TO CHINA.

PETERSBURG, Eng., June 2.—It is reported that the admiral of the Stantion and Repert will proceed to China immediately, to reinforce the British squadron.

HEAVY FAILURE.

LONDON, June 2.—Alfred Walgel, merchant, Mark Lane, has failed. Liabilities, £100,000.

BANQUET IN MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, June 2.—At a banquet given by the German Ambassador last evening, the Emperor and Grand Dukes appeared.

AMERICAN.

RAILWAY NEWS.

HARRISBURG, June 2.—The Government has approved of two bills intended to promote the construction of the Vanderbilt Railway from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh.

ADULTERATED LARD.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Great excitement was caused in the Produce Exchange yesterday by McGeech throwing out 7,000 lbs. of lard tendered by Fowler Bros. McGeech claims that the lard was adulterated, and that he paid $300,000 last month for worthless stuff. He says there are 30,000 lbs. of the same manufacture in the store-house, and if he accepted it he might lose $1,000,000.

FINAL CONVENTION.

BOSTON, June 2.—Swedenborgians are holding a final convention here. There is a full attendance of delegates.

THE BRIDGE ACCIDENT.

BROOKLYN, June 2.—At a meeting of the bridge trustees yesterday, it was stated that the Committee, of which Mayors Low and Edson were members, had been appointed to investigate the causes of the recent accident, and consider a plan to prevent a repetition of it. The investigation will be private.

THE APACHE WAR.

SAN JOSE, June 2.—The Mexican officers fear the Apaches being driven toward the southwest by Crooks' operations. His recently reported fight on the Sonora line is confirmed by runners from scattered hamlets and villages on Chihuahua slope of the Sierra Madre. The squaws and bucks who came into Wilcox are a remnant of the Chato people cut off from the main body. They have probably been in the United States.

WALSH, SHERIDAN, AND TYNAN.

NEW YORK, June 2.—A Washington special says that the indications are that the British Government have given up the efforts to extradite Sheridan, Walsh, and Tynan.

MADE A FORTUNE AND DIED.

LANCASTER, Ohio, June 2.—O. Julian, a former citizen of this place, died en route to San Francisco from New Zealand. He made a fortune in Australia and the Sandwich Islands as proprietor of a circus.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

NEW YORK, June 2.—In the practice of the American team yesterday, Hinman made 182, Joiner 177, Smith 172, Faiding 167, Dolan 164, Bull 163, Van Housen, 151, Scott 151, and Brown 148. The highest possible score was 210.

TEA AND PORK.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Since the Government stopped the importation of adulterated tea the price of the better grades has advanced from 5 to 8 cents a pound. Notwithstanding the decree against the importation of American pork into France and Germany large quantities are believed to be surreptitiously imported into those countries. The most of it goes in as English mutton.

APPROPRIATION DIVIDED.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—It is reported that in the conference between Chandler and the ironship builders it was agreed that the $1,000,000 appropriated by Congress to supply engines and machinery for uncompleted double turreted masts be divided among four parties, including John Roach, Cramp, and Hollingworth, of Wilmington. The fourth party has not been determined upon.

ILLEGAL VOTING.

TRENTON, N. J., June 2.—An agent of the negro, Henry Moore, arranged yesterday for illegal voting, says he was ignorant of the law and was induced to vote as he did by Captain Vankirk, county collector. The Captain told him he could vote at two places and promised him five dollars to pay his way back and forth. The judge sentenced him to one month.

SALE OF PICTURES.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Wm. Henry Huribut's collection of bric-a-brac was sold at auction yesterday and realized $60,000. One of Turner's pictures brought $11,000.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

DES MOINES, June 2.—The striking coal miners yesterday morning burned the shaft of the Van Guel coal mine with the machinery and contents. Preparations had been made for resuming operations. The miners threatened to tear up the railway to prevent the arrival of labourers.

A FAILURE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Aetna Iron Works Company has failed. The amount of their liabilities is not stated.

WILL PROTEST.

BROOKLYN, June 2.—At a meeting of the Central Labor Union last evening five delegates were appointed to meet in connection with other labor organizations and societies of New York and Jersey City to organize a mass meeting for the purpose of protesting against the extradition of P. J. Sheridan.

A CANDIDATE ILL.

LOUISVILLE, June 2.—J. Proctor Knott, Democratic nominee for Governor, is quite ill in this city. His sickness is not considered serious.

SCALE OF WAGES SIGNED.

CHATTANOOGA, June 2.—The iron manufacturers here have signed a scale of wages.

FREE TRADE LEAGUE.

ALBANY, N.Y., June 2.—David A. Willis was yesterday elected President of the Free Trade League. F. G. Sherman, A. L. Earl, and F. B. Staples, of New York, are members of the executive committee.

PUGILISTIC.

NEW YORK, June 2.—An Albany special says that James Lynch, stone-cutter on the capitol, has not encountered Mitchell, the English champion, at Leventine's theatre, who flogged him twice out of three rounds. Mitchell knocked Lynch down twice, but is becoming evident that the fight was lost. Police Captain Davidson interfered and stopped the performance. It was stated that Mitchell intended to knock Lynch into the orchestra boxes.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE MAYO CONSPIRACY.

CASTLEBAR, June 1.—The hearing of the prisoners charged with implication in the murder conspiracy in county Mayo, continued this morning. An informer testified that he received a letter from Nally, one of the prisoners, containing a plan to murder the Inspector of Police who attacked the mob at Ballina.

THREATENED REVOLT.

LONDON, June 1.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a letter dated May 31st, from the Nihilist Steapinec, the author of "Underground Russia," saying that the Czar will not be molested during the coronation, because a system of attacks to create terror has been placed by plans for a coup d'etat and attempts at revolt.

AN APPEAL.

DUBLIN, June 1.—The Ladies' Committee of Aid to political prisoners has sent the following to Mr. Gladstone:—"We appeal to you on the ground of humanity for the commutation of the sentences of Thos. Caffrey and Timothy Kelly, two condemned Fenian park murderers. Three lives have already been taken in atonement. For two we ask for mercy." Caffrey was sentenced to be hanged on June 2nd, and Kelly June 9th. No reply has been received from Mr. Gladstone.

DYNAMITE CONSPIRATORS.

LONDON, June 1.—The dynamite conspirators, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher, Ansburch, Curtin, Whitehead, and Wilson, against whom true bills were found yesterday, were arraigned at the Old Bailey this morning before Justice Hawkins. They pleaded not guilty, and their trial was fixed for the 11th inst.

NO CHANCE OF MEDIATING.

LONDON, June 1.—Mr. Gladstone stated in the House this afternoon that there was at present no chance of offering the good offices of Great Britain to France and China, looking toward a settlement of the Tonquin affair.

FOR CHINESE WATERS.

KIEL, June 1.—The vessels which are to leave here next week for China are those recently built for the Chinese Government, and not German vessels, as has been stated. They will take out a large supply of torpedoes. The vessels will be navigated to Shanghai by German seamen, who, after the vessel has been handed over to the Chinese authorities, will go on board the vessels of the German squadron in Chinese waters.

ANOTHER SUEZ CANAL.

PARIS, June 1.—The English directors of the Suez Canal Company are expected in Paris to attend a meeting of the company, at which they will present a statement setting forth the views of the British Government in regard to the expediency of constructing a second canal across the isthmus.

THE ROYAL DUKES.

LONDON, June 1.—The Daily News says:—"If one of the sons of the Queen should be appointed Governor-General of a great colony, the precedent would have to be followed in other cases. There could be no valid reason why, if the Duke of Albany was made Governor-General of Canada, another of the Queen's sons should not take the Viceroyalty of India, and another the Lord-Lieutenancy of Ireland."

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lead an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind promises profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1883.

The Cells.

One prisoner was the sole occupant of the Police cells last night.

Leisure Match.

The Register says that the Norwood Club has accepted the invitation of the junior twelve of the Peterborough Club to play a match here. The match will take place on Friday afternoon next. This, we believe, will be the second match for the Norwood Club since its organization.

Personal.

The Millbrook Messenger says that Mr. H. B. Waller has gone to the Military School, Kingston, for a few weeks. His law office is in the care of Mr. Ketchum. Mr. Waller's father, Charles A. Waller, Esq., Master in Chancery, Peterborough, will be at the office two or three times a week, or as occasion may require. Mr. Preston, of the Port Hope News, was in town to-day.

The Nashville Students.

The Nashville Jubilee and Plantation Singers gave an entertainment in Bradburn's Hall on Friday evening, when there would probably have been a better attendance but for the rival attraction of the promenade concert of our band. The company does not profess highly cultivated voices, but they give in their simplicity the plantation and camp-meeting songs with their quaint or plaintive melodies. They were well received by the audience, and their appearance in costume, when some of them displayed considerable humour, seemed to be especially appreciated.

The Market Building.

Councillors Sewers, Davidson, Kelly and Deane, members of the Market Committee, on Friday afternoon went over the market building to see what changes were required to make it more commodious and convenient. Several changes and improvements will be the result of their visit, one of which will be the removal of the stalls from their present position. They also viewed the new fire stable, and held an informal discussion as to building and the fire department generally, so that they would be better prepared to discuss the matter in the Council.

Draw & Hold.

A Port Hope paper accuses the Peterborough papers of being fond of boasting, but read this from the Guide:

"There are fifty three telephones now in operation in Port Hope, a larger number than any other town on the line, outside of the large cities."

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

SATURDAY, June 1.—Joseph Rule was charged with having assaulted Charles Beavis. The assault took place some time ago, and Rule disappeared before he was arrested. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and said he had no excuse to offer for having committed the offence. He was fined $5 or twenty days in gaol.

Prison Inspection.

Mr. Christie, Inspector of Prisons for Eastern Ontario, paid a visit to the County Gaol on Friday, and went over the prison.

Watches and Jewellery.

Anything in the Watch or Jewellery repairing line left at Hushan's New Shop, Simcoe street, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, will be promptly attended to; charges moderate.

Cricket Match.

A cricket match between the Peterborough and Lakeside clubs is being played this afternoon on the Aaburnham grounds. The Lakeside club first went to the bat and made a score of 16. The Peterborough club had scored 8 in their first innings at three o'clock with one man out.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and fine. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh east to south winds; fine and warm to-day; local rains on Sunday.

Escaped from Prison.

The police received a telegram from Bracedown yesterday to arrest one Joseph Rule, formerly of Peterborough, who had escaped from prison there. Rule did return to Peterborough, and was arrested soon after getting off the train. He was wanted in Peterborough as well as in Bracedown, as there was a charge for assault lying against him here. He was tried on that charge and fined $5, and is now held waiting the arrival of the Constable from Bracedown. Rule is eighteen years of age.

A Pistol Drawn.

On Friday two men went into a yard on George street above the Post Office, and when they came out two boys said something to one of them that displeased him. He took from a pocket in his coat, which was hanging on his arm, an ancient pistol (no reference to Shakespeare here), which had four or five barrels, and pointed it at the boys. He did not fire, however, but put the blunderbuss back in his pocket and went off muttering, while one of the boys got behind a post and continued to jeer at him.

Promenade Concert.

A promenade concert was held in the drill shed on Friday evening by the Fire Brigade Band. The members of the Fire Brigade assembled at their hall on Simcoe street at 7.30 o'clock, and headed by the band, marched to the drill shed in uniform. The music furnished at the concert was first-class, and the entertainment was enjoyable, but the attendance was not as large as it should have been. This is to be regretted, as the brigade has been at considerable expense lately in procuring new uniforms for their officers and for the band, and this concert was for the purpose of assisting them in meeting the expense.

Ladies looking for a pretty Hat or Bonnet, will find the newest Shapes, neatly trimmed, at Turnbull's.

June Weather Forecast.

The following forecast of the "probabilities" for June appears in Venor's Bulletin now published in New York in the Country Merchant:

Friday 1st—Entirely wet in most sections with windy weather; generally backward weather everywhere.

Sunday 3rd—Generally rainy weather, with high water in northern sections; heavy rains 5th; thunder storm 7th and 8th; reports of damage by wind and rain storms.

Sunday 10th—A very favorable weather; frosty 11th and 12th; heavy rain and wind in direction of Denver; cold weather this week in England and Scotland about 14th; wind and rain storm in western and south-western sections, Cincinnati and Ohio, and adjacent parts; storms (cyclones) in Arkansas and Iowa.

Sunday 17th—Bulky and stormy; cyclones in Iowa and adjacent states. Generally stormy and unsettled weather; very heavy rains in southern and south-western districts; wind storms in Iowa and Illinois again on the 22nd and 23rd; still cold, wet and backward weather in England.

Sunday 24th—Heat and sultriness, with hail and wind storms intense heat in New York and Middle States; severe storm in Dakota; great damage likely from hail storms; great heat and storms generally on the 24th and 25th; cooler and rainy closing days of the month.

Saturday 30th—Rainy and cooler; storms in western section.

Ladies can securely realize that the Prints shown on Turnbull's Counter, are only 10 cents a yard.

HARBOR.

RUMORED DROWNING.—The Mariner's correspondent of the New Argus says that there is a rumor that James Cooper, who lives on Crow lake, is drowned, his empty canoe having been found adrift. Search has been made in the woods and in the shanties, but without finding him.

DROWNED.—On Monday a sad accident happened on Beaver creek, about eight miles above this village, by which a young Englishman, Thomas Williams by name, met his end. He was employed on the drive of logs coming down the river, and it seems was quite unused to the sort of work. He and several others ran the rapids in a canoe, and in doing so he lost his balance and fell into the river. Those who saw him go under say he never came to the surface again. The unfortunate young man had no friends in this country, and as the address of his friends cannot be found they will have to remain in ignorance of his fate. Up to the last accounts the body has not been recovered.

See that beautiful line of Prints at 10 cents a yard, at Turnbull's.

Tampering With Letters.

The Globe tells us that foreign lotteries are being advertised in Canada through the mails, and calls on somebody to stop it. But how can this be done, if, as reported, the lottery agents enclose their circulars and statements in plain envelopes? Are we to have every man's mail matter opened and ransacked before delivery in order to see if among his multifarious correspondence, a lottery ticket might be concealed? Is that what the Globe wants? Well, such a system of postal espionage may suit the organ which saw no harm in the theft of a letter from the Montreal Post Office, or the rifling of a lawyer's private desk in search of letters, but few else in the community would care to see such a plan pursued.—Quebec Herald.

Virginia Crops.

Discouraging accounts concerning the crops in different sections of Virginia are being received. In consequence of the protracted drought the cotton is coming up badly, and the tobacco plant in some instances is drying up. If a full crop of tobacco is made it will be very late. In the past season many farmers have been compelled to replant.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses curing cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, and Bronchitis, while it is a wonderful success in the cure of Consumption. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. For sale by J. D. Tully.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

The greatest medical wonder in the world. Warranted to specially cure Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancers, Piles, Chilblains, Corns, Tetters, Chapped Hands, and all kinds of eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Answer This Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Consumption, Dropsy, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75 cts. we will sell them Shiloh's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. For sale by J. D. Tully.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

A marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth, and Head Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cts. For sale by J. D. Tully.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says: "We are usually sparing in our encomium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

METAL depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

MR. STUTHELAND JOHNSTON, a Sanita Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, and Kidney, and the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1883.

The Winnipeg Free Press argues that the grant of assistance by the Dominion Government to railways to rival the Intercolonial, though running partly through United States territory, has knocked on the head all the arguments used in favor of the C. P. R. policy. On the contrary this action should help to satisfy the Free Press and those who think with it. When the C. P. R. is completed, is in good running order, and has its established traffic, as is now the case with the C. P. R., Manitoba and the Northwest may look upon this precedent as confirming their hopes that any further accommodation they may require will be promoted. Till then, the fostering of premature competition would be unfair, and the C. P. R. would not be now opening up the country, if it had not been secured against such an obstacle to its success.

We learn from a source which we presume is correct in such matters, being the leading organ of the Reform party, that Mr. Jas. Young, as well as being Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Agriculture, is also to take charge of the Department of Immigration and the administration of the license system. We are glad to be able to congratulate Mr. McGee on taking a wise step. It is a relief to know that Mr. Hardy is no longer in a position to dishonestly garble an official report by leaving out the passages most attractive to emigrants, because they were too favourable to the hated National Policy, or to issue at the public cost an electioneering pamphlet full of false statements under the guise of an official report on the license system.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

VON MOLTKE'S TOUR.

PARIS, June 4.—Gen. Wimpffen says that the object of Von Moltke's tour in Italy was to study the best route for the invasion of southern France.

ARCHBISHOP CROKE SPEAKS.

TIPPERARY, June 4.—Archbishop Croke, replying to an address presented to him last night, said he had aimed earnestly to advance the cause of constitutional freedom for Ireland and he relied on the good wishes of his countrymen, although he might incur the displeasure of those whose ignoble interest it was to perpetrate persecution and serfdom.

THE RIOTS IN ST. PETERSBURG.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 4.—The secret inquiry into the riot which occurred in the streets here last Monday evening shows that it was instigated by Nihilists.

A FALSE REPORT.

PARIS, June 4.—The report that a duel with swords was fought yesterday between Paul de Cassagnac and a Sergeant-Major, in which the former's throat was pierced, is denied.

THE INFORMERS.

DUBLIN, June 4.—James Carey and other informers, who testified in the Phoenix Park trials, have been notified that they must prepare to go to the country to which they will be sent. Carey protested that he would remain in Dublin, but the authorities pointed out that he would receive no police protection, and on no condition would he be allowed to remain in Ireland. It is inferred from this that the extradition proceedings against Walsh, Sheridan, and Tynan have been dropped.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

LONDON, June 4.—Prince Napoleon, with a younger son took part yesterday in the memorial services at Chislehurst, over the grave of the Prince Imperial. This is regarded as a reconciliation between the Bonapartists residing in France and the ex-Empress.

OBITU.

LONDON, June 4.—The Earl of Westmeath is dead.

ANOTHER CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED.

DUBLIN, June 4.—The existence of a conspiracy to murder at Carrick-on-Suir County Tipperary, has been discovered. A number of arrests are expected.

MEMORIAL FOR PARDON.

DUBLIN, June 4.—A memorial to the Government praying that the death sentence of Timothy Kelly, one of the Phoenix Park murderers, be commuted, has been signed by seven jurors summoned during the second commission, including two who served on the jury which convicted Kelly.

POLITICAL PRISONERS RELEASED.

DUBLIN, June 4.—Davitt, Healy, and Quinn, who were sentenced in February to six months in Kilmallock gaol for making inflammatory speeches, were released to-day.

AMERICAN.

BAD TREATMENT.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 4.—There is great indignation among the iron manufacturers of Matroning valley at the treatment they have received from the Pittsburgh iron manufacturers, who have been asserting that they would not pay the price demanded by the American Iron Association, and that while they had been making such pretensions, they quietly booked orders for iron that the Youngstown manufacturers had been refusing, and then suddenly signed the scale. The difficulty threatens to complete the disruption of the Western Iron Manufacturers Association. Many mills in Youngstown had just made preparations for a strike and must now submit for a few weeks until in shape for work again.

SENATOR GRADY'S OPINION.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Senator Grady, addressing members of the 4th ward branch of the Irish League yesterday, said that if the Irish Americans would take proper interest in the work the Government at Washington would act very differently in its diplomatic relations with England. They would compel this country to take up Ireland's quarrel and avenge Ireland's wrong. The day must come when America must fight the battle for Ireland. While Grady was speaking a crowd of rough outside at intervals of a few moments fired pistols without molestation from the police.

THE SUNDAY LAWS.

JERSEY CITY, June 4.—Notwithstanding the stringent laws the saloons all had side doors open yesterday. There was an unusual number of drunken men in the streets. No liquor dealers have been arrested.

NEWS FROM ROME.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Herald's Rome correspondent has reason to believe that letters issued by Propaganda are on the way to New York, announcing all the American Archbishops to Rome to receive the Papal instructions and make preparations for a provincial council of the whole American Church to be held next year in the United States. The Archbishops will be required to report on the state of politics and ecclesiastical affairs in America, especially in regard to Ireland. The chief object of the council is to tighten the bonds connecting the Catholic Church of America with Rome, and concert disciplinary measures tending to render the modes of spiritual and social life of Catholic ecclesiastics more austere and severe than under the influence of democratic republican institutions it has become lately. The greatest importance is attached to this Council by the Vatican. Inquiries in the city show the probabilities of a plenary council have been discussed some time, but the authorities of the Catholic Church refused to say anything on the subject. The Rev. Dr. McDonald, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, states that there is no truth whatever in the report that the Cardinal issued a proclamation forbidding priests to attend or participate in the Land League meetings. The Rev. John Larkin said the letter was a privileged communication, and he would prefer not to discuss it. Several other clergymen declined to give any information regarding the letter.

AN ELECTRICAL COLLEGE.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Prof. Elihu Gray, electrician and inventor, intends to establish an electrical college here.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

NEW YORK, June 4.—There were several slight blockades on the Brooklyn bridge yesterday. The dividing rail proved to be a nuisance. One of the roadways had to be opened to give the crowd sufficient room.

TROUBLE IN KANSAS.

DODGE CITY, Kan., June 4.—There is trouble here over Luke's Short, who has returned and has not been molested.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS.

CABLE.

FURTHER ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, June 3.—Five members of the Republican Brotherhood have been arrested at Waterford on a charge of being connected with the conspiracy to murder.

THE MADAGASCAR DIFFICULTY.

PARIS, June 3.—Follet says the French Commander at Madagascar has been instructed to withdraw his forces from that country only after Queen Ranavaona has recognized the French protectorate authorized the treaties of 1840 and 1841. The Admiral will insist on the right of Frenchmen to own land in Madagascar, and will claim an indemnity of a million and a half francs for the cost of the expedition.

THE NEW GUINEA QUESTION.

LONDON, June 3.—Lord Derby, Colonial Secretary, in reply to a deputation, said the Cabinet would defer decision relative to the annexation of New Guinea to Queensland until they had received a full report on the matter from the Queensland Government.

COLLECTION OF FUNDS.

DUBLIN, June 3.—At a meeting of Irishmen held tonight to take steps to collect funds to aid in the defence of ten persons who are in Galway prison for murder, it was announced that the committee on the other side having charge of the defence has been named by the Government to cease laborers in the way of collecting money. It was accordingly necessary to take action here. A committee was appointed to make collections.

CAFFEY'S EXECUTION.

DUBLIN, June 2.—Caffrey was quite composed on the scaffold. His death was instantaneous. Caffrey, before leaving the chapel, said with determination, "I hope my fate will be a warning to young men not to join secret societies." In a last interview with the condemned man, Larry Caffrey, holding the convict's son, aged four, in his arms, said, "Do not give the Government any information, do not satisfy them." The convict merely smiled and said, "Never mind that." His last words were to ask his neighbours to forgive him, that if he were at liberty and met Carey he would simply bid him "Good day." In Caffrey's house there is a portrait of "Number One." Caffrey wrote a letter to his mother last evening, saying:—"I hope you will never have cause to blush for my name. As I am paying the penalty of my crime in this world I hope I won't have to suffer for it in the next."

GARIBALDI HONORED.

ROME, June 2.—The anniversary of the death of General Garibaldi was commemorated to-day throughout Italy. The Syndic of Rome unveiled a bronze bust of Garibaldi in the Capitol. A number of persons formed in procession and marched to the Capitol to witness the unveiling. In passing the Austrian embassies the processionists shouted "Viva Overdunk." The Chamber of Deputies to-day passed a bill providing for the erection of a national monument to Garibaldi.

CORONATION FETES.

MOSCOW, June 3.—After the fetes at Petrofsky Park yesterday the Emperor invited the village elders and marshals of the provincial nobility to dinner. Addressing the elders he said he was glad to see them and thanked them for entering into the festivities attending the coronation, and added, "When you return to your homes, do not credit yourselves rumours respecting a redistribution of lands. Such rumours are propagated by enemies of the crown. All property must be unassailable." Addressing the marshalls he said, "I thank you for your fidelity. I am convinced of the cordial feelings of the nobility and hope they will support every conducive to the benefit of the throne and fatherland. May God give us a peaceful and quiet life." The Emperor and Empress drove through the city to the convent of Saint Sergius to-day without escort. Five persons were crushed to death in the tremendous crowd that sought admission to the Petrofsky Park yesterday.

Our Next Governor-General.

The present Marquis of Lansdowne, fifth marquis, succeeded his father in 1866. He was born on the 14th January, 1845, and was educated at Eton and at Oxford. He succeeded his father when he was 21 years of age. Received into the Government in 1868, he showed by his application to business that he did not propose to appropriate the name of the office only. His political career thus far may be summed up in the facts that he was a Commissioner of the Exchequer of Great Britain and of the Treasury of Ireland from 1868 to 1872, and held the position of Under-Secretary of State for India from 1872 to 1874. He was made Under-Secretary of State for India when the present Gladstone Ministry was formed, but resigned a few months after the Duke of Argyll on account of his disapproval of the Government Compensation for Disturbances bill (Ireland). Lord Lansdowne has always taken great interest in matters relating to Canada, and in 1881 Sir John Macdonald and Sir A. T. Galt were invited to a conference of noblemen and gentlemen, held at the Marquis of Lansdowne's town-house in Piccadilly, London, to devise measures for increasing the stream of emigration to Canada. His mansion in London is one of the most charming houses of that great city, and his galleries contain the most charming collection of pictures. His Lordship speaks French admirably. The princess of his lady is in everybody's mouth in the wide circle of her acquaintances and friends. His landed estate, according to the most recent returns, consists of 135,000 acres and his annual rental is over £35,000.

Dairy Apparatus Factory.

A Mr. Lynch is arranging for the establishment of a dairy apparatus factory in Ottawa. The inducements offered by the corporation in the way of bonuses and exemption from taxation are attracting the attention of manufacturers, many of whom are at present in communication with the Industrial Committee.

Personal To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt, Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

MEDICAL men recommend their patients to use Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It is a mild, yet effective laxative, freeing the Stomach and Bowels from all impurities, restores the appetite and aids digestion. In large 8 ounce bottles, 50 cents.

Triangle Package Bygone.—The genuine are in three-cornered packages to distinguish them from the old fashioned common colors in square envelopes. 50 colors. Perfect in all their shades. Satisfaction guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1883.

SLANDERERS AT WORK.

As might well have been expected, the latest slander concocted by the Globe and its clique of blackmailers and disappointed contractors and office seekers, has been promptly denied by those in a position to know. The contractor, Mr. John Shields, who was represented by the Globe as the chief culprit, publishes a letter giving a specific denial to every charge, and his story has every appearance of truth. He also threatens legal proceedings. Mr. Alex Manning, who figured as the injured partner and innocent victim, in an interview with a Globe reporter, says, "Your charge upon the government is not correct."

We are told how this coward's weapon was forged, the information coming, not from a Conservative source, but from the Toronto World, a Reform journal, though very independent. It says:—

"THE ORIGINATORS OF THE SCANDAL.
The scandal was aborning for some time and was not unexpected by the knowing ones. The unearthers are:—James Cotton, an ex-government contractor and a sworn foe of Sir John Macdonald, and General M. B. Macdonald, who has been pursuing Sir John Macdonald for years, and who brought a similar action to that he had against Sir John against Senator Alcorn, of Mississippi—these two have been working old Mr. Macdonald (big Aleck) who is in the firm, but is now very old and feeble, and carrying their pickings to Mr. Anglin of the Globe who for days has been in constant communication with Mr. Manning. The whole has been put in shape and published by the Globe and Advertiser of yesterday."

Such is the pack that is attacking the statesmen whom the people of Canada have chosen as their leaders.

Two of these charges are so false upon the face of them that we may briefly call attention to them as specimens of the whole. It is said that a sum of $120,000 is to be allowed to the contractors towards recouping them for their expenditure on elections, the excuse being the transfer of the line to the Syndicate before the appointed time, though the Globe well knows that it is the C. P. R. and not the Government, that is purchasing this right from the contractors, and that will have to pay for it. It is also charged that the C. P. R. has been compelled to take the contractors plant over, and pay $70,000 for it, though the Globe has been constantly asserting that it is the C. P. R. that can coerce the Government, and not vice versa, and such shrewd managers are not likely to give more for the plant than it is worth. From these two transparent falsehoods we may infer the degree of truth in the other charges.

This cowardly device of waiting till Parliament was prorogued, and then circulating slanderous charges to prejudice the people in the interim before another session, will only recoil upon the heads of its base originators.

ANONYMOUS JOURNALISM.

THE Mail has the following paragraph:—
"An editorial writer in the Globe the other day announced that Sir John Macdonald had issued the licensing bill to meet the wishes of the licensed victuallers. The same writer, who also contributes to a weekly Crit paper called the Quintan, states that Sir John, &c., &c."

Believing in anonymous journalism we must protest against such statements. It is impossible for the Mail to know by fair means who was the writer of the Globe editorial, who wrote the Tribe editorial, or whether the writers were identical. Any knowledge conveyed to the Mail by unfair means should be disregarded, in the same manner as any honest man would ignore the information he might obtain by accidentally opening another man's letter. We do not believe in such prying, and will censure it in friend or foe. In another aspect such a course is altogether unnecessary; it is quite sufficient to show, what is self-evident, that the Reformers are contradicting themselves and each other as to the new License Act, alleging on the one hand that it favours the license holders, and on the other hand that it fools the license holders by imposing more severe restrictions, in the place of the relaxation they expected. The act itself shows just the contrary, for the provisions in favour of temperance are more stringent, while the license holders are relieved from official tyranny and partisan espionage.

THE Toronto Evening Canadian has the following good hint:—

The Globe discussing an alleged contract scandal, in which it involves the name of John Shields, says "the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was compelled to take over the contractor's plant and pay $70,000 for it. We have heretofore understood from the Reform organs and orators that the C. P. R. controlled the Government, and compelled the latter to do its bidding. How is this?"

CANADA PACIFIC FREIGHTS.

Great Reduction by the C.P.R. The U.S. Line Compelled to Follow.

A despatch from St. Paul, Minn., of the 28th May says:—The officers of the Manitoba express surprise at the quotation of the road's stock in the New York market. They deny absolutely that any rate war with the Canadian Pacific is probable, and say the reduction in rates was only made to meet those of the former road. The Canadian Pacific gave them notice of its reduction in consequence of the opening of the Thunder Bay branch, and the Manitoba reduced simply to compete in a legitimate manner for Winnipeg traffic. The reductions were great, but had to be so because the Canadian Pacific, in consequence of its long water route, could carry freight at a much cheaper rate. The decrease in earnings is occasioned, they say, not by any falling off of business, but because the comparisons made are made with the heaviest months of last year. Business was then particularly heavy because of the accumulation of Winnipeg freight between St. Paul and Chicago, and between St. Paul and St. Vincent, in consequence of the heavy snow blockade and bad washouts of last year.

NORWOOD.

THREE CHALLENGES.—The Register says that the Norwood Lacrosse Club seems to attract the attention of the neighboring lacrosse boys, as three challenges were received within a few days.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.—Early on Monday morning of last week a steam sawing machine and about 1,500 ties, the property of Messrs. Rork & Hoxburgh of this place, was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at between $500 and $700. The ties were intended for the Ontario & Quebec Railway. The cause of the fire is unknown.

A RESIDENT MAGISTRATE.—At last we are to have a long-felt want supplied. We learn from reliable sources that our esteemed townsman, Mr. Robert Wilson, will shortly be appointed a Justice of the Peace. A better appointment could not be made, as Mr. Wilson is a gentleman possessed of sound judgment, and is in every way well adapted for the position.

ANOTHER FIRE.—A log dwelling house, owned by Mr. William Clydale, of Dummer, and situated about half-a-mile from this place on the Dummer road, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning. Quite an amount of valuable furniture, recently placed in the house by Mr. Clydale, was also destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

A BRIDGE COLLAPSED.—On Saturday the bridge over the Ouse on Cedar street, near Finlay's Hub and Spoke factory, collapsed. Fortunately there was no one on the bridge at the time or we might have had to chronicle something of a more serious nature.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—The sixty-fourth anniversary of the Birthday of Her Majesty Queen Victoria was duly celebrated throughout the Dominion on Thursday last. There being no celebration here the majority of the people betook themselves to Hastings, where the day was celebrated in grand style. The lacrosse club left about seven o'clock for Madoc, and the band left shortly afterwards for Hastings. The latter institution was much praised for its fine playing during the day.

ONEWEE.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—The Herald says that on Friday night last, Mr. Redmond, who lives on the east side of the river, had a narrow escape, with his family, from being burned to death in bed. His wife having been ill for some time past, it was necessary to keep a light burning all night, and the night of the explosion it had been left burning as usual, with the same turned down. Some time in the night Mr. Carey was awakened by his wife screaming that the house was on fire. In a few minutes more it would have been, no doubt, but for the presence of mind displayed by Mr. C., who managed to extinguish the fire, having his hands badly burned in doing so. It appears after they had fallen asleep the first spark fell down below the burner of the lamp into the oil, and the flames were bursting out of the chimney when discovered. The heat was so intense that part of the burner was melted away. Exchanges have now and then an account of a fire caused by a lamp exploding, and the explosion nearly every instance appears to be caused either by having the light turned down or the lamp being filled too full of oil, either of which is very dangerous, though many are no doubt unaware of the fact, as the practice is almost universal of leaving the light burning with the flame turned down. The above accident will, we hope, prove a warning.

MILLBROOK.

LEO BROKEN.—The Messenger says that on Tuesday afternoon, as Mr. Samuel Hunter, of near Millbrook, when driving home from his brother-in-law's, Mr. Fry, and while coming through the long swamp, two and a half miles east of Millbrook, in order to hasten out of the rain, having his wife, his two small children, a little eleven year old girl, that is living with them) Annie Argue, of Manvers, and a brother, Mr. James Hunter, all in a heavy, two-seated carriage, on driving over a small knoll, the little Argue girl was thrown over the dash-board, both wheels passing over her thighs, breaking the left thigh. She was brought to Dr. Burnham's, when at the girl's particular request, it was decided to send her home, and Dr. Breerton was telegraphed to meet her. She was made as comfortable as possible, on the bottom of the buggy, and the Messrs. Hunter drove her home. Dr. Burnham and others, did all they could to arrange her so as to ride as easily as possible, under the circumstances. It was raining heavily all the time. The poor child bore her sufferings bravely.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

MADOC.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—The Review says that during the thunderstorm on Monday, Messrs Wm. King and O. Hinds of Madoc Township, and Milton Bass, of Cashel, were slightly struck by lightning whilst sitting in the camp of Mr. John McNamara, on the Beaver Creek drive. They were left insensible for some time, but all fully recovered uninjured. They had a narrow escape.

MILTON'S CONSUMPTION CURE.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while it's wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. For sale by J. D. Tully.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says:—"We are usually sparing in our encomium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

MENTAL depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1883.

The Cells.

One prisoner occupied the cells on Saturday night, and on Sunday night they were unoccupied.

Vital Statistics.

The vital statistics for the month of May, as registered with the Town Clerk, were as follows:—Births, 17, marriages 0, and deaths, 8.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held at the Board room on Tuesday evening at 7.45 o'clock.

Eye, Ear and Throat.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson will be at the Oriental Hotel on Saturday, June 9th, where he may be consulted on all diseases pertaining to the eye, ear and throat.

New Jewellery Store.

Get your Watches, Clocks, Jewellery, all repaired at Hughan's New Shop. Remember the place, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

Excursion.

An excursion on the steamer Golden-Eye to Idyl Wild will take place on Thursday, the 21st of June, under the auspices of Carwell Lodge, I. O. G. T. No efforts will be spared to make the excursion successful and enjoyable.

Charlotte Street Church.

The reopening services in connection with the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, which were announced to be held on Sunday next, have been postponed, as it has been found that the building cannot be got ready for occupation by that time.

St. John's Church Sunday School House.

For the information of the congregation Mr. Poussette has pleasure in stating that he has lately received the sum of twenty-five dollars, collected by the Misses Wallis, being the balance due to him on the School House building account.

Runaway.

A horse belonging to Mr. T. W. Robinson, and attached to a dray loaded with barrels of land plaster, ran away on Simcoe street this forenoon. Something about the harness gave way, which frightened the horse. It ran a short distance, when the shafts caught on a post and stopped it. The harness was considerably damaged.

Hymenal.

Hymen, or the ceremony who now perform the duties which mythology ascribed to him, was not very busy in Peterborough during the past month. The marriage market was very quiet, as not one case of wedlock was recorded. But the month of June will show a different record. If Hymen has been asleep, Cupid has been awake and busy, and his arrows have taken effect, as this week will not pass without a marriage being recorded, and there are more to follow.

No. 1 Company.

Members are requested to bear in mind the meeting at the drill shed this evening at 7.30, for half an hour—no drill.

P. M. C.

There will be a general turn-out of canoes tomorrow evening at 7, with one or two scratch races, followed by sale of racks on returning to the boat house.

The Weather.

Yesterday was warm, with a fresh breeze. To-day is cooler and the forenoon was cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south west to west winds; generally fair, warm weather, preceded by local showers or thunder storms.

Personal.

Mr. A. Rutherford is at present engaged in Midland in fulfilling a contract for the erection of three large houses. He returned to Peterborough on Saturday evening, to spend Sunday here.

Mr. Thomas Fortye, of Orillia, formerly of Peterborough, was in town on Saturday.

The Orillia Packet, in reporting the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Mechanics' Institute, gives the President's report, from which we take the following extract. In an editorial paragraph the Packet heartily endorses this praise of Mr. Bertram, the brother of our fellow-townsmen:—

"Gentlemen, I cannot dismiss these two reports which have just been read, without making some allusion to the writer, Mr. Bertram, our Treasurer. I am certain I speak the sentiments, not only of his fellow directors, but of every lover of the Institute, when I say that we owe him a deep debt of gratitude for the time, care, and labour which he has expended in connection with this Institute, and that the success which has crowned the Orillia Mechanics' Institute is mainly attributable to his business ability, foresight and untiring efforts to promote its interests in every available way."

A Lively Chase.

On Saturday night, at about a quarter to twelve, two young men were driving on Charlotte street in a grocery delivery wagon, when the driver received a blow on the head from some missile thrown by one of two young men who were on the sidewalk. Immediately after another missile struck him on the side, and his companion leaped out of the wagon and gave chase to their disturbers. And a lively race it was, commencing at the creek and continuing west past the railway track, where he came up to them. He recognized one of them, and the driver of the wagon, who had turned the horse around, also came up, and informed the couple that he could recognize them in court. The mention of the Police Court seemed to show the couple the consequences of what they had done, and they who had bravely assaulted the others in the middle of the night, and had courageously run the length of two blocks, now further exhibited their valor by begging for pardon. Pardon was so far granted that a promise was given not to make them appear in Court, and they are not likely to amuse themselves in the same way again.

A Bad Sale.

Joseph Rule, it would appear, follows a bad rule. He was arrested here on Friday, on a telegram from Bracebridge, and on Saturday night Constable Hill, of Bracebridge, arrived. He departed this morning with Rule in his charge. Rule had been arrested in Bracebridge on a charge of using abusive language on the street, but the lock-up was forced open at night and he was liberated by his comrades, who are engaged on the river. Again, however, he was captured, and placed in confinement, but that night, by some unknown means, his comrades conveyed liquor to him, and when he was brought before the Magistrate he was remanded back to prison, while he threatened all kinds of harm to the Magistrate, constable and all concerned. Another plan for the rescue of this unruly Rule was devised and executed, and he made his way back to Peterborough, where the police were ready and waiting to receive him, and he has now gone back to Bracebridge, where he will find three of his over-zealous friends also in custody. One of these friends gave his name as Hickson, but by the description of the young man, it is suspected that it is an assumed name.

Cricket Match.

A match between the Lakeside and Peterborough Clubs was played here on Saturday afternoon. The weather and ground were excellent. For the home club, Miles Hamilton, and Hartley batted splendidly. The bowling of Watson and Wigge for Lakeside was above the average. The visiting team were under a considerable disadvantage owing to a mistake in reference to two of their players. The following is the score:—

American Canoe Association.

As many people do not know the dates fixed for the camp at Stony Lake, we may state that it will be held between the 10th and 24th August next; the regatta taking place on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd.

Railway Notes.

A brakeman named George Cronter had his right hand jammed at Millbrook on Saturday. While coupling cars his hand was caught and squeezed until two fingers burst, but the bones were not broken.

A despatch from Ottawa dated June 1st says that on Tuesday of last week track-laying was commenced at the Perth station on the Ontario & Quebec railway, and at noon on Monday the creek at Wrathalls, about two miles out, was reached. The iron bridge will probably be completed to day, when track laying will be resumed, and the first engine will enter Bathurst. The distance from Perth to Sharnbrook lake by rail will be twenty-eight miles, and the track will be finished to the Kingston and Pembroke railway about the first of July. Ballast will be brought from the Sharnbrook lake end of the line. Kingston will be 12 miles nearer Perth via Sharnbrook lake than via Brockville. The distance from Ottawa to Kingston would be about the same by the other route if a direct line were built from Perth to Ottawa on the route surveyed by the Midland railway. The Grand Trunk could reach Ottawa from the West next year by using the Kingston and Pembroke and completing the Midland from Sharnbrook lake to Ottawa over a very level tract of country.

The Association Regatta.

July 25 is the day fixed for holding the annual regatta of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, at Ottawa.

A Great Discovery.

That is daily bringing joy to the homes of thousands by saving many of their dear ones from an early grave. Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1883.

COUNTY COURT.

The June Session—Only One Case, and that a Civil One.

The June sitting of the General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Peterborough commenced at 11 o'clock this forenoon, His Honor Judge Dennistoun presiding.

There was only one case set down for hearing, a civil one, and there was no criminal case to be tried.

The following composed the Grand Jury:—

ADAM HALL, Foreman,
Robert Borland, James Baptie,
John Bell, T. M. D. Croly,
P. E. Bell, Michael Crough, James Byrne, James English,
Alex. Graham, D. Kelly,
Wm. Hook, Wm. Leeson,
Wm. Hoskins, Sidney Payne,
Robert Johnston, Robert Robson, Walter Renwick.

His Honor addressed the Grand Jury, and said that there was no person confined in gaol on a criminal charge, except one man who was charged with murder. This being a capital crime they could not deal with the case. If the charge had been for manslaughter it would have been brought before them, but as it was, and as there was no one out on bail, there was no case for them to investigate. It had been the duty of the Grand Jury to inspect the county gaol, but the Government had now appointed an Inspector of Gaols, and they need not examine it unless they wished to do so. If they did not wish to examine the gaol he would have great pleasure in discharging them at once.

The Grand Jury then retired to their room. A jury was empanelled in the case of Dumble v. Boyd, and the remainder of the Petit Jurors were discharged.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

LORD DUFFERIN HONORED.

LONDON, June 5.—Lord Dufferin, British Ambassador at Constantinople, has been decorated with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

CORRUPT PRACTICES BILL.

LONDON, June 5.—The bill to prevent corrupt practices at elections has passed its second reading in the House of Commons.

A MAYOR BANISHED.

BERLIN, June 5.—The Mayor of Moscow has been banished to his estate for expressing a hope in a speech during the coronation fêtes that the Czar would institute a constitutional regime.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

MOSCOW, June 5.—The Marquis of Tsing, at the Chinese embassy, says the diplomatic relations between France and China will certainly cease if the former operates in Tonquin without having previously arranged with China. He doubts whether the mission of Fréron, the new French representative, will succeed, as he will offer less reasonable terms than were contained in the Warden treaty, offered by Bourée, the retiring representative. It was possible China would not act directly, but the situation might become dangerous, owing to the existence of the Chinese war party. China had decided to recognize the treaty of 1882 regarding Cochin China, and even that of 1874, providing that if France intervened in Tonquin it should be solely at the request of China's vassal, the King of Annam, and that the intervention would not be regarded by France as rendering void China's sovereignty of Annam, even if China remained neutral. France would probably have to make, in order to ensure success, sacrifices ten times greater than she seemed to anticipate.

ASCOT HEATH RACES.

LONDON, June 5.—The summer meeting at Ascot Heath opened to-day. The race for the golden vase, value two thousand sovereigns, given by the Queen, was won by Border Minstrel, with Hagioscope second and Bonnie Jean third. The race for the Prince of Wales' stakes was won by Gallard, with Oaslan second and Laocoon third.

SOLDIERS POISONED.

BERLIN, June 5.—One hundred and forty-three soldiers at Posen, have been accidentally poisoned. Their condition is said to be very dangerous.

BURNED FOR WITCHCRAFT.

LONDON, June 5.—Advices from Sierra Leone, state that fifty persons have been burned to death for 'witchcraft' in the Sherbro districts.

A DENIAL.

BERLIN, June 5.—The North Germany Gazette denies that Bismarck has consulted official authority regarding the dissolution of the Federal treaty, with a view to abolishing the Reichstag.

AMERICAN.

THE ICE CROP.

ALBANY, June 5.—Fifty firms and individuals owning icehouses along the Hudson have formed a combination to compete with the ice companies pool. They agreed that the entire crop should be sold at 40 cents per 100 pounds.

SUIT COMPROMISED.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Wm. H. English, late candidate for Vice-President, was sued by Wm. D. Murphy, of Albany, for $1,180 for campaign speeches and expenses in Indiana. The suit was yesterday compromised for $400.

THE FRUIT CROP.

MARLBOROUGH, N.J., June 5.—Advices from points along the river confirm the previous reports of the promising condition of the fruit crop. The apple crop will be light, but the indications are that there will be a heavier yield all over.

A HEAVY LOSS.

DALLAS, June 5.—The loss of farm property and crops in northern Texas by Saturday night's storm will amount to a million dollars.

TRAPEZE PERFORMER KILLED.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—While La Haire, a trapeze performer, of Toronto, was doing the ceiling act in the theatre last night, a strap broke and he fell twenty-five feet to the stage. He was fatally injured.

COAL OIL.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Over seven million barrels of oil changed hands here yesterday. It is said that a syndicate threw large blocks of oil on the market yesterday, which caused a depression in prices.

SHOT BY A POLICEMAN.

LOUISVILLE, June 5.—E. H. Stevens, owner of Farragut and other horses, was shot yesterday by a policeman while trying to force his way into the grounds of the Jockey Club. He had lost his badge and the policeman alleges he drew a knife. The extent of Stevens' injuries have not been ascertained. The policeman was arrested.

THE OPERATORS' DEMANDS.

NEW YORK, June 5.—It is stated that the telegraph operators in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company will soon demand a general increase of wages, fewer hours, and that all operators be graded, each grade to be paid a certain sum. The salary of first grade is to be $100 per month. The Telegraphic Brotherhood is working under the charter of the Knights of Labor.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Traffic over the Brooklyn Bridge continues to increase, and the ferry companies have reduced their tolls 25 per cent.

HORSE SHOW ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, June 5.—A National horse show association of America has been organized here, with a capital of $100,000. They purpose to give exhibitions of horses.

A PRIZE FIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—A hotly anticipated prize fight took place here last night between Black Diamond, a negro boxer, and John Connors, for $200 a side. Six rounds were fought. Connors was victorious.

LABOR TROUBLES.

FARMINGTON, N. H., June 5.—The bad feeling between the strikers and the scabs who took the places at Eastman's factory, culminated last night in a quarrel, during which William Burrows, a striker, was shot fatally. Two scabs were arrested, and after threats of lynching on the part of the strikers, they were jailed. There is much excitement.

INFESTED WITH GAMBLERS.

DODOR CITY, Ka., June 5.—On Saturday a meeting of citizens was held, at which it was resolved to notify all thugs, desperadoes and gamblers to leave the city. They promised to do so, but failed to keep the agreement. The citizens' committee again called on the gamblers and read the Riot Act, when they promised to leave town at three o'clock yesterday. They did not do so, however, and the Mayor issued a proclamation suppressing gambling. Trouble is feared.

OUTLAWS SURROUNDED.

SUMNER, Iowa, June 5.—Barber Brothers, outlaws and burglars, have been surrounded by 175 men in a wood near here. If caught they will be lynched. A reward of $6,000 has been offered for them.

BARNUM'S CIRCUS ON FIRE.

CHICAGO, June 5.—At 2 o'clock this morning Barnum's circus caught fire. The main tent, dress and paraphernalia were destroyed. The blaze caught from a lantern, and the canvas was consumed like a flash. There was no loss of life. The animals were in a tent outside the base ball park and were not injured. The loss was not learned.

THE STORM IN TEXAS.

DALLAS, June 5.—At Cedar Hill the farmers report the growing crops flattened to the ground. Fences blown down, rangers and wagons in the fields rolled over and over and torn apart by the fury of the wind. Near Hutchins station the destruction was so complete that the people are disheartened. Wheat standing in locks was scattered. Water in huge streams ploughed up the fields and cut ruts through the model stands of corn, cotton and grain. Half of a large size is banked up in low places. Many sheep and calves were killed. Orchards were twisted and stripped of their branches and young fruit.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., June 5.—Abraham Hoag found a man lying near his barn yesterday morning, who had been dangerously injured. He was a machinist named Henry Mohr. The man said that on Sunday morning he met a man named Tuttle, near Croton Depot, who accused him of stealing a bag of flour. On denying the charge Tuttle and two companions named Tice and Crandall knocked him down, kicked and beat him about the head and body, and then tried to rob him, but he concealed his watch. They did not find anything, when he ran up the road, but they followed and again beat him until he was insensible. On his recovery he crawled to the barn. Tuttle and Tice were arrested, but Crandall is at large.

SHIPS WRECKED.

An Iron Steamship Loaded with Cattle Lost

—A Brigantine and Steamer Stranded.

Special to the Review.

St. Johns, Nfld., June 5.—Several shipwrecks have just occurred on the South West coast of Newfoundland. The iron steamship Longshaw, was lost at Broad Cove, on Friday morning. She was laden with grain and cattle, and bound from Montreal to Liverpool. A dense fog prevailed at the time. The steamer stranded. The officers and crew got into boats with great difficulty, and were exposed on Saturday and Sunday night to the inclemency of the weather, and a boisterous sea. They had no food or water. They lost all. The Brigantine Mahave, from St. John, N. B., with timber for this place, stranded on Saturday at St. Hofs. The vessel is a total wreck. The crew were saved. An unknown steamship is reported ashore at Chance Cove Island.

ESCAPED CONVICTS.

Two Prisoners Break out of Kingston Penitentiary—Both Supposed to be Drowned.

KINGSTON, June 3.—Two convicts named Robert Webb and John Josey escaped from the penitentiary last night. Webb was sentenced at the Essex Assizes in 1876 to thirteen years, and was in the hospital suffering from rheumatism. Josey was sentenced at Belleville to imprisonment for life for shooting his sweetheart, while intoxicated. Josey being of a very kind disposition, was placed in the hospital, he and a guard looked after the patients during the night. The guard, whose name is Crawford, went down into the kitchen shortly after ten and did not return till near twelve. In the meantime Josey took a skeleton key and let Webb out of his cell, when they secured a saw and sawed through a bar of a window and let themselves to the ground with a rope made of window cords. They fastened a hook to the end of the rope and threw the hook to the top of the wall, where it caught the iron railing, and then pulled themselves up and reached the ground on the other side by the same means. They were gone an hour before their absence was discovered. The boat of guard McElin is missed, and it is supposed the convicts took it and went across. There was a gale blowing at the time, in which it was almost impossible for a small boat to live. No traces of them have been found up to to-night. This is the first successful escape that has taken place for many years.

A House that Sweetly Sings.

Thomas S. Hutchison, of Greenboro', tells of a mouse that has been captured by Mr. Pelot, of Easton. A wonderful thing about it is that this little animal sings very sweetly, his notes resembling very much those of a canary bird.

100 Hopeless Cases

Examined and treatment refused during the year ending May 1, at the International Throat and Lung Institute, and hundreds more are dying every year of some form of throat or lung trouble, who could be cured if proper treatment was applied in time. We give a candid opinion and will not treat any case we think hopeless. 7,500 cases have been treated by us with the most gratifying results during the last year. The Spirometer invented by Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon to the French army. The treatment prescribed at the International Throat and Lung Institute is curing more cases of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption than all other treatments combined. Consultations and a trial of Spirometer free. Write, enclosing stamp for copy of International News and list of questions. Address International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, 13 Phillip's Square, Montreal, or 51 Lafayette Ave., Detroit.

In response to an appeal from the Earl of Dalhousie no fewer than 300 Scotch ministers have expressed the opinion that marriage with a deceased wife's sister is not forbidden in the Word of God.

About 200 feet of the facing of a wharf in course of construction at Dumbarton, for Denny Brothers, gave way on the 13th May, carrying with it a great mass of packing, together with a substantial stone wall. Thirty workmen had a narrow escape.

Candidates for the Methodist Ministry.

In the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada there are 80 probationers and candidates for the Christian ministry. These are classified as follows:—Eight probationers who have travelled the full term of four years and who have completed their studies, having received second-class certificates, will be recommended for ordination at the ensuing Conference; seven probationers of three years' standing, one of whom failed to obtain his certificate, the other six receiving second-class; sixteen probationers of two years' standing, two of whom failed in their examination, nine receiving second-class and five first-class certificates; twenty-four probationers who have travelled one year; three of whom failed in their examination, two obtaining third class, fourteen second class, and nine first-class certificates; (twenty-five) candidates for the ministry, whom five failed to pass the preliminary course of study, nineteen obtaining second-class and two first-class certificates.

A Druggist's Mistake.

A terrible case of caries of the part of a drug clerk was reported in Montreal on Saturday. A young lady, daughter of Mr. McRae, of Dorchester Street, is convalescent after a severe attack of typhoid fever, which had kept her in bed for several weeks. She complained of a severe attack of toothache on Friday evening and went to a St. Lawrence street drug store for some toothache drops to kill the pain. The drug clerk, a very young man, gave her messengers a phial of carbolic acid, and the girl having dropped several drops into the tooth was soon in terrible agony. Dr. Kennedy administered such remedies as were necessary and was in time to save the life of the lady if no relapse took place. If a drop more of the acid had reached her throat nothing could have saved her. Her tongue was swollen so that she could hardly move it, and her mouth was burned in a fearful manner.

A Singular Case.

On Saturday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, information was received at the police office on James street, Hamilton, that the body of a child had been found in the Beasley Hollow Creek, near Alameda Woods. Two boys named Begland, with another lad, were catching minnows in the stream, and observed a bag lying in the bottom. They fished the bag out on the bank and cut it open, finding the body of a young child and at the lower end of the bag a large stone, which it is supposed was placed in the bag as a sinker. The England boys told their father, who called and informed the police. Sergeant Smith procured a vic, and with the guidance of the boys went to the spot, when, to their surprise, the body of the child had disappeared. The police are working up the case.

Incendiarism in Toronto.

There were no less than five fires in Toronto on Sunday night, all believed to have been caused by incendiarism. The first fire broke out in a flour and feed store belonging to Mr. S. George, on the corner of Queen and Yonge streets, and did $800 worth of damage. The second fire was in a brick addition to a house occupied by Mr. Tappin on Victoria street. A third fire on Richmond street did damage to the extent of $400, and one house was burned. On the corner of Dalhousie and Shuter streets a stable and several sheds were burned, the damage being estimated at $300. The fifth fire consumed an unused ice-house in the west end, valued at $100. The fire broke out on six times between 8 and 1 o'clock, one of the fires having broken out a second time.

Another Fatal Attempt.

A correspondent of the Globe writes from St. Catharines that a plan was laid to blow up the Welland Canal on the day Joe Brady was hanged in Dublin. The Dominion Government, however, had received information regarding the plot and preparations were promptly made to guard against the attack. On Sunday, the day before the execution, fifteen suspicious characters came over the Suspension Bridge from the United States side and were immediately "shadowed" by detectives. They proceeded to the canal, but on seeing that it was securely guarded, they hastened to St. Catharines, dispersed and hurried back across the lines. The canal is still guarded by sentries.

Heavy Damages against the Grand Trunk.

The suit of William L. Smith against the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company for injuries received in 1880 by his head striking the fence of a cattle guard, ended in the circuit court at Port Huron on Friday. The jury awarded Smith $18,000 damages. The company will appeal.

Fatal Saw Accident.

A fatal accident occurred to a man named Shaw, tall, slender, and of a fair complexion. He was carrying away a tie which had been seen when he slipped and fell on the revolving saw. His left leg was sawn off, and he was otherwise injured to such an extent that he died the same evening. He was never wholly conscious after the accident, and the address of his parents was not ascertainable.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1883.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening in the Board room at 7.45 o'clock.

The Cells.

One prisoner was arrested and placed in the cells last evening, but was liberated on bail later on.

Cricket.

On Saturday, June 2nd, a match was played at Peterborough between the Oak Leaf Club, Peterborough, and the first eleven of Mr. Sheldrake's School, Lakeside, resulting in a victory for the Lakeside boys.

Railway Note.

Spile driving for the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridge across the Otonabee was commenced on Monday. The western end of the bridge will be at the north-east corner of Mr. Leonard's lot.

A Defective Bridge.

At the eastern terminus of Murray street, opposite Mr. Brodie's woollen mill, there is a short bridge that is not in a very good condition. In fact, it is a dangerous place to drive a horse over. That part of the street is not travelled much, but so long as it remains open it should be kept in a fit condition to drive on safely, or accidents may happen.

Domestic Day.

Councillor Menzies, Acting Mayor, has issued a notice calling a meeting of the citizens this evening in the Firemen's Hall, for the purpose of taking steps towards celebrating the first of July, Dominion Day, in Peterborough. As this is an important meeting, it is unfortunate that it is called on the same evening as a meeting of the Central Committee to make preparations for the coming meeting of the American Canoe Association, and also on the night of the regular meeting of the Board of Education. However, we trust that there will be a large attendance, and that prompt measures will be taken to have a demonstration worthy of the day and town.

Personal.

The following paragraph is from the Orillia Packet. The gentlemen mentioned are well known here:—

"It is seldom we are called upon to record a death attended by such and circumstances as that of Mr. G. W. Robinson, of the Turtle Mountain District, in our North-West. Not feeling well, Mr. Robinson determined to pay a visit to his son, Mr. T. H. Robinson, of Orillia, and in hope that the journey might benefit him, he came from Duluth by boat, but the weather being cold, the effect was injurious instead of beneficial. To give his son a pleasant surprise, he sent no notice of his purpose of visiting him, and the first intimation of it received here was a telegram from a Harrie physician, Mr. Robinson, sr., reached Orillia on Monday, and died the following evening at about half-past six o'clock. He was a native of the county of Peterborough, where his father was one of the pioneer settlers. Mr. T. H. Robinson has the sympathy of the community in this sudden affliction."

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

The Rev. A. Sutherland is President of the Conference, and the Rev. John Bredin, Secretary of Committee.

Cricket Club.

Cricketers are reminded of the regular monthly meeting of the Cricket Club to be held in the office of Messrs. Hatton & Beck this evening.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and warm. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south to east winds; fair weather, with local showers at night in western Ontario; not much change in temperature.

Union School Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Union School will take place at Campbelltown on Saturday next. The Golden Eye will leave the wharf at 8 a.m. and return at 6 p.m. Athletic and other sports will take place during the day. Ex-pupils, teachers and their friends are cordially invited to attend. The following is the committee of management:—Messrs. Hutchinson, Stevenson, Coughlin, Langford and Yelland.

A. C. A.

A meeting of the general committee to make arrangements for the annual camp of the American Canoe Association to take place at Stony Lake next August, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Post Office block, in the room over Mr. Barnham's office. The various sub-committees will report and there will be other important business, so there should be a full attendance. The sub-committees will meet previously at the same room at 7.30.

The Methodist Churches.

At the last official meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Methodist Church for the Peterborough Circuit it was decided to divide the town in two circuits, to be known as Peterborough First (George Street Church) and Peterborough Second (Charlotte Street Church). A resolution was carried unanimously inviting the present pastors, the Rev. John Shaw and the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., to remain another year.

A Great Discovery.

PITH —FOR— MECHANICS.

Your muscle and brain go into your wages. Hard labour teaches you the value of your money, you need to get all your can for it.

Anybody that expects you to put dollars into sentiment and buy of him as a favour is a trifle out in the calculations. It is your duty to buy as cheap as you can, but no one needs to be more careful where he puts his money than you.

The only thing that will warrant you in giving your trade to our establishment rather than another is, the certainty of cheaper buying.

All this leads up to a practical point, put your money for dress into clothing at DOLAN & CO'S. You'll get solid satisfaction. DOLAN & CO'S. is a sort of clothing centre to which all buyers in clothing-making naturally gravitate. The result is at your command.

HER MAJESTY'S HEALTH.

A Correspondent Publishes More Sensational Reports.

Boston, June 5.—A cable despatch from the Herald's London bureau gives the statement of a correspondent who made it his business to interview a well-known and influential member of the inner court circle in relation to the Queen's health. He was informed that severe dropsical symptoms had set in, and that the Queen's condition is considered so unsafe that her doctors all protested against her recent journey to Scotland. The only reason that caused the doctors to assent to the removal was the fact of the inability of Her Majesty to get about since the hurt to her leg has minimized her outdoor exercise, which has been most sadly missed, but it is thought the fresh air of Balmoral will to a great degree make up for it. The immediate result of this cessation of outdoor life has been fit after fit of serious depression. This melancholia has frightened the doctors, and added to the internal morbidity of the system, and is causing all who know to anticipate at no very distant date at least a fear of the Queen being confined a confirmed invalid to her own bed.

Manslaughter.
Owing to certain suspicious rumours in Quebec alleging foul play as the cause of death, the Coroner had the body of a thirteen-year-old boy named Gers, who died towards the end of last week, exhumed. The inquest on it being concluded, resulted in a verdict of manslaughter against a brother of deceased, aged 26, who dragged the lad out of bed some three weeks since, and kicked him so severely about the body as, according to the medical testimony, to produce the illness which eventuated in his death.

Lamp Explosion.
Miss Healy, a maiden lady, was laying some carpet at her house in Montreal last week, when the coal oil lamp with which she was working overturned, and an explosion followed. The unfortunate lady's clothes took fire, and she was so badly burned that her life is despaired of.

Mental Depression.
Mental depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

POISON SAID TO BE USED.

Dublin, June 5.—It is rumoured that the Invigilables have been extensively using poison to remove obnoxious persons. The police are investigating a number of suspicious deaths which have occurred the past few years, especially the case of a hotel-keeper named Jury, of Dublin, who died a fortnight after the Phoenix Park murders. From disclosures of informers the authorities do not doubt that Jury was poisoned. The reason alleged for the poisoning is that he inadvertently opened a letter addressed to Tynan, who was staying at Jury's hotel. Jury discovered that the letter contained directions in regard to the secret society. Fearing the vengeance of the members of the society, Jury destroyed the letter. A waiter, however, informed Tynan that Jury had received a letter for him. It is thought Jury's removal was then decided upon.

THE BASUTOS DEMAND.

LONDON, June 5.—Mr. Gladstone stated in the special parliament to-day that the home government had been informed by Cape authorities that the Basutos were desirous of severing their connection with the Colonial Government. Despatches from Capetown say the Basutos are very much in earnest in the matter, and there is danger of an uprising. They have memorialized the Cape Government strongly presenting their grievances and demanding to be allowed to govern themselves.

CHINA AND FRANCE.

LONDON, June 5.—A correspondent at Shanghai, in a despatch dated June 4th, says he is in a position to state on the highest authority that Li Hung Chang, Chinese Prime Minister and Commander of the troops in the Province adjacent to Tonquin, declares that unless France recognizes the rights of China in regard to Annam, China is resolved to fight.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

LONDON, June 5.—In the Letterfrock murder conspiracy case Donnelly, Connelly, and two men named Faherty have been committed for trial on the charge of murdering Constable Kavanagh and a man named Lydena. Five others were committed for charges of treason-felony and conspiracy to murder.

SENTENCED.

DUBLIN, June 5.—Harrington, editor of the Kerry Sentinel, and the printer of that paper, have been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for the publication of a seditious libel. They will appeal. Two compositors pleaded guilty to assisting in the publication, and were each sentenced to two months.

AN OFFENDED PEER.

LONDON, June 5.—In the recent debate in the House of Commons Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, implied that Lord Rosebery, in his capacity of Under-Secretary for the Home Department, was especially charged with Scotch interests merely as a temporary plan, intended to propitiate the Scotch members. This statement of the House of Lords today, entering the House of Lords today, a seat apart from his colleagues. He has evidently threatened to resign, and it is asserted has already written to Mr. Gladstone acquainting him of such intention. It is still hoped, however, that the matter will be settled.

AN ARREST.

BIRMINGHAM, June 5.—The police arrested here to-day an avowed American Fenian who has declared his intention of making mischief at the Bright celebration next week. The man is forty years of age.

THANKS TO GREAT BRITAIN.

ROME, June 5.—It is the intention of the Vatican to express its thanks to Great Britain for the aid she has extended Catholic missionaries in the Sudan.

THE MAY LAWS.

BERLIN, June 5.—The Government bill modifying the May Laws was introduced in the Prussian Landtag to-day. It permits the saying of mass and dispensing of the sacraments, in consideration of the recognition of the modified rule relative to the duty of giving notice of Church appointments to the Government. It abolishes the obligation to give notice to the Government of changes in unbeneficed curacies or of appointment by incumbent of representatives, unless the appointees are to fulfil the functions of vicars. The jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical court is abolished except as regards the duty of giving notice to it of the appointment of teachers in seminaries and as to questions of discipline and clerical rights. An appointment can only be objected to on grounds affecting the position of the incumbent as a citizen. An appeal is allowed to the Minister of Worship.

AMERICAN.

THE CHURCH AND THE LEAGUE.

BALTIMORE, June 5.—Archbishop Gibbons has notified the clergy of his diocese that he does not desire them to hold office under the Irish National League. He has also intimated that his subordinates should not countenance the new organization. In accordance with the Archbishop's request Father Brennan has expressed his determination to resign from the National Committee, and not take any part in organizing the league. In this State the priests, it is understood, will exercise the right to contribute to the funds of the new organization, as they claim the Pope's rescript applies only to the Church in Ireland.

MURDERED BY HIS FRIEND?

DETROIT, June 5.—A Mount Clemens despatch says that Charley Smith, who lives four miles from here on the lake shore, reported this morning the finding on the shore of a huckster wagon near that place on Sunday; also a hat and coat on the roadside near by. Two hucksters were seen with the rig on Saturday, both intoxicated. One of them went to a farmer's house bareheaded, borrowed a cap, and skipped out while nothing had been seen or heard of the other man. In the wagon-hor, on the seat, and on the ground are found clots of blood. It is reported that one of the men had considerable money with him, and it looks as though murder had been committed.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 5.—The schooner Fanny D. Bailey from Chever, N. S., for Philadelphia, came ashore here. Three men and a child were lost.

A CIRCUS BLOWN DOWN.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 5.—During the performance here to-night, Nathan & Co's. circus was blown down. A panic followed. One man was knocked senseless by a falling pole. Harry Liebig of Drummondville, Ont., was badly cut in the face, and a number of people were more or less seriously hurt.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

CABLE.

RUSSIA'S DEFENCE.

St. PETERSBURG, June 6.—The Journal de St. Petersburg says that Russia can protect her frontier from a greater army than any which can be massed under the Triple Alliance.

THE ASCOT RACES.

LONDON, June 6.—At the Ascot meeting to-day, the race for the Ascot Biennial stakes was won by Keene's Bluegrass, Lilac second and John Jones third. There were seven starters, including Keene's Police. The betting at the start was 9 to 1 against Bluegrass; 5 to 1 against Jones; 6 to 1 against Lilac, and 6 to 1 against Police. The race for the Royal Hunt Cup was won by Elsthor, Vescliff second, and Despair third. There were 23 starters, including Lord Illard's Sachem.

SEEKING THE GUILTY.

LONDON, June 6.—It is stated that Curran, divisional magistrate of the Dublin Police Court, is consulting the authorities here, concerning the suspected poisoning of a person in Ireland by the Invigilables.

RUSSIAN INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

St. PETERSBURG, June 6.—A pamphlet has been distributed throughout the city, in which is represented the programme for self government claimed by the moderate party. The Journal de St. Petersburg says none but a strong government, in which the Emperor shall hold power and his subjects meet him with loving confidence, can advance toward the solution of the greatest of problems; such a government only can deal with the work of completely organizing a country, and it alone need not shrink from granting freedom to the people.

NIHILISM SPREADING.

PARIS, June 6.—The Journal Comique has been issued stating that the whole force of the Russian Government and its most intelligent forces having been contracted at Moscow during the coronation festivities, the Nihilists took advantage of the occasion to spread their doctrines and enroll supporters in St. Petersburg and other cities. It says the strength of the party in St. Petersburg is greatly increasing, and there were, at the coronation, officials and others under orders of the Nihilists near enough to the Czar to have struck him on the brow if the word had been given. It was even feared some zealous partisan might throw a grenade at the Czar.

AMERICAN.

MURDER.

CHARLOTTE, N. Y., June 6.—Thomas Shields shot and killed Joe Sifton yesterday. Shields claims that his sister was seduced by Sifton, and the latter refused to marry her. Shields was jailed.

THE NEW LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Most of the New York city branches of the Land League and other Irish organizations represented in the Philadelphia convention, last night ratified the action of the convention by taking preliminary steps towards forming branches of the new league. Dr. Wallace said that those present should stand by the new league. The Rev. Father Larkin said:—"We have all read the letter which the Pope is said to have written to the Irish Bishops, and have found that he did not sign it at all. It is signed by a Cardinal called Simoni."

CARDINAL McCLOSKEY'S HEALTH.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Cardinal McCloskey has executed power of attorney to Vice-Chancellor Quinn and Preston, giving them full authority to act for him as an individual and as Archbishop of New York. For some time the Cardinal's health has been such as to render it impossible for him to attend to secular affairs.

OHIO GOVERNORSHIP.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 6.—Sherman said last night that if he was forced into being a Governorial candidate and elected he should resign his seat in the United States Senate and serve as Governor. The committee of permanent organization has elected Sherman permanent chairman.

THE OIL MARKET.

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—There was almost a panic in the oil market here yesterday in consequence of a drop of 6½ cents a barrel. The sales were $4,500,000 barrels.

A STATUE TO BE UNVEILED.

WEST POINT, June 6.—A statue of General Sylvanus Knowlton, as the father of the military academy, will be unveiled on Monday. A large number of visitors are already here.

A ROBBER CAUGHT.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Robert Stone, who is alleged to have stolen a large quantity of silverware in Brooklyn, was captured while committing a robbery yesterday.

DROWNED.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 6.—A young man named Riley, residing at Leytown, was discovered asleep in a wagon on Monday night, while driving through Allegany on a tour of the canal. He was awakened, and after being warned, drove on. The horse and wagon were found on the opposite side of the canal yesterday morning. Riley's coat and hat, the former containing a bottle partly filled with whisky, were floating in the canal. There is little doubt that he was drowned.

AN AGREEMENT.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Over forty business houses here have signed an agreement not to receive trade dollars after June 15th.

TRAFFIC ON THE HUDSON.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Herald's Albany correspondent had a conversation with the Governor yesterday, regarding the ungranted bill. The Governor said he could not avoid the belief that the Storm King bridge would be an obstruction to commerce at the narrow point in the river where the canal flows, steamers and sailing vessels already find navigation difficult and sometimes dangerous. The commerce on the Hudson was, for a limited number of miles, probably the greatest in the country, and he was very unwilling especially with probable increase of the canal traffic, due to the abolition of the tolls, to add another obstruction to its free flow.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1883.

Not in a "Tory organ," but in a Reform paper of independent standing, there appears, on the authority of somebody of whom the description given is that "he knows, evidently, a good deal about the whole business," very grave charges of corrupt practices against certain Government engineers, at the expense of the contractors for "Section B." Even to defend the maligned Conservative Administration we cannot do these gentlemen the injustice of naming them in such a connection till the whole matter is thoroughly ventilated, as it will of course be eventually.

Under a cloud of abuse, the Globe sneaks out of the only two material points in its section B. slanders, that the contractors or some of them used the money of the firm to corrupt the electors, and that the Government was recouping this outlay. The Globe now says, "whether out of firm money or private money it matters not a straw," thus abandoning its falsehood concerning the firm money, as it will have to do concerning its new charge about private money. As to the "recouping," it now says, "Perhaps our exposure is too late to prevent the consummation of these conspiracies," or in other words it admits that it was uttering deliberate slanders when it said that its alleged advances of money were recouped, and is prepared as of old when convicted of falsehood to claim that its outcries had prevented the action that it pretended had been adopted. Every word of the Globe's slander has now been contradicted on good authority.

GOOD PROGRESS.

Business the very important legislation of the late session of the Dominion, including the useful and necessary, though not showy work of consolidating and amending some of the most important branches of our laws, much progress was made towards the ultimate adoption of measures that will be greatly to the advantage of our young Dominion. Both the Franchise Bill and the Factory Bill are included in this category, and though it is well that they were introduced and discussed, perhaps no real ground has been lost by their postponement to next session.

The Franchise Bill, provided for as it was by the British North America Act, was advisable both for the sake of uniformity throughout the Dominion as far as possible, and in order to enfranchise those classes who are well entitled to the right to vote now refused to them by our own Provincial Administration for instance. It is fitting that such a measure should be introduced by a young and not by an expiring Parliament. There is thus full time for discussion, and what is still more expedient, a practical test of its working in the bye elections that are sure to take place. There will be ample time for this if the Act is passed next year, and meantime we hope that on the lines of its main provisions still further extensions will be granted in some respects.

The Factory Act also will not be the worse for a little delay. It is to be printed and circulated with proposed amendments, and no doubt suggestions will be made to add to its efficiency. It is almost a new field of legislation for Canada, and is a subject that requires careful handling. For one thing it must be remembered that the operatives and mechanics, who will be so largely affected by it, must not be treated like children, and they might be impatient of too rigid and severe restrictions, even though having in view their own safety or health. Such objections to factory legislation have not been unknown in older manufacturing countries. As to the appeals of the Reform press to the operatives to condemn the Conservatives for delaying even for a year a measure for their advantage, that is too barefaced a piece of hypocrisy to have any effect. These carrying critics were in power for some years, and we had no factory acts from them, though we must in fairness admit that they had some excuse for their inaction in the fact that in those days the factories were dwindling away. Now that they have revived and are multiplying the matter is more pressing. Next year the operatives will receive a good factory act from our Conservative statesmen, and those who have come from the old country or have read its industrial history, will recognize the fact that this is another case of history repeating itself. It was to the Conservatives that the British operatives were indebted for the Factory Act. The "Liberal" mill-owners, like Cobden and Bright, who clamoured for "a cheap loaf" because it meant cheap labour, and therefore indirect protection to their industries, were not the men to occupy themselves, against their own pecuniary interests, with the welfare of their "hands."

THE HOME AND THE HALL TRUST.

We have been requested to publish the following letter, from which it will be seen that the Protestant Home now has to depend upon voluntary subscriptions which have fallen off of late years, in consequence of the grants from the William Hall Poor Trust, now discontinued.

DEAR MADAM,—On 30th Oct. 1878, the Board of this Trust resolved to make an allowance of $800 per annum towards the maintenance of the Peterborough Protestant Home and the objects associated with it. At that time the direct demands upon the Trust were not so great but that they could all be met in addition to the allowance to the Home, but subsequently, as applications for assistance became more frequent, the Trustees feeling that the duty of dispensing the fund entrusted to them devolved upon themselves and could not be properly delegated to the ladies who had undertaken the management of the Home, considered it necessary by a resolution passed on the 6th February, 1882, made the allowance from the then following 1st April, $500 per annum, and now it has been resolved to discontinue it altogether, as your Secretary has already been notified. From this action of the Board it must not be assumed that the Trustees do not fully appreciate the good work of the lady managers of the Home, but they consider that so long as the direct demands upon them are sufficient to exhaust their income, they will best make the intention of a donor of the fund by dispensing relief themselves in the way they have hitherto done. Under the resolution to which I have referred the managers of the Home are entitled to receive for the period from 30th October, 1878 to 1st April, 1883, 3 years and five months, at the rate of $800 per annum, $2,400.35, and for one year from 1st April, 1882 to 1883, $500, in all $2,900.35, of which they have already received $2,494, leaving still due $739.35, for which amount I enclose the Trust's cheque.

I am, dear Madam,
Your obedient servant,
A. P. POUSSETTE,
Secretary.
Mrs. M. A. Jeffers,
Treasurer "Protestant Home," Peterborough, 15th May, 1883.

THE SECTION B. SCANDAL.

The Independent Reform Toronto World scathingly rebukes the Globe as follows:—

The Globe is going the wrong way about making out a public scandal in connection with section B. of the Pacific Railway. In the first place it displays a misplaced zeal in hunting the matter out, and a discreditable gloating over its finds. To unearth such a state of corruption as the Globe thinks it has discovered, should be to right-minded men, a painful duty and attended with regret; but there is nothing but exultation in its columns over the whole affair, and a gleeful rubbing of hands that a "second Pacific scandal" has been brought to light. Somehow the Globe is possessed of the idea that the only hope of the Reform party regarding power is that their opponents will be shown to be villains and corruptors, or that hard times will again set in and show the weakness of the present fiscal policy. They evidently expect nothing from any positive policy they may announce. The great bulk of the Liberal party, we should hope, are animated in better spirit.

In the next place, the Globe is drawing in too many side issues. Now that it has made the charges, the plain duty of that journal is to establish two things: (1) That the construction of section B. either by a firm or as individuals spent or contributed money for corrupt purposes in the elections; (2) that the government has recouped or intends to recoup these contractors for the money so spent, out of the public treasury, by allowing claims to which the contractors were not honestly entitled. As to the question of the parties who are the recipients, and their disloyalty to the division of profits, and a lot of other irrelevant matter, intentionally mixed up with the main charges, the public have nothing to do; all this is matter for settlement between the disputants as they may see fit. What the Globe does do, as we have said, prove that the money was given, and next that it was or is to be recouped. The establishment of the first of these does not necessarily entail the second, for there have been men who, in the hope of favors from a Government have done corrupt things and yet the government have been too honest to refuse to recoup the corruptionists. If there has been corruption we hope to see it unearthed and the guilty parties punished, but let us be spared the spectacle of a leading journal and a party glorying over the discovery of "a foul and reeking nest of corruption," and let those whose tasks run in that direction confine themselves to the essential facts of their work, and not seek to drag in what is no relevant part of it.

Horrible Carcasses.

The following report comes from Muskego, Indian Territory, U. S.:—Three weeks ago Deputy Marshal Marston, with a posse, was looking for Indian murderers in the Chickasaw Nation, near Red River. The officers surrounded a house where the woman of the house, with two children, aged 11 and 16, were sleeping under the trees, and a third one, of nine years, was sleeping in the house. The Marshal woke them, and they supposing some drunken Indians were coming around and ran for the house. The Marshal, without waiting to see or investigate, opened fire, killing both boys and wounding the woman; they then rushed to the house, and seeing the other boy lying there in the dim light, shot and killed him. On discovering their mistake they left and reported they had killed three desperadoes, but the facts have just come out. The Chickasaws are greatly excited and determined to sift the matter to the bottom.

A Luxurious Car.

The Western train which left here on Saturday had attached to it one of the Worcester Car Company's parlor hotel cars which had been engaged by Mr. South, of Toronto, and a party for a trip to the North-West. The car, which excited a good deal of attention here, is, in reality a miniature hotel, and is admirably adapted for pleasure or excursion parties. The toilet and sleeping arrangements are perfect, and to show the completeness of its equipment it may be mentioned that electric bells and fire-proof safes are included in it.—Witness.

A Note for Spelling Reformers.

A San Francisco professor spells potato as follows:—Ghoughphthightseu, and declares it to be correct according to the following rule:—"Gh stands for p, as you will find from the last letters in blough. Ough stands for o, as in dough. Th stands for t, as in phth. Elgh stands for e, as in neigh. Th stands for t, as in gasset. New stands for n, as in bean. We should like to see his method of spelling the various names of the Car.

THE NEW GLOBE SCANDAL.

First Contradiction of the Label by the C. P. E.—
—A Business Bargain.

The Independent Montreal Star has the following in regard to the Globe's latest political "argument":—

"The Globe's double-headed A 1 first-class second Pacific Scandal has not caused much sensation in Montreal, and there is little, if any, interest taken in it outside of the professional politicians and railway men. A Star reporter called upon the Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway this morning, and asked that gentleman what he thought of the charges made in the 'organ' of the party. 'We have nothing to do with it at all,' was the answer. 'It is a matter between the Government and the contractors mentioned.' 'But the Globe says you were compelled to take the contractor's plant over and pay $70,000 for it.' 'That is all nonsense. We take what we want at a valuation, and by the terms of the agreement, if I remember right, there is a special clause inserted which provides that in the event of a misunderstanding as to the value of the plant, arbitrators are to be appointed to settle the matter. Anything about compelling us to take the plant at any fixed price is pure nonsense. As regards the remainder of the charges we know nothing about and have nothing to do with them.'"

A Genuine Horned Snake.

A genuine horned snake was killed recently on the plantation of the C. M. Rozeman, Hawk-Invillie, Guy. The snake was an inch and a half long, and resembled a chicken's spur. It was attached to the snake's body about two inches above the end of the tail.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages poverty. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1883.

The Cells.

One prisoner was the sole occupant of the police cells last night.

New Jewellery Store.

Get your Watches, Clocks, Jewellery, all repaired at Hugh's New Shop. Remember the place, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

St. Paul's Church.

The time for receiving tenders for the work of making the alterations and improvements in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has been extended to the 15th of June.

The Band.

The Fire Brigade Band will give their first open air concert this season on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, at their stand, corner of Water and Charlotte streets. These concerts will be continued through the summer.

Board of Education.

There was no meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday night, as there was not a quorum present at eight o'clock. The following members appeared:—Messrs. Stevenson (Chairman), Cox, Sproule, Stratton, Kendrey and Sawers.

The Weather.

There was a heavy fall of rain last night, accompanied by thunder and lightning. Today is sultry and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 4 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south to west winds; fine, warmer weather, with a few local thunder storms.

As Others See Us.

In the Globe's report of the session of the Montreal Methodist Conference, which is in session at Ottawa, there are notices of the meetings of the other Conferences. The following is what is said of this town:—

"Peterborough is comparatively a new place compared with either Ottawa or St. Catharines, but it has grown rapidly, and now that it has become the headquarters of the Midland and Grand Junction Railways its growth will doubtless become much more extensive. Methodism is a power in the town though it has only two churches, but one of them is modelled after the Metropolitan in Toronto, and both are numerously attended. The Conference first met here in 1876."

A. C. A.

A meeting of the General Committee to make arrangements for the camp of the American Canoe Association, at Stony Lake, next August, was held in the Post Office block on Tuesday evening. The reports of the various sub-committees showed that the work entrusted to them is progressing satisfactorily. There seems to be every probability of a large influx of the brethren of the paddle and their friends, both from other parts of Canada and from the United States. We feel sure that they will not regret a visit to our beautiful waters, and that many will return here subsequently for a holiday camp.

CANADA'S NATAL DAY.

A Grand Celebration to be held in Peterborough on Dominion Day.

In accordance with the notice of Acting-Mayor Menzies, calling on the citizens to attend a meeting to be held in the hall of the Fire Brigade on Tuesday evening, a very enthusiastic gathering was the result.

Mr. T. RUTHERFORD, Chief Engineer, was voted to the chair, and stated briefly the object of the meeting. He said it was for the purpose of taking steps to celebrate in a proper and becoming manner Canada's Natal Day. He expressed the hope that whatever was done would be well done—no half-hearted demonstration—but a demonstration that would be credit and an honor to the town, and one which would long be remembered. He called on those present to advance their ideas.

Several gentlemen present expressed themselves delighted with the prospect of a grand celebration, and gave their views in a clear and concise manner.

A committee of firemen and citizens was then drafted to make preliminary arrangements. The following gentlemen comprise the

COMMITTEE:

T. Menzies,	F. J. Jamieson,
H. LeBrun,	A. McNeil,
A. D. Browne,	E. Salisbury,
A. Moffatt,	J. G. MacDonald,
W. H. Robertson,	Jas. English,
T. Rutherford,	J. Craig,
J. Hayes,	F. Miller,
T. Clethrow,	T. Marks,
R. Hamilton,	Jos. Hill,
John Fraser,	C. Rutherford,
W. Turner,	S. Clegg,

This committee meets this evening in the Firemen's Hall, when a scheme will be devised and plan of action discussed. They will adjourn until Friday night at 7.30, when they will report to a meeting of the citizens and the firemen.

Those of the above committee who were present last night met after the public meeting adjourned, and discussed certain and sundry matters, pertaining to the coming event.

THE PROGRAMME

that will in all probability be adopted is as follows:—A grand physion procession, (the like of which has never before been seen in this section of the country); Indians on horseback, etc., amateur and professional athletic sports in the afternoon; a magnificent display of fireworks at night; a promenade concert and a gorgeous torchlight procession through the streets afterwards.

With such a programme as the above, and the determination of the committee to make the day a grand success, we see no reason to doubt but that the people will witness one of the most interesting and successful celebrations that has taken place in Peterborough for a great many years. We wish them every success.

POLICE COURT.

SEVERAL CHARGES.

WEDNESDAY, June 6.—John Adlam was charged by his wife with having been drunk and disorderly, and driving his family out of the house, and she declared that she was afraid of him. He pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Adlam's evidence was taken and the charge proven. Adlam was allowed to go, to appear for sentence when called upon.

COUNTY COURT.

The Grand Jury made the following presentment and were discharged:—

To His Honor Judge Dennistoun: We, the Grand Jurors appointed for this session, are pleased to find no cases before us. Having been informed by Your Honor that a Gaol Inspector has been appointed to inspect gaols and prisons, we deem it unnecessary to examine the gaol and premises.

All of which is respectfully submitted, ADAM HALL, Foreman.

DUMBLE v. BOYD.—This was an action on an account. The Jury found a balance due the plaintiff of $80. The questions of law were resolved to be argued in term.—Messrs. Dumble & Henry for plaintiff; Mr. C. A. Waller and Mr. C. W. Sawers for defendant.

VENARD v. RYAN.—An appeal from a decision of the Police Magistrate. Ryan had been convicted of assault and appealed. Conviction quashed.—Mr. Edmiston for appellant. This concluded the business of the Court, which accordingly adjourned.

Personal.

Mr. J. M. Ferrie, M. P. P. for East Northumberland, and Mr. W. H. H. Preston, of the Post Office, were at the Casino House.

Toronto University Examinations.

A number of names known in Peterborough appear in the list of successful candidates at the May examinations of the University of Toronto. J. H. Burnham and W. Scott passed the fourth year examination. J. H. Burnham took second-class honors in English, Ethnology, second in second-class honors in French, second in second-class honors in German, and first in the same class in Italian. W. Scott was third in second-class honors in physics. Third year.—A. Stevenson passed. Second year.—J. L. Gilmour 4th in first-class honors in classics, and 4th in first-class honors in logic, and W. Sanderson 5th in first-class honors in mathematics. First year.—J. A. Fife was 8th in first-class honors in mathematics, F. Sanderson 9th in first-class honors in mathematics, A. F. Chamberlain 2nd in first-class honors in English, 4th in first-class honors in French, 1st in first-class honors in German, E. C. Milburn, 8th in first-class honors in French, and Miss C. Fair 10th in first-class honors in French. The following obtained second-class honors: J. D. Graham, mathematics; Miss C. Fair and E. C. Milburn, English; Miss C. Fair and E. C. Milburn, German, and A. Stevenson, Civil Polity. This result is creditable to the candidates and to the Collegiate Institute, where they were prepared.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

promotes sleep when the nervous system is overworked or worried by care and anxiety.

Boat Practice.

The Boating Club turned out for practice on the Little Lake on Tuesday evening, and an interesting double canoe race took place.

The June Fair.

The second quarterly fair should have been held on Tuesday, but the attendance was exceedingly small. Some dozen head of cattle were weighed on the market scales and some self-binders and reapers were exhibited.

Railway Note.

The Ontario says that Mr. Geo. A. Cox, manager of the Midland Railway, has placed a special "market train" on the road for the accommodation of persons along the line wishing to visit Belleville on market days. This train will make trips on Thursdays and Saturdays.

The War in Annam.

SHANGHAI, June 5.—War is inevitable, unless France at once abandons her pretensions in Annam. Li-Lung-Chang, who has been severely criticised by the Thung-Li-Yamen, or Council of Mandarins, because of his conciliatory attitude towards France, is now convinced that there is no way out of the difficulty except by fighting. The Council of Mandarins have decided to mobilize the Chinese army. Great activity prevails in the camps of instruction at Tientsin, Kiangnan and Hoonan and at the naval arsenals of Shanghai and Foo-Chow. Fifty batteries of artillery have been equipped to take the field against France, and are now concentrated at Tientsin awaiting transportation to Annam. The forts all along the coast of the Gulf of Futchi are being strengthened. The following are the vessels which will in a few days be fully prepared for active service:—Two steel-plated corvettes, built at Settsin, after the model of the Sachsen, and armed with twelve-inch Krupp guns, and provided with torpedo apparatus of the latest European pattern; two steel cruisers, built in England, and armed with Armstrongs and Gatlings; six iron gunboats of English build, six steel gunboats of English build, four steel torpedo boats built at Settsin, and several gunboats constructed at the Shanghai arsenal.

Who were bribed?
The Napanee Express still regrets that the railway authority took the form of a bribe. Well who were bribed? Surely not the Conservatives, there could be no occasion for bribing them to vote as they would have voted anyway. Then the Grits must have been the bribed, if any bribing was done such as is insinuated. Cannot the Express see that its insinuations hit no person but its own friends? How do the Grits of Lennox and Addington like being insinuated in that way by their own newspaper organ? They must be a meek spirited people indeed if they submit to it. —Napanee Standard.

A Martial Goose.
The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:—From Stuttgart the death is reported of a goose well known to naturalists all over the world. This eccentric animal, when still a gosling, abandoned its flock, dismissed all recollections of its infancy, repudiated the conventional views and habits of geese, and boldly marched into the barracks of an Uhlan regiment, stationed itself one fine day next to the centry-box. Touched by this predilection for their corps, the Uhlans erected a shed for the goose, and for twenty-three years neither threats nor persuasion have been able to separate the martial bird from its adopted regiment for any great length of time. It has at different times changed quarters with the corps from Keilingen to Uim, thence to Ludwigsburg, and back again to Uim. When the Uhlans went to fight for their country the forsaken and desolate goose took up for the time with a battalion of infantry; but no sooner did the first Uhlans re-enter the town than the goose marched out to meet them, and returned with them to her old quarters. She has now been stuffed, and is to be seen in a glass-case on the gate to the barracks at Stuttgart.

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.

LONDON, June 6.—It was ascertained officially this afternoon that there is no foundation for the alarming rumours regarding the state of the Queen's health. She is stated to be progressing slowly towards complete recovery, and is pronounced to be decidedly better since she has been at Balmoral.

CUBAN EXILES.
MADRID, June 6.—The Governor-General of Cuba having reported favourably concerning the state of that island over a hundred exiles will be allowed to return there.

QUAKER RELIEF IN IRELAND.
DUBLIN, June 6.—The Quakers residing in Ireland have lately distributed in County Donegal 270 tons of seed potatoes, thus relieving the distress of three thousand families in that county.

LORD ROSEBURY RESIGNS.
LONDON, June 6.—Lord Rosebury has resigned the office of Under-Secretary for the Home Department. John Tomlinson Hibbert, member of Parliament for Oldham, and Parliamentary Secretary to the Local Government Board, has been appointed Lord Rosebury's successor. The resignation of Lord Rosebury is due to recent expressions of a feeling in the House of Commons that the Under-Secretary for the Home Department should be a member of the House of Commons.

THE CORONATION FETES.
Moscow, June 6.—The Czar yesterday for the second time during the ceremonies and fetes which have followed his coronation has participated in the minor popular fetes of the people. No guards accompanied him in his drive about the city, and he was everywhere greeted with acclamations and prolonged cheering. He appeared in excellent spirits, and recognized their greetings as he moved slowly among the masses. There was not during the day a single suggestion of an unfriendly character.

VICTORY IN THE SOUDAN.
LONDON, June 6.—General Hicks has just gained a great victory in the Soudan against 5,000 Arabs, killing 500. The Arabs fought bravely, but their spears were useless against shells and cannon. Hicks' loss was two killed.

THE TONGKIN AFFAIR.
PARIS, May 6.—The French press, and apparently the opinion of the French people, charges Germany with having done much to excite Chinese opposition to the French policy in Cochinchina. To Germany is therefore indirectly attributed the active measures taken by the Tongkin authorities, which would not have been taken had not the King of Annam been assured of the sympathy and possible aid of China. The latest advice received during the night are regarded by the Government and by the press as very reassuring in character.

"BLACK HAND" TRIALS.
MADRID, June 6.—The trial was commenced at Xeres of seventeen members of the Black Hand society, who are charged with murdering associates whom they suspected of betraying the secrets of the organization to the Government. The public prosecutor, in opening the case, claimed that he would submit evidence sufficient to secure the execution of sixteen of the prisoners.

HOSIETIES IN AFRICA.
LONDON, June 6.—The rebel chief Ghpowe has again surprised the villages of Kitam, whose king, Pah Tucker, is under British protectorate, and has burned and plundered many of them, taking life and property indiscriminately, and burning many of the natives at the stake. He has gone even further than during the massacre of the village of Kitam, and with unusual daring has made a raid on the British outpost, and attacked the troops on the Sherbro river. It was thought that when he was driven back, his own villages burned, and his forces defeated by British troops, the trouble was ended. He has, however, succeeded in re-assembling his warriors and outflanking the British, who were feeling over safe, and some of whom were caught outside the stockade. This will involve another campaign into the interior at the worst season for Europeans.

LARGE LOSS IN DAMP FUEL.

Burning wet or damp wood or coal, instead of dry is much more wasteful and expensive than most people imagine and the subject is worthy of attention. An extensive series of experiments, recently made at Bochum, Germany, shows that six tons of finely broken dry coal gives as much heat as about seven tons burned as wet as it would be if water were dashed upon it and drained off after a short time. And this is the condition of much coal kept in damp vaults, leaky sheds, or out of doors. The lesson is obvious: keep the coal in a dry place and condition, and 5 to 14 per cent less according to its fitness, will be needed to obtain the same heat. There is a good scientific explanation of this. Water, in changing to steam, or cold vapor even—that is, in drying off—consumes as much latent heat, about 1,000 degrees of heat. If heated to 212 degrees, the boiling point, the steam really contains about 1,200 degrees of heat, although only 212 degrees are sensible, or are shown by the thermometer.

The waste of heat is still greater in burning green or wet wood. The sap or water uses up—that is, carries off in latent state—a very large portion of the heat produced by the carbon, or its dry material. As much man and team power is required to haul three or four cords of green wood as for six or eight cords of dry wood. The lesson is: cut the fuel and split it as finely as it is to be used, in the grove; haul it home when well dried, and it in a dry place for use. It will be worth more for heating purposes than if burned green or wet, or damp even. The only exception to this rule is only when, by reason of easier hauling on snow, and on account of the leisure of men and teams in winter, it may be expedient to haul home the green wood then; but in all cases let it be well dried before it is used.

Never Give Up.
If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

Personal, To Men Only.
The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speed and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

STEAMSHIP COLLISION.

LONDON, June 7.—The German steamer, Claudius, Captain Wiese, which left New York on May 19th, for Stockholm, collided with another vessel off Tynemouth. It was badly damaged, and ran on a beach, where it sank.

ATTEMPT TO POISON.
CONSTANTINOPLE, June 7.—The Armenian patriarch here has received a letter bearing an African postmark, in which was enclosed a phial containing very poisonous liquid.

AMERICAN.
POWDER EXPLOSION.

HUTCHINSON, Ka., June 7.—The Hazard Powder Company's magazine, containing 1,300 pounds of powder, was struck by lightning at 3 o'clock this morning. Nearly every glass front in the city was broken by the force of the explosion. Several buildings were wrecked from the foundations. Plastering, lamps and clocks were knocked down a mile away. A dwelling 300 yards distant was riddled by flying bricks.

TWO THIEVES LYNCHED.

SAN ANTONIO, June 7.—Two thieves were being conveyed from Gonzales, when twenty-five men overpowered the officers and lynched the thieves.

TO BE PUT DOWN.
ST. PAUL, June 7.—Mayor O'Brien has been inaugurated, and has notified all gamblers and such establishments that a war on places of ill-repute will be commenced immediately.

ALBANIAN AND TURKS.
BORTUM, June 7.—A force of Albanians has captured near here a Turkish conveyer. Nine battalions of Turks have been sent to chastise the Albanians.

DESPERADOES TO BE HANGED.

SUMNER, June 7.—A party of men passed here last night en route to Waverly to hang the Barber brothers.

SALT PETRE FACTORY BURNED.
BROOKLYN, June 7.—The salt petre factory of J. H. Baker & Son was burned last night. It is believed that it was struck by lightning. The loss is heavy.

DRUNKEN LEGISLATORS.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—A Harrisburg special says that there was a disgraceful scene in the House early yesterday morning before the adjournment. The members were intoxicated and very disorderly. A mattress belonging to a watchman was thrown from the gallery on the head of Speaker pro tem. Mackin, and afterwards Representative Gentener emptied a pitcher of water on him. Mackin caught Gentener by the throat, threatening to kill him. The members intervened and locked Gentener in a room to keep him away from Mackin.

REVOLVER FIGHT ON A TRAIN.

BURNSVILLE, Ala., June 7.—While the East Tennessee passenger train was passing through this place, a passenger named Lawrence, who was intoxicated, refused to pay his fare, and without provocation drew a knife across conductor Nelson's throat. Both men then began firing at each other, and emptied their revolvers. The passengers were unhurt. Lawrence was secured.

CHINA PREPARED.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Regarding the impending war between France and China the secretary of the Chinese legation says his country is anxious to demonstrate the improvements it has made in modern arts and sciences and its great progress in the art of warfare. It is natural that the national pride of the Chinese should be aroused when threatened by an European power. The Chinese navy consists of 50 torpedo ships, and a number of ironclads and steel-plated vessels have been recently ordered. It would be easy for China to concentrate 100,000 to 150,000 men from the southern provinces, and if necessary half a million troops can be in a short time marched to the field.

A FATAL QUARREL.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 7.—Edgar Robinson, who threw his partner, Sayles, into the river at Great Bend, says he and Sayles were interested in a patent process for making sugar from beets. They often quarreled over the ownership of the patent. He claims that he acted in self-defence. No action will be taken until the body is recovered.

DIVIDEND DECLARED.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The Missouri Pacific Railway has declared a quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, payable on July 2d.

A HIGH LIFE WEDDING.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Edith Fish, daughter of Hamilton Fish, was yesterday married to Hugh Northcote, son of Sir Stafford Northcote, at Garrison's. Two hundred guests were conveyed there on a special train.

FINANCIALLY EMBARRASSED.

NEW YORK, June 7.—J. H. Haverley says that his financial embarrassment is due to unsuccessful mining ventures. It is rumoured that he lost all his money. He claims that his ventures are all doing good business, and will not be closed up.

ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Mr. R. R. Cable was yesterday elected President of the Rock Island Railway. The net earnings for March were $5,060,000.

THE STORM KING BRIDGE.

NEW YORK, June 7.—It is stated that the projectors of the Storm King bridge intend to proceed with the work.

SUSPECTED MURDER.

TROY, June 7.—Albert Robinson, whose body was found in the river yesterday, near Hudson, left home on September 24th. He informed his friends that he was going for a walk. He had been talking about going to Colorado, and had received $500 from his brother. He also had a few thousand dollars of his own. It is believed that he was murdered and thrown into the river.

Mr. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

Triangle Package Bites.—The genuine are in three-cornered packages to distinguish them from the old fashioned common colors in square envelopes. 20 colors. Perfect in all their shades. Satisfaction guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JUNE 7, 1883.

DISGRACEFUL JOURNALISM.

The Examiner cannot desert from its position in regard to the editors of the Review, nor from stating deliberate falsehoods about them. In its issue for this week it says:

"Our local contemporary, in speaking of the new Provincial Treasurer, and not having any fault to find, cannot resist a thrust at Hon. Mr. Hardy, in respect of certain charges of suppressing returns. If the editor will only possess his soul in patience, he will have a chance to see whether he dares make such charges on the floor of the house."

The obvious intention of the paragraph is to insinuate the falsehood that Mr. Carnegie, M. P. for West Peterborough, and one of the editors of the Review, has been guilty of the cowardice of making a statement in the Review which he dares not repeat in the House. Our mendacious contemporary well knows that Mr. Carnegie is in Scotland and could not possibly have written or even seen the remark in question, and that his partner and, at present, editor in sole charge of the Review, has no place in the House from which to speak. But the Examiner basely insinuates its falsehood in order to found upon it a charge of cowardice, hoping that some of its readers, being unacquainted with the facts, may believe it, and thereby proving itself both coward and slanderer.

If it can find no better weapon against Mr. Carnegie than to make false charges against him in his absence, it may as well be silent and not display its impotent malice.

Our contemporary need not pretend that we are defending Mr. Carnegie from an accusation of making a false charge, for we are simply repelling the false and foul accusation of cowardice made against him in his absence. The charge against Mr. Hardy (not of "suppressing returns," but of suppressing important portions of official reports), need not now be made on the floor of the House, for the reason that it has already been made there, and Mr. Hardy has admitted there that he did suppress certain paragraphs in the report of Mr. Smith, the emigration agent at Hamilton. The only question is whether Mr. Hardy was justified in suppressing in an official report the paragraphs that would be most attractive to emigrants, but which had the demerit in his eyes of affording evidence in favour of the National Policy, by the mere narration of facts, not being a "Tory" partisan plea, but the report of an able official appointed as a Reformer by a Reform administration.

A SHAMELESS JOURNAL.

UNDER the head of "The Murray Canal," the Ottawa correspondent of the Globe said lately that "the Presque route was selected, partly in order to help the Tory candidate in East Northumberland and partly to punish Mr. G. W. McMullen for the part he took in exposing Sir John's dealings with Sir Hugh Allan in 1873." This vicious writer proceeds to give as one of the reasons for the choice, a letter sent by Mr. Thomas Webb, described by him as a "leading Tory wire-puller," to Sir Charles Tupper warning him that Mr. G. W. McMullen, having purchased a large tract of land at Weller's Bay, was intending to get a municipal deputation from Trenton to oppose the Presque route. Two days later the Globe finds out that its correspondent "unintentionally misrepresented the occupation and political position of Mr. Thomas Webb," and that "Mr. Webb is a member of the Liberal party and gave Mr. Ferris his cordial support at the last general election." Influenced by this new light the Globe now turns a shameless summons, sees no harm in this previously terrible letter, and defends him from its own villainous attack. It written by a "Tory" it was a crime, and he was to be slandered simply for his politics; if written by a good "Liberal" it was quite innocent and natural. This slander has "recoiled on the heads of its base originators," if the Globe wishes to quote our words again. Its only excuse is that its party leaders set it a bad example; did not Mr. Mowat procure the withdrawal of a petition for corrupt practices against Mr. Hart, M. P. for Prince Edward county, because somebody had deluded our Attorney-General into the belief that the accused was a political friend and, therefore, deserving of immunity for what might be a crime in a "Tory"?

The Globe's reply to our remarks on its slander as to the section B. contract is that we are one of the "whole chorus of subsidized organs." This would be a very silly and illogical answer, even if it were true. We can tell the Globe that we have a dozen larger accounts with our private firms than we have with the Government, and that we will venture to state that our "subsidy" does not equal that received by the Globe, even taking into account our respective circulations. The Globe must have a very poor case, when it has to betake itself to such a waddle for an answer.

A CHALLENGE TO THE GLOBE.

The leading organ of the Reform party quotes from us in its issue of Wednesday, showing, as it has done many times before, that it reads the Review. It is, therefore, no unwarrantable assertion to conclude that the Globe has seen our repeated challenges to it to give us its authority for reiterating the statement that Sir Hugh Allan paid to the Conservative leaders, or to anyone in their behalf $360,000, or any similar sum, for election purposes. If the Globe cares, after this point is settled, to discuss the question of whether there was any sale of the Pacific Railway charter, and if so to whom it was sold, we are quite ready to meet it, but, if our contemporary dares, let it settle this one question first.

Once more we defy the Globe to produce any evidence, or to name any authority that can be twisted into giving a shadow of support to its oft-repeated statement that Sir Hugh Allan gave $360,000 or any such sum to assist the Conservatives in the elections.

We expect to be deluged in reply with a torrent of abuse, and we are quite prepared for it. What we are not prepared for is a straightforward and honest reply.

If the Globe refuses to answer or evades the question at issue by means of a flood of irrelevant abuse, we will not brand it, for that would be unnecessary, but it would brand itself as a slanderer, and—well we will leave all honest men to draw the conclusion for themselves.

SLANDERS FACED.

The following legal letter needs no comment: "John Cameron, Esq., General Manager of the Globe Printing Company; Hon. T. W. Anglin, James David Edgar, James Cotton, Esq., and Burt Henson, Esq.:

GENTLEMEN.—We are instructed by Mr. John Shields to take proceedings against you for libel published upon him and Mr. John J. Macdonald in an article contained in the issue of the Globe newspaper on Friday, the 1st June last, in reference to their use of the moneys of the firm of Manning, Macdonald, McLaren & Co., for corrupt purposes in elections. Mr. Shields and Mr. Manning have replied over their own signatures to your charges, and Mr. Macdonald is at present in the North-West where he has not yet had an opportunity of replying in reference to it; but notwithstanding the replies already published, the Globe newspaper has continued in subsequent articles to repeat the charges in an altered and modified shape.

We are instructed that the articles were concocted by these several parties other than the Globe Printing Company, to whom this letter is addressed, and were written by Mr. Anglin, and we therefore purpose to join all as defendants in the proceedings we are instructed to take. Unless the libellous charges against Mr. Shields are withdrawn and an adequate apology published forthwith, we shall take such proceedings in the matter as we may be advised.

We are, sirs,
Your obedient servants,
Cameron & McPhillips.

Toronto, June 5.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HOW ABOUT THE DAM?—The dam here seems to be a vexed question with the followers of the Mowat Government. We had a visit here one day last week from an official in the pay of the Dominion Government, who also does a great many odd jobs for the Provincial Government. He had been inspecting the pier that Mr. Geo. Chalmers got the job of building from Mr. Rabidge for the Dominion authorities, and said it had been washed away. I find on inspection that only one tier was knocked away by the first drive of logs that went out early in the spring; the rest is all secure. This same official told us he was going to build the new dam this summer, and that a Mr. Ross from Lindsay was to be the foreman. He also announced that there had been no communication between the two Governments re the dam; therefore he must know all about it! Is this official not aware that this dam was assumed by the Dominion Government, that the right of way to the dam was paid to Mr. Geo. Chalmers in the beginning of April last, and when Mr. Walters came here under instructions from the Provincial authorities to raise the stop logs in the slide, his authority was resisted by Mr. Chalmers for the reasons before stated? Messrs. Gilmour & Co., of Trenton, were taking out all the timber, etc., for the new dam, so I presume it will have to be on the banks of the river. Presumably, the same way as Mr. Chalmers had to do when he was fooled by the same Mowat Government after taking out the stuff for them.

BASS FISHING.—The fishing with rod and line for bass is very good now, so anglers from a distance come along and try a day's fishing in our waters.

THE AMERICAN CANOE ASSOCIATION.—Mr. E. B. Edwards, the Commodore, and some members of the Committee are expected up here on a tour of inspection. They intend fully to examine all the islands in proximity to Gin Island—to make their guests as comfortable as possible when they visit our beautiful bays in August next.

THE STEAMERS.—The steamers Cruiser and Fairy will begin to run regularly for the season next week, to connect with the train at Lakefield for the south. The Cruiser will run on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; the Fairy on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

FIRST CLASS BULL.—The farmers around this section will study their own interests by having a look at Mr. Geo. Chalmers's fine bull he purchased last year, if they wish to increase the price of their stock.

USWELL.—The many friends of Mr. John Young, sen., will be sorry to hear of his illness, he having caught a severe cold about two weeks ago. Being an old resident of the place he will be missed from going his weekly rounds. We trust that under the good care of his doctor he will soon be himself again. He is an old gentleman pretty well up in years, but says he will be Young all his life.

LUMBER YARD.—For the accommodation of those in and around Lakefield, Mr. Geo. Chalmers has opened out a lumber yard for the sale of lumber and shingles, and under the management of Mr. J. Griffin.

The Great American Remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, LOSS OF VOICE, HOARSENESS AND THROAT AFFECTIONS.

Prepared from the finest Red Spruce Gum. (Dent. Crown Patent.) Balsamic, Soothing, Expectorant and Tonic. Superior to any medicine offered for all the above complaints. A scientific combination of the Gum which renders from the Red Spruce tree a valuable and most valuable medicine for medicinal purposes.

Every one has heard of the wonderful effects of the Spruce and the Pine in cases of Lung Disease.

In France the physicians regularly send their own patients to the place where the pine and spruce grow to get the finest quality of the finest spruce gum.

In this preparation the Gum never separates, and all its medicinal properties are preserved.

This Syrup, carefully prepared at a low temperature, contains a large quantity of the finest spruce gum.

It is remarkable power in relieving certain forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large.

Sold by all respectable chemists. Price, 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

This wonderful Syrup of Red Spruce Gum, contains two pure English-made Eggs, and our wrapper and labels are also reproduced.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind promises profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JUNE 7, 1883.

The School Picnic.

On Saturday next, June 9, the Union School picnic will be held at Campbelltown. The steamer Golden-Eye will leave her wharf with the excursionists at 8 o'clock. A pleasant time is anticipated.

The Weather.

To-day is warm and partly cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh south-west to west winds; fair weather, with local showers in the eastern portion; stationary or slightly lower temperature.

Draughts.

The following letter from the Peterborough draught champion appears in Wednesday's Mail:—
"Sir,—Since I have issued my challenge to Labadie, of Chatham, I have received no answer, and by this date I consider myself entitled to the possession of 'Champion Draught Player of the Dominion of Canada.'"
"Yours, &c.,"
"Peterborough, June 4." "R. McLACHLAN."

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision held its second session on Wednesday evening. There were present: Councillors Sawers (Chairman), Menzies and Patterson. The Ontario and Quebec Railway agreement was confirmed. The appeal of the Rev. Mr. Bennett, claiming $3,000 exemption, as a clergyman, was allowed. The appeals of Thomas Bradburn and T. Evans Bradburn were enlarged. The next meeting of the Court will be held on the afternoon of Friday, the 15th of May, at 2 o'clock.

A Lost Child.

On Wednesday evening, at about six o'clock a little child two and a half years old was noticed wandering about near Mr. Hallitt's mill. A gentleman informed Constable Adams of the circumstance, and he set about to try to find the child's parents or guardians. A lady living in that vicinity took charge of the child, which could not speak even to tell its name, and kept it until about half-past eight, when the child's aunt and sister, who were searching for it, heard where it was and went after it.

The Annual Drill.

Owing to the difficulty in procuring a suitable camping ground, the annual drill for this district has been postponed until September. Although it was expected that the volunteers would go into camp this month, and preparations to that end were made, no official orders had been issued, and no orders are necessary to postpone the drill, but the postponement has been decided upon. The cost of transportation was the difficulty in the way of going to Niagara.

Hot Kid Boots.

All the new lines of ladies' Hot Kid Boots at Foot & McWhinnie's. Cool and light for summer wear.

The Cells.
The cells were tenanted last night, and there was no case for the Police Magistrate to deal with this morning.

An Accident.

A wheel ran off a wagon which was loaded with lumber on George street, above London street, this forenoon, and the driver, Mr. Wm. Bogan, was thrown off. His foot was severely jammed by the lumber.

Railway Meeting.

A meeting of the freight agents of the Ontario railways is being held to-day in Bobcaygeon. A number of railway men arrived here last night and remained at the Oriental Hotel until this morning, when they proceeded by boat to Bobcaygeon.

Lacrosse Notes.

The first twelve of the lacrosse club will play a match this evening with the team that is to play with the Norwood Club to-morrow afternoon. Play will commence at 7 o'clock sharp. A meeting of the Lacrosse Club will be held this evening at the usual place at 8 o'clock.

Leg Broken.

On Wednesday evening while Masters Wm. Stenson and Harry Donnelly were riding on a velocipede on Water street, the two-wheeled machine ran off the sidewalk. Wm. Stenson's foot was caught in the wheel, and his leg was fractured close above the ankle by the fall. He was at once taken home, and surgical assistance was summoned, and every means was adopted to relieve his sufferings. He is now doing well.

By the Hundred.

At noon to-day one hundred and two Italians arrived from New York. They are engaged to work on Mr. Beamer's contract the "Missing Link." They are all small-sized men, and only one or two can speak a word of English. Some of them had cooking utensils with them, several had bed ticks, many had boxes and trunks, and nearly every one of them was provided with an umbrella.

The A. C. A. Camp.

The Works Committee of the A. C. A. with some members of the General Committee and their friends drove to Lakeside on Wednesday, where they were joined by a contingent from that village, and proceeded in the Cruiser to the proposed camping ground in Stony Lake. A thorough inspection was made and suitable grounds were chosen near the course that had been marked out. Excellent locations were found, both for the main camp, and for the ladies' camp. There is no fear of any necessary arrangements being neglected that may contribute to the complete success of this meeting of the American Canoe Association in our waters.

The Conference.

New and seasonable goods, in seasonable times.
Strawberries, Pine Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, New Cabbages, Parsley, Oysters, Bacon, Bologna, Beef, White Fish, Trout, etc.
Asparagus, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Radishes, Green Beans, Mint, Lettuce, etc.
Sugar-cured Hams, Dried Beef, Fresh Fish, Mackerel, etc.

Our arrangements are complete for a large supply of Fruit of all kinds, as soon as prices and the season will admit of their introduction. For further particulars enquire at Smith's Market, George Street.

Personal.

The following paragraphs appear in the Pioneer of April 28th, and Broad Arrow of May 5th:—
"Lieutenant Colonel Toker has passed a successful examination for a degree of Honor in Urdu in the First Division before a special committee of examiners, composed of the Hon. J. O'Connell, C.B. President, the Hon. Dr. Banerjee, D. L., Sayed Amir Ali, and Sayed Amir Hussein. Lieutenant Colonel Toker thereby becomes entitled to a gold medal, but his length of service debars him from the pecuniary reward, which the degree would otherwise carry with it."
"Lieutenant-Col. Toker, officiating secretary to the Board of Examiners, Calcutta, is preparing for the Indian Government a translation of last year's edition of the munshery instruction for native troops, which will be published in the Persian, Nagri, and Gurmukhi characters."

Among the Methodist clergymen who arrived to-day to attend the meeting of the stationing committee, was the Rev. N. R. Willoughby, formerly pastor of the George Street Church. Mr. Thomas Blesard, M. P. P., is registered at the Calme House, and Mr. A. F. Wood, of Belleville, M. P. P. for North Hastings, is at the Oriental Hotel.

A New Organization.

On Wednesday evening a meeting was held for the purpose of organizing a bicycle club, and the work of organization was completed. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. John Green.
CAPTAIN.—Mr. Frank Hilliard.
SUB-CAPTAIN.—Mr. Andrew Mercer.
SEC. TREAS.—Mr. Frank Kingan.
BUGLER.—Mr. Wm. Dixon.
COMMITTEE.—Messrs. Chas. McClelland, Wm. Taylor, Charles Heigham and H. Rogers.

The club starts in life under favorable circumstances and with enthusiastic members, and it will no doubt at once become a flourishing institution. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening next, when any persons fond of this self-propelling mode of locomotion and exhilarating sport of bicycling may enter the club. Any information as to the club, or regarding the prices of bicycles, may be obtained from Mr. Frank Kingan, the Secretary, who is also an agent for the machines.

A Heat and Frosty Feet.

No matter how gorgeously and richly arrayed a lady may be in other respects, it is all vain without the finishing touch which a neat, well-fitting pair of boots imparts. With these the Shakespearean adage is strictly true, "All's well that ends well." Ladies who wish to appear in the neatest, most elegant and durable boots to be found in Peterborough, will find a complete and varied supply of fine kid boots for the summer at Foot & McWhinnie's. Be sure to call and inspect their stock before buying.

Buttons and Tie Shoes.
A large assortment of the above neat Walking Shoes at Foot & McWhinnie's. 123133

Early Closing.

The boot and shoe manufacturers and dealers of Peterborough have agreed to close their places of business during the months of June, July and August at 7 o'clock on each evening, except Saturday evenings, for the purpose of allowing their employees more time for recreation. This is a good move.

The Stationing Committee.

The Stationing Committee of the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church will meet in the George Street Church this evening. A number of clergymen, members of this committee, which is composed of the Chairman of the District and a representative from each District, arrived on the noon train and the remainder are expected this evening. The duty of the committee is to select the fields of labor for the next year for the Ministers belonging to the Conference.

100 Hopeless Cases.

Examined and treatment refused during the year ending May 1, at the International Throat and Lung Institute, and hundreds more are dying every year of some form of throat or lung trouble, who could be cured if proper treatment was applied in time. We give a candid opinion and will not treat any case we think hopeless. 7,500 cases have been treated by us with the most gratifying results during the last year. The Spirometer invented by Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, ex-surgens to the French army. The treatment prescribed at the International Throat and Lung Institute is curing more cases of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption than all other treatments combined. Consultations and a trial of Spirometer free. Write, enclosing stamp for copy of International News and list of questions. Address International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, 13 Philip's Square, Montreal, or 81 Lafayette ave., Detroit.

Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. Guaranteed. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—6.

PITH FOR MECHANICS.

Your muscle and brain go into your wages. Hard labour teaches you the value of your money, you need to get all your own for it.

Anybody that expects you to put dollars into sentiment and buy of him as a favour is a trifle out in the calculations. It is your duty to buy as cheap as you can, but no one needs to be more careful where he puts his money than you.

The only thing that will warrant you in giving your trade to our establishment rather than another is, the certainty of cheaper buying.

All this leads up to a practical point, put your money for dress into clothing at DOLAN & CO'S. You'll get solid satisfaction. DOLAN & CO'S. is a sort of clothing centre to which all buyers in clothing-making naturally gravitate. The result is at your command.

EARLY CLOSING.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED Boot and Shoe Manufacturers agree to close our respective places of business, during the months of June, July and August, at 7 o'clock P. M. sharp, Saturdays excepted. Hoping that customers will take note of this, and resolve to do business in business hours, thereby enabling employees to have some recreation, and employers to keep good faith with one another.

A BOGUS MARRIAGE IN COURT.

"Lord Cantyre's" Union with Miss Chaffrey, a Young Heiress.

The great case in which the trustees of the Perth bequest with her immense fortune is concerned has been opened in court in Montreal. The object, as is well known, is to get the bogus marriage of the young ward to the fraudulent "Lord Cantyre" annulled. On behalf of the guardian five witnesses were examined by Mr. W. H. Keer, Q. C., among them the two Misses Senkler, daughters of the judge, one of the guardians, who deposed that they formed the party which visited Montreal during the carnival week, and that they were with Miss Chaffrey and Allan continually, and that they heard nothing of the marriage as having taken place. Mr. B. W. Richards, of Brockville, a brother of Mr. Richards, one of the guardians, proved that Miss Chaffrey on coming of age would be entitled to $170,000. He also testified that his brother was never present in Perth during Allan's visit, and consequently could not have given any consent to the marriage. Mr. Joseph Douce, Q. C., who appeared for the defendant, made no attempt to cross-examine the witnesses. It was further proved by the two licensees of marriage here that the would-be bridegroom told a deliberate lie to one of these gentlemen to whom he went for the license, to the effect that the bride was over twenty-one, whilst admitting to the other that she was under that age. He further deliberately falsified the fact by answering Rev. Mr. Galbraith, the celebrating minister, to the same effect. Had he admitted the truth to any of these witnesses his deceptive plans would have proved a failure. The case will now be argued, and the judgment very soon given.—Mail.

THE VATICAN AND IRISH AFFAIRS.

Rome, June 8.—The idea that the Vatican have misgivings regarding the wisdom of issuing the Papal manifesto on Irish affairs is dispelled by the fact that the Propaganda are preparing to re-print five acts of the present pontificate relative to Ireland for distribution among the Irish Bishops and clergy.

TRIALS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, June 8.—The trials of the murder conspirators, Kingston and Gibney, has been postponed. They were bailed. Pole was to-day acquitted on a charge of conspiracy to murder, and immediately re-arrested on a charge of murdering Renny in Seville Place.

THE ASCOT MEETING.

LONDON, June 8.—At the Ascot meeting today the race for the Alexandria plate was won by Faugh-a-Ballagh. The race for the Workington stakes was won by Despair, with Horlike 2nd, and West 3rd. Sixteen started, including Lorillard's Aranza. The race for the Hardwick stakes was won by Tristram, Lorillard's Irquois 2nd and Shrewsbury 3rd. There were nine starters. The race for the Windsor Castle stakes was won by Eastern Emperor, with Corville 2nd and Brest 3rd. Seven ran, including Lorillard's Pontiac.

REDUCING THE TAXES.

St. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The Minister of the Interior has been instructed to draft a law giving greater liberty regarding change of domicile. The collection of poll tax from the poorest portion of the peasantry will entirely cease after January first, and the tax from the remainder of the people will be reduced one-half.

AMERICAN.

FRIENDS WORTH HAVING.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The friends of General Sheridan purchased a residence here for him at a cost of $43,000.

BECOME INSANE.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Sheaty, one of the Jurors in the Guiteau trial, who has been ill since the hanging of the murderer, has become insane. He had a great aversion to serving on the murder trial and became morbid on the subject.

AN APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The President yesterday appointed Wm. W. Thomas, jr., of Maine, Minister to Sweden and Norway.

NO FRAUD DISCOVERED.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Experts who examined the Brooklyn bridge accounts, report that they discovered no evidence of fraud.

NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Rev. Simon Volente, Bishop of Pallapalari and Vicar Apostolic of Honan, accompanied by his secretary, Dr. Abel Shin, a Chinaman, arrived here yesterday from Rio Janeiro en route to China. The customs officers would not allow Shin to land, and he is a prisoner on the steamer. The Chinese consul will investigate the matter.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, June 8.—Wm. C. Moore was arrested near here by a detective of Victor county, on a charge of embezzling $130,000 belonging to the Victor Bank. The offence was committed in December, since which time Moore evaded the detectives. He has been living with his son in Benton and Owaship. He will be taken to New York.

CANAL FREIGHTS.

ALBANY, June 8.—The tonnage returns of the canal freights show a notable increase of canal traffic since they were made free. During the week the canal has been open the tonnage was 606,000, against 563,000 for the same period of last year. There is a remarkable increase in the transportation of wheat and rye.

A POST OFFICE FRAUD.

HELENA, Ala., June 8.—A few months ago R. Lee secured the appointment as postmaster here. He secured $2,000 worth of stamps from the Government and sold them at 80 cents on the dollar. He opened a land office and scattered his matter all over the south. Lee made a requisition for $5,000 more stamps, when the fraud was discovered. He has been jailed.

LIGHTNING AND POWDER.

NEWBURY, June 8.—During a thunder-storm yesterday afternoon the lightning struck in several places in this vicinity. Laffin & Rand's powder works four miles west of here, were struck, some powder mills were exploded and other buildings demolished. A portion of the building was blown many feet. Heavy pieces of machinery were lodged high up in the trees, and houses a long distance off had their windows shattered and received other damage. Frank Warte, an old employee of the works, who was badly hurt in a previous explosion some years since, received injuries which caused his death in two hours. The loss to the powder works is several thousand dollars, and the mills will not be able to run for a month.

MORMONISM.

DENVER, June 8.—Several of the highest dignitaries in the Mormon Church have arrived here. Jos. F. Smith and Brigham Young are in the party. Young says the reports from their labors in this country and Europe warrant the expectation of 20,000 converts this year.

A GAMBLER'S LOSS.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Pat Sheedy, the proprietor of the most notorious gambling house in Chicago, has recently lost $100,000. Sheedy furnished money for the defence of Jerry Dunn.

ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING.

DALLAS, June 8.—On Wednesday afternoon a mob attempted to lynch Burke, who was charged with seduction which led to the death of Mrs. Bayliss. Two hundred armed men covered the posse which had charge of the prisoner, but they were kept at bay till Burke was taken to the train. The mob attempted to stop the train, but the engineer started off at a tremendous speed. Burke has been safely jailed.

A FORGER DISAPPEARED.

RALPHO, S. C., June 8.—J. Wright, ex-County Attorney of Northampton, has committed forgery amounting to $30,000. He had been doing business as Attorney for a number of the wealthiest men in the County. He forged their names to notes, and it is stated he forced the name of James Boone, Clerk of the Supreme Court, as endorser. The forgeries have been going on for three years. Wright speculated in common future and sometimes made money, and took up the notes, in this way preventing exposure. He is married. He disappeared three weeks ago.

THE APACHE WAR.

TOMBSTONE, June 8.—Reliable news from Mexican headquarters at Opopara, show that the Indians who appeared near Macon, were Apache scouts belonging to Crook's Mexican guards, taken by Crook. They have arrived at the Mexican headquarters. They left Crook encamped at Tree Castle, where Garcia had a fight with the hostiles. Crook has parties scouting in all directions, but up to the time of a guide's leaving, no hostiles were found. Crook's camp is thirty miles north-east of Macon, and one hundred and fifty miles south of the Mexican line. Reports of depredations near Babise, leads the Mexican command to believe that the hostiles have eluded Crook and gained his rear. Col. Bandole and two companies of State troops march immediately to Crook's camp. Crook's campaign must end by the 20th of June, as the rainy season will cause the mountain streams to become so swollen that the troops cannot ford them. Several of Crook's scouts were captured by Mexicans, but released when it was known who they were.

A STEAMER SUNK.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The cargo of the steamer Claudius, which sank yesterday off Thomomouth, was valued at $70,000.

DESTRUCTION BY LIGHTNING.

ASHLAND, Pa., June 8.—During the storm on Wednesday afternoon last, an immense rock on the mountain was struck by lightning and shivered to atoms. The fragments struck a demolished house near by. They passed through four tenements, wrecking them and killing a woman and fatally injuring four men. Other tenements were wrecked.

ADULTERATED LARD.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Before the Board of Trade Committee yesterday, witnesses testified that Fowler Bros. utilized cow's bones, buttermilk, skimmings of beef fat, sheep fat, and hog fat in the manufacture of "prime steam lard."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

PROPOSED CANAL.

BERLIN, June 7.—The Lower House of the Prussian Diet has adopted a bill for the construction of a canal, by which it is proposed to increase the commerce of the river Elbe, and secure a new and improved seaboard outlet for Prussia.

A MISSIONARY MURDERED.

PARIS, June 7.—A telegram states the Ananimites have beheaded Father Bechet, a Catholic missionary.

THE POISONING STORY.

DUBLIN, June 7.—The truth of the story about the poisoning by the Incubicles of a number of persons obnoxious to them is much contested. The Freeman's Journal denies that there is any foundation for it. The Central News' correspondent re-asserts the correctness of the story.

THE INFORMER CAREY.

DUBLIN, June 7.—James Carey, the informer, writer to the executive daily protesting against being kept in confinement. He still declines to leave Ireland, and says if he is compelled to go he will return.

INCENDIARIES SENTENCED.

ALEXANDRIA, June 7.—Suleiman Daud and Mahmoud Sami, accused of firing Alexandria at the time of the British bombardment, have been found guilty and sentenced to death. Eighteen officers were found guilty of complicity in the same crime, and sentenced to various sentences to various terms of penal servitude.

REPRIEVE NOT GRANTED.

DUBLIN, June 7.—Earl Spencer, in reply to a memorial asking him to reprieve Timothy Kelly, who is under sentence to be hanged on June 9th, has declined to grant the request.

THE ANNANITE WAR.

PARIS, June 7.—At a Cabinet Council to-day, M. Brun, Minister of Marine, announced that he had received a telegram dated Hong Kong, June 6th, from the admiral commanding the French fleet in Chinese waters, which stated that the situation at Hanoi continued to improve, and six companies of French marines and a mountain battery from Saigon had passed through.

LORD ROSEBERRY'S RESIGNATION.

LONDON, June 7.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, read a letter from Lord Rosebery, in which the latter stated that he had not resigned the office of Under-Secretary for the Home Department because of the Home Secretary's statement in the House touching his duties. Sir William Harcourt explained that Lord Rosebery's acceptance of office, in the first place, was only temporary.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

LONDON, June 7.—The returns issued by the Board of Trade show that during the month of May British imports increased, compared with that month last year, by £221,000, and the exports during the same period decreased £248,000.

MOSCOW FESTIVITIES.

MOSCOW, June 7.—The consecration of the Savior, one of the most brilliant features connected with the coronation at Moscow, took place to-day. The czar and Czarina, with the rest of the Imperial family, the foreign ambassadors, and an immense crowd of people were present at the ceremony. The church was surrounded by troops. The flag used in the campaign of 1812 was displayed. Their Majesties and the clergy went in procession around the church amid salvoes of artillery.

IN A BALLOON.

BOLOGNE, June 7.—Two aeronauts started from Bologna in a balloon this morning to cross the English channel. The balloon rose two thousand five hundred feet and was last seen drifting in the direction of Brussels. The aeronauts descended safely near Desvres, a town eleven miles south-east of Bologna.

FREE BLACK LABOUR.

MADRID, June 7.—An agent of the Liberian Republic has negotiated with Spain a convention providing for the repeal of the law prohibiting the introduction of free black labourers into Cuba. Two hundred thousand slaves in Cuba will become free in 1888, and the question then will become a serious one. Spanish statesmen and the Cuban planters are examining a plan for the introduction into Cuba of free African negroes, or Chinese, or Indian coolies.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1883.

WILL YOU ENDORSE IT?

We clipped from the issue of June 2nd of the leading journal of the Reform party the following specimen of insolent abuse:—"The Tory party in Canada to-day is a compound of the relics of the Family Compact, the uneducated and unenlightened of the people, the selfish and mercenary—and of the driftwood of society that seeks a temporary resting-place under the protection of Sir John Macdonald."We hoped that before now we would have seen a repudiation of such silly insolence by at least some members of the Reform press, but notwithstanding a rather extensive acquaintance with them, we have not seen one single protest. When the Mail used language which could not be approved in reference to the Reform convention in Toronto last year, a score of Conservative journals protested and disavowed any sympathy with such an attack.
The Globe had previously used far stronger and more insulting language in regard to the delegates at the Conservative convention, without one word of objection, as far as we know, from its contemporaries. There is a marked difference between the two parties in this respect.May we suggest to the respectable and reasonable members of the Reform party, and we know many such, that it might be well if they were occasionally to protest against some of the more flagrant outrages of their party organs, instead of reserving all their condemnation for what they consider too strong language as applied to their leaders or their journals. They would naturally have more influence with their own journals than with those opposed to them, and if they could not improve the tone of journalism, they would at least clear their own skirts. Neither should they be afraid of making the first advance—that has already been made in repeated instances by the Conservative press, and they would only be following a good example.

THE MECHANICS KNOW.

The Temperley line of steamships from London to Quebec advertised in the London Daily Telegraph passages for Canada and the United States, and on the strength of this the Dominion Government is most absurdly charged with giving assisted passages to old country mechanics and even to immigrants destined to the United States. Of course the advertisement says nothing so silly, but even if it did we are not aware that the Temperleys are agents of the Dominion Government, or that the Daily Telegraph is a "Tory organ." The Macdonald administration advertised assisted passages for mechanics no more than the Mowat administration does. Now that emigrants are coming to Canada by tens of thousands under our present good government, it would be absurd to suppose that they will require no mechanics to supply their various wants. Mechanics are no more desired at home in Canada than any other class under a Conservative administration. It was under Reformers that there was no demand for mechanics, who had to hunt for the work that now seeks them. Then mechanics were glad of even small wages for short time, but they know how differently they are situated now, and are not to be deluded by any such pretended sympathy.
They know when they are well off.

A POLITICAL BANQUET.

The Independent Reform Toronto World, in an article on the Anglin banquet, which it thinks is "humiliating to the Liberal party," has the following sensible remarks:—
"Political banquets have hitherto been given to men distinguished for party service and personal popularity. What great service has Mr.
Anglin rendered the Liberal party beyond thousands of others of whom not a word is spoken? Doubtless he made a fairly good speaker of the House of Commons, if we except the printing contract scandal, which contributed to bring the Reform party and the Mackenzie administration into disrepute. We would not have referred to this had Mr. Anglin been allowed to come among us like an ordinary citizen, journalist or politician, but his friends having, by their injudicious conduct, called public attention to him and his career, we may well be pained for showing the contrary side of the question from that set forth by the promoters of the demonstration."

Salt Preserving Timber.

It is a curious fact, says the Carpenter, that in the salt mines of Poland and Hungary the galleries are supported by wooden pillars, which are found to last unimpaired for ages, in consequence of being impregnated with the salt, while pillars of brick and stone used for the same purpose, crumble away in a short time by the decay of their mortar. It is also found that wooden piles driven into the mud of salt flats and marshes last for an unlimited time, and are used for the foundation of brick and stone edifices; and the practice of docking timber after it has been seasoned, by immersing it for some time in sea water, is generally admitted to be promotive of its durability.

PORT ARTHUR.

The opening of the C. P. R. between Prince Arthur's Landing, or as it is now called "Port Arthur" and Winnipeg, the lowered freight, and the greater steamboat accommodation provided or projected have united to attract a large share of the gigantic traffic that is opening up with our prairie provinces and the adjoining territories. The Government grants of $50,000 for harbour improvements and $20,000 for immigrant buildings were well bestowed, and form a sufficient answer to the objections of carpers, to whom the London Free Press alludes in the following article:—"The activity and volume of trade between the east and west of the Dominion by way of the great lake bids fair to be vastly greater this year than ever before. The completion of the railway from Prince Arthur's Landing to Winnipeg secures that magnificent stretch of commercial facility for inter-provincial trade which enlivens not only the pulse of commerce, but touches the patriotic heart. Until now we have had to reach our great Northwest over the territory of a foreign country, but to-day from Halifax to Calgary, near the foot of the Rocky Mountains, we may travel only beneath our own flag. At the head of Canadian lake navigation stands Prince Arthur's Landing, and there Canadian ships land from their own ships and board their own trains for the vast fertile plains beyond. Hitherto the foreign city of Duluth, in the State of Michigan, enjoyed all this great advantage, and the Government of the United States have with unstinted hand endeavoured to make Duluth, if possible, beyond Canadian competition. Private enterprise has done much to grasp this prize. The Landing for handling the enormous traffic to which it has lately fallen heir, but the Government of the Dominion will act in the interest of the whole country if they promptly supplement what has already been done by a liberal grant towards improving the harbor and thus promote the shipping facilities of that port. Six large docks, extending from 1,000 to 1,500 feet into Thunder Bay, have been constructed by private firms, and with the warehouses thereon an outlay has altogether been made of about $150,000.
There are two prevailing winds, however, which interfere with the uninterrupted loading and discharge of vessels, and a breakwater of about three thousand feet long, at a moderate estimated cost of $120,000, would make the harbor one of the finest in the world. The people of the town offer $25,000 towards the structure, which is not a matter of solely local importance.
All Canada is interested in the safe and speedy transshipment of merchandise at Prince Arthur's Landing. This port is really a commercial fulcrum upon which in the future will swing a large portion of trade of the Dominion. The manufactures of the east, going west, and the produce of the west coming east, must change their means of transport there, and facilities to accomplish this great work with ease and rapidity is certainly of national moment. Last year three hundred and sixty-five thousand tons of freight passed into Manitoba by the great lakes via Duluth, and this year it is safe to say twice that quantity will seek Prince Arthur's Landing, to say nothing of the grain from the North-West coming east for a market."It may be said the Canadian Pacific Railway Company should do all that is needed at the port in question, but it is hardly fair to expect that company to make harbours in addition to the vast expenditure to which they must of necessity be subject in providing warehouses and elevators there. But on local grounds alone the people of that district deserve recognition and help from the Government. They built the railway from the Landing to Port William, at a cost of sixty-eight thousand dollars, and it now forms part of the Canadian Pacific, while all they received for their outlay was the proceeds for the old rails. The population is now 11,000, and they have an output of $150,000 in wharves, docks and warehouses, without which the railway to Winnipeg, which has cost so much, could not be utilized for any considerable amount of freight. They have a fishing trade which last year amounted to $180,000, and the exported minerals to the value of $211,000, while four new silver mines have been recently opened. During last season there entered the port of Prince Arthur's Landing 236 vessels, aggregating 94,400 tons, and for eight years the average customs collected have been $22,000 per annum. Last winter 20,000,000 feet of lumber was got out, and saw-mills for its conversion into merchantable shape are now going up. Large areas of arable lands hitherto unoccupied, are likewise being settled upon, and from every point of view, national and local, that part of the country is deserving attention and substantial aid from the present progressive Government.

AN ELECTIONEERING TRICK.

The Globe has a sensational article headed "A Second Pacific Scandal," in which it is charged that the Government contemplates large payments to the contractors for Section B of the Pacific Railway in excess of the contract price and of any amounts to which they may fairly be entitled for damages or extra work. It is necessary only to point out in respect to these allegations two facts:—First, that they are delayed until after the close of the session in order to prevent a prompt refutation being given on the floor of Parliament, and secondly that the corrupt arrangements, by the admission of the Globe itself, have not been consummated, and are simply anticipations by that journal of what might take place. The fine pretence of indignation which the Globe makes, and the appeal to the Governor-General to issue a Royal Commission of Enquiry into the charges of fraud and corruption, are merely a trick to aid the Mowat Government in the by-elections, and, if possible, to avert the doom impending over that helpless and incompetent ministry.—Montreal

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BRASS BAND EXCURSION.—On Saturday, June 16th, there is to be a grand excursion, under the auspices of the Keene Brass Band.
The Golden-Eye has been chartered and will convey the excursionists to Gore's Landing and Idyl Wild, starting from Keene at a quarter past eight in the morning and returning in the evening. We hope to see some of our friends from Peterborough in the morning train, which will arrive before the departure of the boat.
The band, though so newly organized, having only been formed about six months ago, has made great progress under the able tuition of Mr. F. A. Freeman, and their performances are now very enjoyable. They play every Wednesday evening on the fair grounds.The Volunteers.—The Keene Company of the 67th, Peterborough Rangers, had been looking forward to going into camp at Niagara, and are somewhat disappointed at the decision of the authorities not to send our regiment there. No doubt they will turn out well in September.MASONIC.—The regular monthly communication of Keene Lodge, A. F. and A. M., will be held on Thursday evening, June 14th.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Buy your Parasols and Umbrellas from Munro & Alexander.

All kinds on hand, in Silk, Alpaca, Barabie, Gingham and Canvas.

At the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church a motion made by Mr. Stafford in favor of the proposed union was, after a long debate, carried by 66 to 57 on Wednesday.

Theatrical.

The Port Hope amateurs speak of presenting "Writing on the Wall," in Peterborough. The presentation of the play in Port Hope by the Amateur Company, is said to have been equally successful.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and fine. Last night was very warm and some rain fell. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Winds shifting to the eastward; continued fine weather to-day; slightly cooler at night.

A Popular Clergyman.

The Stationing Committee of the Methodist Church, now in session, may find it difficult where to locate the Rev. T. W. Jeffery, of Port Hope, for the next year. The Port Hope congregation wishes him to remain with them, the Bridge Street Church of Belleville wish him to go there, and a Toronto congregation decided to petition to have him located there.

Lacrosse Notes.

On Thursday evening the first and second twelves of the Lacrosse Club had a practice match on the Ashburnham grounds. The game was an interesting one.

This afternoon a match is being played by the junior twelves of the Peterborough Club and the Norwood Club, on the Ashburnham Cricket Grounds. The Norwood Club arrived here this morning.

The Conference.

Dominion Day.
All persons interested in the celebration of Dominion Day should bear in mind the meeting this evening in the Firemen's Hall, to receive the report of the committee appointed at the public meeting on Tuesday evening last.

Toronto Conference.
The Stationing Committee of the Toronto Conference assembled in the George Street Methodist Church on Thursday evening. They were chiefly engaged at this session with routine business.

Confirmation Service.
His Lordship Bishop Jamot will conduct confirmation services at Campbellford on Sunday next, when over one hundred candidates will be confirmed. On the Monday following he will be present at Workworth to conduct a similar service in that village.

Shipment of Cheese.
Two cars of cheese were shipped at the Midland station to-day. Messrs. Dundas & Flavell Bros. shipped four hundred boxes, and Mr. Watkins, of Belleville, four hundred boxes. The cheese was of the May make, and was purchased from ten different factories.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending June 2nd, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,073.51; freight, $20,744.81; total, $25,818.32, as compared with $20,335.64 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $5,482.68; and the aggregate traffic to date is $390,084.56, being an increase of $15,873.79 over 1882.

Railway Note.

The Port Hope Times says that a large store house 40x60 is to be erected adjacent to the Midland workshops, for the purpose of storing material.

The News says that a new siding is being laid by the Midland Railway at Garden Hill. The improvement includes the construction of a drain to carry off the stagnant water near the station.

Personal.

Rev. John Bredin, Secretary of the Toronto C. M. Conference, Rev. Wm. Tindell, Walkerton, Mr. J. Preston of the Port Hope News, and Mr. P. R. Randall, ex-Mayor of Port Hope, are among those registered at the Calico House.

Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, of Toronto, and Mr. Hugh Ryan, of Perth, of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, are at the Oriental Hotel. They came up on the Grand Junction this forenoon.

A Warning.

Lost any of our young men should visit Lindsay and not know the danger they might run, we reprint the following item from the Post:—"A young gent of Lindsay went to Dr. Coulter on Tuesday and complained of a sharp pain in his left arm. Dr. Coulter examined the patient and gave his opinion that something like a needle was embedded in the arm, and upon making an incision he removed a large needle about two inches long. The needle was lying quite close to the bone of the upper part of the arm. The patient could give no explanation as to how the needle came there. It is, however, reasonable to suppose that he has been embracing some fascinating milliner or dressmaker and carried off the needle as a trophy. Moral: Look your girls well over before becoming demonstrative."

A Little too Far.

A woman with the bump of cautionness largely developed walked into the police magistrate's office and asked: "Your worship, can I drive my cow on the road to and from pasture?" "Oh! yes," he replied. "Can I drive her home to milk?" "Yes, yes," he answered. "Well, can I drive her along the road to water?" "Why, yes," "Well, can I tie a rope about her horns and let her graze along the roadside?" "Ah! ah! Stop right there, that is going a little too far." "I just wanted information," she replied, and departed. Here is the difference. The Hamilton practice does not even require the rope. Our cows may feed upon shade trees and gardens while a small boy, who is playing ball half a mile off, "watches" them.—Hamilton Spectator.

In Peterborough we are even more liberal in practice. Neither the restraining rope nor the watchful small boy is required. Our smaller freeholders may cultivate their garden plots for months in their spare hours before and after a hard day's work, only to find the result of their toil consumed in one night by the cow of some professional gentleman, well-to-do merchant, or other person who could well afford to pay for pasture. As to street shade trees, of course they are only planted for cow fodder. We have a by-law on the subject, and we have constables and other officials who pay just as much, or rather as little, attention to it as the cows do.

PORT HOPE.

SCALDED.—The Times says that Lillie Bates, a young lady living in Englishtown, was severely scalded on Tuesday. While walking across the floor with a vessel of boiling water she tripped on the trap door of the cellar and fell, the water scalding her head.

Personal: To Men Only.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

THE COW NUISANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I beg through you to address myself to the Committee on Appointments, consisting of Councillors Douglas, Cahill, Hartley, Rutherford, Kelly, and McNaughton, to whom, about six weeks since, was referred the question of the enforcement of the Cow By-law. I would like to ask what has been done in the matter since? Is it not a fact that the Chairman of that Committee, Councillor Douglas, has on three or more occasions called them together that the matter might be dealt with, but at no time did anyone but the Chairman and Councillor McNaughton put in an appearance? Let the blame rest where it belongs. What can be expected of the Council generally and of the councillors, when the oft expressed appeal of the whole town is disregarded by these Councillors, who are afraid to do the duty they have taken upon themselves and sworn to perform. The failure of the cry of the "poor man's cow," has long since become apparent to everyone,—indeed, were that the fact the by-law would have been enforced long since. How much longer shall the many—and they the enterprising citizens who have interest in improving the appearance of the town—be compelled to suffer from such open defiance of the law?

Yours, &c.,
A VOTER.

Peterborough, June 8, 1883.

CAMPBELLFORD.

THE PAPER MILL.—The Intelligencer's correspondent says:—Our paper mill is now commencing to do a great business. We understand that new company intend putting in new machinery to the amount of five thousand dollars, which will be furnished by Messrs. White & Co's, foundry in this village. Orders for paper have already been received from California.

Sudden Death.—Mrs. Patrick Martin died suddenly Tuesday night.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The dedication service in connection with the new Methodist Church is to be an event of Friday, 22nd, and Sunday 24th inst. The very tasty and spacious edifice which has been erected and which is now so near completion, is a fitting tribute to the generosity and energy of the congregation. A substantial structure combining convenience and interior beauty, its people will feel a pride in meeting in their new found place of worship. Mr. Dunk has been busy this week putting in the windows, some of the lights of which are of stained glass, and hanging the chandeliers. The steps in front are to be erected and with a small amount of labour more the structure will be completed.

A ROGUE MARRIAGE IN COURT.

"Lord Cantyre's" Union with Miss Chaffrey, a Young Heiress.

The great case in which the trustees of the Perth bequest with her immense fortune is concerned has been opened in court in Montreal. The object of it is well known, it is to get the bogus marriage of the young ward to the fraudulent "Lord Cantyre" annulled. On behalf of the guardian five witnesses were examined by Mr. W. H. Keir, Q. C., among them the two Misses Senkler, daughters of the judge, one of the guardians, who deposed that they formed the party which visited Montreal during the carnival week, and that they were with Miss Chaffrey and Allan continually, and that they heard nothing of the marriage as having taken place. Mr. B. W. Richards, of Brockville, a brother to Mr. Richards, one of the guardians, proved that Miss Chaffrey on coming of age would be entitled to $170,000. He also testified that his brother was never present in Perth during Allan's visit, and consequently could not have given any consent to the marriage. Mr. Joseph Drouin, Q. C., who appeared for the defendant, made no attempt to cross-examine the witnesses. It was further proved by the two licensees of marriages here that the would-be bridegroom told a deliberate lie to one of these gentlemen to whom he went for the license, to the effect that the bride was over twenty-one, whilst admitting to the other that she was under that age. He further deliberately falsified the fact by answering Rev. Mr. Galbraith, the celebrating minister, to the same effect. Had he admitted the truth to any of these witnesses his deceptive plans would have proved a failure. The case will now be argued, and the judgment very soon given.—Mail.

THE VATICAN AND IRISH AFFAIRS.

Rome, June 8.—The idea that the Vatican have misgivings regarding the wisdom of issuing the Papal manifesto on Irish affairs is dispelled by the fact that the Propaganda are preparing to re-print five acts of the present pontificate relative to Ireland for distribution among the Irish Bishops and clergy.

TRIALS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, June 8.—The trials of the murder conspirators, Kingston and Gibney, has been postponed. They were bailed. Pole was today acquitted on a charge of conspiracy to murder, and immediately re-arrested on a charge of murdering Renny in Seville Place.

THE ASCOT MEETING.

LONDON, June 8.—At the Ascot meeting today the race for the Alexandria plate was won by Faugh-a-Bellagh. The race for the Workington stakes was won by Deepair, with Horlick 2nd, and West 3rd. Sixteen started, including Lorrillard's Arana. The race for the Hardwick stakes was won by Tristram, Lorrillard's Iraguio 2nd and Shrewsbury 3rd. There were nine starters. The race for the Windsor Castle stakes was won by Eastern Emperor, with Corville 2nd and Brest 3rd. Seven ran, including Lorrillard's Pontiac.

REDUCING THE TAXES.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The Minister of the Interior has been instructed to draft a law giving greater liberty regarding change of domicile. The collection of poll tax from the poorest portion of the peasantry will entirely cease after January first, and the tax from the remainder of the people will be reduced one-half.

AMERICAN.

FRIENDS WORTH HAVING.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The friends of General Sheridan purchased a residence here for him at a cost of $43,000.

BECOME INSANE.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Sheety, one of the Jurors in the Guiltan trial, who has been ill since the hanging of the murderer, has become insane. He had a great aversion to serving on the murder trial and became morbid on the subject.

AN APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The President yesterday appointed Wm. W. Thomas, Jr., of Maine, Minister to Sweden and Norway.

NO FRAUD DISCOVERED.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Experts who examined the Brooklyn bridge accounts, report that they discovered no evidence of fraud.

NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Rev. Simon Volente, Bishop of Pallapoli and Vicar Apostolic of Honan, accompanied by his secretary, Dr. Abel Shin, a Chinaman, arrived here yesterday from Rio Janeiro en route to China. The customs officers would not allow Shin to land, and he is a prisoner on the steamer. The Chinese consul will investigate the matter.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, June 8.—Wm. C. Moore was arrested near here by a detective of Victor county, on a charge of embezzling $130,000 belonging to the Victor Bank. The offence was committed in December, since which time Moore evaded the detectives. He has been living with his son in Benton and Ownship. He will be taken to New York.

CANAL FREIGHTS.

ALBANY, June 8.—The tonnage returns of the canal freight show a notable increase of canal traffic since they were made free. During the week the canal has been open the tonnage was 606,000, against 563,000 for the same period of last year. There is a remarkable increase in the transportation of wheat and rye.

A POST OFFICE FRAUD.

HELENA, Ala., June 8.—A few months ago R. Lee secured the appointment as postmaster here. He secured $2,000 worth of stamps from the Government and sold them at 80 cents on the dollar. He opened a land office and scattered his matter all over the south. Lee made a requisition for $5,000 more stamps, when the fraud was discovered. He has been jailed.

LIGHTNING AND POWDER.

NEWBURY, June 8.—During a thunder-storm yesterday afternoon the lightning struck in several places in this vicinity. Laffin & Rand's powder works, four miles west of here, were struck, some powder mills were exploded and other buildings demolished. A portion of the building was blown many feet. Heavy pieces of machinery were lodged high up in the trees, and houses a long distance off had their windows shattered and some other damage. Frank White, an old employee of the works, who was badly hurt in a previous explosion some years since, received injuries which caused his death in two hours. The loss to the powder works is several thousand dollars, and the mills will not be able to run for a month.

MORMONISM.

DEVER, June 8.—Several of the highest dignitaries in the Mormon Church have arrived here. Joe F. Smith and Brigham Young are in the party. Young says the reports from their laborers in this country and Europe warrant the expectation of 30,000 converts this year.

A GAMBLER'S LOSS.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Pat Sheedy, the proprietor of the most notorious gambling house in Chicago, has recently lost $100,000. Sheedy furnished money for the defence of Jerry Dunn.

ATTEMPT AT LYNCHING.

DALLAS, June 8.—On Wednesday afternoon a mob attempted to lynch Burke, who was charged with sedition, which led to the death of Mrs. Bayless. Two hundred armed men covered the place which had charge of the prisoner, but they were kept at bay till Burke was taken to the train. The mob attempted to stop the train, but the engineer started off at a tremendous speed. Burke has been safely jailed.

A FORGER DISAPPEARED.

HALEIGH, S. C., June 8.—J. Wright, ex-County Attorney of Northampton, has committed forgery amounting to $20,000. He had been doing business as Attorney for a number of the wealthiest men in the County. He forged their names to notes, and it is stated he forced the name of James Boone, Clerk of the Supreme Court, as endorser. The forgeries have been going on for three years. Wright speculated in common stock and sometimes made money, and took up the notes, in this way preventing exposure. He is married. He disappeared three weeks ago.

THE APACHE WAR.

TOMBSTOWN, June 8.—Reliable news from Mexican headquarters at Opouca, show that the Indians who appeared near Macon, were Apache scouts belonging to Crook's Mexican guards, taken by Crook. They have arrived at the Mexican headquarters. They left Crook encamped at Tree Castles, where Garcia had a fight with the hostiles. Crook has parties scouting in all directions, but up to the time of a guide's leaving, no hostiles were found. Crook's camp is thirty miles north-east of Macon, and one hundred and fifty miles south of the Mexican line. Reports of depredations near Babiepe, leads the Mexican commandant to believe that the hostiles have eluded Crook and gained his rear. Col. Baudole and two companies of State troops march immediately to Crook's camp. Crook's campaign must end by the 20th of June, as the rainy season will cause the mountain streams to become so swollen that the troops cannot ford them. Several of Crook's scouts were captured by Mexicans, but released when it was known who they were.

A STEAMER SUNK.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The cargo of the steamer Claudine, which sank yesterday off Thonmouth, was valued at $70,000.

DESTRUCTION BY LIGHTNING.

ASHLAND, Pa., June 8.—During the storm on Wednesday afternoon last, an immense rock on the mountain was struck by lightning and shivered to atoms. The fragments struck a demolished house near by. They passed through four tenements, wrecking them and killing a woman and fatally injuring four men. Other tenements were wrecked.

ADULTERATED LARD.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Before the Board of Trade Committee yesterday, witnesses testified that Fowler Bros. utilized cow's bones, butterine, skimmings of beef fat, sheep fat, and hog fat in the manufacture of "prime steam lard."

PROPOSED CANAL.

BERLIN, June 7.—The Lower House of the Prussian Diet has adopted a bill for the construction of a canal, by which it is proposed to increase the commerce of the river Rhine, and secure a new and improved seaboard outlet for Prussia.

A MISSIONARY MURDERED.

PARIS, June 7.—A telegram states the Annamites have beheaded Father Bechet, a Catholic missionary.

THE POISONING STORY.

DUBLIN, June 7.—The truth of the story about the poisoning by the Irish of a number of persons obnoxious to them is much contested. The Freeman's Journal denies that there is any foundation for it. The Central News' correspondent re-asserts the correctness of the story.

THE INFORMER CAREY.

DUBLIN, June 7.—James Carey, the informer, writes to the executive daily protesting against being kept in confinement. He still declines to leave Ireland, and says if he is compelled to go he will return.

INCENDIARIES SENTENCED.

ALEXANDRIA, June 7.—Sulaiman Deod and Mahmoud Sami, accused of firing Alexandria at the time of the British bombardment, have been found guilty and sentenced to death. Eighteen officers were found guilty of complicity in the same crime, and sentenced to various sentences to various terms of penal servitude.

REPRIEVE NOT GRANTED.

DUBLIN, June 7.—Earl Spencer, in reply to a memorial asking him to reprieve Timothy Kelly, who is under sentence to be hanged on June 9th, has declined to grant the request.

THE ANNANITE WAR.

PARIS, June 7.—At a Cabinet Council to-day, M. Brun, Minister of Marine, announced that he had received a telegram dated Hong-Kong, June 6th, from the admiral commanding the French fleet in Chinese waters, which stated that the situation at Hanoi continued to improve, and six companies of French marines and a mountain battery from Saigon had passed through.

LORD ROSEBERY'S RESIGNATION.

LONDON, June 7.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, read a letter from Lord Rosebery, in which the latter stated that he had not resigned the office of Under-Secretary for the Home Department because of the Home Secretary's statement in the House touching his duties. Sir William Harcourt explained that Lord Rosebery's acceptance of office, in the first place, was only temporary.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

LONDON, June 7.—The returns issued by the Board of Trade show that during the month of May British imports increased, compared with that month last year, by £231,000, and the exports during the same period decreased £248,000.

MOSCOW FESTIVITIES.

MOSCOW, June 7.—The consecration of the Savior, one of the most brilliant features connected with the coronation at Moscow, took place to-day. The Czar and Czarina, with the rest of the Imperial family, the foreign ambassadors, and an immense crowd of people were present at the ceremony. The church was surrounded by troops. The flags used in the campaign of 1812 were displayed. Their Majesties and the clergy went in procession around the church amid salvoes of artillery.

IN A BALLOON.

BOLOGNA, June 7.—Two aerostats started from Bologna in a balloon this morning to cross the English channel. The balloon rose two thousand five hundred feet and was last seen drifting in the direction of Brussels. The aerostats descended safely near Liever, a town eleven miles north-east of Bologna.

FREE BLACK LABOUR.

MADRID, June 7.—An agent of the Liberales Republic has negotiated with Spain a convention providing for the repeal of the law prohibiting the introduction of free black labourers into Cuba. Two hundred thousand slaves in Cuba will become free in 1885, and the labour question then will become a serious one. Spanish statesmen and the Cuban planters are examining a plan for the introduction into Cuba of free African negroes, or Chinese, or Indian coolies.

Never Give Up.

You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and beneath you will rejoice in the power of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

At the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church a motion made by Mr. Stafford in favor of the proposed union was, after a long debate, carried by 66 to 57 on Wednesday.

Theatrical.

The Port Hope amateurs speak of presenting "Writing on the Wall," in Peterborough. The presentation of the play in Port Hope by the Amateur Company, is said to have been signally successful.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and fine. Last night was very warm and some rain fell. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Wind shifting to the eastward; continued fine weather to-day; slightly cooler at night.

A Popular Chrysm.

The Stationing Committee of the Methodist Church, now in session, may find it difficult where to locate the Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, of Port Hope, for the next year. The Port Hope congregation wishes him to remain with them, the Bridge Street Church of Belleville wish him to go there, and a Toronto congregation decided to petition to have him located there.

Lacrosse Notes.

On Thursday evening the first and second twelve of the Lacrosse Club had a practice match on the Ashburnham grounds. The game was an interesting one.

This afternoon a match is being played by the junior twelve of the Peterborough Club and the Norwood Club, on the Ashburnham Cricket Ground. The Norwood Club arrived here this morning.

The Conference.

New and reasonable goods, in reasonable times. Strawberries, Apples, Pine Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, New Cabbages, Parsley, Sugar-cured Ham, Bacon, Fresh Fish, Bologna, Mackerel, Trout, etc.

Our arrangements are complete for a large supply of fruit of all kinds, as soon as prices and the season will admit of their introduction. For further particulars enquire at Smith's Market, George Street.

A new sidewalk is being laid down around the George Street Methodist Church.

Buttons and Tie Shirts.

A large assortment of the above neat Walking Shirts at Foot & McWhinnie's. 13d183

Eggs Shipped.

Mrs. W. W. Robinson shipped to-day 4000 dozen of eggs to Boston. They were purchased during the past three weeks.

Open Air Concert.

The band will give an open air concert this evening on the Market Square. A good programme has been prepared.

Domination Day.

All persons interested in the celebration of Domination Day should bear in mind the meeting this evening in the Firemen's Hall, to receive the report of the committee appointed at the public meeting on Tuesday evening last.

Toronto Conference.

The Stationing Committee of the Toronto Conference assembled in the George Street Methodist Church on Thursday evening. They were chiefly engaged at this session with routine business.

Confirmation Service.

His Lordship Bishop Jamot will conduct confirmation services at Campbellford on Sunday next, when over one hundred candidates will be confirmed. On the Monday following he will be present at Workworth to conduct a similar service in that village.

Shipment of Cheese.

Two cars of cheese were shipped at the Midland station to-day. Messrs. Dundas & Flavell Bros. shipped four hundred boxes, and Mr. Watkins, of Belleville, four hundred boxes. The cheese was of the May make, and was purchased from ten different factories.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending June 2nd, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,073.51; freight, $30,744.81; total, $35,818.32, as compared with $30,335.64 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $5,482.68; and the aggregate traffic to date is $350,038.53, being an increase of $18,873.79 over 1882.

Railway Note.

The Port Hope Times says that a large store house 40x60 is to be erected adjacent to the Midland workshops, for the purpose of storing material.

The News says that a new siding is being laid by the Midland Railway at Garden Hill. The improvement includes the construction of a drain to carry off the stagnant water near the station.

Personal.

Rev. John Bredin, Secretary of the Toronto O. M. Conference, Rev. Wm. Thindell, Walkerton, Mr. J. Preston of the Port Hope, and Mr. P. E. Randall, ex-Mayor of Port Hope, are among those registered at the Casino House.

Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, of Toronto, and Mr. Hugh Ryan, of Perth, of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, are at the Oriental Hotel. They came up on the Grand Junction this forenoon.

A Warning.

Last any of our young men should visit Lindsay and not know the danger they might run, we reprint the following item from the Post:—"A young gent of Lindsay went to Dr. Coulter on Tuesday and complained of a sharp pain in his left arm. Dr. Coulter examined the patient and gave his opinion that something like a needle was embedded in the arm, and upon making an incision he removed a large needle about two inches long. The needle was lying quite close to the bone of the upper part of the arm. The patient could give no explanation as to how the needle came there. It is, however, reasonable to suppose that he has been embracing some fascinating milliner or dressmaker and carried off the needle as a trophy. Moral: Look your girls well over before becoming demonstrative."

A Little too Far.

A woman with the bump of cautionness largely developed walked into the police magistrate's office and asked: "Your worship, can I drive my cow on the road to and from pasture?" "Oh! yes," he replied. "Can I drive her home to milk?" "Yes, yes," he answered. "Well, can I drive her along the road to water?" "Why, yes," he said. "Can I tie a rope about her horns and let her graze along the roadside?" "Ah! ah! stop right there, that is going a little too far." "I just wanted information," she replied, and departed. —Grandford Reporter.

Here is the difference. The Hamilton practice does not even require the rope. Our cows may feed upon shade trees and gardens while a small boy, who is playing ball half a mile off, "catches" them. —Hamilton Spectator.

In Peterborough we are even more liberal in practice. Neither the restraining rope nor the watchful small boy is required. Our smaller freeholders may cultivate their garden plots for months in their spare hours before and after a hard day's work, only to find the result of their toil consumed in one night by the cow of some professional gentleman, well-to-do merchant, or other person who could well afford to pay for pasture. As to street shade trees, of course they are only planted for cow fodder. We have a by-law on the subject, and we have constables and other officials who pay just as much, or rather as little, attention to it as the cows do.

PORT HOPE.

SCALDED.—The Times says that Little Bates, a young lady living in English town, was severely scalded on Tuesday. While walking across the floor with a vessel of boiling water she tripped on the trap door of the cellar and fell, the water scalding her head.

Personal: To Men Only.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

THE COW BUZZANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I beg through you to address myself to the Committee on Appointments, consisting of Councilors Douglas, Cahill, Hartley, Batherford, Kelly, and McNaughton, to whom, about six weeks since, was referred the question of the enforcement of the Cow By-law. I would like to ask what has been done in the matter since? Is it not a fact that the Chairman of that Committee, Councilor Douglas, has on three or more occasions called them together that the matter might be dealt with, but at no time have they met? Is it not a fact that Councilor McNaughton put in an appearance? Let the blame rest where it belongs. What can be expected of the Council generally and of the constables, when the oft expressed appeal of the whole town is disregarded by these Councilors, who are afraid to do the duty they have taken upon themselves and sworn to perform. The fallacy of the cry of the "poor man's cow," has long since become apparent to everyone,—indeed, were that the fact the by-law would have been enforced long since. How much longer shall the many—and they the enterprising citizens who have interest in improving the appearance of the town—be compelled to suffer from such open defiance of the law?

Yours, &c.
Peterborough, June 8, 1883. A VOTER.

CAMPBELLFORD.

THE PAPER MILL.—The Intelligence's correspondent says:—Our paper mill is now commencing to do a great business. We understand that new company intend putting in new machinery to the amount of five thousand dollars, which will be furnished by Messrs. White & Co's, foundry in this village. Orders for paper have already been received from California.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Patrick Martin died suddenly Tuesday night.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The dedication services in connection with the new Methodist Church is to be an event of Friday, 22nd, and Sunday 24th inst. The very tasty and spacious edifice which has been erected and which is now so near completion, is fitting tribute to the generosity and energy of the congregation. A substantial structure combining convenience and interior beauty, its people will feel a pride in meeting in their new found place of worship. Mr. Dunk has been busy this week putting in the windows, some of the highest of which are of stained glass, and hanging the chandeliers. The steps in front are to be erected and with a small amount of labour more the structure will be completed.

PITH MECHANICS.

Your muscle and brain go into your wages. Hard labour teaches you the value of your money, you need to get all your can for it.

Anybody that expects you to put dollars into sentiment and buy of him as a favour is a trifle out in the calculations. It is your duty to buy as cheap as you can, but no one needs to be more careful where he puts his money than you.

The only thing that will warrant you in giving your trade to our establishment rather than another is, the certainty of cheaper buying.

All this leads up to a practical point, put your money for dress into Clothing at DOLAN & CO'S. You'll get solid satisfaction. DOLAN & CO'S. is a sort of Clothing centre to which all buyers in Clothing-making naturally gravitate. The result is at your command.

SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1883.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, June 9.—Patrick Murphy was charged by Chief Johnston with having been found drunk. He said that he had walked the long distance of three miles into town and was fatigued and took only two glasses of beer to strengthen him, but the Chief thought the beer had only weakened him. He was fined $2 or ten days in goal, and after declaring that he would go to goal, he thought better of it and paid the fine.

A similar charge was laid against Michael Carey by P. C. Adams. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 or ten days. He had $1.35 and Murphy loaned him the balance, so they both walked away free men so far as the law was concerned.

Almost.
A team of horses became frightened on the street square this morning and started to depart without a guide or driver, but they were immediately stopped.

A Free Concert.

The band came out on the market square last evening and gave a free concert in the open air, the first of the season, and those who heard the music will be pleased to know that it will not be the last, as these open air rehearsals will be continued on Friday evenings during the summer.

A Runaway.

A team of horses which were tied in front of Mr. Matthews' port packing establishment by the reins, on Friday evening, broke the "ribbons" and ran the full length of George street. They were caught finally, little damage being done to the harness or waggon.

Latent Fervor in Ladies' Neck Wear, such as Lace Fichus, Frillings, Collars, &c., by express, this week at Turnbull's.

The School Pic-Nic.
The annual Union School excursion took place on the Golden-Eye this morning. The excursionists go down to Campbellton. The attendance was very meagre.

A Note for Cyclists.
A young gentleman left Bowmanville on Friday morning at 7 o'clock on a bicycle, and arrived here at about 7 o'clock the same evening. He came by Port Hope, and the distance would be about fifty miles. He left here this morning for Lakeside, and he intends to ride his two wheeled pony back to Bowmanville again.

Personal.
Mr. J. A. Harper, of the Norwood Register, was in town yesterday. He played with the Norwood Lacrosse Club and is a very good wielder of the stick. Mr. Harper is making the Register a live local paper, having made considerable improvements in it lately, and it is a credit to the village.

The Weather.
To-day is cooler and cloudy, with appearance of rain. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—East to south winds, cloudy to rainy weather or to-day; strong west to north winds, and clearing weather to-night.

Panic on a Small Scale.
A panic on a small scale occurred during the lacrosse match on Friday. A number of people, including many ladies, were sitting on the stand on the south side of the field, when the props gave way and there was a quick and general move to get off. It did not go down, however, and the most of those who were sitting on it returned. It would be advisable to give this stand some attention before another event takes place on the ground.

Lace Gloves in Lace Thread and Silk, by express, this week at Turnbull's.

Grand Orange Lodge.
ST. CATHARINES, June 7.—The Grand Lodge resumed business at 9 o'clock this morning, and went into committee to further consider the report of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution. This work occupied its attention until late in the afternoon, when the election of officers took place and resulted as follows:—Henry Merrick, M. P. P., Grand Master and Sovereign; William J. Parkhill, Deputy Grand Master; Rev. J. Norris, Grand Chaplain; Captain William Anderson, Grand Treasurer; Thomas Key, Grand Secretary; James Evans, Grand Lecturer; William White, Grand Director of Ceremonies; A. J. Van Ingen, Deputy Grand Secretary; Robert Birmingham, Deputy Grand Treasurer; T. C. McAvoy, John McGeachy, A. D. Bostwick, James Elliot, T. J. Chisholm, D. W. Henderson, and Joseph Doupe, Deputy Grand Lecturers; Rev. Bros. Cooper, Walsh, Smith, Adams, Rump, Dowler, Smith, Caradoc, Dondiet, and Haines, Deputy Grand Chaplains. The officers elected were afterwards duly installed. The selection of the place for holding the next annual meeting occupied considerable time, and London, Ont., was chosen.

Faith Cures.
At a meeting of the Congregational Union at London, one brother from Cobourg testified to having been cured in answer to prayer, without the use of medicine. Rev. Mr. McCallum spoke of a young lady who was being restored, and also referred to the Rev. Wm. Peacock, who had exercised faith in God with reference to his own case, but had been led to say "Thy will be done" in this way preventing exposure. He was married, but that probably had nothing to do with his disappearance three weeks ago.

AMERICAN.

A CANADIAN FORGER ARRESTED.
BUFFALO, N. Y., June 8.—Yesterday afternoon Detective Riley arrested a young man named Henry W. Weaver, aged twenty-three years, on a charge of forging a deed for real estate and procuring a loan of $600 on it. His victim is William A. Gorman, an attorney-at-law, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was deceived by the forged deed, and the crime was committed about three weeks ago. He was handed over to Under Sheriff White, of Welland last evening, and left for there on the midnight express.

A CANADIAN'S DISGRACE.
NEW YORK, June 8.—John K. Thompson, clerk, was held for trial here to-day, charged with stealing property from his boarding-house. Thompson's mother is wealthy and lives at St. Antoine, near Montreal. He was formerly clerk in a Canadian office of the Grand Trunk railway, of which his uncle is a director. He resigned to accept a clerkship on the Canada Pacific road. He says he came here at the solicitation of a young woman, and that poverty induced him to steal.

EXECUTED FOR INCENDIARISM.

ALEXANDRIA, June 9.—The execution of Suleiman Daoud this morning, for setting fire to the prison, took place in the midst of the rules of the great square. Suleiman had to be almost carried to the scaffold, and was nearly overcome from fright before he was hanged. Some persons say he died before the drop fell. On the way to the scaffold the condemned man murmured that he was victimized by Arabi Pasha.

TIMOTHY KELLY HANGED.

DUBLIN, June 9.—Timothy Kelly, who was convicted of participating in the Phoenix Park murders, was hanged at Kilmashilmall jail at eight o'clock this morning. He was the fifth man executed for complicity in these murders and the last one convicted. There was a large crowd outside the prison, but there was no disturbance. It is believed that Kelly died without making a statement. Varian, a member of the Prisoners' Aid Society, called upon the Lord Lieutenant late last evening and gave him his personal assurance that at eight o'clock on the evening of the Phoenix Park murders were committed Kelly was present at a meeting of the society. This morning Varian stood in front of the jail and stated that he expected every moment to hear that Kelly had been reprieved. The authorities, expecting that a great crowd would collect at the jail during the execution, adopted an extensive precaution for the maintenance of order as there was when Brady was

A NIHILIST MEETING.

LONDON, June 8.—A meeting of thirty Nihilists was held at St. Petersburg last week, which the police endeavored to suppress. The Nihilists had warning and fled with a printing press and type. This prevented the appearance of the prepared number of the Nihilist paper, the Will of the People, and only a small special edition was issued.

THE SUEZ CANAL SCHEME.

LONDON, June 8.—The Committee appointed at a meeting of influential ship owners on the project for the construction of another canal across the Isthmus of Suez, met yesterday, and resolved to proceed vigorously with the work, especially as the statements made by M. de Lesseps at the meeting of the Suez Canal Company in Paris recently, are regarded as most unsatisfactory. The assumption of M. de Lesseps that harmony existed between himself and the English directors is strongly disapproved of.

TURKISH LOSSES.

CATANZO, June 8.—Twenty Turkish regulars marching to Sipontin were attacked and murdered on the 1st inst., by a body of Hottis. Sangharly fighting occurred on the 2nd and 3rd inst. at Alban between the Turks under Asym Pasha and the Ostralis. The Turks are reported to have lost 1,300 men, and the Ostralis, 500.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 8.—A stormy debate arose in the House of Commons to-day on the motion to recommit Lord Wolsey and Baron Alcester's Annuity Bills for the purpose of commencing the proposed pensions for lump sums of money. Sir Wilfrid Lawson (Radical) and Lord Randolph Churchill (Conservative) opposed the motion. The latter alleged that an enquiry into the Egyptian war was first necessary. The origin of the war, he said, was discredited, nor glorious as the Government's puppet, the Khedive, was the real author of the massacre at Alexandria. Sir Stafford Northcote (Conservative) supported the Government. The opposition to the grants he characterized as shabby. The present occasion, he said, was not suitable for raising the question as to the policy of the war. He declined to be led by Lord Randolph Churchill, and he hoped the House would not be induced by the noble lord to accept a position depending to its honor. Mr. Gladstone declared that Lord Randolph Churchill's allegation in regard to the Khedive was entirely at variance with all the evidence in the hands of the Government. Lord Randolph Churchill promised to give proof of this statement if the Government would grant a proper enquiry.

THE TONQUIN EXPEDITION.

LONDON, June 8.—A correspondent in Paris says he has good authority for stating that only in the event of France attempting to establish water communication between Tonquin and Yunnan will China abandon her passive attitude and close her ports against the French.

READY TO EMBARK.

PARIS, June 8.—Six thousand men are ready at Tonkin to embark for Tonquin, if their services should be needed.

PRUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

ROME, June 8.—An article published in the Moniteur de Rome is considered as proving clearly that the Vatican is satisfied with the new Church bill of Prussia.

AN OFFICIAL'S FORGERIES.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 8.—Samuel J. Wright, ex-County Attorney of Northampton, has committed forgeries amounting to $60,000. He had been doing business as attorney for a number of the wealthiest men in the county. He forged their names to notes and then forged the name of James Boone, Clerk of the Supreme Court, as endorser. The forgeries have been going on for three years. Wright speculated in cotton futures, and sometimes made money and took his losses in this way preventing exposure. He is married, but that probably had nothing to do with his disappearance three weeks ago.

A CANADIAN FORGER ARRESTED.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 8.—Yesterday afternoon Detective Riley arrested a young man named Henry W. Weaver, aged twenty-three years, on a charge of forging a deed for real estate and procuring a loan of $600 on it. His victim is William A. Gorman, an attorney-at-law, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was deceived by the forged deed, and the crime was committed about three weeks ago. He was handed over to Under Sheriff White, of Welland last evening, and left for there on the midnight express.

A CANADIAN'S DISGRACE.

NEW YORK, June 8.—John K. Thompson, clerk, was held for trial here to-day, charged with stealing property from his boarding-house. Thompson's mother is wealthy and lives at St. Antoine, near Montreal. He was formerly clerk in a Canadian office of the Grand Trunk railway, of which his uncle is a director. He resigned to accept a clerkship on the Canada Pacific road. He says he came here at the solicitation of a young woman, and that poverty induced him to steal.

EXECUTED FOR INCENDIARISM.

ALEXANDRIA, June 9.—The execution of Suleiman Daoud this morning, for setting fire to the prison, took place in the midst of the rules of the great square. Suleiman had to be almost carried to the scaffold, and was nearly overcome from fright before he was hanged. Some persons say he died before the drop fell. On the way to the scaffold the condemned man murmured that he was victimized by Arabi Pasha.

TIMOTHY KELLY HANGED.

DUBLIN, June 9.—Timothy Kelly, who was convicted of participating in the Phoenix Park murders, was hanged at Kilmashilmall jail at eight o'clock this morning. He was the fifth man executed for complicity in these murders and the last one convicted. There was a large crowd outside the prison, but there was no disturbance. It is believed that Kelly died without making a statement. Varian, a member of the Prisoners' Aid Society, called upon the Lord Lieutenant late last evening and gave him his personal assurance that at eight o'clock on the evening of the Phoenix Park murders were committed Kelly was present at a meeting of the society. This morning Varian stood in front of the jail and stated that he expected every moment to hear that Kelly had been reprieved. The authorities, expecting that a great crowd would collect at the jail during the execution, adopted an extensive precaution for the maintenance of order as there was when Brady was executed. Police surrounded the prison, men dressed as civilians mixed with the crowd and two companies of troops were in readiness for emergencies at the gate adjacent to the hospital. The crowd was very quiet. A number of women in the crowd fearfully read the progress for the dying. When the black flag was hoisted some persons in the crowd shrieked, and a young woman fell on her knees and called the curse of God upon James Carey, the informer. The crowd soon dispersed. Kelly received the sacrament at 8.30 o'clock this morning and knelt with the priests in prayer to the last. He maintained a calm demeanor, but was very pale. The parting interview with his mother and friends yesterday was very painful. This morning he gave a look of hate and fierceness to Canon Kennedy, requesting him to hand them to his mother. Before death he repeated the promise he made to his mother, that he would leave no statement or letter regarding the murders.

ADVICE FROM ROME.

ROME, June 8.—Cardinal Jacobini has written a letter to the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, demanding the French Government to protect the lives at least of the Catholic Missionaries in Tonquin, whatever such measures may be. The letter was suggested by the deposition of Father Berthelot. The Cardinal points out the danger to the real interests of the Catholic Church and religion in general of carrying on a war-like policy in a country which was in a peaceful condition and showed no inclination to be offensive.

DAUD'S EXECUTION.

LONDON, June 9.—A heated debate occurred in the House of Commons last night in relation to the execution of Suleiman Daoud. The members opposed to the execution were led by Sir George Campbell, the member for King's County, who urged the Government to telegraph to stay the execution. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff asserted that the death of Suleiman Daoud was hurried to silence the charges against the Khedive. Fitzmaurice, Under Foreign Secretary, replied that Mallet, the British Consul in Egypt, had been ordered to inquire whether there was anything in the case calling for the interference of the British Government. Mr. Gladstone finally declared that there had been any injustice done to Suleiman Daoud, they distinctly declined to interfere. Lord Dufferin had informed them that the charges against the Khedive were ridiculous.

FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Detectives had a desperate encounter last evening with the "Eleventh Avenue" gang, which have been robbing New York Central cars. A dozen shots were exchanged. Chas. Warner, ex-convict, was shot and died during the night. James Ryan and Thos. Fitzgerald were arrested.

ENGLISH INFLUENCE LOST.

BOMBAY, June 9.—The Rome correspondent of the Pist cables as follows: "The Pope, to-day, refused to receive Mr. Errington, who asked an audience. This may indicate a complete change in the Irish policy recently pursued. Mr. Errington is in absolute disgrace, and the English party at Rome, which has been very influential at the Vatican, is in dismay. It is reported that Mr. Errington will immediately leave for England."

A FLOOD.

SPRINGFIELD, June 9.—Specials from points along the Western railway, state that the whole country is flooded and that crops are greatly damaged.

AN EXPLOSION.

COLLIER POINT, L. I., June 9.—The Valerite factory of the Ansonia Rubber Company exploded last night and three workmen were injured. Andrew Hoppe's arms were broken, his eyes put out and the flesh on his body cooked. The bodies of the injured men lie in the hands of seven children.

SENTENCED.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 9.—Joseph Vall was yesterday sentenced to seven years in Auburn prison for firing buildings at the Onondaga community.

EXILED BY TAXATION.

WARREN, N. Y., June 9.—Orris Jeffers, an octogenarian of this place, who is worth between one and two million dollars, is obliged to migrate from his home to avoid the effect of the new state tax law, which requires that the owner of personal property wherever situated, shall be taxed where the citizen resides. Nine tenths of Jeffers' money is kept in Warren, State, where it is taxable, and he has no alternative but to leave the state or pay $30,000 extra taxation annually. He goes to Minnesota.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

EAST ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Yesterday afternoon a committee representing themselves as empowered by the general body of the Miners' Association, visited the offices of the owners of the Machine coal mines, and asked what conditions the Companies were prepared to meet the operatives. They refused to grant any. To the office of one of the chief companies, where the committee could not find the President, the Committee said they would return to-day for a definite answer. The committee seemed to mean that there would be no further trouble until answers are received from all the machine operatives of that mine. That the owners expect trouble is evidenced by their preparations to meet at the Confidence mine in Madison County. A guard is kept constantly on the surface while the labourers are below, and at night the labourers are gathered into boarding houses and equipped with short guns, rifles and pistols. Similar precautions are taken at the Collinsville and Abbey mines. Yesterday the president of the latter telegraphed for more ammunition, which was sent. Stockades have been built around several mines.

TWO BROTHERS LYNCHED.

WATKINS, Iowa, June 8.—The Barber boys were taken from the jail by a mob at 11.30 last night, and hung to a tree half a mile east of the jail. The mob was composed of men from Fayette County, and led by a brother of Shepard, who the Barbers killed last fall. The sheriff refused to give up the prisoners, and the mob broke down the door with cannon, and after a short battle inside brought the prisoners, and with ropes around their necks. The boys did not flinch a particle and did not even plead for mercy.

A HEAVY WIND.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 9.—A heavy wind storm struck the north-western portion of the city last evening, scattering several houses, blowing down barns, fences, etc., and doing a large amount of other damage. No person was injured.

SHOT AND KILLED.

KANSAS CITY, June 9.—Last night, George Frederick, proprietor of the Theatre Comique, was shot and killed by John Bell, a reporter, in the hallway of a leading hotel. The trouble was about Frederick's mistress. She was at the head of the stairway. Bell claims that he shot in self-defence.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1883.

[The following is the conclusion of the article in the first column of our second page, inadvertently omitted:]

their head. What outrageous insolence for the World which has just been proved guilty of the baseness of omitting Mr. Monseu's words, showing that he spoke to Mr. Masson, in order to replace them with the falsehood that he spoke to Sir John Macdonald, venturing to assert that the statesman who has done more to mould the destiny and promote the growth and prosperity of this country than any other man in Canada, is unworthy of credence, and then to talk of "interested" denials. Why the World is interested, for, wallowing as it is in the gutter, it is laboring in pulling better men down to its own dirty level. It is a disgrace, not only to journalism, but to humanity.

We observe that some of our contemporaries are busy with the fact, or fancy, that Mr. Anglin's nephew was among the Fenians. We have not the slightest idea whether this is true or not; neither do we care one straw. We do not approve of Mr. Anglin, for we hold that when a Speaker has accepted a printing contract as a mere subsidy, and not for the public interest, for he could not do the work, he broke both in the letter and the spirit the rules of the House over which he presided and the laws of his country, thus disgracing himself and his position. But Mr. Anglin should be judged by what he is, not what his nephew may or may not be.

Incomprehensible Paper. Mr. G. Meyer, at a recent meeting of the Societe d'Encouragement, exhibited a new paste combination designed for the manufacture of incombustible cardboard or paper of all sorts and shades. Asbestos was the principal thing employed in its manufacture. He presented specimens of writing, printing, engraving, etc., made with his ink of different colors, and also showed a water colour drawing that had been submitted to the fiery ordeal of the potter's furnace. The painting had preserved all its brilliancy and the paper all its flexibility. A lithograph, fifteen by sixteen centimeters, was placed between two layers of glass in a state of fusion. On removal the paper was found to have completely retained the action of the heat and the engraving to have preserved all its sharpness.

Mr. WM. PATE, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddin, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to John of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

THE AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES. Moscow, June 11.—Minister Hunt and Admiral Baldwin have received large gold medals commemorative of the coronation. Baldwin received a gold snuff box with a portrait of the Czar set in brilliants, to mark the Czar's personal appreciation of the courtesy of the United States in sending a special naval mission.

DYNAMITE CONSPIRATORS. LONDON, June 11.—The trial of the dynamite conspirators, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher, Amburgh, Whitehead and Wilson, who are charged with treason-felony, began this morning. The court room was very crowded. Clark, Q. C., counsel for defence, challenged three jurors on behalf of Dr. Gallagher. Attorney-General James, opening the case for the prosecution, said the prisoners were charged with an offense which was very near high treason. It was necessary to prove that all the prisoners included in the indictment for treason-felony intended to levy war against the Queen. In order to establish this offense it was sufficient to show that the conspiracy existed to take lives and destroy property without regard to who suffered. Bernard Gallagher was in a different position from the other prisoners. His own statement might be considered to connect him with the dynamite plot, but the evidence regarding him required very careful weighing, so as not to risk punishing an innocent man. If the facts alleged against the prisoners were fully established there was not a person in the country who would not be pleased that they had been brought to justice. Lynch, an informant, repeated his testimony concerning the doings of the conspirators. He gave a temporary hearing.

AMERICAN.

A FATAL LEAP. COBLESKILL, N. Y., June 11.—John Bouck jumped off a freight car near Barneville, on Saturday night, and was run over by a hand-car and killed.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.

KINGSTON, June 11.—James Stator, a quarryman, was struck by a train on the Walkway Valley Railway on Saturday evening and killed. He was deaf and did not hear the locomotive whistle.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A steamer has arrived here from Havre with 100 horses and a large number of men to work on the Panama Canal.

ANOTHER DOUBTFUL REPORT.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A paper published here says the ambassador of one of the great powers telegraphed his sovereign that the abdication of the Queen was impending. The reason given for this course are Her Majesty's fast-failing health and increasing unwillingness and sometimes inability to perform the duties incident to the royal office. It is said that the Queen is a mild believer in Spiritualism. She thought the spirit of her dead husband used to assist her in working out questions which perplexed and annoyed her. At her last visit to Balmoral all seemed to feel the actual presence of the dead Prince, and talked as though he was by her side. This and other occurrences alarmed the Princess Beatrice, and she insisted that other members of the family should come down at once. The trouble with the Queen's health is from a large ulcer of cancerous nature that formed under the knee joint, and in spite of all that can be done, it is eating its way to the bone. Her condition is very serious.

TROUBLE WITH CADETS.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The trouble between Captain Ramsey and the cadets at Washington has created a stir in naval circles. It is stated that Ramsey claims that the affair was the result of a conspiracy among the cadets.

THE STAR ROUTE FRAUDS.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The proposition to refer to arbiters the claim of the government for over payment to Salisbury, Parkers and other Star Route contractors having been declared of doubtful legality, suits have been brought against them for $500,000.

A MANIAC MURDERED.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 11.—In the county jail last night a maniac named Wilson attacked and murdered a man named Haynes with a stone. The officers pulled off the assailant, when Haynes jumped up and struck Wilson in the neck with a knife, severing the jugular vein, causing death.

THE INDIAN WAR.

WILCOX, June 11.—The Americans who arrived from Pacon report hostilities scattered for forty miles along the Sierra Madre. A small body of Indians is making for the north, while the rest in small bodies are working their way towards the gulf. Many women and children are trying to regain their reservations in small bands.

THE FREE THINKERS.

ROCHESTER, June 11.—It is stated that the Free Thinkers' Association announced their annual meeting this year to be held in Rochester, beginning on August 29th. The prospects are that there will be a much larger attendance than at last year's convention. The church will accept a missionary to the convention, who will be given two hours on the platform to defend the claims of the Christian religion against infidelity.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

VINCENNES, Ind., June 11.—A man named Pollock shot and killed his wife while she was asleep on Saturday night, and then killed himself. The parties were only married a few months, and belonged to the wealthiest family in the city. Pollock is supposed to have been crazed by drink, as he lived happily with his wife.

STEAMER ASHORE.

OWASCO, June 11.—The propeller City of Montreal went ashore in a fog on the main dock on Saturday morning. She had six hundred barrels of flour and whisky on board, and was released by steamer Report. The propeller was uninjured.

AMNESTY TO RIOTERS.

PARIS, June 9.—The French Government, on the occasion of the national fête, on July 14th, will grant an amnesty to persons now imprisoned for connection with the Monseu-les-Mines riots.

REVIEW AT MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, June 9.—The Czar reviewed 55,000 troops to-day, and left this evening with the Empress for the Peterhof Palace.

DIPLOMATIC NOTINGS.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—By command of the Czar, M. de Giers has written a letter to Minister Hunt, asking him to convey the thanks of His Majesty to President Arthur, for the courtesy shown in specially accrediting Mr. Hunt to represent the United States at the coronation. It also expresses his gratification at Admiral Baldwin being sent on board an American frigate to attend the grand solemnity. M. de Giers says it has been particularly agreeable to the Czar to see this mark of consideration from a nation united to Russia by bonds of traditional friendship.

GOVERNMENT DEFEATED.

BERLIN, June 9.—During the debate in the German Reichstag on the budget for the night, the Minister of War demanded that the vote for barracks in North Schleswig be passed both on political and military grounds. The vote was rejected by 97 to 119.

HONOURING GARIBOLDI.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Garibaldi Legion of Workingmen's Association of this city and vicinity, proceeded to Staten Island to the former home of the Italian patriot, now occupied by Senator Antonio Muccioli, and there held memorial services touching the death of Garibaldi. The eulogy was delivered by Dr. Julius Hoffman, and several speeches were made by others.

THE CZAR AT ST. PETERSBURG.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—The Czar and Czarina arrived at St. Petersburg to-day from Moscow. They drove in an open carriage to the Kazan cathedral, and were enthusiastically cheered all along the route by immense crowds. Their majesties then proceeded to the Peterhof Palace. The Newsky Prospekt was lined with troops and the city was everywhere beautifully decorated.

RUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—It is positively affirmed that Archbishop Vannelli, papal Nuncio at Vienna, who represented the Vatican at the coronation of the Russian Emperor, presented to the Czar in Moscow an autograph letter from the Pope. It is also stated that all pending difficulties between the Vatican and Russia have been arranged.

AMERICAN.

WEBER IN TROUBLE.

NEW YORK, June 9.—An attachment was issued to-day against the property of Albert Weber, piano manufacturer, on the application of Edulberto Gilo, who claims that Weber converted to his own use $2,000 he placed in his hands last January. He has since been unable to obtain the money. On one occasion, he was in his affidavit, Weber gave him a draft for $15,000 on the San Francisco firm, which proved worthless. Yesterday he had a conversation with Weber, in which the latter acknowledged that he recently lost $50,000 in stock speculation and was insolvent. Gilo charges Weber with removing his property to defraud his creditors.

An Ancient Carriage.

The carriage used by the Duke of Montpensier at the coronation of the Czar is one of the most ancient and remarkable vehicles now in existence. It is more than three hundred years old, and is constructed mainly of glass set in a frame of richly chased silver. It is upholstered in blue velvet, embroidered with the arms of Castile and Arragon. Beneath the coachman's seat is a music box, which formerly played the coach song, but which is now hopelessly out of order. This unique carriage, which appeared in public for the last time before the coronation at King Alfonso's wedding, has been one of the features of every great State festival at Madrid for the last three generations.

Attempt to Burn a Church.

An attempt was made to burn the Methodist Episcopal church in Deseronto on Wednesday night. A quantity of fire wood and shavings were piled against the entrance and set on fire. The door was also covered up to allow the fire to enter the building. The attempt was unsuccessful, as the building was not thoroughly saturated, otherwise the building might have been consumed. An anonymous letter was found the following morning in the parsonage yard.

A Flying Ex-Alderman.

Ex-Alderman Clancy, of Ottawa, who has been working on a flying machine for many years, has intimated his intention of taking a trial trip on Dominion Day. He claims to have perfected the machine in such a way that he does not hesitate to take short trips. The proposition for Dominion Day is to fly from the tower of the Parliament buildings to the agricultural show grounds, where the sports will take place, but whether the ex-alderman means business remains to be seen.

Frightful Accident to a Baby.

On Friday morning a year old child named McCarthy, of Ottawa, was almost burned to death at the Canada Atlantic station. She had been playing in a garret with a four-year old brother, where some shavings had been deposited in a corner, and during the absence of Mrs. McCarthy the little fellow set fire to the pile and to the infant's clothing. The baby's screams attracted the attention of Mrs. McCarthy, who picked up the sufferer and immersed her in a barrel of water. Her injuries are of such a frightful character that she cannot possibly survive.

Gold Mine Discovered.

One of the best gold discoveries so far in Halifax county, N.S., has just been made on the old Dawd property at Montserrat, close to the celebrated Ross lead. Three leads, respectively 33, 11 and 7 inches in width, have been found about twelve feet below the surface and gives indications of a rich yield. The richest appearing lead yet discovered in Chatham county district, only five inches in width, has also just been found by John H. Anderson, a little to eastward of the Oxford Mining Company's property.

THE CANAL AT PENELOPE FALLS.

The first blow on the site of the canal was to run through this village struck on Tuesday, the 17th of October last, and the first rock was blasted nine days later, the 26th. During the period of about seven and a half months that has since elapsed the work has progressed with only a few brief interruptions, and with a degree of activity that depended a great deal upon the weather; and, notwithstanding the almost unprecedented severity of the winter and the numerous wet days, the excavation for the locks has been carried to such a depth that Mr. A. P. Macdonald says the actual construction of lock No. 2 will be commenced on or about the 1st of July. The other lock will be eleven feet deeper, and before much more rock can be taken out a coffer dam will have to be built, as the excavation is almost down to the level of the water, and it will therefore be a good while before a beginning can be made on No. 1. The depth of the cutting for this lock will be 34 feet, and 25 feet (which will not be reached) for No. 2. There are now four derricks erected and three tramways constructed, and the force of men, at present about forty, will soon be increased to seventy-five. At Bobcaygeon thirty quarrymen and twenty four stone cutters are constantly kept busy, and six hundred yards of stone is dressed and ready for transportation to the Falls. The dredge is expected to arrive within a fortnight, and as soon as possible thereafter the piers and coffer-dam will be commenced. A small temporary dam is now being sunk, and the narrow strip of water enclosed will be drawn out by a hand pump, so that blasting in lock No. 1 may not be delayed. One of the two large pumps to be driven by steam is already here, and the other one and the engine to work them will soon follow. West of Colborne street very little has been done for some weeks past, partly on account of water in the cut but chiefly because the blasting for and construction of the locks is the heaviest part of the undertaking, and the remainder of the channel can be cut in a very few months. Large quantities of square timber, to be used in the locks, are now lying in the grove and lately long sticks of hemlock, spruce and cedar flattened on two sides, have been deposited on the north bank of the river, a few rods east of the main street. This timber is for the piers and coffer dam, and was saved by McArthur & Thompson, who, however, were unable to procure in this locality the 18x19 inch required for the miter sills of the locks, and consequently have sent to Toronto for it. The stone along the canal is a busy one now, but it will be still more so when larger loads will set stone begin to arrive from Bobcaygeon and work on the locks commences. They will not be in by the end of next fall, but an idea of the rapidly with which the remainder of the work can be done may be based upon Mr. A. P. Macdonald's prediction that the canal will be completed and formally opened for traffic by August of next year. —Fenelon Falls Gazette.

SCOTLAND.

SOME 30,000 of Lochleven trout fry from Howieton Fishery are to be put into Loch Ard.

LADY GORDON CATHCART has proposed to give 4000 acres of arable and pasture lands to her Barra tenants—a noble example.

DURING 1882, 1,119,890 dozen eggs—in all, 18,438,300 eggs—were exported from Orkney. The value was £27,328.

The fishermen of Stornoway have by a large majority declared for a close time for the West Coast from 15th March to 15th May.

The Kirk Session of Stromness has suspended Mr. Masson, farmer, Dunsprae, from church privileges, for allowing fiddling in his barn about the New Year time.

Mr. WIDDOWS, the ex-mormon, lecturing on the 16th May, at Dornock, was rather sharply taken to task by one of the audience, a Roman Catholic, and quite a scene occurred.

A still at the Glenrath Distillery, Rathen, containing 2,000 gallons of whiskey, suddenly collapsed on the 21st of May. No one was injured, but the work at the distillery will be stopped for some time.

SIR TOLLEMACHE SINGHAR has withdrawn his offer to give free education to the children of his tenants. The School Board have thrown obstacles in his way, and it has also been intimated that it was an electioneering dodge.

By an explosion on the 14th May, in the Greenock Hopework Co.'s mill, Mary Ann Doherty, Kate McGuire, Sarah Ann Leslie and Archibald McCann were severely burned. The motion of the machinery ignited the dust.

Panic in a school. A panic that might have resulted in dreadful loss of life occurred in the primary school on Fifth street, New York, on Friday afternoon. It was precipitated by one of the scholars shouting "Fire!" A scene of the wildest excitement and confusion followed. Hundreds of young children in the different class rooms crowded towards the stairs, and all efforts on the part of the teachers to preserve order were ineffectual. A number of children were crushed and had their clothes torn in the struggle, but the police report none seriously injured. There was no fire.

Seven Tramps Buried.

An addition to the Northwestern marine elevator, Milwaukee, owned by Harigold Bros. and Kerha, was burnt on Wednesday, under the pressure of one hundred and fifteen thousand bushels of No. 3 wheat. The walls fell owing to the settling of the foundations. About two thousand bushels slid into the river. Seven tramps seen dozing in its shadow a few minutes before the crash, it is believed, were buried under the ruins.

A Virginia Duel.

A roadside duel took place near Patrick Court-house on Thursday between Sheriff Donoherty, who was recently elected, and W. T. Waller, his opponent. Both were on horseback, riding down the mountain, when Waller spied his enemy and opened fire upon him. Donoherty returned the fire, and at the third round Donoherty's horse fell dead. The fight continued until Waller fell from his horse mortally wounded.

Elvety Times.

Jim Curry, the Texas murderer, who killed Porter, the actor, had a misunderstanding with his bartender and exchanged several shots with him. The bartender left the saloon, secured a repeating rifle, and fired 62 shots through the saloon windows and wounded several of the inmates of the saloon, among them Curry, who had hidden himself behind a barrel.

Suicide of a Farmer.

A farmer named James Bowrey, of the Guse of Lambton, near London, committed suicide on Thursday morning, by hanging himself in his barn. He climbed to the loft and after adjusting the rope jumped off, the neck being broken.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1883.

ANSWERS AS REQUESTED.

THOUGH it is rather too much to expect us to answer eight different questions in a string, and though some of them are couched in studiously insulting language, yet we are unwilling to refuse a reply to the queries put to us by the Cobourg World. We will take each question in its order.

1. It does make a difference as to the character of the asserted transactions pretended to be revealed, whether the letters were stolen or not. The difference is, that if honestly come by some credit might be attached to these documents, but being stolen it is only natural to suppose that the Tribune gang of thieves being bag-enough to steal them would also be base enough to forge the material portion, as is proved to be the case both by the testimony of the pretended writers, and by internal evidence. We have a parallel case in the forged version of a letter by Sir Charles Tupper as published by the Napacoe Express and read in the House by Mr. Blake, who laid special stress upon the very words that were fraudulently inserted, and who, by the by, has not had the manliness and fairness to express any regret for his use of a proved forgery.

2. It would be waste of time to enquire how the letters were obtained, for the theft at least is acknowledged, and they are in possession of the public but of private criminals, who are using them to wreak, some their private, and some their political malice, nor is it necessary to discuss the guilt of the parties, for the guilt of the thieves is admitted, and as for the gentlemen assailed their character cannot be sullied by the fabrications of admitted thieves and proved forgers, upon whose testimony it would not be right even to hang a mad dog.

3. The fact that Mr. Mousseron said he had laid down a condition in a conversation with Mr. Mason, not to burk our rights but to oppose our obtaining more than the law may give us, combined with the facts that Mr. Mason did not adopt the condition, that Mr. Mousseron was not then in a position to make any such condition, that when two years later he entered the cabinet he demanded no such condition, and that Sir John Macdonald could not and did not accept a condition which was not proposed to him, does warrant the Review's position that Mr. Mousseron did not go further and submit the condition to any one but Mr. Mason.

4. Stopping there, it was a condition proposed to Mr. Mason, but not accepted by him, and it was not effective, for the wisdom of Parliament rendered it unnecessary.

5. Mr. Mousseron did not boast of it to the Jacques Cartier election as a condition of his going into the Dominion Government with Mr. Mason, for his boasts, not being as ignorant of Canadian history as the World, either he pretends to be, knew that he did not go into the Cabinet till two years after with Mr. Mason, and he probably told them of this private conversation to show them that he had been willing to necessary to oppose the settlement of the boundary question by an illegal and invalid agreement, between an Ontario Premier and a Dominion Premier from Ontario, instead of an authoritative, legal and final decision.

6. Mr. Mousseron, when two years later he entered the Cabinet, did not give up any contention as to Ontario's right, for he has always contended that Ontario should have all that is legally hers, as determined by a legal decision but not otherwise, and he withdrew no condition, for there was no condition to withdraw, and none was necessary.

7. He did not boast, years afterwards, of a dead issue, for it is a live issue whether Ontario's Boundary should be legally determined or Mr. Mowat shall refuse to secure our rights in order to make political capital out of his sectional crisis; and he did not boast that this conversation had been effective in the case. His probable reason for mentioning the subject we have already given.

Having answered the World's question, we must say a few words as to its charge of falsehood against Sir John Macdonald for expressing his wish to catch Riel while supplying him with money to keep out of the way. Did this explicit critic never hear of the farmer who tried to catch the boys who were robbing his orchard, but failing to do so gave them the fruit of one tree that they might leave him the rest. Where is the inconsistency in either case? The assertion of the World that Sir John Macdonald's deal is "just nothing" is simply a cowardly insult, not merely to the greatest statesman and foremost man in Canada, but to the great majority of the people of the Dominion, who have chosen him as their leader and

The Belleville Ontario asks: "Does the Review want us to believe that the $117,000 paid to Sir Geo. E. Cartier and Sir H. Langevin was used against the Conservative party in Quebec?" It would be well for the Ontario to read what we said before pronouncing upon them. Of course we said nothing so ridiculous, but we showed that Sir Hugh Allan, (the very witness quoted by our contemporary) stated that he had expended large sums, previously to these contributions, to oppose Sir George Cartier and the Quebec members of his party, doing his work so completely that he could not undo it, and Sir George and many of his supporters encountered. Sir Hugh gives a detailed account of the manner in which he effected this, but apparently the Ontario reads its history only in the Globe and not in the original documents.

THE LICENSE BILL.

A Quebec Temperance View of the Measure
—The Act a Good One.

Rev. Mr. Gales, Secretary of the Quebec branch of the Dominion Alliance, is a special report to the Executive on the subject of the License Law, passed at the recent session of Parliament, says:—

Under three heads your Secretary gives his impressions regarding the Bill. It is a remarkably comprehensive measure.

Questions that in Great Britain and the United States are made subjects of special acts are here united in one general enactment.

The great principle of local option, or the right of the people to exercise control in reference to the granting of licenses is recognized.

The prohibition of the sale of liquor on Sunday nights and throughout Sunday (except to bona fide lodgers at meals) is made the law in Canada.

The separation of liquor from groceries is practically declared to be wise and necessary legislation.

Liquor is not to be sold to minors under sixteen years of age or at bars on steamships.

There is, moreover, a machinery for enforcing the law as well as the Boots Act and the Danish Act.

II. The Act recognizes the principle that diminished facilities for obtaining liquor are likely to diminish intemperance and its inevitable results.

Parliament has determined the maximum number of places for the sale of liquor, has provided for the reduction of the number in certain cases, has recognized several just grounds upon which it is the right and privilege of electors to object to granting a license, among which are that the granting of a license is not required in the neighborhood, or that the premises are in the immediate vicinity of a place of public worship, hospital or school, or that the quiet of the place in which such premises are situate will be disturbed if a license is granted.

The Inspector is to furnish for the information of the Commissioners a report regarding each application, which, among other things is to contain a statement in reference to the manner in which the house has previously been kept, the character of persons frequenting the house, its proximity to other licensed houses, whether the applicant is, in the opinion of the Inspector, a fit and proper person to have a license, and whether the house or premises sought to be licensed is or are in his opinion required for public convenience.

Applicants for houses are requested to enter into bonds with the majority for the payment of all fines and penalties which they may be compelled to pay in respect to any offence against the Act.

III. There are several admissions that the interest of the liquor sellers must be interfered with very cautiously, if at all. In the judgment of your Secretary, Parliament went too far in that direction, in view of the character of the traffic, and the fact that a license only gives the right of selling until it expires—when the contract ceases and may or may not be renewed, as a regard for public interest may determine.

On the whole, the Act is a good one. The measure was not in any wise a Government measure declared their purpose to introduce it. The Alliance, as in duty bound to its constituents, urged such points as in its judgment were for the interests of temperance. In this Province we were nobly supported by the Roman Catholic Bishops. Recommendations made were well received, and unquestionably influenced for good the legislation that has just been to the country.

THE "GLOBE" SLANDER.

Another Authoritative Denial—What Mr. Macdonald Says About It.

Mr. J. J. McDonald, of Manning, McLaren, Shields, & McDonald, was waited upon by a Sun reporter last night, and asked if he cared to say anything in reply to the Globe's charge.

"I know nothing about it," was his answer to the interrogation.

"But you surely know whether you spent $50,000 or $100,000 in bribery, Mr. Macdonald?"

"I know we didn't. No money was paid by our firm for bribery or any other improper purpose, to my knowledge. If any such sums were paid I should certainly have heard something about it."

"It's not true about the $40,000?"

"No. I deny the whole story in detail and as a whole. But you needn't say anything about it. The whole thing will be exposed in Toronto in a few days. Why the warmest friends of the Globe here laugh at it as the most ridiculous story the Globe ever attempted to perpetrate."

"Was the engineer transferred to British Columbia as alleged?"

"An engineer formerly engaged in the work was sent to perform some duties on the British Columbia section, but he is now back in Ottawa engaged in looking over the affairs of the Thunder Bay Branch."

"The Syndicate paid $70,000 for the plant?"

"Well, I suppose they got $70,000 worth of plant."

"It is alleged that Manning claims he was not consulted before the election advances were made. But I know nothing of the matter. My duties have been in superintending the actual work on the road."

"The Globe further charges Shields and yourself with making $50,000 out of this, which you refused or neglected to divide with your partners."

"We had a contract for supplying ties and made some money out of it. But they had nothing at all to do with that."

"It is said that Manning has put his case in the hands of a lawyer."

"I know nothing about that. But, as I said, the whole matter will be made plain in a few days. Just you wait till then."—Winning Time.

Manning's Acid Phosphate

FOR FARMERS.

Dr. Wm. P. Clothier, of Buffalo, N.Y., says:—

"I prescribed it for a Catholic priest, who was a hard student, for weakness, extreme nervousness, etc., and he reports it has been of great benefit to him."

A Mine Caves In.

A serious accident occurred in McLaren & Co's phosphate mine in West Templeton, on Friday, which resulted in the loss of one life and injury to four other men. It appears that a large quantity of ore was being removed from under the roof when it caved in and buried the men beneath its weight.

Courtship Obscurity.

Butt Hawson says in a letter to the leading Grit organ that he will take no notice of attacks made upon him "in the newspapers." But it may be asked where Mr. Hawson exists? But "in the newspapers," his wife's aspirations upon public men have filled the columns of the Globe, but to little purpose, for a year past. Having no status in the courts, he has chosen "the newspapers" as the vehicle of personal charges against the prominent men of the country. Outside of "the newspapers," he is nobody and nowhere. So that his resolution to abstain from further newspaper notoriety is in effect to court his native obscurity.—London Free Press.

Suspicious of Post Play.

On Friday morning a boy fishing in the river about two miles below Chatham, brought to shore the much decomposed body of a man. Intelligence of the matter was sent to Chatham, and the Chief of Police despatched Constable Dennis to investigate. Mr. Dennis took with him Miss Davis, the daughter of John Davis, plasterer, who disappeared last fall, and it was thought had fallen from the Rankin dock. Miss Davis at once identified the remains by the clothing worn by her father. An examination of his pockets discovered 85 cents and some tobacco. As it is said Mr. Davis had about $10 on his person when he disappeared, and he was not in very good company when last seen, the circumstances are somewhat suspicious. An inquest will be held.

Monster Conveyance of Real Estate.

Probably the largest conveyance of real estate ever made in the Dominion to a private individual was made in Quebec on Thursday, June 7, the vendors being the executors of the estate of the late G. B. Hall, of Quebec, the well-known timber limit and saw-mill owner. The purchase was I. A. Senecal, and the property transferred comprising, among other features, the famous saw-mills at Montmorency Falls, the Radnor forges, near Three Rivers, and the 2,000 square miles of timber limits in this Province also besides various other lands in the Eastern Townships and elsewhere. The deed, which covered 260 pages, was signed on his own behalf by Mr. Senecal, who paid down $250,000 cash on account of the purchase price of $1,000,000. Hon. Geo. Irvine, who leaves shortly for Europe on professional business, acted as legal adviser of the Hall estate.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1883.
We are now informed by the leading Reform Journal that:—
"The letter of the British North American Act authorizes the exercise of the veto power and it authorizes the Dominion Parliament to assume control over Provincial railways by declaring them to be for the general advantage of the whole country. These provisions were inserted in that Act on the theory that they might be made to serve a useful purpose."
This is an admission of the truth, yet the Globe and its echoes have been telling us that the Dominion Government has been usurping unconstitutional powers. It is the Reformers who are not contented with our constitution and are laboring to destroy it, now openly advocating its alteration in the direction of making the Provinces of the Dominion sovereign states, with no restraint upon them except that which our neighbours across the line had to adopt—civil war.

THE NORTHWEST.
The following is an account of the progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as told on good authority:—
According to Mr. Manager Van Horn, who has been on a three week's tour of inspection on the railway, the work on the different portions of the road was progressing most favourably. The track was now completed to Medicine Hat, on the Saskatchewan, and they expected to have it laid to Calgary, 180 miles west of the Saskatchewan, by the 5th or 6th of August, and to the summit of the Rocky Mountains, 121 miles further on, before winter sets in. The grading between Calgary and the Rockies would be very heavy, and they expected to have some delay on this section of the road. Mr. Van Horn also stated that the filling-in in the vicinity of the Saskatchewan amounted to 60,000 yards per mile, and that the average earth-work of the prairie section between Winnipeg and Calgary would be about 17,000 yards per mile, which was fifty per cent heavier than the grading on the ordinary prairie railway lines. It will be seen from this that it was not all quite so smooth sailing as most people supposed in the construction of this line, but the Company were pushing the work vigorously forward, and no time would be lost in completing the whole line from east to west. The road to Prince Arthur's Landing was now opened for freight traffic, and they hoped to get it ready for passenger traffic within a week's time. A number of passengers had, however, already gone that way. The work on the Selkirk branch was also rapidly progressing, and the work on the Emerson branch would be commenced within a week or two. The work on the section of Prince Arthur's Landing was being pushed rapidly forward, and they expected to have the track laid as far as Neepawa, 60 miles east of the Landing, by about the 15th of August, and hoped to reach a point 40 miles west of Neepawa by the end of the season. The Algoma branch was expected to be ready for operation at the opening of navigation next spring. The work on the main line west of Sturgeon River was also advancing satisfactorily and it was expected by the end of the present year that the gap between the eastern and western divisions of the road would be reduced to about 350 miles.—Montreal Witness.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.
Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.
A MARQUEE ON TRIAL.
PARIS, June 12.—The trial of the Marquis de Rays and seventeen others, charged with manslaughter in despatching four old sailing vessels to the Island of Port Breton with emigrants, the most of whom died on the passage or after their arrival from hunger and disease, was commenced to-day. They are also charged with fraud in the sale of imaginary land in Port Breton.

THE ZULU TROUBLE.
LONDON, June 12.—The trouble in Zululand is becoming more serious. A section of King Cetewayo's people, who have been friendly to Cetewayo, attacked the King's party, routed it and killed the King's son.

THE DYNAMITERS.
LONDON, June 12.—The trial of the dynamite conspirators was resumed this morning, and several witnesses were examined.

A FAMINE.
LONDON, June 12.—There is a famine in the Kurdish districts of Asia Minor. Many persons have died of starvation. Grain is selling at six times the usual price.

LOCUSTS.
PITTSBURGH, June 12.—17 year locusts have made their appearance in this vicinity in large numbers.

DEED RECOVERED.
HARTFORD, Conn., June 12.—The Slade family has recovered to estates, which forms part of the city of Hartford, N. S., and are worth several millions. The deed has been lost over a hundred years.

A PRISONER DROWNED.
BOSTON, June 12.—W. A. Putney was once the proprietor of a large dry goods store in Chicago, and was killed by a steam locomotive, and came to Boston, where he secured a position with Shepard & Norwell. The firm has been missing large quantities of goods, and yesterday Putney was arrested at his cottage at Natick for the same. While the officers were bringing him to the city he jumped off the boat and was drowned. A large amount of stolen property was found at his residence here at Natick.

SAILING FLEET RELEASED.
ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 12.—The sailing fleet has been released from the ice. The fishing was a failure.

TEWKSBURY ALMOUSE.
BOSTON, June 12.—At the Tewksbury hearing yesterday, Butler appeared to identify a piece of skin taken from the body of C. J. Eklund, who died in the Tewksbury almshouse in 1879. He stated that funeral services were held over Eklund's remains, or over the coffin, said to contain them. The body was taken to Harvard Medical School for dissection. This piece of skin, on which is tattooed in Indian ink representations of the confederation with the name and date of his birth, was removed, and preserved by a man whom he can produce on the witness stand. He said the management of the institution was responsible for this terrible desecration of the dead.

OBITU.
NEW YORK, June 12.—Barbare Dille, late Danish Minister to the United States, has died at Cannes.

THE INDIAN WAR.
TUCSON, Arizona, June 12.—A band of 35 Indians are reported near Richmond. They are supposed to be renegades driven out of Mexico by Crook, and trying to get to the reservation.

ARRIVAL OF IMMIGRANTS.
NEW YORK, June 12.—700 Irish immigrants arrived here yesterday on the steamer Belgravia. Each received $5 for the English Government, of which $2 1/4 shillings went to pay their passage. Few had any money of their own.

STEAMER LOST WITH ALL HANDS.
NEW YORK, June 12.—There is no doubt that the steamship Africa, which sailed from New York on March 27th for Leth, has foundered, and that all hands were lost.

STARVING HIMSELF.
CANTON, Ohio, June 12.—Geo. McMillan, who is a jealous rage murderer his wife, and was sentenced to hang next week, is starving himself to death. For weeks he has tasted but little, if any, food, and for ten days there has nothing passed his lips but one glass of milk. The physician says that he cannot hold out the day of execution. McMillan claims to be innocent.

A NEGRO LYNCHEED.
HICKMAN, Ky., June 12.—Henry Colbert, a negro, charged with attempting to enter the house of Mrs. Prothier, for the purpose of assaulting her, was taken out of jail yesterday morning, and arrested men, and placed on a horse and after a rope had been put around his neck the mob galloped off with him. He has doubtless been lynched. His accomplice, Pete Hart, will probably be served in the same way if caught.

TWO PAINTERS KILLED.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Charles Rider and Charles White, painters, were thrown to the ground yesterday by an accident to a scaffold, and both were killed.

INDIAN PRISONERS.
EL PASO, June 12.—News comes from Canas Grande and Carollites that Crook has captured two hundred and sixty Indians and their leaders, Leco Juh and Cranto. They surrendered at Crow's Nest. General Crook is now moving north with the prisoners.

Arrest in London.
A man named John Grant Mackay, supposed to have a quantity of explosive in his possession, has been arrested. His case has been postponed for a week. The arrest is considered important because the district police have recently received numerous messages.

Hornford's Acid Phosphate FOR WEAKNESSES.
Dr. Wm. P. Clobrier, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I prescribed it for a Catholic priest, who was a hard student, for wakefulness, extreme nervousness, etc., and he reports it has been of great benefit to him."

THE BUREAU. Mail courier of Hapworth, was brought before Justice Rutherford and Price, at Owen Sound, charged by Charles Spry, F. O. Inspector, with robbing the mail bag and taking therefrom a letter containing a hundred dollars addressed to J. Y. Gilmour & Co., Montreal. The prisoner was committed. Mr. Spry has been there some days, investigating the recent depredations in the vicinity of Hapworth.

FROM THE JAW OF DEATH.
An Ottawa Mill Hand's Terrible Experience
—A Narrow Escape.

On Tuesday morning a young French Canadian mill hand named Narcisse Meunier, in Edley's new mill, at Hull, Que., had one of the most marvelous escapes from death of record. It seems that while attending to his duties in the lower part of the mill he slipped and fell into the water beneath. At this point the stream resembles a gigantic scorching cauldron, but notwithstanding the warning of the rushing waters Narcisse, who is a powerful swimmer, struck out boldly for the shore. In spite of his efforts he was hurled down the waterway towards the Devil's Hole, where the stream enters the underground passage. Nothing daunted by the tremendous strength of the current, against which he was battling, Narcisse continued to fight for his life. At length he succeeded in getting near enough to the shore to clutch a projecting piece of rock to which he held until rescued by some parties who had witnessed the accident. When the news spread about the mill that this had occurred few could credit it, as it was considered utterly impossible that any man could have fallen into the mill-stream beneath the mill and escape with his life. When he fell into the water he shouted as loud as he could, but the noise of the mill prevented his cries being heard, consequently his fellow workmen did not know of the occurrence until it was over. Fortunately for him some outsiders happened to see him clinging to the rock on the shore with the energy of despair, while the force of the current was almost tearing his arms out of their sockets, and came to his rescue. Had it not been for this he would inevitably have been sucked down into the Devil's Hole and probably never heard of again. No description can give the faintest idea of the dangers of this spot, but after one glances at it it seems incomprehensible that a human being should have been there and survived. A reporter called at the mill to get the particulars of the affair from Meunier. Notwithstanding the fearful peril from which he had been rescued a few hours before, he was coolly asked as his usual work as though nothing out of the way had happened. He is a stoutly built young fellow of about nineteen summers, and although he looked rather pale after his battle with death, he made light of the affair in answer to an enquiry by the reporter he shrugged his shoulders and said he didn't feel very bad at the time, but he wouldn't like to be there again.—Ottawa Citizen.

AT REST AT LAST.
The remains of John Howard Payne, buried at Washington.

The remains of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," were, on Saturday, interred in Oakhill cemetery in a beautiful spot provided by W. A. Corcoran, an early friend, now one of Washington's most munificent citizens. The funeral procession, which was composed of the most distinguished people of the country, including the President, and the ceremonies of the occasion partook of the character of a national tribute. On Friday the remains were taken from the receiving vault and placed in the Corcoran art gallery, where at 4 o'clock on Saturday the procession formed. The remains were enclosed in a case richly upholstered and with an outer covering of heavy white satin, were borne from the building to the hearse specially built for the occasion. The coffin was drawn by four white horses. The cemetery was reached at a quarter past five. All along the route the sidewalks were thronged with people, while the approaches to the cemetery could with difficulty be kept free. Platforms had been erected upon three sides of the monument, which stands on a hill near the main entrance to the cemetery. The coffin was placed at the side of the monument, where it remained during the exercises. The speakers and distinguished guests took seats upon the north platform. On the west were 100 members of the Philharmonic society and the marine band. On the east a large platform afforded seats for 2,000 people. The caquet was followed in flowers and evergreens.

Weight of Men and Women.
The average weight of 20,000 men and women weighed at Boston in 1864 was:—Men, 141 1/2 pounds; women, 124 1/2 pounds. At the recent Cincinnati Industrial Exposition, Department of Science and Education, Appliance department, a clerk to record the Western men and women. The number weighed was 22,115, and the total weight was 3,072,306 pounds. The men weighed numbered 7,467, weighing 1,150,168 pounds. The women weighed numbered 14,648 weighing 1,922,138 pounds. The average weight of each man was 154.02. The average weight of each woman was 130.87. The average weight of 141 men from Ohio was 157.35; the average weight of 179 women was 133.23. The average weight of 124 men from Southern Indiana and Illinois was 158.63 pounds. The average weight of 114 men from Kentucky was 158.82 pounds; the average weight of 188 women was 133.76.

Bridgwater.
Accident.—Two men named Shelby and Patrick Kaboe, Jr., met with an accident on Friday while blasting asbestos at Bridgewater. The shot suddenly went off, wounding Shelby slightly, and burning Kaboe badly in the face, destroying one of his eyes.

You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

Advice to Mothers.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Dr. Winslow's Sucking Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve your poor sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no medicine about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Sucking Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

HARVEY.
COUNCIL MEETING.—The Harvey Council met at the Town Hall, June 4th. All present. On motion the members formed a Court of Revision, only three appeals, 1st. Wm. Kelso, assessment reduced fifty dollars, 2nd. H. Lefevre, assessment confirmed, and 3rd. David H. Montgomery was entered for two village lots formerly owned by Wm. Copeland. The roll, as revised, was finally passed. Court arose and the members resumed in Council. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Charles McIlroy was authorized to procure a road scraper and one stone hammer, Joseph Brodie, one road scraper, James Hicks, one road scraper and two stone hammers for Brookborn road. The following items were passed, and orders drawn on the Treasurer for payment:—Joseph Brodie, road com. for 1883 $14 75 James Hickson, P. L. Surveyor 18 00 Narcisse Feeley and others, helping surveyor 25 75 Ralph Murdoch, for land taken for road 30 00 William Irwin, salary as Collector, 1883 60 00

Appropriations for roads: $300 for roads in North Harvey; $200 in South Harvey; and $80 on the government road in West Harvey. Jas. Goodenough, Joseph Brodie and William Bennett were appointed as road commissioners to expend the same by contract. The Council adjourned to meet at Lark Hall on the third Monday in August.

The Extinction of Fire by Steam.
The frequently proposed application of steam for the extinction of fire has recently met with a practical application in a steel-pan manufactory in Berlin. The owner of the factory, in consequence of frequent conflagrations in the drying rooms for wooden penholders, had three small steam pipes, in connection with the steam boiler of the establishment, fixed in three such rooms. The ends of the pipes were closed by a short piece of pipe, made of an alloy of lead and tin, which would quickly melt should fire break out, when steam would at once rush out. To prevent the steam inside the pipes from hindering the melting of the ends, the latter were filled with resin. Quite recently the stoker was warned by a hissing noise that fire had again broken out in one of the drying rooms, and when it was entered it was found that much was the case, but that only a small portion of the contents had been destroyed. The other combustible materials in the room, frames, walls, and floors, were found to be only saturated with the condensed steam, a portion of the penholders still smouldering. The heat caused by the breaking out of the fire had melted the ends of the pipes, and thus caused the heat of escape, which had extinguished the conflagration at its commencement without the intervention of a hand of man. It is probable that this ingenious and valuable contrivance, which is especially suited for large factories or stores, will find a wide application in the near future.

Important to Lumber Shippers.
A joint circular signed by the general freight agents of the Ontario roads has been issued, giving special direction about the shipment of lumber. All cars may be loaded to their full capacity at carload rates, any excess over that up to 2,000 pounds will be charged pro rata, but if the excess be over 2,000 pounds the whole of the overload will be charged for at fourth-class freight rates, and the companies reserve the right to remove the overweight at the expense of the owner. Forty-eight hours will be allowed in which to unload cars after their arrival in yards, after which time consignees at the place of destination will be required to pay demurrage charges. When cars are ordered to the Toronto esplanade twenty-four hours will be allowed from the time the car is placed on the switch, and as there is no room on the esplanade the consignees will be required to unload from yard sidings within forty-eight hours after arrival.

Two-Horse Load of Tooth-Picks Daily.
Where do the tooth-picks come from? A Maine newspaper states that the little town of Seboc, at the outlet of Seboc Lake, Piscataquis County, in the interior, has one of the best waterpowers in the state, but has never been fully developed. A tooth-pick factory there is doing a large business, using over a thousand cords of poplar and birch wood annually, turning out a two-horse load of tooth-picks daily, and employing from 12 to 15 girls and 8 or 10 men. A private letter from the place states that the newspaper omitted that the tooth-pick mill gives employment to as many girls as can afford to pick a hundred boxes for twenty-five cents, and feed themselves. This seems very small wages for women, but bared in the cheaper there than in the city, and probably many of them board at home, and would be unable to earn as much otherwise.

A Good Wager.
The "Greendale oak" in Welbeck Park is called "the Methuselah of trees," and writing of it in 1790, in his "Description and Sketches of Remarkable Oaks in Welbeck," Maj. R. H. Crooke said the tree was then about to be 700 years old. In 1774 an opening was made in this oak large enough to allow a carriage, or three horsemen abreast, to pass through it. At that time the girth of the ancient tree above the arch was nearly 35 feet, the height of the arch was 11 feet, and the topmost branches were 54 feet from the ground. On the estate the story is told that a former Duke of Portland, in an after-dinner frolic, made a bet of 1,000 guineas that he could drive a coach and six through the body of the tree without touching the bark, and that he accomplished the feat and won the guineas.

A Railway Made War Impending.
No out in rates between Chicago and New York has been announced as yet as a result of the shortened time by the Michigan Southern and the removal of its through trains from the Great Western to the Canada Southern, which went into effect to-day, but rumors are rife of a rate war impending, with a promise that it will assume large proportions.

Mr. Wm. Payne, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddou, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

A VOICE FROM THE UNITED STATES.—I have suffered for the last twenty years with Dyspepsia and General Debility, and tried many remedies, but with little success until I used Burdock Blood Bitters when relief was quick and permanent. A. LOUGER, Alpena, Michigan, U. S.

WHAT EVERY PERSON SHOULD KNOW.—The grand outline of disease from the system are the Skin, the Bowels, and the Kidneys. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most safe, pleasant, and efficacious purifier and health-restoring tonic in the world. Trial bottles 10 cents.

STILL SLANDERING.

The Globe of Saturday has a long editorial repeating in separate paragraphs its old slanders, which, though reiterated over and over again, its party, and especially its leader Mr. Blake, utterly ignored in the House as being too mendacious even to point a period, to say nothing of founding a formal accusation upon them, but then we know that Mr. Blake thinks that it is of little consequence what is in a Globe editorial, for he told us so, afterwards, in reply to the cheers this opinion called forth, making his assertion more general.

Then the Globe proceeds with its new string of slanders, though each has been refuted by persons who are well informed, and most of them have not yet been ignored by Parliament, but they have been invented and circulated by these cowardly slanders as soon as possible after the propagation, so as to have the longest time to spread them before the next session shows their hollowness and the unwillingness of the party leaders to father such vile and foundationless imputations.

The Toronto Telegram, which generally shows its independence by attacks on all sides, says that if the case is taken into court "one good Grit on the jury would settle the business so far as the paper was concerned." Now if by "Grit" is meant a supporter of Mr. Blake and Mr. Mowat, we must say that we do not believe this libel upon them generally. But it certainly looks as if the Globe had sufficient confidence in its own disgraceful assertion, "The people will believe anything of this government," to believe that it can poison the minds of a sufficient number by the constant repetition of its falsehoods to render itself safe by the presence in the box of some jurymen that it has itself prejudiced. If this is not its calculation it is at all events endeavouring to prejudice the minds of the Grand Jury, the people of Canada.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THAT the Dominion administration has pledged itself over and over again to open the Trent Valley Navigation, is well known to all of our readers, but as there are carrying parties, who, being disgusted at the credit gained by the Macdonald Ministry by their adoption of this important improvement, venture to doubt their good faith, it is well to give additional evidence of their determination to construct the Trent Valley Canal. At a meeting of the Trenton Town Council on June 4th, Mr. John White, M. P., being invited to speak, said, among other things—

"As to the Murray Canal it will be built, and Sir Charles declared to him sitting in his parlour, that he intended to complete the Trent Valley Canal and ride over the route in one of its boats. The Messrs. Gilmore have asked for the privilege of building a dam across the river. Sir Charles Tupper sent his engineer to examine and report on the application whether it would be a good idea to build the dam or not. If it does above the bridge he thought the privilege would not be granted, but if it sits below the bridge could be found suitable he was sure it would be granted."

This is taken from the report, not of a "Tory organ," but of the Trenton Courier, a staunch Reform paper, which in the same issue has the usual editorial about Conservative corruption. The Trent Valley Canal will be constructed by the Dominion Government and will be completed at no distant date in spite of all that its opponents can say.

We have republished from the Trenton Falls Gazette its account of the progress of the works at that village for the Trent Valley Canal navigation, which does not look as if it was being suspended. Though such a strong Reform journal, our contemporary does not believe in obstructing a valuable improvement, because it is being effected by political opponents. It is carrying out loyally its own advice, given some time ago, which ran as follows—

"We are a loyal people, and love our country, let us—let the two countries more particularly interested—drop all party politics, and have 'Trent Valley Canal' only for our cry, until our cherished scheme is fully realized."

It is precisely because it is such a cherished scheme and because it will be so beneficial to the country that our local Reform organ is always doing all in its power (fortunately very little) to obstruct its progress, fearing that the people may be grateful for such an improvement, and mortally dreading any benefit that may make the Macdonald Government more popular. It is precisely because it would be successful and so welcome that the Macdonald opposes it.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

A LONG SESSION AND A GREAT DEAL OF DISCUSSION.

Buildings and Improvements on the Market Square—Street Watering—Railway Crossings and Sidings—The Cow By-Law to be Enforced—The Dominion Day Celebration—Communications, etc.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

PRESIDENT.—Councillor Menzies, Acting Mayor, (in the chair), and Councillors Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Yelland, Douglas, Denne, McNaughton, and Rutherford.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. Clouston and ninety-five others, requesting the Council to grant $300 to assist in celebrating Dominion Day.—Mr. T. Rutherford, chief of the Fire Brigade, was heard, and the petition was received.

From W. H. Moore and twenty others, asking for street improvements on Bethune Street.—Street and Bridge Committee.

From Wm. Yelland, asking for a siding.—Received.

From Douglas & Logan, enclosing an account for $60 for a wagon.—Ordered to be paid.

From Wm. Cumming, asking for an increase of salary as Collector.—Committee on Appointments.

THE MARKET.

Councillor SAWERS read the report of the Market Committee, which reported:—

That the Town Trust Commissioners agreed to make any improvements the Council might wish to have made on the market and they requested the Committee to have plans drawn and approved of by the Council. Your Committee have obtained the necessary plans, which they approve of and recommend.

Your Committee beg also to recommend that the hay and other scales be removed from their present position and placed at the north side of the market house.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. W. SAWERS,
Chairman.

Councillor SAWERS said that it was proposed to erect a building 44 by 46 feet, reaching towards the lane which ran past Mr. Flavell's. It would be a wooden one, one story high and with a cottage roof, with tables inside. He moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, that the report be received and adopted, and that the Commissioners be requested to have the market improved according to the plans of Mr. Belcher; also that the hay and other scales be removed to the north side of the building.

Councillor CAHILL said that he considered this one of the most important matters that had come before the Council this year—in fact for some years. He did not pretend to set up his opinion against that of the Committee, who no doubt had considered the matter fully and fairly. He said that he had given the matter a great deal of thought for the last two or three years, and had frequently spoken about it, as the Council were aware. He was desirous of having the market accommodation the best that could be desired, and was anxious to do anything in his power to make it so. He did not think the plan proposed by the Committee was the best for that purpose. By extending the present market building as was proposed, towards the east end of the square, it would cut the present market square into two, which was not at all desirable. It would be much better to have the square in one large plot. His idea was that the object, which he believed they all had in view, making the market as it should be, could be best accomplished by extending the present building north and south on a line with Water street, and if necessary, pull down a portion of the west end of the present building in order that the whole building may be uniform and the market square more convenient for use, both north and south. The police cells also required consideration, and by the plan he proposed a look-out could be provided for in the north end of the building.

Councillor DOUGLAS did not wish to press the matter to-night.

Councillor PATTERSON said that to carry out Councillor Cahill's suggestions would be a great improvement, but it would be very expensive. It would be a great accommodation to have the platform covered by a roof, and moving the scales would greatly improve the square.

Councillor McNAUGHTON compared the improvements to a cook-house. They should make a good job of it or none at all.

Councillor DENNE said that, according to an act passed by the Provincial Legislature, it was their duty to do something, as if he read the law right the farmers need not pay toll now. If it was intended to use the present square for a market ground the plan proposed he considered a good one, and he favored taking action to-night.

Councillor SAWERS said that the roof over the platform would cost about $1,600.

Councillor KELLY favored taking more time to consider the question, and having plans drawn according to Councillor Cahill's suggestions.

Councillor DOUGLAS thought the plan proposed was the most economical one.

Councillor RUTHERFORD criticized the plans now submitted. He was satisfied that it would cost between $3,000 and $4,000 to carry them out.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the matter be left over until the next meeting of the Council, the Committee to get plans drawn for extending the market building along Water street, and also that provision be made for a look-out.

The amendment was agreed to and Councillor Cahill was added to the Committee.

STREET WATERING.

Councillor PATTERSON moved the resolution of which Councillor Davidson had given notice, namely that the offer of the Water Company to give the use of the hydrants for street watering purposes for $40 a month, be accepted for one month, to be paid for by local taxation.

The CLERK said that no proposition had been received from the Water Company.

Councillor RUTHERFORD urged the adoption of the motion, and said that the street watering should be paid for by a general tax, as the town's team did the work. If George street should be destroyed by fire it would be a great many years before it would be built up in the same way again. The people should procure the use of the hydrants for fire purposes; the Council's hands were tied, as they had to go according to the By-law they had adopted.

Councillor SAWERS said that by next Monday night a petition would be presented from the property owners on George street for taking the hydrants for fire and street watering purposes.

Councillor McNAUGHTON warned Councillor Rutherford that he would try and bring about his defeat at the next election, and asked him not to forget what he had just said.

It was agreed to allow the matter to stand until the next meeting.

RAILWAYS AND PROPERTY OWNERS.

Councillor SAWERS moved, seconded by Councillor PATTERSON,—That all property owners in the vicinity of the railways now in course of construction, who deem their properties injured by the location of grades of the railways, be requested to send their names and a description of the manner in which they consider their properties injured to the Council, so that their interests may be protected as far as possible.

Councillor SAWERS said that the Ontario and Quebec Railway would raise George street five feet and lower Ayler street to about the same extent, and this would depreciate the value of property on these streets for two blocks. Some people had an idea that railways could do anything they wished, and it would be well to let them know that this was not the case.

Councillor DENNE said that if a person's property was injured they had a remedy. Nothing should be done to hinder the construction of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, as an opposition line was greatly needed.

Councillor SAWERS did not wish to put anything in the way of the railway, but it should not be bonused by the people living along the line.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that Mr. Kingan had received no compensation yet.

Councillor McNAUGHTON referred to the deep cuttings on the Ontario and Quebec line.

Councillor CAHILL said that nothing would be accomplished by the resolution. This Council, as a corporation, should do nothing that could be construed into opposition to this road. Private individuals should not suffer, but a resolution of this kind would do no good.

Councillor RUTHERFORD did not understand why the Town Engineer had not reported on the plans referred to him.

Councillor KELLY did not see that the Council had any right to take such action as this resolution proposed. If any person had a complaint they would soon make them without being invited to do so. The fact that the grade would raise George street would be a benefit to the street.

Councillor CAHILL—the resolution gives no sympathy to those who suffer where railways are now constructed.

Councillor DOUGLAS approved of the motion.

Councillor YELLAND also believed that the grade on George street would be a benefit. It was not the business of the Council to attend to the private business of individuals.

The motion was put and declared carried, and the yeas and nays were called for and taken as follows:—

YEAS.—Councillors Paterson, Sawers, Douglas and Rutherford.

NAYS.—Councillors Cahill, Kelly, Yelland and Denne.

Councillor McNAUGHTON had left his seat for a moment, but returned and said he voted yes, but as he was not in his seat when his name was called, the Acting Mayor ruled that the vote could not be recorded, and declared the motion lost amid great confusion.

THE COW BY-LAW.

A motion to go into Committee of the Whole on Appointments was carried, and Councillor KELLY took the chair.

Councillor PATTERSON moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That the Cow By-law be strictly enforced by Constables and Police, who shall be granted $50 each for procuring assistance, and that the Acting Mayor and the Chief Constable obtain two suitable pounds, one in the north and the other in the south part of the town.

Councillor RUTHERFORD thought that it would be better to fine the owners of stray cattle, yet he would not oppose the motion.

Councillor CAHILL raised the point of order that the motion required notice, but the Council granted leave to introduce it.

Councillor McNAUGHTON moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON,—That one month's notice be given that this Council intend to enforce the by-law.

Councillor PATTERSON added to his motion that it be enforced in one week, and that the clerk have posters printed and put up giving notice of the action of the Council. The motion was then carried and the Committee rose and reported.

Councillor CAHILL again moved his amendment, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON,—That one month's notice be given.

Councillor McNAUGHTON argued in favour of the amendment.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that seven months' notice had already been given.

The amendment was put and lost, and the motion was carried by following division:—

YEAS.—Councillors Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford and Denne.

NAYS.—Councillors Cahill and McNaughton.

DOMINION DAY.

Councillor PATTERSON moved, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the Bazaar be granted $100 to assist in the celebration of Dominion Day.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said he opposed the motion with reluctance. He did not think the Council had a legal right to spend money in this manner. He would not grant money to the bazaar or to any other body.

Councillor YELLAND agreed with Councillor Rutherford.

Councillor RUTHERFORD raised the point of order that the motion involved an expenditure of money and required notice, and it was allowed to stand as a notice of motion.

RAILWAY SIDINGS.

The petition of Mr. Yelland for permission to lay a siding was taken up.

Councillor DOUGLAS moved, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the Midland Railway be not allowed to put in a switch until they have first settled with the property owners who may be injured thereby.

After some discussion.

Councillor CAHILL moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor PATTERSON,—That the application of Mr. Yelland for a siding be referred to a special committee to see if some statement could not be arrived at between the interested parties and the railway which would be satisfactory to all parties, the committee to consist of Councillors Paterson, Kelly, Denne, McNaughton and Sawers, the last named to be chairman.

The amendment was carried on a division.

The Council then adjourned at eleven o'clock for one week.

A SERMON IN REVIEW.

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes, and let him know
That you love him as life-saving
Things his brow with sunset glow;
Why should good words not be said
Of a friend—let him be told.

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sing by any child of song,
Praise him. Do not let the singer
Wait for praise from the throng;
Why should one that has sung his heart
Lack that joy that may impart?

If you hear a prayer that moves you
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join in. Do not let the speaker
Bore before his God alone;
Why should one that has prayed his share
The strength of "two or three" in prayer?

If you see the hot tears falling
From a loving brother's eyes,
Share them. Do not let the sharer
Own your kinship with the skies.
Why should any one be glad,
When his brother's heart is sad?

If a silver laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine on his face,
Share it. Do not let the sharer
Own your kinship with the skies.
Why should any one be glad,
When his brother's heart is sad?

If your work is made more easy
By a friendly, helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly,
Are the darkness left the land.
Should a brother workman dare
Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching and all true,
Leave them, trust the Harvest-Owner;
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until the happy day of reaping,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

CURRENT TOPICS AND EVENTS.

THE CHURCHES OF THE UNION MOVEMENT.
Upon the Annual Conference now about to meet rests the gravest responsibility. Their action shall decide whether the present earnest effort to secure Methodist Union in Canada shall be a success or shall be a failure. Already the Quarterly Meetings throughout the entire connexion have pronounced by an overwhelming majority—nearly ten to one—in favour of union upon the proposed basis. Will the Conference block this movement? We sincerely hope they will not. If they do, on what grounds will they justify their act before the Christian community of this land and of other lands? As one of the most thoughtful minds in our Church has said, "We may feel assured that no plan can be suggested against which some objections will not exist and be strongly urged, especially by men who look on little questions of official precedence as of more moment than a United Methodistism." Will such questions of official precedence justify the rejection of this measure? Will the proposed presence of laymen in the Annual Conference, or the proposed proportion of laymen, or the alleged difficulty of billeting the Conference justify its rejection? Will any technical objections to the mode in which the overwhelming expression of opinion of the laity of the Church has been ascertained justify its rejection? Yet it seems to us that most of the objections alleged against it fall under one or other of these heads.

And if this basis be rejected, are we likely to have one that will be more acceptable to the contracting parties? If the concessions of the other parties to the basis be rejected are they likely to offer more?—are they likely to offer as much again? If the present auspicious opportunity be allowed to pass, what ground have we to hope that one more favourable—or as favourable—will ever again occur? Shall we run the risk of perpetuating for all time in this land a divided Methodistism, with its rivalries its estrangements, its waste of power, when we might consolidate our resources at home and carry augmented strength into mission work abroad? Are the opponents of this measure, however sincere and honest in their convictions, willing to go down to posterity as having thwarted such a widely and strongly expressed desire for the unification of Canadian Methodistism? Is there not greater danger in the rejection of the basis than in its acceptance? Will not the operations of the Church be paralyzed and all its interests imperiled by refusal to comply with the solemnly recorded verdict of nearly nine-tenths of the Quarterly Official Boards?

When every Methodist paper in Christendom, so far as we know, and we see the most of them, has strongly recommended this movement, and when most of the great secular papers, both at home and abroad, have expressed their hearty sympathy with it, we shall not, we hope, be condemned for expressing in these pages the intense convictions of our soul. With the light that we have, be it little or much, and with the best thought that we can give to the subject, we record our solemn belief that it would be the greatest disaster which ever befall Methodistism in this land if the proposed basis of union should be rejected. In it not time that the waste of men and money required to keep Canadian Methodistism apart should count?

The cause of Christendom is upon us. Methodistism at the Antipodes is watching our acts in the hope that we may present an example for imitation in those far-off lands. We may give an impetus to Methodistism in New Zealand, in Tasmania, in Australia, or even in Old England herself—the mother of us all—or we may declare that our differences are irreconcilable and so weaken the hands of the friends of union throughout the world.

Even the Conservative old Methodist Recorder (London, England) writes thus on the subject:—

"Methodism shares with Presbyterianism the honor of having been the first to carry the new spirit of conciliation and brotherhood into definite practice. The Primitive Wesleyans of Ireland have united with the Irish branch of our own communion, to the immense advantage of all concerned. There has already been a most important amalgamation of Methodist Churches in Canada, and now, there is an actual prospect, in that great Dominion of the most important Methodist re-union that the world has yet seen. The various sections of the English and the American Methodist Churches in Canada have provisionally agreed to a scheme of union that will consolidate them all into one mighty Church, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. Even the question of the episcopacy has not been found to be an insuperable difficulty. An ingenious and rational compromise has brought Canadian union within the range of practical ecclesiastical policy.

Are there—in view of the vast interests, extending through all time and through all eternity which are involved—are there reasons which will justify the disappointment of these expectations abroad, or of the high hopes and ardent prayers of the multitudes at home?

The Recorder goes on to argue in favour of Methodist union in the motherland and says:—"One thing is certain: At present Methodistism in small towns, and above all in villages, is most painfully crippled and even paralyzed by the existence of two, and sometimes even more, Methodist churches where only one could really flourish. It is certain that at a time when superstitious and infidelity are making immense efforts Methodistism ought to present a united front to both foes and do her utmost to remove any removable cause of internal weakness. Thoughtful Christian men of all the Methodist communions could not give their attention too earnestly or too prayerfully to this momentous subject. If these words be true of Methodistism and the crowded populations with a narrow area of Great Britain, they apply with ten-fold force to the scattered villages of Old Canada, and with a hundred-fold force to the sparse population of the New Canada of the great North-West.

As an illustration of the estimate which is formed by impartial observers of the objections to union which to some among us appear as insuperable, we quote the following paragraph from the Western Christian Advocate, of Macon, Georgia:—"We have been struck with one fact, viz: the more hotly a few persons among them have contended for the impracticability of union, the smaller have appeared the reasons against it. It is possible for parties to a controversy to magnify differences which seem small to disinterested persons at a distance."

Perhaps after the lapse of a few years, or from the vantage ground of the future life, we may look back with similar surprise to the reasons which are urged to keep the Methodists of Canada apart.—Canadian Methodist Magazine.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it indicates that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind promises profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Who Wants to Take Part?
All who desire to take part in the procession on Dominion Day, whether young or of mature years, are requested to report themselves at the Freeman's Hall this evening, or as soon as they conveniently can. Now is the time to take right hold of it, and make the celebration a great success.

Lacrosse on Dominion Day.
The Peterborough Lacrosse Club has arranged a match with the Victoria, of Toronto, to be played here on Dominion Day. The Victoria send a strong and skilful team to the field, and one of the best matches ever played in Peterborough—if not the best—may be expected.

Picnic at Bridgforth.
On Thursday, June 21st, a picnic will be held at Bridgforth under the auspices of the people of Peterborough. Buses will leave all the hotels for the grounds in the morning. According to the programme, a day of enjoyment may be confidently anticipated, as the bill of fare includes canoe races, between whites and Indians, a lacrosse match and a foot ball match, besides other sports, and the brass band from the Indian Village will be present to enliven the proceedings and enhance the pleasure by their music.

Railway Notes.
The noon Midland train was over half an hour late to-day. It was delayed by the Grand Trunk Express, which was behind time.
The Grand Junction train was an hour and a half late.

The Toronto Globe says:
"A conference between Mr. Cox, General Manager of the Midland Railway, and a committee of the Town Council of Whitby is expected to take place at an early day. Whitby took stock and gave business to the amount of $100,000 in the Midland on the understanding that the works of the W. F. & L. R. Company would be located in Whitby."

The Methodist Conference.
A number of Methodist clergymen arrived on the noon Midland train to attend the session of the Toronto Conference, which meets at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, in the George Street Church. Several more came on the Grand Junction train.

Although the Stationing Committee transacts its business in private, we learn that they have decided that the Rev. John Shaw, and the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., shall remain in Peterborough next year, that the Rev. N. R. Willoughby will go to Whitby, the Rev. J. E. Starr to Newmarket, and the Rev. C. Fish to Young Street South. The Rev. E. B. Harper, D. D., will remain at his last year's field of labour for another year.

POLICE COURT.

THE LICENCE LAW.

TUESDAY, June 12.—Joseph Crevier was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having sold liquor on the evening of Sunday last.

Mr. O'Meara appeared for the prisoner, and entered a plea of not guilty.

P. C. PIDGEON testified to having heard persons in the bar-room and money jingling in the bar-room.

P. C. ADAMS also testified to hearing persons in the bar-room.

Jos. CREVIER was called. The Magistrate asked him if he sold liquor on Sunday, but he declined to answer.

The case was enlarged until Wednesday morning in order that some witnesses who had been subpoenaed might be brought.

REMOVING A TREE.

A case for removing a tree from Rubidge street, between McDonnell and London streets, was dismissed, as it was shown that the tree was a dead one, and considered dangerous.

Buttons and Tie Shoes.

Y. M. C. A.

The Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association have instructed the Executive Committee to procure them a permanent secretary. This official will give his full time to the work of the Association, and its promoters have now high hopes of the success and usefulness of the Association.

Jersey Cows.

For butter and rich milk there is nothing better than a cow with a Jersey. It is said the half breed possesses three fourths of the butter qualities of the full-bred Jersey. We are glad that a Jersey bull is kept near the town. Half breeds of this kind fetch very high prices for town cows, where the quality of the milk is a great object.

Good Templars.

There are now three Good Templar Lodges in Peterborough, but the members of Peterborough and Friendship lodges, believing that "unity is strength," are about to unite under one charter. A movement towards this end was started some time ago, and as both lodges have pronounced in favour of the union, it will probably soon be consummated.

The Weather.

There was a shower of rain this morning. To-day is warmer and partly cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south to east winds; fair to cloudy weather, with local rains and thunder storms.

Matriculation Examinations.

Peterborough has been selected as one of the places in which the Matriculation Examinations will be held in connection with Queen's University, Kingston. It was first advertised that the examinations would be held in Lindsay, but as Peterborough is becoming a centre of education and as there are so many candidates from here, the place was changed. The examinations will commence on the 26th of June.

Personal.

Among those registered at the Calross House are the Rev. E. H. Dewar, D. D., editor of the Christian Guardian, and Mr. Preston, of the Port Hope News.

Among the names on the Oriental Hotel register are those of Mr. J. M. Ferris, of Campbellford, M. P. P. for East Northumberland, and Mr. J. Davis Barnett, of Port Hope, Mechanical Superintendent of the Midland Railway.

Council Notes.

There appears to be plenty of business for the Council to attend to these times. After an interval of two weeks since the last meeting they sat until eleven o'clock last night, and adjourned for one week. The meeting, however, was more harmonious than their sessions have been lately.

A man in the audience several times interrupted Councilors while speaking, and at last he had the impudence to shout to one Councilor to "sit down." This was more than even a Councilor could bear, and the police being asked to interfere he made no more disturbance although allowed to remain in the room.

The Council last night took action on the Cow By-law, and instructed the police to enforce its provisions, commencing next week. Cattle that are wise will now remain near one place during this week, and gradually become accustomed to the restraint of a pasture field.

The plans for improving the market, submitted to the Council last night by the Market Committee, to whom the matter was referred, included the erection of an addition 44 x 46 feet, one story high, to the western end of the present market building; the building of a shed or roof over the platform from the southern side of the market building to George street, and the removal of the scales to the north side of the building. The new building would be of wood, and the roof over the walk would extend eleven feet on each side. Councilor Cahill ventilated another plan, and the question was again referred to the Committee.

Killed by an Express Train.
Mr. John Lahey, an old and respected resident of Dundas, was engaged talking with a man at the Grand Trunk station there on Thursday morning close to the main line, when the St. Louis express came along very rapidly. Becoming confused, he got foul of the track, and was instantly thrown by the locomotive through the fence and his lifeless body rolled down the embankment to the road below, a distance of about one hundred feet.

Convincing Proof.

Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & Co.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvements have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

WE HARP ON THIS:
The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

OUR Gents' Furnishing Department.

READ! READ!

If there be any attraction in good Goods, at low prices, we should sell all the Gents' Furnishing Goods that will be sold in Peterborough this week. We wish particularly to impress on the minds of our patrons that the low prices named in this department are not for old Goods and the undesirable remnants of last season's stock but ARE NEW AND FRESH GOODS.

Such Amazingly Low Prices.

The simple fact that we shall sell as good Furnishing Goods as are made for much less than their real value, is a truth that should interest you without any why and wherefore. It is an absolute fact.

Now Read the Printed Prices.

Then come and see in every instance you will find the Goods of the quality described and the prices named. We must sell these Goods and the prices we have decided to mark them at are bound to sell them more rapidly.

THE ELECTION PETITIONS.
The Mail announces that a meeting of the Judges of the High Court of Justice was held on Monday at Osgoode Hall, when it was arranged that the trial of nine of the Provincial election petitions should take place in vacation, in the following manner: Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Cameron will take the East Northumberland petition at Cobourg, on the third of July; and South Renfrew, at Pembroke, on the tenth of July; and North Renfrew, at Pembroke, on the thirteenth of July. Justices Burton and Osler will take the North Ontario at Whitby, on the third of July; the South Westworth, at Hamilton, on the ninth of July; and the West Hastings, at Belleville, on the seventeenth of July. Justices Patterson and Ferguson will take the Welland, at Welland, on the third of July; the South Victoria, at Lindsay, on the ninth of July; and the Halton, at Milton, on the sixteenth of July.

We will soon see by sworn evidence in the Courts, and not by vague declamations, who have spent money corruptly to influence the electors.

FIRE ALARMS.
To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As a ratepayer of this municipality, and one deeply interested in the welfare of our thriving town, I beg to ask an explanation of a feat of engineering skill which perplexes me greatly. Fire-bells have been erected in each ward ostensibly to fill the want of alarm-power. Now, if the central bell cannot be heard at a distance of one-half mile from the centre of the town (and on a windy night it cannot be heard), how can the bells applied to the firemen and engineers of a fire in the suburbs? I guess that the ward bells are sufficiently unsightly to alarm most people, but for protection I contend they are entirely useless.

Yours, &c.,
CITIZEN.

A Chapter of Accidents.
A telegram from Portage La Prairie, Man., states that Saturday evening the horse attached to a buggy driven by two disreputable women became unmanageable and ran away. One woman was thrown out and badly injured. The other, who hailed from Belleville, died from the effects of lacerations taken before starting out for the drive. Wm. Cleaver's little daughter, three years of age, was run over by the same horse and died at midnight, and a second daughter of Cleaver's met with a similar fate.

The Conference.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

The Opening of the Meeting—An Hour Spent in Prayer—The Election of Officers and Votes of Thanks.

The annual meeting of the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada was opened in the George Street Methodist Church at 9 o'clock this morning. There was about one hundred and seventy-five ministers in attendance, from the various districts of Ontario and the West, and one, the Rev. C. M. Tate, from the mission field of British Columbia.

The Rev. A. Sutherland, D. D., President of the Conference, took the chair, and the members of the Conference engaged in prayer for one hour. The petitions offered by the different clergymen who led the Conference in these devotional exercises were earnest and breathed the spirit of true piety, and Divine guidance was implored during the deliberations of the Conference.

After this exercise the roll of members was called, and the business of the session was entered upon, the first being the

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The ballot was passed for the election of President, and the vote stood as follows:—The Rev. G. Cochran, D. D., 94; the Rev. E. H. Dewar, D. D., 80; necessary for choice, 83. The Rev. Dr. Cochran was, therefore, elected, and invited to the platform.

The Rev. Dr. SUTHERLAND introduced the President-elect in a few well chosen and eloquent remarks, paying a high tribute to his services to the church.

The Rev. Dr. COCHRAN thanked the brethren most heartily for the honor they had conferred upon him, and to the confidence and good will to him expressed by the vote. He had no doubt that he would have the prayers, sympathies and cordial support of all the members of the Conference in discharging his duties. He was their servant—the servant of the church. The Conference had commenced auspiciously by a meeting for prayer, and the Spirit of the Lord had rested upon them, and he prayed that it would rest upon them during the session. It was not for him to anticipate the business of the session. He had been found some thirty years ago by one of their missionaries in the backwoods, and he had been connected with the Conference for thirty years. He had received many appointments, and he had never felt that he had reason to complain. He would rather choose the quiet paths, but he was loyal to the church and loved the brotherhood, and he was willing to serve them wherever they wished him to do so. He again returned them his hearty thanks.

The Rev. J. S. Clarke was elected Secretary of the Conference, the Rev. E. Barras, M. A., Journal Secretary, and the Rev. W. H. Emaley and the Rev. R. N. Burns, B. A., Assistant Secretaries.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED.
A resolution that a telegram of sympathy be sent by the conference to the Rev. T. S. Keough, who was bereaved by the death of his wife, was carried unanimously.

VOTES OF THANKS.
The Rev. Dr. Harper moved, and the Rev. J. S. Lind seconded, a vote of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the retiring President, which was carried.

The Rev. Dr. Sutherland responded briefly, remarking that there was no position in the Church of Christ higher than that of pastor, which was one of responsibility, of dignity and influence, and which should be prized most highly. He had not felt elevated when elected to the position of President, and he did not feel lowered when he now stepped down from that position. He again returned thanks for the vote.

A vote of thanks was also tendered to the Rev. W. H. Laird, the retiring secretary, for the manner in which he had discharged the duties of the office.

The Rev. Mr. Laird briefly returned thanks for this expression of their appreciation of his services.

The hours of the session were fixed as follows:—In the forenoon from 9 o'clock to 12, and in the afternoon from 2 to 5.30.

EXAMINATION OF CHARACTER.
The question of examination of character was then taken up and completed.

THE PRESIDENT, at the conclusion of the examination, said that it was a cause for thankfulness to God that there was no objection taken to any member of the Conference.

"GOD SAVE THE QUEEN."
A resolution was moved and seconded that the sympathy of the Conference be extended to Her Majesty the Queen in her present state of health. The resolution was carried unanimously, and all joined heartily in singing "God Save the Queen."

The Conference then adjourned at 12 o'clock.

Never Give Up.
If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the power of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

Mr. Wm. PAYNE, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheldon, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

THE GERMAN REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, June 12.—In the German Reichstag to-day the budget for 1884-85 passed its third reading without amendment. Herr von Bötticher, Secretary of State, of the Imperial office of the Interior, then read a decree declaring the session closed.

A DETECTIVE REWARDED.
LONDON, June 12.—The Government had awarded one thousand pounds to Detective Mallon for his services in connection with the Phoenix park murders.

A REPORTED RAID.
LONDON, June 12.—It is reported that a raid was made in Hackney last night by the police in search of explosives. It is not known whether they discovered any. No arrests are announced.

NO POISON FOUND.
LONDON, June 12.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Trevelyan stated that the body of the Dublin hotel-keeper whose death it was reported was caused by poison administered by the Irishmen, had been exhumed, and that no traces of poison had been discovered. He also stated that Peter Tynan (Number One) had boasted after the death of the man that he had poisoned him, and no doubt this was generally believed among the Irishmen.

AN ARREST.
QUEENSTOWN, June 12.—A man named Sweeney has been arrested charged with complicity in the murder of Lord Mountmorris at Rathfriland, near Clonbur, Galway on September 15th, 1880. Sweeney had taken passage for New York by the steamer which leaves Queenstown to-morrow. The prisoner recently left Conn. county Mayo, abruptly, and an inquiry into his disappearance was ordered under the Crimes Act.

SENTENCES COMMUTED.
ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—The Czar has commuted the death sentence of the nihilists Bogachovitch, Telaloff and Bontsevitch to penal servitude for an indefinite period. He reduced the life sentences of Stefanovich to eight years penal servitude, and the sentences of the women, Liofskaya and Pribylova to four years. He also mitigated the sentences of three others.

DYNAMITE TRIALS.
LONDON, June 12.—In the trial of the dynamite conspirators it was testified that after Ansbury was arrested he was asked to give an account of himself, and told that if he refused he would have himself to blame for anything which happened to him. He thereupon said he came from America. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge expressed the opinion that as the prisoner was not provided with counsel no statement elicited from him by threat or promise could be received against him.

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.
LONDON, June 12.—Fruit states that the Queen has quite recovered from the injury to her knee. Depression of her spirits, however, said to cause some anxiety, owing to its influence on her general health. Arrangements for the Queen's departure from Scotland on the 20th inst. are being made.

FRANCE AND CHINA.
It is officially announced that the negotiations between France and China are progressing favorably.

A MISSIONARY ABOARD.
CAIRO, June 12.—Some excitement was caused here by the conversion of a young Mohammedan by an American missionary. Arab fanatics attempted to maltreat the convert, but the British Consul-General intervened and protected him. He will probably be sent to Cyprus for safety.

AN ATTACK FEARED.
TUOSON, June 12.—It is feared here that a number of hostiles are endeavouring to work their way back to the San Carlos reservation, and will attack the settlers when they learn that they will not be allowed to enter the reservation.

RAILWAY SHOPS DESTROYED.
MIDDLETOWN, N.Y., June 12.—The shops of the Erie railway here were burned last night. The buildings were totally destroyed, and the machinery damaged badly. The firemen saved the freight house and the Taylor house and the large stables adjoining. The passenger cars were pulled away from the fire.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1883.

BRANDED ITSELF.

The Globe says, "The Peterborough Review impudently wants an authority for the statement that 'Sir Hugh Allan paid to the Conservative leaders, or to anyone in their behalf, $800,000, or any similar sum for election purposes.'"

Well, we had impudence enough to ask the Globe for its authority for its repeated false statement; we had the impudence also to state that we did not expect a straightforward and honest reply; and we had the further impudence to say that if it evaded the question at issue it would brand itself as a slanderer and—well, what it is. It appears that our "impudence," however great, had a solid foundation.
The Globe has refused a straightforward and honest reply, it has evaded the question raised by itself, and it has branded itself with the mark of Cain, the brand of a murderer, not of the body, but of the reputation of better men than itself
by slander and false witness.

The Globe gives as its sole and only authority for its slanderous and wittingly false statements, Sir Hugh Allan, who stated that he had expended or owed some amounting to $350,000 or $360,000. It also quotes Sir Hugh Allan as its sole authority for the statement that he paid directly to the Government $102,000 and $117,000 for the Province of Quebec and $45,000 for the Province of Ontario. Then, offering itself as a witness, the Globe avers that "the proper expenses of obtaining the charter could not have amounted to the odd $900."

We have it then established on the testimony of its chosen and only witness, Sir Hugh Allan, and of itself, that his whole expenditure was $350,000, that his contribution to Conservative election funds was $102,000, and his proper expenses for the charter $900. By a very simple calculation it appears that there is a deficit of $194,000, an expenditure of nearly two hundred thousand dollars not accounted for. What became of this large sum, which the Globe falsely, and without a shadow of evidence, chooses to say was given to the Conservative leaders?

As it happens we have some light thrown upon the subject of the appropriation of this sum, and it is by the Globe's own witness, Sir Hugh Allan. He, with his brothers, having established their splendid line of trans-Atlantic steamers, so creditable to Canada, was anxious to draw the trade of the North-West, both in the Dominion and the States, to the St.
Lawrence ports, and for this reason he was not only anxious to promote the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, but he had also undertaken to forward the North Shore line to complete the connection between Montreal and the Pacific. Finding that Sir George Cartier and his Quebec followers (from their Grand Trunk proclivities), were not favourably disposed, he did his best to oppose them in the election and to promote his own transportation projects. In doing this he spared neither pains nor money. We will let him speak in his own words:

"A railway from Montreal to Ottawa, through the French country, north of the Ottawa River, has long been desired by the French inhabitants; but Cartier, who is the slated candidate of the Grand Trunk road, to which this would be an opposition, has interrupted difficulties, and by his influence prevented its being built. The same reason made him desirous of giving the contract for the Canadian Pacific into the hands of parties connected with the Grand Trunk Railway, and to this end he fangled the flame of opposition to us; but I saw, in this French railway scheme, the near approach of the general election, when Cartier as well as others, had to go to their constituents for re-election, a sure means of attaining my object, especially as I propose to carry it through to the terminus of the Pacific. The plans I propose are in themselves the best for the interests of the nation, and in urging them on the public I am really doing a most patriotic action. But, even in that view, means must be used to influence the public, and I employed several young French lawyers to write it up in their own newspapers. I subscribed a controlling influence in the stock, and proceeded to subsidize the newspapers themselves, both editors and proprietors. I went to the country through which the road would pass, and called on many of the inhabitants. I visited the priests and made friends of them, and I employed agents to go among the principal people and talk it up.
I then began to hold public meetings and attended to them myself, making frequent speeches in French to them, showing them where their true interest lay. The scheme at once became popular, and I formed a Committee to influence the members of the Legislature.
This succeeded so well that in a short time it had twenty-seven out of forty-five on whom I could rely, and the election of the ward in this city, which Cartier himself represents, notified him that unless the contract for the Pacific Railway was given in the interests of Lower Canada, he need not present himself for re-election. He did not believe this, but when he came here and met his constituents, he found to his surprise, that their determination was unchanged."

Again, in his affidavit Sir Hugh Allan says:—

"As may be gathered from the letters in question, I considered it to be my policy to strengthen my position as far as I possibly could with my own friends and fellow-voters in the Province of Quebec, and more especially in so far as related to the Montreal and Quebec Colonization Railway, which I conceived would at some day be the outlet from the Canadian Pacific to the port of Montreal. And a considerable portion of the money referred to in those letters, was expended by me in furtherance of that project in many ways."

This is the only evidence we have as to the expenditure of the $194,000 not accounted for by the Globe, but it is the evidence of its own witness. It will be remembered that the original slanders, black-mailers and thieves, from Huntington down to Norris, sneaked away when invited to give evidence before a Royal Commission, for fear of having to expose their own knavery. It will be seen, however, that Sir Hugh Allan, the Globe's own witness, states that besides the $102,000 given to the Conservative election fund, and the charter expenses which the Globe itself avers to be less than $900, he spent the rest of the $350,000 in opposing the Conservatives. Thus it appears that having spent $194,000 (they are the figures of the Globe and its witness), in opposing the Conservatives in Quebec, he then contributed $117,000 to undo his own work, but with so little effect at that late hour, that Sir George Cartier and many of his supporters owed their defeat to Sir Hugh's money and exertions. In Ontario he contributed $45,000, less than was proved in the election courts to have been spent by two or three Reformers. In short, it was due to Sir Hugh Allan's expenditure that the Conservative majority was so greatly reduced that the Reformers were able to purchase a majority by means of Cabinet seats, offices, printing contracts, &c.

The Globe knew these facts when like a vile slanderer it asserted that Sir Hugh Allan had given $360,000 to the Conservative leaders to corrupt the electors.

The Globe accounts for less than half that sum. With its help and that of its own witness we have accounted for the larger remainder.
If the Globe, after such an exposure of its falseness, chooses to attempt a defence of its other slanders, that a charter was sold, and that Sir Hugh Allan was the purchaser, we are quite prepared to meet it.

A REFORM POLICY FOUND.

Though even Grip has depicted the Reform leader as having no policy except that inherited from the late Mr. Macdowell—though Conservative and independent journals, with very faint protests from the Reform press, have represented the Reformers as a party without a policy, as Reformers with nothing to Reform, we must frankly admit that this is no longer true. We beg to announce and are glad to give all the publicity in our power to the fact that THE REFORMERS HAVE FOUND A POLICY.

And this policy is no subtlety of crafty politicians, but like all great ideas that have moved mankind it is grandly simple, for it is that Mr.
Mowat will not let the Wardens aid in carrying out the new temperance legislation.

It is not the great leader of the party Mr.
Blake, to whom the new movement is to be credited, for though he and his followers refused to aid in preparing this excellent act to restrain intemperance, though he and his followers carp at its provisions and obstructed its passage to the best of their ability, neither he, with all his legal acumen, nor they discovered this terrible blunder which Sir John Macdowell has permitted or committed. Neither are we aware that Mr. Mowat can claim the merit of this brilliant idea. It is the Globe, the leading journal of the Reform party, and the Free Press, their organ as the Canadian capital, with of course a rush of imitators among the small fry, that have forced forward this engine for the purpose of "upsetting Sir John," who has added to his other crimes that of asking the Wardens to assist in carrying out a temperance measure without considering whether Mr. Mowat and his colleagues were willing.

While admitting the brilliancy of the idea, we must suggest some obstacles to its success in "upsetting Sir John."

There will be another session of the Parliament of Canada before the License Boards are necessary, and the Macdowell Administration may make a change by appointing commissioners with whom Mr. Mowat cannot interfere.

There will also be another session of the Ontario Legislature, and Mr. Mowat may decline to oppose stricter temperance legislation, and may change the law as to Wardens.

It may well be that Mr. Mowat will not find himself in a position to lead the House in this or any other respect, and that his successor may introduce the required change. We are aware that Reform journals triumphantly point to Mr. Meredith as favouring the disqualification of Wardens, but we venture to suggest that there is a wide difference between petting all Wardens as the heads of their municipalities upon the License Boards, and empowering Mr.
Mowat (or any other) to pick out all the Wardens of his own political stripe for Commissioners, while rejecting all of opposite politics. Neither was Mr. Meredith's amendment exactly as represented. It disqualifies Mr. Mowat's partisan House officials from being members of municipal councils, a very suggestive distinction.

The Warden may accept the commissioner-ship, and being duly appointed would still be commissioner, even though disqualified for the wardenship by Mr. Mowat.

The Wardens may accept the commissioner-ship and refuse to vacate their municipal chair.
It will be remembered that Mr. Mowat told our Warden and County Council where to take county printing, but our warden and council thinking that as they paid the money they should take their choice, calmly disregarded this mandate, and gave their printing where they pleased. No thunder bolt fell.
The courts may be invoked against these recalcitrant wardens, and even then there will be two loopholes of escape for Sir John.

The courts may decide that the Province cannot restrain municipal officers chosen by the people or their representatives in a matter not incompatible with their municipal duties. There must be some limit to the power of the Province, otherwise it might provide that no deacon or churchwarden should be a warden, no lawyer or doctor, or even no married man.

The courts may decide that the Province has the jurisdiction, but that its existing legislation does not apply to a Dominion Board of License Commissioners, having been framed in reference to a Province Board.

In this last alternative the Provincial Legislature would have to pass another law to carry out the desired end. We will see if Mr. Mowat (even supposing him to remain in power long enough) would forbid anyone under his control to aid in carrying out temperance legislation.

Let us suppose, what is extremely probable, that Mr. Mowat is defeated in the House next session and the Conservatives are called upon to form an administration. It might be that they would find it necessary to recommend a dissolution.

Would Mr. Mowat like to go into the campaign with the strange device upon his banner,
"Mowat and no Temperance Wardens?"

If he took such a position either in the House or before the country, it would be a clear confession that he and his followers placed party before country, political expediency before the cause of temperance.

Grip, which is generally a strong Reform partisan, has this week an illustration of "The Brilliant Reform Programme." An old lady representing the Reform party, is showing off her infant prodigy (Blake) to a visitor (Sir John) and the conversation runs as follows:—
REFORM PARTY—"Now, dear, tell the gentleman how you intend to become Premier some day."
LITTLE ED—"I 'tend to wait till hard times or k'rption busts up the government.—That's my policy."

Or as Grip explains it:—"The Reform party up to hour of going to press, continued without a shadow of a policy, beyond the miserable Macdowellian programme of waiting for something to turn up John A."

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well as flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the dripping of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the dripping it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Hot Kid Boots.
All the new lines of ladies' Hot Kid Boots at Foot & McWhinnie's. Cool and light for summer wear. 12d133

An Early Meeting.
A meeting will be held every morning during the session of the Conference, in one of the class rooms, at eight o'clock, for the promotion of holiness.

Band Competition.
We understand that a band competition is to take place in Nanapan some time in July, for which some very good prizes will be offered. If it is shown to be a genuine and bona fide affair, it is probable that our band will compete, but unless it is such, they will remain at home and await some more opulent event.

Band at work.
The Executive and sub-committee for the celebration of Dominion Day met last night in the Firemen's Hall, and all gave satisfactory accounts of the progress made thus far. The hall will be open for the use of the committee and others every day and night from now till the 1st of July.

Midland Railway of Canada.
The traffic of the above railway for the week ending June 9th, 1893, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,013.73; freight, $23,730.12; total, $28,743.85, as compared with $27,926.44 for the corresponding week of 1892, being an increase of $817.41; and the aggregate traffic to date is $418,778.43, being an increase of $16,792.20 over 1892.

Missionary Anniversary.
This evening the Missionary Anniversary meeting in connection with the Conference will be held in the George Street Methodist Church. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Young, the Rev. T. Lawson, the Rev. A. R. Hames, of Manitoba, the Rev. C. M. Tate, of British Columbia, and S. P. Ford, Esq., M. D.

Reinforcements.
Seventy-four men arrived in the ten o'clock train on Wednesday night, to work on the "Missing Link" of the Midland Railway. They were all Italians. Three wagons drew their baggage to the scene of operations on the line, and the men marched on foot. This makes reinforcements to the number of 176 men which have arrived recently from New York for the work on this road.

Ministers and Others Attending Conference will do well to note the following low prices at Salisbury & Co.'s Book Store, George St., Peterborough:—Farrar's Life of St. Paul, published price, $3.00, our price, $1.75; Farrar's Life of Christ, published price, $1.25, our price, $1.00; McCutcheon's History of England, 5 volumes, published at $5.00, our price, $3.00; Dickens' Works, in 15 volumes, published price, $22.50, our price, $18.00; Chambers' Encyclopedia, 10 volumes, published price, $35.00, our price, $30.00. Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

The Progress of the Young Men in Training—The Committee Appointed—Interchange of Greetings.

The Conference resumed at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and was opened by singing and prayer.

The result of the ballot for the Committee to nominate the Standing Committee was announced, the following being elected:—John Shaw, Dr. Dewart, J. G. Laird, Dr. Hunter and J. E. Betts.

The Secretaries of the Districts reported the names of the representatives elected at the District Meeting to serve on the Sabbath School and Missionary Committees.

The President read a telegram received from the London Conference, then in session at Hamilton, conveying the greeting of that Conference to this one, and referring to II. Thos., I, 11-12.

The Secretary, having been instructed to do so by a motion, drafted a telegram conveying the greeting of the Toronto Conference to the London Conference, and referring to II. Thos., II, 13-15.

The following young men, who had travelled four years, were recommended by their Districts to be received into full connection, and the recommendation was adopted:—Jas. A. Reid, B. Gostritz, W. J. West, W. G. Wilson, W. F. Wilson, Geo. W. Marvin, Albert F. Wheeler, J. Peters, Miyagawa Minoru and Jas. A. Wood. What Candidates for the Ministry are now received on trial?—S. C. Wright, (one year allowed), J. J. Ferguson, J. G. Lewis, H. C. Garbutt and Robert Whittington (one year allowed).

On motion of Dr. Sutherland, it was resolved that the question of union should be the order of the day, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The Conference then adjourned at 5.30 o'clock, the Rev. R. Jones pronouncing the benediction.

CONFERENCE COMMUNION SERVICE.

On Wednesday evening the Conference Communion service was held. On the platform were the Rev. S. D. Rice, D. D., President of the General Conference; the Rev. G. Cochran, D. D., President, and the Rev. A. Sutherland, D. D., ex-President of the Toronto Conference, and the church was filled with a large audience.

The meeting was opened by devotional exercises, led by the Rev. Dr. Rice, and the choir of the George Street Church sang a beautiful anthem.

The Rev. Dr. Rice preached an eloquent sermon from I. John III, 8:—"For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil." The most profound truths, he said, were simple truths—the simpler teachings of the Gospel were the most important. Those utterances which have to do with our personal salvation are easily understood. Two questions were suggested by the text, the method of deliverance from the power of evil, and the manner in which it may be obtained. Sin was not merely to be found in this world in hostility to God; it existed in the rebellion among the angels before the earth was created. The defection among the angels must have been widespread from the number of evil spirits. The maintenance of government without a penalty was an idea that no intelligence had attempted to understand. The maintenance of government and of the law is essential for the security of the good, and if the law is not maintained by a penalty for the violation of it, all government is brought into contempt. God said to Adam, "The day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." There was a strong disposition to make out that God could do what he liked, but he could not, as he could not lie. If the race is to be saved it must be done consistently with the penalties attached to the first violation of the law. Here comes in the question of the vicarious offering. "For this purpose the Son of God was manifested." The whole animal creation of the lower order could not be compared to one individual possessing intellect and a soul, and all humanity was as nothing compared to this wonderful substitute. He was a pure, immaculate being. His life was full of suffering. In the garden he suffered anguish, almost the deepest that could be known to humanity, and on the cross he bore pains and agonies unknown in the garden, for a different reason, and from a different source. It was there he cried, "My God! My God! why hast thou forsaken Me?" He suffered because on Him were laid the iniquities of us all. God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself. Christ became the Redeemer of our race. It was necessary that Christ should go away, that the Comforter might come, who would teach all things. By the vicarious sacrifice God could be just, and through that meditation the sinner could be forgiven. Man's whole being was tainted with sin. It would need as much power to renew the corrupted spirit as there was necessary to create it. There must be a new creation, and not a mending of the old nature. The Spirit was God, and the world was filled with the Spirit. The Spirit carries the truth to the heart, and this was followed by conviction and repentance. By the exercise of faith in the Redeemer they were then saved, and the Spirit brought the assurance of their acceptance. When there came a rift in the dark cloud that enveloped the earth, by the death of Christ, it was possible for man to be delivered from sin. By the power of the Spirit in them they could be delivered. The Divine power is adequate to the complete deliverance from all sin. The blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin. He then referred to his experience at the time of his conversion, and to the rejoicings of early Methodists around the communion table.

The administration of the Lord's Supper followed the sermon, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Cochran, President of the Conference.

THURSDAY, June 14.

The Conference was opened by singing, the reading of a portion of Scripture by the Secretary, and prayer by the Rev. W. L. Scott.

The Rev. Dr. HUNTER read a communication from the Toronto Ministerial Association calling the attention of the Conference to the profanation of the Lord's Day by the construction of railways on that day, the running of trains and excursions by land and water, by photograph galleries being open, by hotels, livery stables, barber shops, etc., and asking that the Conference take such steps as it deemed wise, as also that a Committee be appointed to act with a general committee on the observance of the Sabbath. Dr. Hunter said that it was probable that the Committee would meet in Toronto, and it might be necessary for them to go before the Provincial Legislature. He moved the appointment of the following Committee:—The Revs. Dr. Rice, Dr. Cochran, Dr. Dewart, and Dr. Sutherland, and Messrs. John Macdonald, J. E. Rose, W. Kennedy, and A. Oydin.

The Rev. H. JOHNSTON seconded the resolution.

The Rev. Dr. RICE said that they were very much interested in this question in the North-West. The proper observance of the Sabbath was the foundation of the continued power of religion. He asked whether it was the Provincial Legislature or the Dominion Parliament that should deal with the question.

The President said he was glad that this subject had been brought up. They felt in Toronto that their quiet, orderly Sabbath was slipping away from them. The power of the law they had, but in some respects it seemed inadequate. The Sabbath was becoming a day of pleasure, and if it was allowed to do so, it would soon become a day of dissipation.

The motion was carried.

The Rev. Geo. LEACH moved that the Nominating Committee be requested to nominate a Committee of Sabbath Observance, to prepare a report of the observance of the Sabbath.—Carried.

The following were received on trial for the Ministry:—George Hannah, Jas. A. Stevenson, C. Desprose, Robert J. Falls (one year allowed), Ernest Francis Paul, (a year allowed), and C. E. Manning.

Norman LeMarch was left in the hands of the Chairman of the Lindsey District to be employed by him, and the papers of J. B. Powell and George Campbell were re-committed to the Board of Examiners.

The President introduced to the Conference Rev. Dr. Shaw, of the Montreal Conference; the Rev. J. Austin Jackson, Charles Meyers and M. B. Sachem, of the Newfoundland Conference, and the Rev. D. O. Croasley, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Conference then adjourned at 12 o'clock.

A True Bill.
At the Quarter Sessions Court which opened in Cobourg on Wednesday, the 13th, before Judge Clark, a true bill was found against Alkens and McCling, of Cantreville, for homicide.

A Runaway Island.

There is at present in the Trent a phenomenon in the shape of a floating island of considerable size, and having trees of large dimensions growing upon it. It broke away from the mouth of the Indian river on Tuesday, and at first contained about four acres, having substance enough to bear the weight of a man. It broke up at the railway bridge, Hastings, where still descending the stream, the fragments lodged against the government boom, at the head of the slide, breaking both guide booms and flukes the cut to the lock. The government officials took steps to remove it and are still working at it. There have been crowds of visitors to inspect this natural curiosity.

American Cancer Association.

The local committee on membership (of which Mr. W. Budden is secretary), has already received the subscriptions of a large number of new members. The fee on joining is $2.00; in subsequent years it is only $1.00 a year. A small badge has been adopted, bearing a miniature representation of the A. C. A. badge, with the words, "Stony Lake, 1883," at the top, and this is given to members on paying their fees, instead of a ticket. Visiting members will receive these badges on their arrival at Peterborough. The badge will be the passport to the Association Island, to which, of course, only members will be admitted. By the time the camp opens on the 10th of August next, it is expected that the membership from the Midland District alone will be between one and two hundred at least.

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & Co.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

DOMINION DAY.

Steady Progress Towards the Successful

Celebration of the Day.

As Dominion Day approaches, everyone is on the qui vive to make the grand celebration which is to be held in Peterborough on that day a success. Everything that can be accomplished in the way of furnishing enjoyment and entertainment to the citizens, and visitors is being done. The only possible thing that can mar

the day's sport, is the weather—and if arrangements can be made with Venice, even this possible defect can be remedied. Calculated line of steamers, the Golden-Eye and King Fisher, with the large palace scow, have been chartered to carry those who wish to witness the regatta on the Little Lake, and policemen will be on board to enforce the utmost order. The fire works have been ordered from the wide-famed firm of Palmer & Co., of Rochester, N.Y., and will be the best display ever witnessed in this town. The large Jumbo posters, which were printed at the Review office, are ready for the bill poster, and programmes giving each and every detail, will be published in a few days.

Those who have been called on for assistance in the way of money, horses, waggon, etc., are responding in a way that shows that the whole community are with the committee heart and hand. The pastmaster's promise promises to be a very superior one in every respect, as there are a number of gentlemen making an active part in it who are sure to leave nothing undone. On Tuesday evening past there will be a meeting of the Executive and all the sub-committees, together with the Fire Brigade and the citizens at large, to make final and complete arrangements for the performance of each and every man's respective duties on that day, so that there will be no delay whatever in the carrying out of the long programme.

Caval Corps! Caval!

This morning there were no less than half a dozen of the bovine species prowling around the market square, evidently waiting for some farmer to drive in with a load of hay that they might appear their inner longing for a meal. The cow by-laws will not be put in force a day too soon, as we believe they are at liberty to roam at will till Tuesday next. It is to be regretted that measures were not taken long ago to have a stop put to this nuisance and eye-sore.

The Weather.

Last night was cool, and to-day, although the sun shines brightly, it is not so warm.

The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 11 a. m.

to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph

Company, are as follows:—Southerly backing to easterly winds; the weather to-day, showing showery on Saturday.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1883.

In reply to our quotation of gross insults levelled by the Globe at Conservatives, we are told that the Mail also uses strong language. The distinction still remains between the cases, that we and other Conservative journals have repeatedly repudiated the language of the Mail, while the Reform journals do not censure their leading organ, but quote its worst insults with apparent delight.

The Toronto World is not a "Tory Organ," but is a Reform journal, though of an independent character, and differing from the majority of Reform journals in not being an echo of the Globe. This is what the World says of the leading Reform journal.

"The descent of the Globe since its late change of management has been great and is still going on."

Reformers will often admit the same in private, while they still tacitly support the Globe by uttering no protest against its slanders and falsehoods.

The Winnipeg Times, referring to an incorrect report in the Brandon Sun, that the C.P.R. had run a special train for Conservative voters, says: "The Sun's story and the Globe's comments on it are founded on a pure and stupid fabrication. The Sun will no doubt contradict the story if it has not given on being convinced, as it can easily be by enquiry, that it is untrue; but the Globe can never be persuaded that an open confession is good for the soul."

The Times proved to be a true prophet in regard to both papers. The Sun found that it had been deceived and had unwisely withdrawn the unfounded charge. The Globe acted up to its record.

SOME Reform journals are very fond of quoting the Winnipeg Times, but they do not seem to have noticed the following remarks in reference to Mr. Anglin's speech at the banquet given to him in Toronto. The Times says:—

"This is very fine generalizing, but it would have been more satisfactory if Mr. Anglin had explained his party's principles a little more fully. Its principles need to be elaborately paraded between 1867 and 1873 as a sort of moral decalogue, but the party played havoc with them during its short term of office. One very important principle was quietly violated by Mr. Anglin himself. At present Reform 'principles' appear to consist mainly of the old Pacific scandal and the new Section B indictment. It is a small platform, but the party is not a large one."

The more reckless of the Reform journals are attacking the census returns. Their favorite method is to assert that a particular table professes to give certain information, while it is not intended to convey that, but some other statistics, and then to criticize it for not giving such information. For instance, a table of "Industrial establishments" is expected to give the numbers of single artisans and mechanics, and is blamed for not doing so. Another table shows the property owned by residents in a locality, and after the false statement that it refers to the property in the locality, supposed inaccuracies are pointed out. These critics should first read the headings to the tables with the explanatory introduction, and then tell the truth—if they can.

PURITY OF THE REFORM.

The Toronto World has the following remarks on a recent appointment:—

"The elevation of the Hon. M. C. Cameron to the provincial Court of Appeal from the Queen's Bench adds to the Premier's reputation for maintaining the purity and ability of the bench."

As the World is a Reform journal, though independent, it might be supposed that the Premier in question was Mr. Mowat. This would be a mistaken idea, for the Premier thus praised is Sir John Macdonald. Mr. Mowat maintains the purity of the bench by seating S. S. Peck upon it. By the by we have heard a very ingenious defence of this Halliburton escape. It is suggested that Mr. Mowat, who is supposed to be an honest man himself, but to be too easily led into evil ways, was told that Peck ought to have been brought into court long ago, and that misapprehending the hint, he put him on the bench instead of in the dock.

THE NEW LICENSE ACT.

We have shown how much the new License Act has done for the regulation and restriction of the sale of intoxicating liquors, making a greater stride in temperance legislation than any heretofore accomplished.

Our political opponents, ever ready to shift their ground, retort: "Then you must have injured the license holders, and will incur their well-deserved enmity."

It happens, however, that the license holders welcome the new Act, because, while its provisions are more stringent, it confers upon them the following benefits:—

They are freed by it from the tyranny of partisan officials, who could attempt to coerce them politically, and could harass them if recalcitrant, to say nothing of venting any private enmity. Protest was useless as long as these partisan officials faithfully served in political matters their masters who had appointed them.

They are freed by it from the political espionage of inspectors, the results of whose inquiries have been tabulated and published by the Mowat administration, who ordered this prying into private affairs. The new inspectors will be appointed by the impartial boards, they will have no political masters to serve, and can be dismissed if they neglect their duties for politics.

They will be protected by disinterested officials from the unfair competition which, after paying for their license, they now experience from unlicensed groggeries, which are tolerated by the present inspectors, who are too busy with their political work to attend to their proper duties, their neglect being acknowledged by a circular from the department.

They will be relieved from the necessity of supplying their guests with liquors at all hours of the day on Sundays, a matter of which they have themselves complained, as a burden upon themselves and their employees.

If the new regulations are more stringent, they will better enable them to carry on their business in a decent, honest and lawful manner. This is what is thought by the respectable men in the business, and we have no sympathy with any others, who should be suppressed, to the great benefit both of the fair trader and of public morality.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

A Genuine Conservative Improvement Described by a Reformer.

The Ottawa Free Press, a most bitter partisan of the Reform party, thus describes the effect of the Civil Service Act. Under a "Reform" administration there was no great concern as to fitness, either for promotion or appointment, as regarded the Civil Service.

"For some time past there has been quite a stir in the various departments of the public service, the employees being busily engaged in coaching themselves for the coming examination for promotion, which takes place on Friday next. There are very few offices that one can enter without finding the necessary books essential to passing the candidate in front of the clerks. One man may be found struggling with 'The British North America Act Made Easy,' while another is engaged in studying the modern grammar, and a third deeply intent as he is endeavouring to solve a difficult and ponderous problem in mathematics. Not a few will be glad when the examination is over, so that they will be able to return to their ordinary way of doing things. There is all about one hundred and fifty candidates."

METHODIST UNION.

We take the following article from the Berlin Daily News of June 4th:—"As this is a secular paper with but a small proportion of readers who are Methodists, we have as yet had comparatively little on this subject, though it has occupied a great deal of space in the large Dailies and the Canadian press generally. When we saw that the laymen of the largest of the four uniting bodies had voted eight to one in favor of Union, we could not look upon the matter as anything else than an accomplished fact. The conviction became still more strong when we saw that three smaller bodies had gone through all the steps necessary to effect the much desired union. We knew that some of the ministers of the Canadian Methodist Church were opposing the measure, ostensibly because of their dislike for the 'Book of Union,' but really because of fears of a trifling financial loss and an unwillingness to make proper concessions to the laity, but we never until quite lately, had any idea that these men would in the face of the all but universal sentiment of the laity in the Church and of the general public outside, try to prevent what would most unquestionably be for the benefit of Methodism and Christianity in this country. We believe that, through the action of the Canadian Methodist ministers, this measure is defeated, the Church will get such a wrench as will cripple her for all future time. The writer of this has been for over a quarter of a century a member of this church, and, without boasting, in proportion to his means, a liberal supporter to all its interests, but if the men who ought to be our leaders in every good work, are guilty of such a stupendous folly as to defeat the Union, it is very doubtful if it will in future feel like making any sacrifices for the church upon which during all these years his fondest and strongest affections were placed. From what we know of the feelings of leading and intelligent laymen all over the country, they certainly similar sentiments, and in all probability these non-union preachers will find, if they try in the face of the laity, as is now threatened, they will kill the goose that has laid the golden egg."

HASTINGS.

GRANGERS' PIC-NIC.—The Star says that the Grangers Pic-nic on Tuesday was a very successful affair, the large number of ex-couriers enjoying themselves to the full. A slight accident occurred as the boat was passing through the railway bridge on the up trip, a leg having got caught in one of the wheels and was crashing through the paddle box. The flying splinters knocked a couple of hats into the river, and one youngster had a close call from being hurled overboard.

BIBLE CLASS PICK-UP.—The Bible class picnic and excursion which came off on Tuesday the 5th, under the auspices of Mr. J. H. Scriver, was a very enjoyable affair. The party landed on Deseronto point for dinner, after which Mr. Mowat and several others went rail hunting over that well-known Indian battle ground. Mr. M. discovered and exhumed an almost perfect skeleton of a brave. On the return, each of the male members of the party took a home of "Lo! the poor Indian" and made a fine funeral entry into town, Mr. Ward leading the van with the skull.

MR. Wm. PATER, Station Master, C. V. R., Shedd, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

Old things made new by Tripp's Package Dyes take only three colored packages, thirty (30) colors, all guaranteed. Price 10c. Per sale by all druggists.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to keep out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

THURSDAY, June 12.
The afternoon session was opened by the Rev. E. S. Raper, M.A., leading in prayer.
The following young men were received on trial:—S. G. Rork, Henry Caldwell, Dennis Jennings and W. H. Pearce, the latter two for Indian Mission work.
John Wilson was left in the hands of the Chairman of the District, to be employed by him, and the case of Thomas R. Barclay was referred to the Board of Examiners.
The Rev. Wm. Cather was introduced to the Conference by the President as a venerable member of the Irish Methodist Church. He had been in Canada a few months, and he had been delighted with his intercourse with the brethren here, some of whom were from his native country. Friends told him that he had gained in health since he had come to Canada. His heart was in the work of the ministry, in which he had served fifty-four years.

The superannuated relation of a number of ministers was continued, and the cases of others, recommended by their District meetings, to be placed on the superannuated list, were referred to the committee on superannuation.
The Chairman of the Superannuation Committee reported, recommending that the Rev. G. J. Dingman and the Rev. Dr. Hunter be granted a superannuated relation for one year.—Adopted.

The names of the Secretary for each district were reported and recorded in the minutes.
A number of supernumerary ministers were continued in that relation, and the Revs. T. Richardson, T. W. Glover, and W. W. Leach, were restored to active work.

A memorial was read from the Walkerton district in regard to the superannuation of the Rev. Andrew Clarke. A motion expressing the opinion that Mr. Clarke's claim was a just one and recommending it to the favourable consideration of the Board, was adopted.

The Rev. H. S. Jenkinson was granted credit on the recommendation of the Lindsay district.

What probationers have ceased to work? C. E. Blakey and M. Vanderwater.
The motion to receive the Rev. E. L. Oakley from the Primitive Methodist church was carried.

The choosing of the place for holding the next session of the Conference was the next question.
The Rev. T. MARSH, B. A. moved, seconded by the Rev. Mr. MATTHEW, that, as the Conference had not received an invitation from any town, its next session be held in Toronto, the members to pay their expenses.

A long and lively discussion arose on this motion. It was urged that the Conference included so many members that it could not impose the burden of entertaining its members on the people of any town, and on the other hand it was argued that the people might receive the motion, were it adopted, as a slight on their hospitality, and that many members would be deterred from attending the Conference by the motion.

The Rev. JOHN LEAROLD moved in amendment, seconded by the Rev. W. LINDALL,—That the next meeting of the Conference be held in Fitchburg.

The motion was carried and the Conference adjourned.

FRIDAY, June 15.
The Conference assembled at 9 o'clock, and was opened by devotional exercises.

A communication from the Women's Temperance Association was referred to the Temperance Committee.

The names of the lay members of the Contingent Fund Committee were reported and recorded.

THE UNION VOTE IN THE WEST.
A telegram was received from the London Conference stating that the Rev. Dr. Williams' motion, moved in amendment to the adoption of the basis of union, had been adopted by a vote of 101 to 88.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.
The Rev. Dr. Harper was granted leave of absence for three months, to visit Europe for the benefit of his health.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Who have died since the last Conference?
The President introduced this question with a touching address; referring to the changes in the faces at the annual gatherings. They suffered losses and received accessions, but in Heaven there was no limit to the expenses.

The 606th hymn was sung and the Rev. Dr. Ross and the Rev. Dr. Carroll led in prayer.

The following deaths were reported, and obituary notices read:—

Rev. Wm. PRICE, who was born in Birmingham, in 1818; came to Canada early in his life; converted when about fifteen years of age; his first circuit labour was commenced in 1839, and he was received on trial in 1849; he was superannuated in 1871, and died 14th of September, 1883, suddenly of apoplexy, at the age of 61.

The Rev. VINCENT B. HOWARD was born near Brookville in 1811; he was converted when yet young, and in 1833 he became a probationer for the ministry; in 1860 he was superannuated, and in August, 1883, he passed away.

The Rev. Mr. STARR was born in England in 1798. He was converted at the age of 23, while engaged in the profession of the law, and two years after he united with the Methodists. In 1826 he was ordained for the work in Canada, and went out to that year. He died in November, 1882, at the age of 84 years.

The Rev. A. L. PETERSON was born in Amalieburg on the 23rd of March 1823, and was sent out as a minister in 1866, and ordained at Kingston in 1869. In 1870 he was superannuated, and he died on the 14th of August, 1882.

The Rev. A. FLETCHER was born in England, in 1803; he was converted at the age of 17, and when 24 years of age he was married; in 1843 he came to Canada. During late years he resided in Peterborough with his son-in-law, Dr. Fife. On December, 1882, he was smitten with apoplexy, and died on October 24th, 1883, and was buried at Ingersoll.

The Rev. RICHARD G. JAMES travelled 30 years in difficult fields of labour. Nothing is known of his earlier life. He was a passenger on the unfortunate steamship Asia, which was wrecked in September last, and his body was not recovered. As the vessel was going down he pointed the people to the Saviour.

INTRODUCTION.
The Rev. DAVID WHITMAN, an evangelist from the Montreal Conference, was introduced.

OBITUARY NOTICE.
The Rev. HUGH JOHNSON moved, seconded by the Rev. JOHN LEAROLD,—That in future the obituary notices be referred to an editorial committee, and that remarks in the Conference be confined to remarks on the character of the deceased.—Carried.

The Conference adjourned at 12 o'clock.

Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CRICKET.—The Herald says that on Friday last a match game was played between the Campbellford and Stirling clubs, resulting in a victory for the former by three wickets. The match was close, the bowling on each side being particularly good. The highest scoring was made by Messrs. Tate and Leslie for the home team, and Messrs. Legrow, and Allen for the Stirling team.

CONFIRMATION.—The Intelligence's correspondent says:—Confirmation was administered here on Sunday in the R. C. Church, when 100 children were confirmed by his Lordship Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, who came by the early train on Saturday morning. He was met at the G. J. Station by a large crowd of the congregation and inhabitants, who formed a procession headed by the Campbellford Brass Band. In company with his Lordship was the Rev'd Father Davis, of Madoc. Father Casey of Campbellford, and other attendants. He was driven to the parsonage, where the carriage halted, and his Lordship expressed himself highly pleased with the kind reception he had received from the band and inhabitants. He then proceeded to the Church, at the gateway of which a tatty arch had been erected with evergreens, with the word "Welcome" in the centre. As his Lordship entered the Church the people stood with uncovered heads. After entering the edifice, Mass was celebrated. His Lordship was presented with an address at Warkworth, and made a feeling reply. He confirmed 86. In returning to Campbellford he was met at the Separate School at Oronington, where he was also met by the people of the district.

LUMBER IN WINNIPEG.

The Winnipeg Times of June 5th, reports the following discussion in the City Council:—A. D. G. M. WILSON.—What amount of lumber has been purchased since the commencement of the year altogether?

A. D. OVENS.—I bought about five hundred thousand feet myself. I understood Farr bought 150,000 feet. I don't know of any other. If he did it on his own responsibility I think he should be made to pay for it. I find that we have purchased already nearly three million feet of lumber—2,700,000 feet, I think. This is going it pretty fast. The cost of the lumber will be something like $67,000. It is impossible for the finance committee to raise ways and means for an expenditure going on at this rate. The cheques issued the other night for lumber amounted to $6,000, and there are $40,000 yet to be paid. The chairman of the board of works informs us that they have discharged a large number of men, but I find the pay sheet last month amounted to $12,000, the exact amount paid for lumber would be $22,607.

A. D. BURKINS asked the chairman of the board of works who had bought this lumber, outside of the one million five hundred thousand feet purchased from Macdonald.
A. D. OVENS.—Part was purchased by contract—part by Par. The board of works authorized me to buy lumber.
A. D. G. M. WILSON said the Council had no idea how much lumber was being bought, and he was a result of this discussion a motion, by Ald. Fortune and Brydon was carried, rescinding the resolution authorizing the board of Works to purchase what lumber it required.

A Great Discovery.

That is daily bringing joy to the homes of thousands by saving many of their dear ones from an early grave. Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. Guaranteed. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00—6.

A Great Institution.

The surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, operating from their different offices, Montreal, Toronto, Detroit, Mich., and Winnipeg, Man., are now accepting patients suffering from Consumption, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Pharyngitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Cerebral Disease, than any other institution in the world. We will treat no case we think incurable. We can help every case, and cure the majority we undertake to treat if patients will strictly follow our directions. By the use of cold inhalants conveyed to the diseased parts by the Sphygmometer, the wonderful invention of Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, ex-acute surgeon of the French army, and other proper local and constitutional treatment, we are curing thousands of cases of the above named diseases every year. Write enclosing stamp for list of questions of copy of International News, published monthly, which will give you full information and reliable references.

A VOICE FROM THE UNITED STATES.—I have suffered for the last twenty years with Dyspepsia and General Debility, and tried many remedies, but with little success till I used Burdock Blood Bitters when relief was quick and permanent.
A. LOOM, Alpena, Michigan, U. S.

For all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters are superior. They strengthen the whole muscular system, give a healthy complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite and arouse into healthy action the whole physical energy of the human frame.

ORR OF MARY.—Mr. R. W. Carmichael, Chemist and Druggist, of Belleville, writes as follows:—"Your Burdock Blood Bitters have a steady sale, are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all attest to virtues with unqualified satisfaction."

USE YOUR EYES!

Prices not Promises!
Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not think over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whether the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.
The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent rapidity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon; it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement has been the rule for all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond call.

WE HAVE ON THIS—
A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1883.

MESSRS. MACDONALD & CHARLEBOIS have an opportunity of making money, which they should not miss. They have only to use the bank for damages and call the editor of the Cobourg World to prove in court its statement, "that the bank, by a mistake of their own, for which Macdonald & Charlebois were not responsible, made their security temporary doubtful, by writing on the face of the cheque 'good for two days only.'" This being proved, the bank would have to pay damages for its stupidity in depriving the tenderers of the profit on the contract, which had to be awarded to the lowest tenderer with security that was not doubtful. Perhaps, however, the bank might prove that the World's assertion is wide of the truth. It might also puzzle Messrs. Macdonald & Charlebois to make up their minds whether to assess the damages according to their erroneous price, or according to their fairer schedule prices—there being a margin of a million and a quarter. In the first case it might be hard to show any profit, and in the second case, they would own that they were not entitled to the contract. On second thoughts, we would advise them to leave it alone.

BUTTER TUBS AND FIRKINS.

DEAR SIR,—Some time ago you published a letter on butter tubs, written by Mr. Clouston, of Peterborough. It has been copied by nearly all the local papers in this district, and has had a tendency to create a prejudice against the hardwood butter tubs manufactured by us. We wrote to Mr. Clouston, explaining the cause of this trouble last season. We enclose a copy of his reply, which we hope you will have the kindness to publish.

Respectfully yours,
GARNETT & GILBERT.
Office of the Ontario Butter Tub Factory, Bethany, 12th June, 1883.

The following is a copy of Mr. Clouston's letter:

To Messrs. Garnett & Gilbert, Bethany.
GENTLEMEN,—I have received your letter of the 6th inst. I am sorry that I was not aware before I sent my letters to the press that you had discontinued the steaming process in preparing staves for the manufacture of butter tubs, and that you were using carefully seasoned wood. I am informed that it is quite safe to pack butter in tinets or tubs made of maple wood, when it is properly seasoned or kiln dried, and I am glad that you have adopted this method. In Montreal they prefer butter put up in tinets for the retail trade, but in England they prefer firkins made of ash wood with slip covers. I also prefer them very much to tubs or tinets made with flat covers. Butter packed in firkins keeps better and is worth more money for shipment than butter in tinets.

Yours truly,
W. CLUSTON.

The Canada Life Assurance Company offers unprecedented inducement to those desirous of having their lives insured. The security offered is unquestionable, the rates are more favourable than any other company, profits can be utilized in the deduction of premiums or in addition to policies. The Canada Life business exceeds that of all other Canadian companies, the capital and accumulated funds amount to over six million of dollars, its annual income exceeds one million dollars, applications were received last year for $5,121,124. No such advantages are offered by other companies. Its expenses are lower than other company in Canada.

Lacrosse Notes.
At a meeting on Friday night the Lacrosse Club decided to accept the challenge of the Uxbridge Club to play for the District Championship on the 28th of June.

A match will be played on Wednesday evening at 6.30 o'clock, between the senior and junior twelves of the Peterborough Club. This will be an interesting match, and the second twelve will give their older brethren enough to engage all their attention for a time.

The Club also decided to take a wise step, namely to erect a higher fence around the grounds. They will also repair the stands on the grounds, and the place will be greatly improved.

Ministers and others attending Conference will do well to note the following low prices at Salisbury & Co's Book Store, George St., Peterborough:—Farrar's Life of St. Paul, published price, $3.00, our price, $1.75; Farrar's Life of Christ, published price, $1.25, our price, $1.00; McCaulley's History of England, 5 volumes, published at $5.00, our price, $3.00; Dickens' Works, in 15 volumes, published price, $22.50, our price, $18.00; Chambers' Encyclopedia, 10 volumes, published price, $25.00, our price, $20.00. Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

Customs and the A. C. A.

The collector of customs has been authorized by the hon. the Minister of Customs to pass duty free, the canoes and kit of members of the American Canoe Association, attending the camp at Stony Lake, in this county, on presentation of member's badge or certificate of membership from Dr. C. A. Niede, the Secretary of the Association, or from N. D. Bank, local secretary. The Secretaries would do well to have a form of certificate ready with blank for name, and thus prevent any delay at the Custom House.

A nice variety of Printed Headlines, to be seen this week at Turnbull's.

Corner Leathers.
Complaints are frequently made of the crowds of loafers that are every day to be seen standing around the street corners. This nuisance is especially bad on the Sabbath day, when the different denominations are going to and coming from Divine worship. The police would confer an everlasting favor on the citizens if they could make those "sun fish" either stay at home or keep off the street corners.

An Explanation.
An error which should not be passed over, crept into our report of the Conference proceedings published yesterday, as to where the next meeting of the Conference should be held. The Rev. Mr. Leary's amendment, that the next meeting be held in Fenton, was adopted, not the original motion in favour of Toronto.

Band Music.

The Fire Brigade Band played a splendid programme of music on the Market Square on Friday evening. They continue to improve every practice, and no doubt if they take part in any competitions this season they will be as successful as they have been in the past.

The Market.

Very large number of farmers and others were in attendance at the market to-day, and the streets have been literally thronged with people until a late hour this afternoon. No doubt the merchants done a good trade.

Court of Revision.

The court of Revision for the town of Peterborough held its final sitting on Friday afternoon, and disposed of the remaining cases amounting to no less than 57.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—Marquis Iseug, the Chinese Ambassador, in an interview here said that the French Government had not answered any of his letters on the Tonquin question. For a year the diplomatic relations between the two countries had been on the very point of being broken off, and were China a less conciliatory country, they would have been broken off long ago. The Chinese Government had not allowed the French to go far without giving them an opportunity of retiring gracefully from their untenable position. As far back as 1890 the Chinese Minister at Paris complained to the French Foreign Minister, De Freycinet, the relations which Tonquin, as a part of Annam, bore to China. De Freycinet declared distinctly that the French Government had no intention whatever of doing anything at Tonquin. About the end of the same year rumours of a French expedition again cropped up, and the Marquis clearly informed De Freycinet that China would not remain a passive spectator of another attempt to disturb the relations of her vassal. In one of his despatches Gambetta wrote that the superiority of China over Annam is only a matter of territorial interest to us, implying his refusal to admit the existence of any actual relationship. Being asked whether China was prepared to open the Red river to European commerce if France retired, the Marquis answered in the affirmative. The Emperor of China had already issued an edict authorizing the Red River to be opened. China will never, said the Marquis, recognise anything done by France in Annam since 1874. France was wretchedly endeavouring to stir up war. The statement of Chamelle Lacour to the Chamber of Deputies that the Annamites were ready to welcome the French soldiers with open arms to relieve them from their Annamite masters was a grave error, as the French are hated by the natives.

AMERICAN.

THE STAR ROUTE FRAUDS.

New York, June 16.—The New York Washington despatch says that the government has not abandoned its purpose to punish the star route thieves. It is understood that the cabinet yesterday discussed the result of the trial of Dorsey, Brady and their associates. The administration regarded the mis-carriage of justice a serious blow. It is reported that there was only one opinion among those present, and that was that all the indictments pending should be tried as soon, and with as much vigor as possible. It is said that it was suggested that Brewster be invited to resign, with the view of replacing him with an Attorney-General who held different views about the star route matter. The President, however, has not asked him to do so.

A RAILWAY DIFFICULTY.

Buenavista, Mexico, June 16.—The night before last the down train from Monterey ran over the body of a Mexican lying on the track. A whole force of Mexicans arrested and lodged in jail, all the hands of the trains that passed. Another train which reached the station yesterday morning, was side tracked and has not been released.

MORMON BAPTISM.

Rutherford, N.C., June 16.—There is great indignation here over the doings of the Mormons. Last evening seven women and three men who had professed that faith were baptised in the creek. Several hundred persons, about half of them women, gathered to see the ceremony. The converts and four missionaries emerged from a small house near the creek about night fall, all being entirely naked. A murmur of surprise was followed by hisses, but the crowd did not interfere with the party. The rite was performed in the middle of the creek. After the ceremony a committee of citizens waited on the Mormons and gave them notice to leave at once on pain of summary punishment. Several of the women in the party are pretty and have born good characters. The Mormons gave an assurance that they would leave to-day for Utah.

CHINESE WAR PREPARATIONS.

New York, June 16.—Large quantities of war material are being purchased in this county by China, and are being shipped via San Francisco to Canton. It is understood that a large establishment at Hion, N.Y., has one contract.

REVOLUTIONARY CELEBRATION.

New Windsor, June 16.—A revolutionary celebration will take place here on the 22nd of June, at the site of the old log temple.

CREMATION IN VOGUE.

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 16.—The remains of Mrs. Beecher arrived from N.Y. yesterday, and will not be cremated until to-day. The furnace is now being heated. Two parties in New York are in communication with managers of the crematory concerning the incineration of sick friends who are expected to die. The body of Mrs. Woolber is expected to-day.

A QUEER ASYLUM.

New York, June 16.—Dr. J. M. Schley, a nephew of congressman Fowler, went to a private insane asylum at Amityville, L. I., to see a patient, and on protesting against the treatment he had received he was terribly assaulted by John Landen, superintendent of the asylum and six of his men. Schley has been laid up for a week.

A SCENE IN COURT.

New York, June 16.—During the trial of John Dovey, yesterday, on the charge of libelling August Belmont, the latter took the stand. Costello, on behalf of Dovey, said that he wanted to show that Belmont was not his name. The witness said Costello was a liar. Costello, on defendant's behalf, said the question as to Belmont's name had created some feeling, and he was willing to give witness the chance to make his statement under oath regarding the matter, and let him answer to his name if he wished to do so. Belmont said, "I will, you know." With flushed face and eyes filled with tears, witness said, "I was surprised into using an expression I should not have used, but which is true. Years ago, because I was a very young man and was entrusted with great interests, from the moment I took an interest in politics, the opposition pointed upon me with most infamous lies, one of them by a man who is dead, whom I befriended, and who came home afterwards and went upon his knees and begged my pardon for defaming my poor—a long pause and tears)—mother. I bear the name of my father and grandfather, of my poor mother, my poor mother who is dead. I have been known by it all my life, and was known by it when I was born, honorably born. I swear it. I wish I were twenty years younger and not holding a position of trust. No man should say anything different to me, or he would regret it. The judge, jury and spectators were much affected.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1883.

A SHINING MARK FOR DETRACTORS.

MR. FOSTER, M. P. for Kings county, N. B., is receiving the high compliment from the Reform press of being made the target for as much abuse and slander as if he were a Cabinet Minister. The reason for this unintentional testimony in his favor is not far to seek. In the first place Mr. Foster is the very foremost of the new members in this Parliament, and he has already used his great abilities and extraordinary oratorical powers most effectively on behalf of the Conservative Government and their measures. In the second place Mr. Foster is a most earnest and consistent advocate of temperance, or rather total abstinence, and has taken a leading part in framing the provisions of the new License Act. This, of course, could not be allowed. Early in the session, with one accord, many Reform papers began to remark that the member for Kings county was a very poor speaker, that he was singularly deficient in originality or ability of any kind, and in short, that he was unworthy of a reply, of notice or of mention, which of course was the reason why they mentioned him so voluminously and so imaginatively. But when Mr. Foster added to perfect a measure to restrict the sale of intoxicating liquors, after the Reform leaders had declined to give any assistance in framing it, thus showing that they preferred party expediency before their vaunted temperance principles, the member for Kings county became utterly intolerable. It was absolutely necessary to crush him at no matter what expenditure of falsehood and slander. Some genius among them, hoping, with the Globe, that the people would believe anything of their government and its supporters if reiterated with sufficient impudence and obstinacy, invented the fiction that Mr. Foster had pronounced in favor of Sunday liquor selling. They knew they were uttering a falsehood, their statements were denied on undoubted authority, but this did not prevent the whole pack from copying and repeating the statement again and again.

We will give from Hansard the report of what Mr. Foster really did say on this subject. On May 31, in Committee of the whole in the discussion on the clause of the new License Bill restricting the sale of liquor on Sunday to lodgers at their meals and at table only, Mr. Foster said:—

"On this question I do not think there is one on either side who believes the implications and obligations which have been so freely made about my position with regard to the matter. The statement was made by Mr. Hodges that in Ontario saloon-keepers were obliged by law to furnish their guests with liquor at any hour of the day between 7 p. m. Saturday, and 6 a. m. Monday. I saw his statement shortly before on Saturday night. There came the option as to whether there should be made on all hours of Sunday to bona fide guests and lodgers, or for a restricted number of hours; and as between those two I chose to have it restricted to three hours rather than have it spread over the day, and this I spoke about as a step in the right direction. That is exactly my position on the question. With reference to newspapers who say this and that about me in connection with the matter, I have nothing to say in this House, but I thought it necessary to make this simple explanation of my position."

Later on in the same discussion in reference to a proposal to lengthen the hours for Sunday sales, we find Mr. Foster reported as saying:—

"With regard to the hours of sale I hope there will be no change made, and that hope is joined in by many others. In the petition from the Archbishop and Bishop, the thirteenth point they make is this:—

"That it may be expressly forbidden for all saloons, taverns, and restaurants to remain open, and for all licensed places to sell intoxicating liquors by retail on Saturday after 7 o'clock at night, or until five o'clock on Monday morning."

This is asked for by Quebec, and by a competent authority. It already prevails in Ontario and no change is desired. With regard to Sunday sale, I would prefer to see total prohibition on the Sabbath. It would relieve the stomachs of many people who drink too much, and they would enjoy the liquor better on Monday. It would be, no doubt, some hardship on those accustomed to having drinks at their meals; but, on the other hand, if you once open the door, a great many will take advantage of that clause, and will importune the bar-keepers and tempt them so much that they will actually sell to them during all hours of the day. But if you say there shall be no sale of liquor on Sunday, and you impose a heavy fine, and provide for the withdrawal of the license, the law will be observed. So I say I am in favor of closing the saloons all day on Sunday. However, if the sense of the Committee is otherwise, I would restrict the sale to a certain number of hours."

Still later in the debate on the same clause he said:—

"To clear up a point I will read the Quebec Sunday closing provision:—

"The present Act shall not apply, in any case, to keepers of hotels and houses for the lodging and entertainment of travellers, &c., who are hereby authorized to sell and supply the same at every hour or every day of the year, Sundays included, to their bona fide boarders or to travellers sojourning at such hotels; but, on Sundays, not elsewhere than in the rooms of such boarders or travellers, or the dining-rooms of such hotels."

These are not extracts selected from speeches, but were every word officially reported as spoken by Mr. Foster on this subject, with the exception of his interjection "Not all through it," when Mr. Ross was incorrectly stating that liquor was totally prohibited on Sunday in New Brunswick.

Some Reform journals, even less scrupulous than the others, have falsely asserted that Mr. Foster voted in favor of Sunday liquor selling—though they well knew the contrary. Again we will quote from Hansard. On May 22nd the following is recorded:—

Mr. SPEAKER.—Shall this Bill be read the third time?

Mr. ROSS (Middlesex).—I beg leave to move that the Bill be not read the third time, but that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole, with instructions to strike out clause sixty-five, which permits the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday.

Mr. DAVIES.—I think the Hon. gentleman should describe more accurately what the resolution means before it is put. I do not think that the motion describes the object of it fairly. This is a provision which regulates the sale of liquor shall take place on Sunday only at meal times. I am in favor of this principle, and I do not wish to be recorded as voting apparently in favor of the indiscriminate sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday. I would be better if the Hon. gentleman would describe the provisions of the Bill more accurately in his motion.

Mr. ROSS offered to accept the suggestion, but the House declined to allow the change. A division was taken upon Mr. Ross' amendment when it was negatived, 66 voting for it and 79 against it. Mr. Foster, M. P. for Kings' County N. B., was among the 66 who voted for Mr. Ross' amendment.

This is the plain unvarnished story as taken from the Parliamentary records, but this will not prevent a repetition of the falsehood against Mr. Foster. These slanders will, however, find that they cannot by such means prevent the eloquent and able member for Kings' from giving efficient support to Conservative measures and temperance legislation.

A CONSIDERABLE SAVING.

In reply to our request for its authority for asserting that Ouderdonk had been or would be given $200,000 more than any other tenderer or that he was the rightful contractor, the Oberon World replies with torrents of abuse. "Does it think that calling, as it does, the foremost men in Canada our 'outrageously corrupt masters,' or 'the racially corrupt knights,' is likely to win over to it the great majority of the people of Canada, who respect the statements thus vilified and have chosen them as their leaders? We beg also to submit that whether or not the editor of the Review is a baby &c., &c., is not the question at issue, and we all know that proverbially the caprice of a certain class of people is praise. Our contemporary utterly ignores the official report of the Government engineers that the price in the tender of Ouderdonk, when figured out by them, amounted to a million dollars less than those of the tenderers with the bogus security, who had made this enormous mistake in their calculations. In the World ignorant that payments were to be made during the progress of the work in accordance with these schedule prices? Or does it mean to say that these professional gentlemen have made a false return to Parliament? According to their computations the World is nearly a million and a quarter of dollars out in its calculations, there being a saving of more than a million of dollars by the Ouderdonk contract instead of a loss of more than $200,000, and so the World calmly ignores them."

FISH LADDERS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I think the letter of "Piscator" in your issue of the 1st of June well worthy the notice of yourself and the public, and it should more particularly engage the earnest attention of our fish-overseers on the waters of the Trent Valley Canal. As the works are now in progress it appears to me that the contractors should be compelled to place at each dam on the route an efficient fish-way or fish ladder for the migration of fish. The Fishery Department has gone to the trouble and expense of placing some thousands of salmon and other fish in our back waters, and failing was prohibited in those lakes for two or three years to encourage their increase. But some years have now elapsed and no one has ever caught or seen any of the former, and the source of the streams and there deposit their ova. I believe you will find there is already an act in existence relative to fish-ways, which should compulsory have been placed on each and every dam under a heavy penalty, but then far too late retained in a dead letter. Now, if this the case the fish-overseers on the route of the T. V. C. should as soon as possible put it in operation, and the government should set a good example by placing such fish ladders on all government dams. I think we may count on you to aid us in carrying out what is a somewhat important thing. In August next there will be thousands of tourists, canoeists, sportsmen, valetudinarians, &c., &c., from all parts of the United States and Canada, and many from Europe, who will thoroughly appreciate their beauty, their resources for sporting, and health-giving qualities, so that we may fairly hope that our back waters will be an indispensable adjunct in the grand tour.

DOMINION DAY.

We understand that the committee of management have decided, on account of not receiving the necessary financial encouragement from the Lakeside hotel keepers, that no celebration of Dominion Day will be held in Lakeside this year. It is a matter of serious regret that the committee have been discouraged, as there has been no celebration of the kind in Lakeside for some time.

SEMI-ANNUAL ORANGE COUNTY MEETING. The semi-annual meeting of the Orange County Lodge of West Peterborough was held in the Orange Hall, Lakeside, on Tuesday evening last, the 12th inst. The meeting was largely attended from the town of Peterborough, the village of Lakeside and other parts of the county. It was unanimously decided to celebrate the coming anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in Port Hope, and a committee consisting of Bro. Weir, County Master, McWilliam, Past County Master, Waram, Deputy County Master, Crowley, District Master of Peterborough District, and Sanders, District Master of Lakeside District, were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

SHEARING SHEEP.

Mr. F. Walden sheared seven sheep for Mr. A. Fitzgerald one day last week on a bet, in forty-five minutes. The bet or wager was that he would shear seven sheep in an hour, and the feat was accomplished in 15 minutes less time. It is said that Mr. Walden will shear ten average sheep in an hour.

THE WEATHER.

There has been considerable wet weather lately in this part of the country. The crops sown on low lands have suffered severely in consequence, and the prospects are not very bright for such crops if the wet weather continues. The crops on lands which are not considered low are looking well, particularly the fall wheat, of which a large area was sown last fall. A wanted for the balance of June is warm dry weather, and a bountiful harvest will be the result.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages poverty. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

FRIDAY, July 15.—The Conference resumed at 2 o'clock, the Rev. J. W. Webster leading in prayer.

The Secretary read a list of the members transferred from other conferences to the Toronto Conference, and from the Toronto Conference and the other Conferences, which was recorded.

The reception into full connection and the ordination of J. R. Bell was deferred to allow him to attend college.

The question as to whether the young men were members of the Conference when the recommendation of the District Meetings were adopted, or whether they could be accounted members before their ordination, caused considerable discussion, and opinion was divided on the question. A number of memorials were read from the District Meetings and referred to the proper committees.

His Honor JUDGE DEAN, of Lindsay, was introduced to the Conference, and addressed the members. He would, he said, be pleased when all the American churches would be united in one. He had a strong affection for the Methodist Church, and he adjured them not to allow any matter of form or any trifling matter to keep the Methodist bodies apart. If all this discussion and the resolutions regarding union were allowed to miscarry, it would leave undesirable roots of bitterness. If the agitation did not result in union, and resulted in widening the breach, he feared that it would have a bad effect on the general public mind. When people saw three ministers striving to gather in the lambs into three churches in one place, which place was not able to support more than one minister respectively, they questioned whether there was really only one fold and one Shepherd. After further remarks on the union question, he sat down amid very loud and continued applause.

The Rev. Wm. Briggs, Book Steward, read his annual report. The past had been a year of prosperity. With the exception of hymn books, more books, Christian Guardians, and Sunday School papers had been sold than during last year. The book room buildings had been improved and enlarged. They had issued 191,000 books and pamphlets during the year, and their sales of books amounted to $101,151, a decrease of $7,000 from the last year, which was accounted for by the decrease in the sale of hymn books. The Guardian circulation had increased by 1,500, and the Magazine 700. The circulation of the Banner, Pleasant Hours and other Sunday School papers and lesson helps had all increased. The use of foreign papers in the Sunday Schools was referred to. The new Sunday School hymn book had been a remarkable success. The profits for the year, after all expenses had been deducted, amounted to $21,577.91. The future was hopeful of still greater success. He returned his thanks to the Book Committee for the assistance they rendered. The Montreal book room was also successful, and its net profits for the year amounted to $458.68.

The Rev. Dr. DEWART then addressed the Conference. Religion had a tendency to awaken the intellect to activity, and it was the duty of the church to supply the wants of those thus awakened by furnishing suitable literature. A reading church was a stable church. An intelligent people would have more stability of faith. People who read and thought saw the needs of the world, and were more ready to give. No other papers or bookshops could do the work of these church agencies. He esteemed his re-election by the General Conference as a very high honor. The Guardian was a Christian family paper, and it was conducted on that line. Some of the lessons he had learned from the Guardian when a boy he had never forgotten. They had 1,500 more paying subscribers than they had last year, and he thanked the brethren for their co-operation, and he hoped that they would give further assistance.

The Rev. Dr. HARPER moved that the Conference desire to express its satisfaction with the reports, and that the thanks of the Conference be tendered to the Rev. Wm. Briggs, Book Steward, and the editors, the Rev. Dr. Dewart and the Rev. Dr. Withrow.—Carried unanimously.

The Rev. J. W. WEBSTER moved, seconded by the Rev. J. W. TOTTEN.—That the Conference disapprove of the action of the Mission Board in granting money to self-sustaining circuits.—Carried.

A memorial was read from forty-one widows of deceased ministers, expressing their fear that their allowances might be diminished by the union, and asking that the Conference might look carefully after their interests.

It was decided, on motion, that the President of the Conference, and the Chairman of the District where the Conference was held, together with the Superintendent of the neighboring District, do prepare the plan of the Conference services.

The Rev. Dr. HUNTER moved, that if any person preferred a charge against a minister of this Conference, and the Committee pronounce the charge frivolous, the accuser be compelled to pay the expenses of the investigation, and that the accuser must make a deposit sufficient to cover the expenses, which should be paid back if the committee decided there were grounds for the charge.

A discussion followed, and the impression being that the motion trenching on legislation, and was beyond the jurisdiction of the Conference, it was withdrawn.

The Conference then adjourned, the Rev. Dr. Rose pronouncing the benediction.

SATURDAY, June 16.

The Conference opened at 9 o'clock with devotional exercises, the Rev. G. T. Richardson leading in prayer.

The Rev. R. BROOKING moved that the Conference recommend that the first prayer meeting in each month be a prayer meeting for missions. In moving the motion he told how he had been sustained, while he had been in the interior of Africa, by the knowledge that his brethren at home were praying for their missionaries at least once every month.—Carried.

The Committee on Superannuation reported, recommending that the following be given a superannuated relation:—P. D. Will (for one year), W. Tindall (for one year), and Henry Wilkinson.

The Rev. Dr. HUNTER moved that as the Victoria and New Westminster districts ignored the law of the church and did not take up collections for the connectional fund, that the President call their attention to the fact, and request them to take up the collection.—Carried.

The Rev. W. M. WYTHEW, DD, was introduced and addressed the Conference. He had been appointed to a new office, that of Treasurer of the Sunday School Extension Fund. The income last year was $2,893, of which the Conference contributed $1,140 and received $377 in grants, the remainder being used to assist poorer schools. At every preaching place in the connection there should be a Sunday School, and this Society is for the purpose of establishing them. Some of the letters asking for aid were of an interesting character. The increase in the number of schools was 213 during the past year, and more catechisms were used and the number of conversions was larger. Four years ago they had eleven thousand illustrated papers in circulation, and now the number was 65,000. These papers were circulated with temperance sentiment, missionary sentiment and loyalty. No church in Christendom gives as cheap literature to its schools as this church did. He urged them to use their influence towards advancing their own papers in the Sunday Schools. The last year was the best year the Magazine had ever had. Its increase of circulation was between 600 and 700. The staff of contributors was now large and included the best literary men in the world.

The PRESIDENT said that it was a matter for congratulation that the publishing interests were so prosperous. The Rev. GEORGE CORRIE, of the London Conference, was introduced to the conference as the statistical historian of Methodism. He addressed the Conference briefly, explaining the nature of his statistical publication. A motion that the Rev. Cecil Harper be left without an appointment, in accordance with his own request, for one year, was carried.

The Rev. Dr. ROSE commended highly the statistical work published by Dr. Corrie.

The Rev. R. DUKES moved a vote of thanks to the unknown donor of the life of Dr. Duff, which book had been sent to the ministers.—Carried.

The Rev. Dr. ROSE laid before the Conference the aims of the Ministerial Aid Society, as it now exists. He explained the constitution and benefits of the Society at length, and asked them to appoint two ministers to aid in revising the constitution.

A motion that the thanks of the Conference be tendered to Dr. Rose for his laud statement, was carried.

A motion that a committee of five be appointed was carried, and Dr. Rose was asked to nominate the committee.

The report of the Memorial Committee was read by the Rev. J. B. Clarkson. M. A., recommending the formation of catechumen classes was not necessary; that it was deemed undesirable to fix any definite time for the closing of the financial year; and that the resolution from district meetings on the question of union be referred to the favourable consideration of the Conference.

As to the petition of the widows, they recommended that there were no grounds for their anxiety.

This recommendation was adopted, but a motion to re-consider it was carried by a majority of 58 to 48.

The Rev. J. G. LAIRD moved, seconded by the Rev. W. TINDALL.—That the closing clause be expanded, and the petition be referred to the Conference for consideration.

The Rev. Mr. BLACKBROOK argued that the clause expressed no opinion on the basis of union. The clause was referred back to the committee, amended so as to express no opinion, and adopted.

The Rev. JOHN BREXID read a report of the Stationing Committee, recommending the formation of the following missions:—Monmouth (new mission), and Dunford and Lindsay East (changed from circuits) in the Lindsay District; six new missions in the Brandon District, four in Portage la Prairie District, eight in Regina District, and eight in Saskatchewan District, all in Manitoba and the West; Wooler, in Colburn District, to be changed from a circuit; Madoc North, Belleville District, to be changed from a circuit; and four new missions in Algoma District. The report was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. ROSE nominated the following as the Committee on the Ministerial Aid Society:—The Revs. Dr. Burwash, T. S. Keough, S. J. Hunter, Dr. Sutherland, Wm. Briggs and Dr. Hunter. The nomination was approved.

The Conference then adjourned until 10 o'clock a.m. on Monday.

The gaps in Turnbull's Stock of History filled up this week with several new lines by express.

A Public Park.

Perhaps, after Peterborough has grown to be a considerable city and every foot of available land is enormously increased in price, our people may awake to the fact that it is desirable to have a public park. To hasten the formation of this opinion, we beg to call attention to the good example of the people of Bobcaygeon, as shown in the following extract from the Independent:—

"PARK BURL.—By the end of the week the floating wood along the Park beach will have been cleared away, and it has been contemplated to have a general 'Bee' on Tuesday for the purpose of putting the Park in order for the season. The benefit of the Park is acknowledged by all, and besides being a great attraction for the summer visitors is a continual source of pleasure to our own people. A few hours exercise and a little tobacco in the open air, will not seriously injure any of our citizens, and whatever work is accomplished will contribute much to the general enjoyment."

University of Toronto. We understand that a meeting of the graduates residing in the County of Peterborough has been called for Thursday evening next, the 21st inst., at 7.30, at the Mechanics' Institute, for the purpose of organizing a County Association of graduates, and to appoint a representative member of the Executive Committee of Convocation. Of the 15 or 20 graduates residing in this county there are about twelve at present residing here, so that a good meeting may be anticipated.

A Great Institution.

The surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, operating from their different offices, Montreal, Toronto, Detroit, Mich., and Winnipeg, Man., are treating more patients suffering from Consumption, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Pharyngitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, than any other institution in the world. We will treat no case we think incurable. We can help every case and cure the majority we undertake to treat if patients will strictly follow our directions. By the use of cold inhalants conveyed to the diseased parts by the Spirometer the wonderful invention of Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, and other proper local and constitutional treatment, we are curing thousands of cases of the above named diseases every year. Write enclosing stamp for list of questions of copy of International News, published monthly, which will give you full information and reliable references. USE YOUR EYES!

Prices not Promises! Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whether the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. opened into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & Co.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond avail.

WE HARP ON THIS.—The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

MURDER IN MEXICO.

A Young Man Shot and Dies in a Few Minutes.

From the Rochester Herald we learn that Mr. R. F. McCabe, who was a cousin of Mr. E. McCabe of this town, and has other relatives living here, has fallen by the hand of an assassin. The Herald of June 8th quotes the press despatch announcing the fact and publishes the following in addition:—

The R. B. McCabe of the above telegram was R. F. McCabe, son of Owen E. McCabe of 53 West avenue. The father yesterday received the following letter, from which it will be seen that his son was the victim of an assassin:—

UNITED STATES CONSULATE GENERAL, CITY OF MEXICO, May 22d, 1883. To the family of R. F. McCabe, 53 West avenue, Rochester, N.Y.:

It is with profound regret that I have to communicate tidings of the death of R. F. McCabe at Acambaro, on the line of the National Constructed railroad. The news came by telegraph, and the following details are copied from a letter written by an officer of the road May 21st 1883: "You have heard of the shooting affair of last night. R. F. McCabe and F. V. Syberg both are both dead and buried. Syberg shot McCabe through the door of his room through the right lung."

McCabe opened his door, drew his pistol and put one ball through Syberg's head, one through his clothes and one through the gate, Syberg fell on his face dead and McCabe returned to his room and died in about fifteen minutes. Both were buried this afternoon at five o'clock in the Municipal graveyard at the upper end of the town. Mr. Wickham read the Episcopal burial service. All foreigners attended the funeral."

The latest telegram runs thus: "McCabe's home is 53 West avenue, Rochester, N.Y. His last words were to telegraph his people. The blame was entirely with the other man."

I have been requested by the secretary of the company to communicate these facts to his family and friend.

I am very respectfully yours, DAVID A. S. TROTTER, United States Consul-General.

Young McCabe was born in Rochester, and was in the twenty-fifth year of his age. He left home about seven years ago, and has since been employed in Texas and New Mexico by the Western Union telegraph company. At the time of his death he was a member of the construction force on the telegraph line between El Paso and the City of Mexico. He had been able to visit his parents but once since his departure, and that visit was made about two years ago. He was not of a quarrelsome nature, but on the other hand was known as a steady, temperate, industrious young man.

The Hon. Jas. Young, the new Provincial Treasurer, was re-elected for North Brant on Saturday by a majority of 549.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Cloudy to rainy weather, followed to-night by clearing weather, with west to north-west winds.

A Painful Rumour.

A report has come from Winnipeg that Mr. W. N. Kennedy has failed to account to the Government for fees collected by him as Registrar to a large amount. As the source through which the report comes is suspicious, and there is apparently great exaggeration, we have not hitherto noticed the rumour, hoping to get more authentic information, which however has not yet come to hand. We are not in a hurry to report or believe ill of a gentleman who has always hitherto had a good character.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE ANNUAL SESSION OF THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

SATURDAY, June 16. In the evening a service was held in the Sunday School room. The Rev. Peter Addison preached a practical and vigorous sermon from the middle clause of the 13th verse of the 16th chapter of St. John:—"He will guide you into all truth." Afterwards the annual meeting of the Theological Union was held.

SUNDAY, June 17. The Conference Love Feast was held at 9 o'clock in the morning, and was a very profitable exercise. At 11 o'clock the Rev. Dr. Sutherland preached an eloquent sermon, after which six candidates for the ministry, who had completed their probation and had been received, were ordained by the President, assisted by several clergymen.

In the afternoon a Sunday School meeting was held in the George Street Church. There was a large attendance, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. E. R. Young who addressed the children, and the Rev. D. F. Gee, whose remarks were principally addressed to the parents. The singing by the children was very good.

In the evening the Rev. Hugh Johnston M. A. of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, preached an eloquent and effective sermon from St. Matthew xxii. 42, "What think you of Christ?"

MONDAY, June 18. The Conference opened at 10 o'clock. The 772nd hymn was sung. The Secretary read a portion of Scripture and the Rev. Mr. Matthews led in prayer.

The Rev. Dr. SUTHERLAND gave notice that on the order of the day being called over in the afternoon he would move, seconded by the Rev. H. Johnston.—That a message of sympathy be sent to the Rev. Mr. McFadden, of Brampton, who was stricken with sickness, and the Conference letter writers were instructed to write a letter of sympathy to the Rev. Dr. Wood.

The Rev. Dr. HARPER paid a compliment to the Rev. Dr. Sutherland for his sermon on Sunday morning, and moved that the thanks of the Conference be tendered to him, and also that he be requested to furnish it for publication.

The Rev. Dr. ROSS seconded the motion and it was carried.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the Rev. Hugh Johnston for his sermon in the evening, and he was requested to publish it.

The Rev. S. O. STAFFORD, ex-President of the Montreal Conference, who had been transferred to the Toronto Conference, was introduced, and briefly addressed the assembly.

The Rev. Dr. SUTHERLAND gave notice of a motion for the acceptance of the basis of union.

The Rev. S. J. HUNTER gave notice that he would move an amendment.

The Rev. Dr. HUNTER gave notice of an amendment to the amendment.

These resolutions were ordered to be printed and distributed among the ministers.

The Rev. Dr. BURWASH read the report of the Educational Committee, recommending that Robt. Whittington be allowed to attend college.

Adopted.

The Rev. R. M. BURNS, B. A., Assistant Secretary, read the report of the collections for the superannuation fund, which showed that the total collections of the districts in the Conference amounted to $9,964.66, an increase of $650.11.

The Rev. N. H. HILL moved, seconded by the Rev. J. H. RUTAN.—That the speakers on the basis of union be confined to ten minutes each, except the mover and seconder of the resolutions, who shall be allowed twenty minutes each.

The motion was lost by an overwhelming majority.

The Rev. E. BARRASS, M. A., read the Sunday School Committee's report. There was an increase in the contributions to the fund of $86.87. There were 1,417 conversions during the year, and 5,780 scholars attended class meetings. There were 41,803 scholars reported, and there was an increase in the number learning the catechism. Several suggestions were made as to the Sunday School publications, and Superintendents were urged to use the papers and aids published by this church.

The Rev. JAMES GRAY, of the London Conference, was introduced to the Conference. He addressed them in reference to an investment which belonged to the three western Conferences, and asking the Conference to say in what way they would wish it applied. The Montreal and London Conferences decided to apply it to the Superannuation Fund.

A motion was carried for the appointment of a committee in the matter.

The Rev. T. CULLEN read the report of the Temperance Committee. It made a number of valuable suggestions, and recommended the appointment of the Rev. T. W. Campbell, B. D., as Temperance Secretary.

After considerable discussion in which it was strongly urged that pure and unfermented wine be used at the sacrament, the report was recommended to give the committee an opportunity of considering other matters.

The Rev. H. B. MATTHEWS and Mr. Price were appointed auditors of the Contingent Fund.

The Rev. S. W. TOTTEN read the report of the Church Property Committee, which was adopted.

The Rev. H. S. MATTHEWS read the report of the Superannuation Committee, which recommended that superannuated relation be granted to Geo. Jacques, J. B. Armstrong (one year), and W. E. Smith.

The Conference adjourned at twenty minutes past twelve o'clock.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Rev. Florence McCarthy, pastor of St. Cecilia Church, Williamsburg, was arrested yesterday on the complaint of Kate Dixon, his servant, who charges him with criminal assault. The girl says that McCarthy carried her to his room, detained her for several hours, and afterwards prevented her from leaving the house. Accused was held in $5,000 bail. A suit brought by Miss Cronin for $20,000 damages on a similar charge is now pending against McCarthy.

IMMIGRANTS WITH SMALLPOX.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The steamer Celtic, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool had three cases of smallpox aboard. The 500 steerage passengers were vaccinated before landing.

FAST TROTTING.

NEW YORK, June 16.—At the driving park yesterday afternoon, Wm. H. Vanderbilt drove Maud S. and Ildine in a wagon, making a mile in 2 1/4 and beating the best record, that of Edward and Dick Swiveler which was 2 1/2. A number of spectators made the time 2 1/4.

A DRUNKEN EXCURSION.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Sunday summer excursion season was opened at Hastings on the Hudson River yesterday by two fights, a smash-up, a volley of stones, two pistol shots and the breaking of two windows of the New York Central passenger train. There were about 500 persons in the party. Liquor was sold in such quantities on the way that drunkenness had become one of the features of the day. One fight occurred at Schurk's hotel, because the proprietor refused to allow his house to be used for improper purposes. The men were finally thrown out. The next fight took place in the street, between the police and the railroad station. Patrick Hogan had a row with another man, who was worsted. Fifteen of his friends ran to the spot in their shirt sleeves, swearing, picking up stones, and threatening to kill Hogan. A general fight ensued. Women joined in the throng, stones were thrown and pistols drawn. Two shots were fired. Hogan was taken away after being severely beaten. Detectives arrived after the party had left.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Nearly Two Hundred Children Killed in an English Theatre.

LONDON, June 16.—A terrible disaster is reported from Sunderland, England. A large number of children attending an entertainment in Victoria Hall were hastening to leave the building when a crash occurred. Several children fell, and others in the rear pressing forward fell on top of the first until one hundred and eighty-eight children, ranging from four to fourteen years of age, lay a bleeding and inanimate mass. The scenes at the rescuing of the bodies were appalling.

Deservingly Popular.

The Port Hope News says:—"Rev. John Shaw received a unanimous invitation from the Quarterly Board to continue his pastoral labours at Peterborough. The reverend gentleman is deservedly popular."

A NEW VICTIM.

This policy of the so-called "Reformers" of slandering the leading men of the country because they cannot be successfully attacked with fairer weapons, is now well known. Another most flagrant instance of this diabolical manner of attempting to injure political opponents is the article in the Examiner headed "Tupperism." Not only is Sir Charles Tupper described as growing rich by prostituting his official position, but Sir John Macdonald, the Hon. A. W. MacLellan, the Hon. A. G. Archibald and the late Hon. Joseph Howe, are accused of aiding and abetting, or of condoning this corruption. As these attacks upon Canada's leading politicians have been refuted over and over again—as they are so false and scandalous that no "Reform" leader has ventured to disprove himself by fathering them and bringing them formally before Parliament—we do not feel called upon to notice them specially upon this occasion.

But in this shameless article a new victim is placed in the pillory by these despicable scandal mongers, and it is only fitting that this fresh outrage should be condemned.

Mr. Sanford Fleming, C.E., is assailed so violently, and such grave charges are brought against him, that if they were true he would be proved a dishonest professional man, a corrupt public official, and a man unworthy of the society of anyone with a reputation to lose, or with the slightest regard for honesty. To show that we have not exaggerated the gravity of these accusations and insinuations, we quote the portions of the article more immediately concerning Mr. Fleming, which are as follows:

"The engineer appointed by the Nova Scotia Government to oversee the work of construction, was Mr. Sanford Fleming. (sic.) In some way or other, certain contractors on the road (from Halifax to Pictou) found themselves crowded to the wall and forced to surrender their contracts. The unfinished work was taken up and finished by the Tupper Government, under the superintendence of Mr. Fleming. How it came about, we are not prepared to say, but from that time forward Mr. Sanford Fleming—(sic.)—was regarded as a wealthy man, and Dr. Tupper ceased to be dependent on a petty municipal office for part of his living."

"Sometime after the Pictou Railway Scandal came the union of the Province, and the appointment of Mr. Sanford Fleming as Chief Engineer—need it be said by whose influence? The incompetence and waste which characterized the government of that road (apparently the Intercolonial) during the process of construction, have passed into a proverb, and for this incompetence Mr. Fleming and Mr. MacLellan were largely responsible, the former as engineer, the latter as one of the three Commissioners entrusted with the business supervision of the work."

"Mr. Sanford Fleming was placed in charge of the work" (the Canada Pacific Railway) "and squandered millions of dollars to little purpose in the prosecution of the Pictou Railway, and they got the contract" (for Section B, of the C. P. R.) "with plenty of time to prepare the deposit."

"Frederic and Pithole were strongly recommended by Sanford Fleming, who knew them of old, in connection with the Pictou Railway, and they got the contract" (for Section B, of the C. P. R.) "with plenty of time to prepare the deposit."

"It bodes ill for the future of the Dominion that men like Tupper and Fleming and MacLellan, who are so ready to work so persistently and openly for their own advantage, and find a majority in Ontario willing to condone their misdeeds. Why should we tolerate such Ottawa corruption which we would not think of tolerating at Toronto?"

We submit to our readers whether there could be a clearer case of an attempt to blacken a man's character. And it is well to consider what Mr. Sanford Fleming's character and what his history have been. For years he has been a professional gentleman of high repute, he has been a public official entrusted by administrations of opposite politics with the supervision and control of the location, the planning and the construction of important public works, with all their numerous staff. As chief engineer of the Intercolonial railway, as chief engineer of the Canada Pacific railway, his name has become widely and favourably known, not only throughout Canada, but in all the civilized nations. He has also made himself a reputation in the scientific world, notably by his project for establishing a common time and great meridional lines, a proposition which has attracted the attention, and in many cases the approval, of the scientific men of all nations. Such a reputation is not only of value to Mr. Fleming personally, but it is also a credit to Canada as a nation, and it is an act of disloyalty to the Dominion, as well as an outrage towards Mr. Fleming, to impugn it lightly and without sufficient cause.

Now we do not wish to be misunderstood. If

Mr. Fleming has been guilty of the offences thus charged against him, neither his public services nor his good reputation should shelter him from disgrace and punishment. But both on his own behalf and for the credit of our country, which owes to him additional lustre, his past record should ensure the utmost caution in publishing or believing any charges to his disadvantage.

But we must go further and say that for our part we do not believe one word of this dastardly and unscrupulous attack. The very source of the accusation and the manner of bringing it are in themselves almost tantamount to a refutation. If Mr. Fleming had, during his long and honorable career, laid himself open to such charges it is most improbable that they would never have been brought before and from a more honorable quarter. If the Examiner were possessed of any proof of the truth of its charges (and nothing but the strongest testimony could justify their publication) it would have been its bounden duty to lay its information before the proper authorities, so that the law courts or Parliament could deal with the matter. Such should have been its course if it had any foundation for its charges, and that it has adopted such a cowardly alternative is almost proof of its dishonesty. Its motive apparently is to give an air of likelihood to its oft-repeated scurrilous charges against its political opponents, regardless of the private character of an innocent man should suffer. For a further motive there seems every probability, both from the manner and the matter of the attack, that some private enemy has conspired with the dishonest journalist to do Mr. Fleming this injury, that, in short, it is because his honesty has thwarted the scheme of some dishonest man that Mr. Fleming is himself accused of dishonesty. It will require very different testimony from this to make us believe that Mr. Fleming has disgraced himself and his honorable position.

We will conclude with one further observation. Mr. Sanford Fleming has in Peterborough many warm personal friends, (we have not the honour of being among them) and family connections of good position and repute. It is not here then that such charges should be brought on slight grounds or doubtful evidence, far less if, as we believe, they are altogether unfounded. His relations and friends should not shield Mr. Fleming from the consequences if he has done wrong, but consideration for their feelings should have dictated the utmost circumspection if a painful duty had to be performed. We are convinced that it was not a painful duty but a fendish pleasure in slandering an honorable man, and bringing him down if possible to their own level.

Mr. Fleming's reputation is not likely to suffer from such an attack from such a quarter.

A writ has been issued by Messrs. Cameron and McPhillips, on behalf of Mr. John Shields, against the Globe Printing Company, the Hon. T. W. Anglin, J. D. Edgar, James Cotton, and M. Butt-Hawson. The writ claims $50,000 damages for a libel contained in an issue of the Globe newspaper on the 1st of June, 1883, charging the plaintiff and Mr. J. J. McDonald with having used money belonging to the firm of Mr. Manning, McDonald, McLaren & Co. for corrupt purposes at elections. A suit being thus pending we will not discuss the subject, for that would be to follow the bad example of the principal defendant which in acknowledging the service of the writ reiterates the charges as to which the complaint is made. The Globe has made certain accusations, those who are in the best position to know have denied them one and all, and thus we are content to leave the matter till a decision is reached in a court of law.

THERE are so many improvements in the new License Act, that it is not surprising that we omitted to mention one or two of considerable importance in our comparison between it and the Crooks Act. The new act provides that an applicant refused as unfit to hold a license shall not obtain one for two years. Municipal Councils are authorized to delegate any person to oppose the grant of a license by the board. Hotels are required to have an entrance distinct from that to the bar. The Inspectors are required to visit all licensed premises quarterly at least, and to report. None of these salutary provisions are in the Crooks Act.

If we were to call the Cobourg World "a boor" and its proprietor a "hog" probably they would think us very rude, as we doubt we would be, and therefore we will carefully avoid applying such terms to them. But we may remark that it would be no more rude that it is of the Cobourg World repeatedly to call Sir Charles Tupper by a portion only of his name.

REMARKABLE VIADUCT.

What will be the highest viaduct in the New World is the one now being made (and near completion) for the New York, Lake Erie & Western Railroad over the Kinsus Creek, four miles from Alton, in McKean county, at a height of 2,100 feet above the sea level. This work, designed by Messrs. Barnes & Pugsley, will have a total length of 2,051 feet between the abutments, and a height of 301 feet between the level of the rail and the bed of the river. The line is supported on twenty straight piers of wrought iron work, 61 feet apart. The construction requires nearly 4,000,000 pounds of iron, and 7,000 yards of masonry, and the cost is about $300,000. This bridge, exceeding by sixty feet in height the Niagara Suspension Bridge, and by forty-five feet the Portage Railroad bridge, was recently stated by the Scientific American to be "the highest in the world." But this title rightly belongs to the railway viaduct of Garabit, in France, now being erected over a river. The locality is in the department of Cantal. This bridge, planned by MM. Bony & Boyer, and constructed by M. Eiffel, has a total length of 565 metres (say 1,886 feet) and near the middle of the great centre arch (which is the most remarkable feature) the height from the bed of the river to the rail is 134 metres, or 440 feet. A good idea of the height is given in La Nature, where it is shown that Notre Dame with the Vendôme column placed on the top of its towers would clear the arch. The viaduct was begun in 1881, and it is to be completed next year. It is estimated to cost about 3,000,000 francs.

THE MIDLAND AND LUMBER.

Proposals of the Messrs. Stricklands to Remove their Bradford Mills to Orillia.

The Orillia Packet says that at a special meeting of the Town Council, held on Friday evening, June 8th, the Mayor read the following letter he had received from Mr. Cox, manager of the Midland Railway:—"We have been in communication with the Messrs. R. & G. Strickland in reference to the removal of the Bradford Mills to some point on the Midland. We have suggested to them Orillia, and they have pointed out to us difficulties in bringing logs from the Black River to Lake Couchiching over the Portage Company's tramway. If this difficulty were removed Mr. Strickland says all their timber on the Black River, about 150 million feet, could be brought to Orillia, which would be the best point to manufacture at. They suggest that the town of Orillia and our selves ought to take steps to connect Lake St. John with Lake Couchiching, by a canal, which would at once open a water highway for all the productions of the forest on those waters, which are reported to be very extensive. It seems to me that the idea is a good one, and it is strange that Orillia has not taken action in the matter before, instead of allowing all the forest produced to go past them, by way of the Severn River to Georgian Bay, and Muskoka River to Gravenhurst. Messrs. Strickland think, to accomplish this and the outlay would not exceed $30,000. My object in writing is that if you think it advisable, I would meet a committee of your Council, and would advise the Messrs. Strickland to attend, who are now the holders of the Dominion Bank limits, Thompson Smith limits and Killard limits, which are all tributary to the Black River, and if the mill was moved to Orillia they would pay out annually from fifty to sixty thousand dollars, and give employment to a large number of men."

His Worship said he had been speaking of the matter to Mr. Scadding, had told him the mills would be larger than those of the Longford Lumber Company; Orillia would also be made the distributing point for the shanties. In reply to Councillor Miller, he said the Council could grant no aid beyond the corporation limits; but the Council had power to remit taxes for ten years, and with the sanction of the freeholders, of granting a bonus. Councillor Jupp said the Railway was interested in the matter. The Reeve did not care who was interested, so long as it was for the benefit of the town. He would not vote bonus for anything, but favoured appointing a committee to confer with the applicants as to what encouragement might be given them. It would not be for Mr. Tait to remit taxes to a new enterprise and continue to tax him. Councillor Thompson said the new mill would not interfere with the home market of Mr. Tait, except for slabs, and the latter could not meet the demand for them. It would be better to receive their proposal, before discussing what could be given. Councillor Miller and Mayor thought it would be preferable to have them meet the whole Council, but the other members thought the smaller the committee the better. On the motion of Councillor Thompson and the Reeve, the Mayor was requested to name a committee and communicate their action to Mr. Cox. His Worship named the Reeve, Councillors Miller, McKay, Thompson, and himself.

THE DAKOTA PARADISE.

The Delian Express—An Extract from a "Tory Organ."

The Chicago News says: "The colossal lying about the great advantages of Dakota is just beginning to be exposed. Farmers who have gone there begin sending letters back telling the truth about the country, and disabusing the public mind of the impression that the territory is the land of the promise. The fact is that the land is fair, the climate is severe, timber is scarce, water is not always good, and the disadvantages of all new countries must be endured. Whoever goes there expecting to find more, or to acquire less will be disappointed, and it is feared that disappointment will be the lot of far too many who, deceived by the rosy accounts of paid correspondents, have hastily sacrificed their property in the older states to find homes there."

The Twelfth at Midland.
The Midland Free Press says that there will be an immense gathering of Orangemen here on the 13th of July. The Orange brethren from all parts of the County of Simcoe and the Midland district will be present. It is expected to be the largest gathering of the kind that has ever taken place in this section.

St. John's Church.
This church was well attended at both morning and evening services on Sunday. The Rev. Philip Harding assisted the Rector, Rev. J. W. R. Beck, in the morning services, and in the evening preached a sermon. The singing of the choir continues to attract much attention, as they are improving every week. On Sunday some beautiful music was sung by the choir, the hymn, "Light's Abode, Celestial Salem," by Mr. Alex. Elliott being especially well rendered, and the two offertory pieces by Mr. Ewing on the organ, were charming and effective.

Excursion to Idyl Wild.
Don't fail to attend the excursion to Idyl Wild on Thursday, June 21st, under the auspices of Carwell Lodge, I.O.G.T. A most enjoyable time is promised to all who will attend. Tea will be provided free. Coming back in the evening the boat will call at Campbelltown for tea. Every amusement will be provided. This promises to be the picnic of the season. A temperance bar will be on board, and a palace snow will be on hand. Gent's tickets, 50 cts.; ladies, 40 cts.; and children under 12 years, 25 cts. The boat will leave the Sherbrooke street wharf at 8 a.m., returning in good time at night.

A Novelty.
Mr. F. W. Heather has shown us a hen's egg that is certainly a novelty. It is about an inch and a half long and three quarters of an inch in diameter. The finding of the egg was a surprise, as the hen which laid it, a Spanish hen, usually laid large eggs, often with double yolks. But they met with a greater surprise when they poked their noses in the ends of the egg to draw out the yolk, for inside the outer shell they found another egg, about the size of a small marble, and slightly elongated. The shell of the inner egg was a little soft. We respectfully call the attention of the Lindsay Post and Osnosce Herald to this item.

The Centreville Tragedy.
At the trial at Cobourg on Saturday of Altin, charged with feloniously slaying Frank Little at Centreville, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of assault.

The Cells.
The police cells were empty on Saturday and Sunday nights. There is one thing noticeable about the presence of so many Italians in this vicinity, not one of them has yet appeared in the Police Court.

Theatrical.
The Port Hope Times says:—"The Amateurs have decided to take 'Writing on the Wall' to Peterborough on or about the 28th of this month. Every encouragement has been given them by gentlemen in Peterborough, who witnessed the play in Port Hope."

The Hottest Yet.
Sunday was the hottest day we have experienced this season. The heat was intense throughout the whole day—and last night, well it was so warm that we venture to state many people spent a restless and sleepless night. Although a heavy shower visited us in the afternoon and rain fell heavily during the night and to-day, it has not made much change in the temperature. If this is only a specimen of what is to come, this summer will indeed be a scorcher.

Ministers and Others attending Conference will do well to note the following low prices at Salisbury & Co.'s Book Store, George st., Peterborough:—Farrar's Life of St. Paul, published price, $3.00, our price, $1.75; Farrar's Life of Christ, published price, $1.25, our price, $1.00; McCauley's History of England, 5 volumes, published at $5.00, our price, $3.00; Dickens' Works, in 15 volumes, published price, $22.50, our price, $13.00; Chamber's Encyclopedia, 10 volumes, published price, $25.00, our price, $20.00. Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

A. C. A.
The Lindsay Canadian Post contains the following paragraph:—"The visit of the American Canoe Association is looked forward to with interest by boating men. The utmost activity is shown at Peterborough, where an extensive reception is promised. Large committees have been appointed to look after the details in regard to the location of camps, etc. The whole thing is in good hands. When it comes to a question of liberality in matters of sport such as the above Peterborough can and will do the generous thing, and no town in the Dominion could extend a heartier welcome, and extend the freedom of the burgh in a more graceful way than Peterborough. It was probably by an oversight that members of the Lindsay canoe club were not asked to co-operate or placed on either of the Committees. But there is plenty of time yet."

In reference to the last sentence we may state that the Post appears to be misinformed. On the formation of our local committee a leading officer of the A. C. A. communicated with the newly-formed Lindsay club. Their co-operation is invited, and we have no doubt it will be given, but it was considered that they could make the best choice of committee-men.

The Fruit Crop.
We take the following from the fruit crop reports from the various parts of Canada, which the Mail has taken the trouble to obtain, and which it is now publishing:—"Mr. James Campbell, Peterborough, reports that the prospects for strawberries in his section are extra good, that the plants never looked better, and the blossom is generally healthy and abundant. Raspberries promise to be a good crop, all varieties having wintered safely; the Cutbert and Mammoth Cluster are the varieties most grown. The winter has not injured any of the grape vines, and the prospects for a good crop are favourable. The varieties generally raised are the Salem, Concord, Delaware, Hartford-Rogers' Hybrids and Champion. Vineyards are increasing, but not as yet to a great extent. Plums are largely raised, but few cherries, and they of the common varieties. The favorite plums are the green-gage, damask, blue, and common red. There is every appearance of a large crop, but for the past two years the curculio has destroyed the fruit, and there is danger that this may again be the case. The crop of apples and pears from present appearance will probably be a large one. Currants and gooseberries are extensively grown and will produce well. On the whole the season has been a favourable one."

A Ducking.
On Saturday afternoon two young men were enjoying a sail on the river in a canoe. There was a strong breeze blowing at the time, and a sail was hoisted. One of the gentlemen being alarmed, said he would go ashore and leave his companion to manage the craft alone. This was no sooner said than done, and the result was as follows: After sailing up the east side of the river he attempted to drift down the strong current, and an upset was the fruits of his labour. Not being able to swim his cries for help attracted the attention of Mr. W. F. Green, who lives on the west side of the river. Mr. Green, who always keeps a boat or two in the water close to his house, immediately put out to the rescue. He was successful in saving the man, perhaps from a watery grave, and got him into his boat once more, none the worse for his ducking. Had it not been for the timely assistance rendered by Mr. Green, it is impossible to say what might have been the result, as this spot is one of the most dangerous parts of the river. This is the third or fourth person Mr. Green has heroically rescued from drowning, and his conduct is much to be admired.

Watches and Jewellery.
Anything in the Watch or Jewellery repairing line left at Hughson's New Shop, Simcoe street, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, will be promptly attended to; charges moderate.

St. Paul's Church.
The tenders for the extensions and improvements on St. Paul's Presbyterian Church were opened on Saturday evening, but the contract has not yet been awarded. A decision will probably be come to to-night.

Fencil Points.
Nearly all of the churches were supplied on Sunday by Methodist Ministers, who were here attending the session of the Conference.

A number of Italians were in town to-day. They were here attending to monetary matters with the railway office.

If you see two or three men with pails and brushes whitewashing the grass in a lawn, do not receive the impression that they are in such a state of mind that they do not know what they are doing. They might probably be preparing to play lawn tennis.

The Rev. James Gray was introduced to the Conference this morning as a minister of "high standing" in the London Conference. The learned President, Dr. Cochran, evidently had a double meaning in his mind, as the Rev. Mr. Gray is a prominent clergyman, and in stature towers above the majority of his brethren.

Dr. King is improving his new and handsome residence on Charlotte street by erecting a verandah and doing other work about the premises.

On Saturday night some "boys" organized an attack upon an empty house on Aymer street and demolished the windows with stones of rocks. The house had been occupied by a woman of questionable repute, but she had left it, and it is not known why this assault was made upon the unoffending glass.

A young lady of Peterborough boasts of having walked across the immense bridge on the "Missing Link" at Doube's on the ties, and without the assistance of an arm or hand to steady her. The bridge is a very high one, and a young lady that accomplished such a feat would have nerves strong enough to face a mouse—and that is saying a good deal.

The Cow By-law came into force to-day. Acting Mayor Menzies says that arrangements are being made for suitable pounds, so that the by-law can be carried out. In the notices posted up informing the public of the intended enforcement of the by-law, all kinds of animals were mentioned except cows; but this was evidently a lapsus calami, as cows are not to be allowed to roam at large.

A Great Discovery.
That is daily bringing joy to the homes of thousands by saving many of their dear ones from an early grave. Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. Guaranteed. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00—6.

For all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters are unsurpassed. They strengthen the whole muscular system, give a healthy complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite and arouse into healthy action the whole physical energy of the human frame. A MINUTE'S EVIDENCE.—The all prevalent malady of civilized life is Dyspepsia. Rev. W. E. Gilford, of Bethwell, was cured of Dyspepsia and liver complaint that rendered his life almost a burden. The cure was completed by three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters.

Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whithersoever it is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The few of trade represent the average choice of people; and in the long run know what suits them best, and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & CO. opened late business. Look at T. DOLAN & CO. now—their place and trade. Such growth is uncommon. It must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond call.

WE HARP ON THIS:—
The great stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

DESIRABLE PROPERTIES FOR SALE.

$11500 WILL BUY the vacant Lot, 116x100 feet to a lane, on the corner of Hunter and Water Streets, Peterborough. This piece of land is without doubt the most desirable building site in town and is well worthy the attention of those wishing to build. It is eminently suited for a Hotel, Opera House or Block of Stores, as it has a frontage on three sides.

$3300 WILL BUY a Lot on the corner of McDonnell and Harvey Streets. On this are erected 2 comfortable dwellings at present occupied by tenants at a monthly rental of $20.50. There is space for another house.

$3500 WILL BUY 4 comfortable houses on Simcoe Street, occupied by tenants at a monthly rental of $24.

$2000 WILL BUY a very desirable residence on Brock Street, opposite the residence of D. Ulyett, Esq., at present rented at $200 per year, payable quarterly.

$1200 WILL BUY Brick House and Lot on Aylmer Street, opposite the Baptist Church, occupied by a tenant at a rental of $7 per month. There is space for another house.

$650 WILL BUY that very desirable building Lot, on Victoria Street, immediately south of the residence of R. W. Grubb, Esq. There is a small house on this Lot occupied by a tenant at a monthly rental of $8.

$2100 WILL BUY 3 comfortable houses on McDonnell Street, near Hamilton's Foundry. If desired these houses will be sold separately.

$1500 WILL BUY 2 houses and Lot on King Street, between George and Aylmer Streets, occupied by tenants at rental of $15 per month. There is space for another house.

$4000 WILL BUY 10 acre Park Lot near the Little Lake, near Hamilton's Foundry, on the self-styled "Reformers" that it was an invasion of Provincial rights. Nor did the Conservative opposition of those days endeavour to embarrass the Government by raising a sectional feeling on the subject. The courts have held that the Scott Act is valid with its prohibitory provisions and therefore inferentially that regulating the liquor traffic is within the jurisdiction of the Dominion. Real advocates of temperance are content to wait till the question of the validity of the new act is determined, hoping that the decision will be in favour of such progress in temperance legislation.

$2000 WILL BUY 75 acres of good farming land, in the Township of Manvers, near the village of Leith.

$1500 WILL BUY the most central and desirable building property in the village of Lakeside, lying between Prince's Hotel, and Mr. Sherin's Block. Space for 5 stores. Corner Lot.

$750 WILL BUY Lot on corner of Perry and Aylmer Streets, contains 1 acre.

$250 WILL BUY a very desirable building Lot on Water Street, adjoining the residence of George O. Gladman, Esq.

$700 WILL BUY Lot on corner of Dublin and Reid Streets, contains 1 acre. This is a beautiful building Lot.

$450 WILL BUY 5 fine building Lots on Kim Street.

$750 WILL BUY a comfortable dwelling on Lock Street, Lot contains 1 acre and is planted with fruit trees.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JUNE 19, 1883.

GRIP has a cartoon representing Mr. Blake addressing "the new hired-man" as follows: "Now, Timothy, that you've had your, supper get to work and feed the pig!" That useful animal is labelled. "Irish vote" in a manner not very complimentary to that portion of the electorate. We can assure Mr. Blake, Grip and all concerned, that the "Irish vote" is not to be sojelled, by means of hog wash even if it does come from a tub with the inscription "Grip Feed."

We are informed by the leading Reform journal that "our Ontario License Law was before Confederation a part of our system of municipal government, and it is so still." The people of Ontario have been under the impression that Mr. Mowat and his colleagues took away from the municipalities the control of the liquor system and usurped it themselves for the advantage of their party. This claim on behalf of the municipalities by those who have ignored them is hardly consistent.

When the Scott Act was passed under the Mackenzie administration we had no outcry from the self-styled "Reformers" that it was an invasion of Provincial rights. Nor did the Conservative opposition of those days endeavour to embarrass the Government by raising a sectional feeling on the subject. The courts have held that the Scott Act is valid with its prohibitory provisions and therefore inferentially that regulating the liquor traffic is within the jurisdiction of the Dominion. Real advocates of temperance are content to wait till the question of the validity of the new act is determined, hoping that the decision will be in favour of such progress in temperance legislation.

The Orilla Packet, well known as a strong advocate of temperance legislation has the following pointed remarks on the opposition to the new License Act:

The Globe asserts that the Warden of each County cannot be a license commissioner under the McCarthy Act, because the Crooks Act forbids Reeves being license commissioners. Then why did Mr. Mowat's Government appoint Mr. Samuel Fraser, Reeve of Tay, a License Commissioner in and for the District of East Simcoe, and why does Mr. Fraser continue to act in both capacities? Mr. Fraser being appointed under the very law which forbids him to hold the two positions, there can be no doubt of his disqualification—if indeed the Crooks Act be not wholly ultra vires.

It will be observed that the Reformers are crowing lustily over the re-election of Hon. Jas. Young for North Brant, as if it were a glorious victory. No doubt after their disasters of February, not to suffer another defeat was a relief. They might remember that they had chosen the safest seat at their disposal, even though it necessitated placing a fourth Cabinet Minister within the ring fence of two adjoining counties, and that Mr. Young, having been elected by four years ago by the number which might be expected from the additional prestige of his portfolio. They have held their own in this case, and they do well to be thankful for even small mercies.

Montford's Acid Phosphate IN ABUSE OF ALCOHOL.

Dr. Jno. P. Wheeler, Hudson, N. Y., says: "I have given it with present decided benefit in a case of inanition of the brain, from abuse of alcohol."

THE NEW LICENSE ACT.

BEHINDS an editorial on the same subject the Mail publishes a long communication from Mr. Foster, M. P. for King's County, N. B., as to the merits of the new License Act compared with previous legislation. As the REVIEW has already covered the same ground, so far as a comparison with the Ontario Crooks Act is concerned, we need not repeat Mr. Foster's remarks upon that branch of the question, but we quote as follows his able exposition of the improvements of the legislation of the other Provinces:

"1. A maximum limit of licenses is fixed for the whole Dominion, beyond which the Commissioners cannot go. This will reduce the number of licenses about one-half in British Columbia, and to some extent in all the other Provinces which at present have no limit. A decrease in the number of places of sale throughout Canada, will be the first effect of the law.

2. An efficient system of inspection is provided for the whole Dominion. At the present time the only Provinces having inspectors appointed and paid to enforce the laws are Ontario and Manitoba. One can scarcely calculate the great gain in having this extended to every license district in all the Provinces.

3. A shortening of hours of sale. At present liquor shops and bars keep open on Saturday nights until 10 p.m.; in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, until 11 p.m. in Manitoba, and until midnight in British Columbia and Quebec.

Under the new Act these all close at 7 p.m. on Saturday night, and remain closed until 6 a.m. on Monday morning. On other nights the closing hours at present are 10, 11, and 12 p.m.; under the new Act they will uniformly close at 11 p.m.

When one contemplates the evil effects of Saturday night stippling it will be easily seen that we cannot too highly estimate the great gain to sobriety and family comfort which will accrue from early Saturday night closing.

4. An improvement in the Sunday restrictions. At present the License laws allow the sale in P. E. Island to lodgers and boarders at all hours of the day, in New Brunswick in cities and towns to guests and lodgers at meals, in Nova Scotia to lodgers at all hours of the day, in Manitoba to travellers and boarders at meals, in Quebec to travellers and guests in rooms or at meals at all hours of the day, and in British Columbia there are no restrictions at all.

The new Act allows no bars to be opened on Sunday, no sale to guests in rooms, but simply a supplying of actual guests residing in hotels at the table during the two principal meal times—dinner and supper.

5. In separating liquors from groceries and other merchandise. At present liquors and groceries are sold together in all provinces except New Brunswick. Under the new Act no new licenses for this mixed sale will be granted, in 1887 all these existing licenses will lapse in all but towns and cities, and in six years from the time of the Act going into operation there will be no such thing as the sale of liquors with other merchandise throughout Canada.

All the principal provisions mentioned in our comparison with the Crooks Act are notable improvements in the existing provincial license laws, and as such will commend themselves to all lovers of sobriety and good order. In the making of a uniform law for all the provinces some few changes were made, which, so far as they are concerned, are not improvements, but these have been more than counterbalanced by other provisions which have been added. In Nova Scotia, for instance, no license could be granted unless two-thirds of the ratepayers petitioned in its favour. Under the new Act only one-third of the ratepayers are required to petition in favour of the applicant. But Nova Scotia is more than compensated for this loss by the fact that the people, by actual vote, in a parish or municipality, may prohibit all licenses for three years; and, what is still better, may have a paid system of enforcement provided in all the license districts and in all counties which have adopted the Canada Temperance Act. This last was vitally necessary in Nova Scotia, where already nearly two-thirds of the counties have adopted the Canada Temperance Act, and others are working in the same direction. The same remark applies, but with greater force, to Prince Edward Island, where all the territory is under the Canada Temperance Act, but where a proper system of enforcement is badly needed.

In Quebec one-half the ratepayers is a polling subdivision may, under the present Act, block a license by petition, while under the new Act it requires two-thirds. But this is counterbalanced by the fact that the voters of any municipality will have the power to veto the whole traffic for three years, and, further, until repealed, and that each new applicant for a license will be obliged to get one third of the ratepayers to sign his petition instead of as now being required to get only twenty-five. In Manitoba at present an applicant for a license has to get (outside of Winnipeg) 10 out of 20 of the nearest householders to sign his petition. Under the Dominion Act he will be obliged to get one third of all the ratepayers, but Manitoba has gained the local option clause which it did not before possess.

Taken all in all the present enactment marks an epoch in the legislative attitude of the country, as gratifying in its advance as it is surprising. It is at once a tribute to progress in temperance sentiment, and a warning to the traffic as to what it may expect in the future.

132,949 persons visited the London Fisheries Exhibition in a week.

A young lady who acted as bridesmaid fell dead in Portsea the other day while throwing rice at the departing bride and bridegroom.

Captain Mayers, paymaster of the 2d Battalion Berkshire Regiment, who embezzled $2000 of War Office money, has been cashiered, sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and ordered to refund the sum embezzled.

A SCOTCHMAN employed to build in London and steam cranes to hold the bricks up to the required height; and, as the English workmen refused to have anything to do with the job where steam appliances men, workmen had to be brought from Edinburgh to finish the hotel.

The destruction of Temple Bar, London, with its historic associations, is to be followed by the pulling down of the famous Cook Tavern in the immediate neighbourhood, immortalized by Peppys and Tompkins. The latter's apothecary of the "Plump head waiter at the Cook" is of course familiar to every reader.

The entries for Queen's and St. George's prizes at Wimbledon are over 150 more in each competition than last year, mainly owing to the enlarged distribution of Martini-Henry rifles by the Government, and to the pecuniary winding several men. There will be an Indian team this year for the Kolapore Cup, this being the first time that country has competed.

SUSPENDED.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Parks & Co., brokers, have suspended. The firm, however, claims to have a balance at Chicago of $75,000. At the Stock Exchange 1,000 shares of stock were closed under rule for account with Parks & Co.

RESERVOIR BURST.

SAVATEVILLE, Cal., June 19.—The Milton H. d. n. Mining Co. reservoir, containing 600,000 cubic feet of water, burst yesterday. The rush of water was irresistible. Almost everything in its path was raised to the ground. The roar of the rushing water was heard several miles away. All bridges were carried off, and several lives are reported to be lost. Loss $75,000.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

KANSAS CITY, June 19.—Harlem, opposite here, is deserted. As far as is known but little damage has yet been done along the river. Reports from above do not indicate an alarming rise as yet. A colored girl and boy were drowned here yesterday while a public sale was proceeding. Near Ravenna yesterday a heavy thunder storm came off, 30 men took refuge in a barn, the building was struck by lightning and John Bowers, James Berry and George Wynn were killed.

THE UNION QUESTION.

SHALL THE FOUR METHODIST CHURCHES UNITE IN ONE BODY?

The Toronto Conference considers the Question—Three Resolutions Offered—Different Views of the Bishops Submitted.

MORNING, June 18.

The Conference assembled at 9 o'clock, the Rev. James Gray leading in prayer.

The Rev. I. TOVELL read the report of the visitors to the Ontario Ladies' College, of Whitby.

A deputation of the Board of Directors of the Ontario Ladies' College at Whitby was introduced, consisting of the Rev. Principal Hare, and the Revs. Dr. Rice, McDowell, John Shaw, W. H. Laird and G. Leach, and Messrs. Smith, Ross, Taylor and Geo. A. Cox. Messrs. Smith, Taylor, Ross and Cox, and the Rev. Dr. Rice addressed the Conference, and the reports were read.

Motions tendering the thanks of the Conference to the visitors and to the Board of Directors, and appointing the Rev. Dr. Hunter, I. Tovell and J. F. German, M. A., as visitors for next year, were adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Hunter and the Rev. John Shaw were re-appointed counsel for the Conference in an appeal case.

THE UNION QUESTION.

The PRESIDENT said they were entering upon the consideration of a very important question, and the Rev. Dr. Carroll had suggested that they spend a short time in prayer.

The Conference then spent some minutes in silent devotion, after which the President led in prayer.

ADOPTION OF THE BASIS PROPOSED.

The Rev. A. SUTHERLAND, D.D., on rising to move his resolution, was received with prolonged cheers. He moved, seconded by the Rev. HUGH JOHNSON, B. D.:

That this Conference, adhering to the traditional policy of our Church in favor of the organic union of the various Methodist Churches in this Dominion, is still in hearty sympathy with that object and with the union sentiment so generally prevalent throughout the country; and believing that the basis of union now submitted is substantially the only one upon which all the branches of our divided Methodism can unite, this Conference hereby accepts the same, having every confidence that the General Conference of the United Church will be able under the guiding Providence of God, so to perfect all necessary details as to meet the reasonable and just demands of all concerned. That inasmuch as the proposed union involves questions of church property and other matters having a legal aspect, this Conference recommends the authorities of the General Conference to obtain the best possible legal advice touching all these points, and submit the same to the said Conference before final action is taken, so that if legal difficulties are found to exist they may be provided for and removed before union is consummated.

Dr. SUTHERLAND, in moving the resolution, said that on the face of the resolution there was nothing to which anyone could object. They would save time if they would deal with it in a way a student once proposed to a professor. The student asked the professor if Euclid was a man of good moral character. The professor replied that he knew of nothing to the contrary. "Do you think his word could be accepted?" asked the student. The professor answered that it could. "Then," said the student, "don't you think we could take his word for the correctness of this proposition without taking time to prove it?" (Cheers and laughter.) This question was of grave importance, and demanded careful and prayerful consideration. The earnest discussion which had taken place served to show how much the people felt interested and engaged favorably of a satisfactory solution of the question. He had not begun this agitation in favor of union. It had been before them in an indefinite shape for a long time, and it had been brought forward, he did not know by whom. When it did come up he came to the conclusion that it was a question that they had to face in some way. At the time of the meeting of the General Conference he thought over the matter and made up his mind that there was no church strong enough to give it the go-by, or that could, in the face of public sentiment, assume an unfavorable attitude. The duty of the Union Committee was not to formulate a discipline, but to construct a basis of union pure and simple. This would explain why some things were not touched upon in the basis, which more properly belonged to the discipline. The committee found four bodies proposing to form a confederation of Methodist Churches. They could not proceed on the line of the discipline of any of these churches, and in order to unite each church had to go outside of its own discipline. They all say that if union was to be attained at all, mutual concessions would have to be made. The question then came up, how far was each church prepared to go by way of concession for the sake of union. In doctrine, general rules, ordinances, usages and a good many matters of this kind there were no differences between them, and the first thirty pages of the Discipline of the Methodist Church of Canada were adopted entire. If there was no difference of opinion regarding these matters, which pertained to the active life of the Church, what could justify them in keeping apart? (Cheers.) In admitting lay delegates to the General Conference they conceded nothing, although the Methodist Episcopal Church did. The restrictive rules were left out of the basis, as the Committee thought that they belonged properly to the discipline. What was known as the "veto power," was changed somewhat, but a good safeguard had been provided. If the two parts referring to the General Superintendency and lay representation could be got over, there would not be so much trouble after that. The difficulty they met was to place it in such a shape as would not keep out any of the churches. The Methodist Episcopal representatives agreed to a modification of the General Superintendency, but the constitution of their church would not allow it to be destroyed altogether, and they said that if it was so destroyed that settled the matter so far as their church was concerned. One important point was the position of the General Superintendent in the Annual Conference, and it was long under consideration. A brother suggested the old system of a President and co-delegate. This gave them a key to the difficulty, and they reached the conclusion recorded in the basis. He had been in the chair of the Annual Conference, and he would not have felt degraded or abused if he had presided alternately with the President of the General Conference. He would have felt that he was "levelled up" to the same height as the General President. (Hear, hear and cheers.) The consideration of the admission of laymen into the Annual Conference took up considerable time. It was at first suggested that a limited number of laymen be admitted, but it was thought that this would be a poor proportion to send out to the laymen, and it was decided to have lay representation the same as in the General Conference, man for man. Under this basis the District Meetings and the Quarterly Official Meetings remained the same as they were before. Then they came to the question of Church property. These regulations were as fair and comprehensive, and gave as much protection, as regulations could be drawn up, but they did not touch the question of the legal difficulty. Assuming that there was no legal difficulty, they would all concede that they were as fair as they could be between four contracting parties. The Superannuation Fund was another difficulty, but the rights of all had to be guarded, and the regulations regarding it were drawn accordingly. It was said that there should be a "levelling up," but had the ministers of other churches as much giving power behind them as the ministers of this church had? A statement had been published lately to show that a heavy loss had been sustained by the Wesleyan Church ministers by the union with the New Connection Church. He proceeded to show the fallacy of this statement, saying that the contributions of the ministers who formerly belonged to the New Connection Church and the congregations they brought in with them, towards this fund, had not been taken into account. As to the Children's Fund there was no such investment in the other churches, and it did not have to be dealt with. The miscellaneous recommendations were all clear enough. Some said that the Committee of the church had exceeded the instructions of the General Conference, but he took the ground that the General Conference had placed no restrictions upon them. The basis would go to the General Conference, and until they decided whether they meant their resolution as an expression of opinion or as specific instructions, he would contend that they had not intended to give specific instructions. The question was not whether the basis was perfect, as no doubt the members of the different churches could find faults in it to which they could object, but it was whether the objections were sufficiently serious for them to impair the whole movement by rejecting the basis, (Cheers.) All those who opposed the basis affirmed the principle of union, and would it go out to the world that they were prepared for a union, but that they would reject it because of some objections to it the grounds of which the average layman could not see with a microscope and which half of the ministers could not perceive? (Cheers.) What would be the effect of blocking the union movement now? So far as he had had an opportunity of judging of the sentiments of the laymen, to block the union now would have a serious effect upon their sectional friends, but their lady would stand by them firmly in carrying out the union, (Cheers.) They had something behind them besides hard facts; they had a brotherly sentiment. The feeling had grown up spontaneously that it was possible for Christians to stand together, for Methodists who were one in ordinances and rules to be one in organic union. (Cheers.) The speaker closed his address with a brilliant peroration, and resumed his seat amid loud and long continued applause.

OPPOSITION OFFERED.

The Rev. S. J. HUNTER was received with very loud cheers. He felt, he said, the responsibility of the duty which he had to perform. The side he was on was the side chosen by his honest convictions and judgment, and he believed that it was the right one. If the side he was on won he would be very glad; and if he lost he would grieve, but he would not allow the devil to sow any seeds of anger or resentment in his heart. He moved the following amendment:

Moved by the Rev. S. J. HUNTER, and seconded by the Rev. JOHN BARRETT and Resolved,

First: That this Conference affirms the desirability of the organic Union of the Methodist Churches represented by the joint committee on Union, and shall bind to do everything in its power to further this project, provided it shall secure such general and harmonious co-operation of the several bodies as shall give ground to hope for the increased efficiency and success of Methodism in this country.

Second:

In regard to the Basis of Union now presented to this Conference for consideration, we approve of it, with the following exceptions:

(1) In view of the decision of the last General Conference, in regard to the projected Union, restricting the committee from making any arrangements which would permit the General Superintendent to interfere with the Annual Conference, and confining him to the sphere of General Conference work, which restriction we believe was wise and designed to maintain the constitutional rights vested in the Annual Conferences by the terms of the Union of 1874, and incorporated in the book of discipline, we disapprove of the provision of the Basis which makes it the prerogative of the General Superintendent to interfere with the rights of the Annual Conference, by presiding alternately with the Annual President, conducting the ordination service, and jointly signing the ordination parchment.

(2) We disapprove of the omission and consequent abolition of the Restrictive Rules Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, Section 15, page 40, of our Discipline; first, because we believe that these restrictions wisely protect the Church against changes in matters of fundamental importance, and secondly, because the General Conference has no power to do away with them.

Third:

We disapprove of the abolition of the restriction upon General Conference legislation affecting the rights and privileges of Annual Conferences, contained in section 17, page 38, of our Discipline, ordinarily known as the veto power, and believe it would be unwise to lessen the powers of the Annual Conferences at a time when provision is being made for the introduction of equal lay representation into these bodies.

Fourth:

In view, therefore, of the reasons before-mentioned, and in view also of the serious dissatisfaction that exists both in our own Church and others, the strong ground there is to believe that there are grave legal irregularities in the method of procedure that has been adopted, the organized opposition of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the strong probability of any union carried out on the lines of the present basis producing irritation and possible disruption, we respectfully and earnestly request the General Conference to delay action until all legal questions are satisfactorily settled, and the objectionable features of the Basis are eliminated.

If a basis of union could be adopted, Mr. Hunter said, that would guard the interests of all concerned and not be revolutionary in its character, every one would admit that it would be desirable. The evils of the division have been greatly exaggerated—(cries of "no, no, no") but it had fallen to his lot to labour side by side with ministers of the other denominations, and he had never seen any exhibition of that spirit of rivalry so much spoken of. Still the gathering together of the scattered tribes of the Methodist Israel was desirable, and if a proper basis of union was found there would not be a dozen votes against it, but it would be better to remain separate for ever than to unite on a basis that did not receive the cordial assent of all. While he attached all importance to the wisdom of the General Conference, yet he believed that upon all questions respecting church property this annual conference was as capable of giving an intelligent opinion as any General Conference. The first mistake committed was in not having the basis submitted to the annual Conference before sending it to the quarterly meetings. He appealed to the Superintendent of the circuit to say whether the laymen had not decided on the questions of union rather than upon this basis. (No, no, and cheers.) It had been said to the quarterly meetings that they must either accept or reject this basis as a whole. The people, he knew, were in favour of union. There were questions which sometimes became popular and swept over the people like an avalanche. This was true in politics and sometimes occurred in religion, as in the case of the cry, "God and Mahomet His Prophet." (Cheers.) The basis had been swallowed whole, but in the majority of cases they would, as the whale did with Jonah, throw it up on a bleak and barren shore. (Loud applause.) It had been said that if they rejected this basis they would place themselves in opposition to the laymen, but this was a bugbear and ungenerous to the laymen. He attached much importance to the vote of the laymen, but he questioned their right to place upon the shoulders of ministers burdens that they could not conscientiously bear. How many quarterly meetings had carried recommendations to amend the basis after they had adopted it? It was a base reflection upon the God-fearing laymen to say that they would bring the lash to bear upon the ministers who voted against the adoption of this basis and button their jackets against them. If those who favored the union were afraid of the laymen now, how would they do when they had them with them in the annual Conference? But he did not fear the exhibition of any such spirit on the part of the laymen. Neither for himself nor for anything else would he do an act which his conscience condemned and his judgment forbade, but he would vote for union on a proper basis. Was not the basis sent here to be considered, turned over and taken to pieces, and to be rejected? (No, and cheers.) Some spoke as though they would have it put in a glass case with a notice, "Look at it as much as you like, but keep your hands off." If they were not free to reject what they found to be wrong in the basis, the sending of it to the ministers was a mockery and a delusion. Why was it a crime to say in this Conference that union might be bought at too dear a price, when it was no harm for the Methodist Episcopal Church to say that this basis must be accepted or they would block the union? Was it fair to say that they must accept any basis? This church had the most at stake, and the question was, what effect would the adoption of this basis have on the church to which they belonged? They were asked to give up more than any other church. (Cries of "no" and "yes.") Who was it said they would block the union? It was the Methodist Episcopal Church, which said that they would carry the distinctive features of their government into the union or stay out. The Primitive Methodists and Bible Christians were prepared to unite on almost any basis. It was said that if they did not unite the Methodist Episcopal Church would draw away their people, but their people were too wise to get aboard a sinking ship. The Primitive Methodist and Bible Christian Churches would not unite with the Methodist Episcopal Church alone for strength, for they knew that they could not find it there. They saw in the basis theories of church government which had been advocated by some in the past and which they no doubt hoped to see carried out now. (Cheers.) The General Superintendency as proposed was a continuation of the Episcopacy. He contended that the basis went farther than was authorized by the General Conference, as the resolution which it passed said that the General Superintendent must not interfere with the duties and powers of the officers of the Annual Conference. Yet not one member of their committee stood by that resolution, but sent out the basis as if it were perfect, and all who opposed it were written down.

It being half-past five the Conference adjourned, it being understood that the Rev. Mr. Hunter should continue his remarks on Tuesday morning.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY.

In the evening the Sunday School Anniversary meeting was held. The Rev. E. B. Harper, D. D., presided, and able addresses were delivered by the Rev. E. Barrett, M. A., the Rev. Wm. Johnston, the Rev. George J. Bishop, and the Rev. S. J. Snorey.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT.

The amendment to the amendment, which the Rev. W. J. Hunter, D. D., proposes, is as follows:

Moved by the Rev. Dr. HUNTER, and seconded by the Rev. WILLIAM BRIDGES,

That this Conference is gratified to learn that there is a very general desire on the part of both the Ministerial and Bible Christian Churches, while accepting the basis for the sake of union, are nevertheless willing to accede to such changes in the Basis as may render it more acceptable to a large number of the parties concerned in the proposed union.

That this desire has been practically manifested by the appointment of a joint committee, composed of representatives of the Methodist Church of Canada, the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, the Primitive Church in Canada, and the Bible Christian Church in Canada, for the purpose of preparing a Basis of Union which Basis has been accepted by a large majority of the Quarterly Official Meetings of our Church, and is submitted for the approval of this Conference.

That we have learned with pleasure, that the Primitive Methodist and Bible Christian Churches, while accepting the basis for the sake of union, are nevertheless willing to accede to such changes in the Basis as may render it more acceptable to a large number of the parties concerned in the proposed union.

That the Ministers of Montreal, London and Toronto Conferences of the Methodist Church of Canada, are almost equally divided in opinion on the acceptance of this Basis, even for the sake of union; and that the brethren who object to the Basis assure us that they are actuated by a profound conviction that union on the present Basis cannot secure the peace and prosperity of the Church, and that they cannot accept the Basis without doing violence to their conscientious convictions, and without the sacrifice of principles which they regard as vital and fundamental.

That these brethren have devoted life, talents and influence to the service of the Church of their choice and affection, and that we, as a Conference of Ministers, acting in the fear of God, and deeply impressed with the gravity of the situation and the responsibility of the hour, dare not attempt to force the proposed Union on the Basis in its present form, and thus incur the risk of alienation, disruption and disintegration. Therefore resolved.

1. That for the sake of Union, and to meet the views of our brethren of the Methodist Episcopal Church, we accept a general superintendency, with an eight years' term of office, provided that the General Superintendent, or Superintendents, shall not interfere with the duties and powers of the Annual Conference officers, nor of Church Courts.

2. That in deference to the policy of the Primitive Methodist and Bible Christian Churches, we accept the principle of representation in the Annual Conference, as contained in the basis, or as may be constitutionally modified by the General Conference of the United Church.

3. That, with the understanding that the restrictive rules are not abolished by the Basis, but were left out of it inadvertently, and will be incorporated in the constitution of the United Church, we accept in all other particulars the Basis of the Union as now presented.

4. That we request the adjourned General Conference to take the necessary legal steps to consummate Union with those branches of the Methodist Church in this country that are prepared to accept the slight modifications of the Basis indicated in these resolutions, hoping and praying that the spirit of mutual concession, which has marked this great movement from its inception until now, will prompt to this further concession on the part of all concerned, and without which we conceive a lasting and harmonious union to be impracticable and impossible at the present juncture in the history of Canadian Methodism.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

The Toronto Globe's Ottawa correspondent says with much frankness:

"While Mr. Mackenzie was Premier, all members of the Commons found infringing the independence of Parliament Act were obliged to resign their seats."

But why did Mr. Mackenzie permit them to infringe the Act? He knew well, for instance, that Mr. Speaker Anglin was a contractor, or rather the middle-man between the Government and a printing house. Why did he give Mr. Anglin that contract? Why did he not denounce Mr. Anglin before he was forced to do it? In all history, only one speaker of the House of Commons in England was so completely similarly situated. He fled from the judgment of the House. But Mr. Anglin sat in the chair, presiding over a chamber elected to "uphold the standard of public morality," knowing that he was corrupt; and Mr. Mackenzie knew it also. The Reformers were Reformers until they were found out.—Winnipeg Free Press.

PERSONS who are very susceptible to sudden changes of weather would do well to keep a supply of GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM in the house. This syrup is a scientific preparation of the Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce Tree, and holds a large quantity of the Gum in perfect solution, never separating. Its remarkable power in relieving certain forms of Bronchitis, and curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well-known to the public at large. No remedy can equal it as a safe and thoroughly reliable Cough Medicine. Sold by all chemists. Price 25 cents per bottle.

MR. W. R. PATRICK, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddon, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

The Weather.
The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes.—Strong westerly to north westerly winds; clearing weather; Wednesday fine.

Caneing this Evening.
It should not be forgotten that arrangements have been made for a general caneing evening every Tuesday with paddling. There has been a pretty good turnout for the last two weeks, and it is hoped that there will be greater number of paddlers on the Little Lake this evening.

Spanish Wines.
The fact that Spanish and Portuguese wines are now being imported direct from the Peninsula by a Peterborough firm, will be received with general satisfaction by a large class of our readers. Mr. Harry Rush received yesterday five cases direct from the celebrated firm of F. G. Sandeman & Co., Oporto. These wines are renowned the world over for their rare flavor, excellent body and purity, and are guaranteed to be of the finest importation. Mr. Rush is making for himself a name for importing pure wines and liquors, which it would be hard to beat in most of our larger cities, and is doing quite a large trade, having lately filled several orders from Simcoe, Manitoba.

License Notes.
The Peterborough club has received a communication from the Young Shamrocks of Montreal expressing their willingness to play here on the 1st of July. The home club had arranged with the Victoria of Toronto to play a match on that day, so that they cannot play with the Shamrocks. The Young Shamrocks also express a hope that the Peterborough Club will visit Montreal again this year, as after the reception they received there last summer they feel indebted to this club.

The Independents and Matlands of Toronto played a match on Saturday for the intermediate championship, and the Independents were the victors. Mr. J. Joyal, formerly of the Peterborough Club, played part in the winning team. The Independents play with the Young Shamrocks in about two weeks.

The Toronto Club and the Shamrocks, of Montreal, played a match at Montreal on Saturday for the championship of the world. The Shamrocks won, taking three games out of four.

Runaway.

A team of horses attached to a heavy lumber wagon took fright at something at the railway station. They turned up Charlotte street and crossed the market square, where they were caught. No damage was done.

Dominion Day.

A meeting of the committee who have charge of the celebration of Dominion Day and citizens will be held in the Fireman's Hall this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. It is to be hoped that all who can possibly do so will be present as business of importance will be transacted.

A. C. A.

The general reception committee will meet at their room in the Post Office block this evening to transact business of importance. On account of the canoe parade on the Little Lake in the evening it is probable that the Committee will not get to business till half past eight o'clock.

A Mean Act.

Some mischievous boys take a delight in tearing down the posters which are posted up around town for the Dominion Day celebration, as well as other posters. If a few of them were brought before the police magistrate it might produce the effect of stopping such amusements in future, as the penalties for such an act are very heavy.

The Union Debate.

The debate on the adoption of the basis of union was continued to-day in the Methodist Conference. The sense of humour was largely displayed at some parts of the discussion, as when the Rev. Dr. Hunter, in the course of an eloquent and very earnest address, asked, at a few minutes before twelve o'clock, "Brethren, what is the duty of the hour?" a voice called out "to adjourn for dinner," and the assembly was convulsed with laughter. These occasional bursts of humor, on the part of the speakers and hearers, keep them in a pleasant mood.

Ministers and Others Attending Conference will do well to note the following low prices at Salisbury & Co.'s Book Store, George st., Peterborough:—Farrar's Life of St. Paul, published price, $3.00, our price, $1.75; Farrar's Life of Christ, published price, $1.25, our price, $1.00; McCaul's History of England, 5 volumes, published at $5.00, our price, $3.00; Dickens' Works, in 15 volumes, published price, $22.50, our price, $18.00; Chambers' Encyclopedia, 10 volumes, published price, $25.00, our price, $20.00. Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

Court of Revision.

A meeting of the Court of Revision was held on Friday last. There were present:—Councillors Sawers (Chairman), Menzies and Patterson. The following business was transacted:—Wm. Brundrett's income assessment was confirmed. Midland Railway, assessment on lands confirmed. The same of Anne McCrea was struck off the assessment roll for No. 4, north Brook, west of George, and that of Henry Best substituted therefor as owner. The income assessment of Wm. Clouston, $1,000, was ordered to be struck off. J. E. McIntyre's assessment, real estate, confirmed. F. W. Hilliard's assessment, real estate, reduced from $12,000 to $7,000.

Thomas Armstrong's name was struck off for part 4, N. Townshipp, west of George, and James Watson assessed as owner. Thomas Armstrong's appeal to be assessed for lot 1, N. Townshipp, east of George, was not allowed. Thomas Brindburn appealed against his assessment on real estate, personal property, and income; part 1, N. Charlotte, east of George, reduced from $8,000 to $7,500; income reduced from $2,000 to $1,500, and personal property reduced from $10,000 to $6,000. T. Evans Brindburn, personal property reduced from $2,500 to $1,500.

Alvah Wilson's appeal for assessment to be changed from lot 1 to another, was dismissed. D. Bellingham, over assessed, appeal withdrawn. F. J. O'Brien, income, assessment confirmed. D. Bellingham against M. McFadden, under assessment, appeal withdrawn. Chas. Stapleton, Jr., and Joseph Armstrong were put on the roll for $400 income. Thirteen appeals to have parties assessed for income were not allowed.

Twenty-one appeals to have names put on the roll as tenants and owners were not allowed. The name of J. Talbot was struck off as tenant for lots 20, 21, and 22, registered plan 24, and Peter Goyette put on as owner, and C. Halpin struck off as owner. Geo. McComb's appeal, desiring change, was withdrawn. Wm. E. Matthews, real estate, reduced from $4,000 to $3,500. The assessment roll as corrected and amended was then passed and confirmed. The Court of Revision then adjourned sine die.

THE FRANCO-CHINESE TROUBLE.

A Chinese View of the Annam Affair—Its Rights or War.
By Telegraph to the Review.

New York, June 19.—The Herald's correspondent at Shanghai telegraphs that Tricos, Special Envoy of France, has delivered to Li Hung Chang, an ultimatum rejecting Chinese suzerainty of Annam. Should Chinese troops be found in Annam they will be shot as bandits by the French. Should China make any movement of its troops, or ship them to Annam, it will be regarded as an act of war. He asserts that she shall make an instant and absolute withdrawal of her pretensions, France proposing to deal with Annam as an independent power, and he intimates that France may demand of China the expenses of the expedition, because Chinese acting rendered the expedition necessary. There is a rumour exciting alarm in Japan to the effect that Li Hung Chang means suddenly to arrange matters with France and throw his forces against Japan, with whom there is a slight grievance. Li Hung Chang does so for a purpose. The American Minister strenuously urges a settlement with Li Hung Chang, as the sole statesman of progress in China, and many regard his fall as throwing China into the arms of the reactionary party, and gravely wounding foreign interests. Li says he is very anxious to arrive at a settlement, but from time immemorial Tonquin and Annam have been Chinese tributaries. He has many times stated that the Emperor of China would like to see Annam during periods of disaffection to compel a return of the people to their allegiance. China never interfered in their local affairs, but regards these provinces as the United States regards Texas or Ohio. It was the Emperor of China who quelled the rebellion against the reigning prince. It was the Emperor of China who changed the dynasty, and tribute always has been paid in recognition of his sovereign power. The Duc Decaux, he says, forced Annam into a treaty which utterly ignores Chinese suzerainty. China protested, advancing her ancient rights. France did not deign even to answer the protests. He will not, however, despair of having peace and he is at present inclined to the sense of justice and honour of the great French people. He firmly believes they will never support the ministry that only infringes and violates the rights of China without disturbance. If war comes it will be because it was forced upon China, because China is driven to war. All the resources of diplomacy will, however, first be exhausted and he will especially seek good offices of America, England and Germany.

U KAN'T KOFF.—Climate cough cakes. Quick, sure cure; of all dealers; 15c.

Don't Pull It.—Use Newton's one minute toothache cure. Relief at once; of all dealers, 15c.

CATARH is the seed of Consumption, and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

ONE OF OUR BEST CITIZENS would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and that it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

WHAT EVERY PERSON SHOULD KNOW.—The grand outlets of disease from the system are the Skin, the Bowels, and the Kidneys. Burdock Blood Bitters are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all attest to its virtues with unqualified satisfaction.

ONE OF MANY.—Mr. R. W. Carmichael, Chemist and Druggist, of Belleville, writes as follows:—"Your Burdock Blood Bitters have a steady sale, are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all attest to its virtues with unqualified satisfaction."

NEUROSTIC PROSTRATION, vital weakness, debility from overwork or indiscretion is radically and promptly cured by that great nerve and brain food known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine, which is sold by all responsible druggists. See advertisement in another column.

FOR all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters are unsurpassed. They strengthen the whole muscular system, give a healthy complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite and arouse into healthy action the whole physical energy of the human frame.

The Band.

The Fire Brigade Band are practicing steadily two evenings in each week. As it is expected this summer will be an unusual one for band competitions, and as the boys are determined to up, hold their already high reputation they intend to work hard. They will give an open air concert as usual on Friday night.

District Meeting.

The annual meeting of the District L.O.L. of Peterborough, is to be held in the Orange Hall, on Thursday evening, the 21st June. Matters relating to the 12th of July demonstration and the annual sermon along with other business of importance will be brought up and discussed. A large attendance of the brethren is expected.

A New Enterprise.

Mr. T. Hogan, late of Saginaw, Mich., and Chas. Thrush, of Toronto, have fitted up the shop over Owens' pump works on the corner of Water and Simcoe streets, where they are carrying on the picture framing business on rather an extensive scale. They have already received quite a large number of orders, and are meeting with good success.

Lacrosse Notes.

The match that was to have taken place this evening between the first and second twelves of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, will not come off till Friday evening, as the field is more or less strewn over with lumber for the twelve foot fence that is being erected around the grounds.

Mr. H. LeBrun, president of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, informed a Review reporter that an effort will be made to bring the celebrated Caghanawya Indians here in August.

Enslavement Picnic.

The annual picnic of the people of Enslavement will be held at Bridgforth on Thursday, June 22, and judging from former years it will be a complete success. The management have provided a good programme of events. The Peterborough Lacrosse Club will give an exhibition match, there will be canoe races, a foot-ball match between the married and single men, the teams to be chosen on the ground, and other athletic sports. Dinner will be served at noon, for which a grand bill of fare has been provided. Busses will leave the principal hotels for the grounds.

Excursion to Idyl Wild.

Don't fail to attend the excursion to Idyl Wild on Thursday, June 21st, under the auspices of Carwell Lodge, L.O.G.T. A most enjoyable time is promised to all who will attend. Tea will be provided free. Coming back in the evening the boat will call at Campbelltown for tea. Every amusement will be provided. This promises to be the picnic of the season. A temperance bar will be on board, and a palace snow will be on hand. Gent's tickets, 50 cts.; ladies, 40 cts.; and children under 12 years, 25 cts. The boat will leave the Sherbrooke street wharf at 8 a.m., returning in good time at night.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.
WEDNESDAY, June 20.—There were only two cases brought before the Magistrate; one, Wm. Walsh, up for being drunk, was discharged with a caution. Jas. Woods, drunk and disorderly, was fined $2.00 and costs, which were paid.

Personal.
His Honor Judge Dean, of Lindsay, and Mr. J. Atkinson, of the Midland Railway, Port Hope, are registered at the Calise House.

Mat Kid Boots.
All the new lines of ladies' Mat Kid Button Boots at Foot & McWhinnie's. Cool and light for summer wear. 12d133

Ice Cream.
Go to J. Craig's for Fresh Pastry, Ice Cream, Confectionery, &c., opposite Wrighton's store, George street.

Is Your Watch Clean.
Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hughan's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

The Ordination Class.
A pleasant incident occurred at the close of the Educational meeting on Tuesday evening. The Ordination Class, consisting of the young men who were ordained for the Methodist Ministry on Sunday morning, presented the President of the Conference, the Rev. G. Cochran, with photographs of the class.

The Union Debate.
The debate in the adoption of the basis of union in the Methodist Conference will be continued this evening in the George Street Church. A great many people feel considerable interest in this question, and this will give them an opportunity of hearing the views of some of the ministers in the question, as well as expediting the business of the Conference.

Still they Come.
Another fowl phenomenon has been brought to this office. It is a most egg-tremendous small egg, weighing only half an ounce. A large Leghorn hen, which usually lays large eggs, is responsible for this miniature production. We believe we must enter a claim on behalf of the town for the championship in the egg curiosity business.

Educational Meeting.
The annual educational meeting in connection with the Conference was held on Tuesday evening, in the George street Methodist Church. The attendance was quite large, and the choir rendered two beautiful anthems. The Rev. R. Jones presided at the meeting, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. T. H. Wallace, B. A., the Rev. C. S. Wells, D.D., and his honor Judge Dean.

Firemen's Drill.
The Fire Brigade turned out in uniform on Tuesday evening for drill. The horses were trained by being brought out through the engine shed, and after the engine had been stationed on the Charlotte street bridge over the creek, they were walked around it that they might become accustomed to the noise of the engine. The hose was laid to the market square and for some time the firemen drilled themselves in handling the hose filled with flowing water.

Wanton Cruelty.
Mr. Walter Paterson found a robin lying on the ground apparently exhausted and half starved. On examination he found that a piece of leather with a hole in it had been placed in its mouth like a bit, and brought over the back of its head, so that it was almost impossible for it to feed. It was a senseless and wanton act of cruelty. Mr. Paterson at once released it from its instrument of torture, and is endeavoring to feed and revive it.

Photographic Bo-Touching.
The offer made by Miss Canniff, in our advertising columns, to give lessons in the art of "bo-touching" photographic negatives, will probably meet with a ready response. Miss Canniff is well skilled, as those who are acquainted with her work in Mr. Spaulde's studio are well aware. It is an accomplishment that is greatly in demand, and one especially suitable for ladies. As Miss Canniff is not likely to remain here long, and such an opportunity seldom offers, those who are desirous of availing themselves of it should begin at once.

Ministers and Others attending Conference will do well to note the following low prices at Salisbury & Co.'s Book Store, George st., Peterborough:—Farrar's Life of St. Paul, published price, $3.00, our price, $1.75; Farrar's Life of Christ, published price, $1.25, our price, $1.00; McCauley's History of England, 5 volumes, published at $5.00, our price, $3.00; Dickens' Works, in 15 volumes, published price, $22.50, our price, $18.00; Chambers' Encyclopaedia, 10 volumes, published price, $25.00, our price, $20.00. Other books at equally low prices. These prices will hold good for the next ten days only. Call and see us.

C. P. F.
At the meeting of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters, at Gananoque, Jas. Byrnes attended as High Junior Woodward. Court Peterborough was represented by Thos. Hooper, P. C. R., W. H. Watson, P. C. R., and John Fanning, P. C. R. Court Lakeside was represented by R. Graham, P. C. R. F. J. Jameson, of Court Peterborough, was appointed D. H. C. R., and R. Graham, of Court Lakeside, was appointed High Court Messenger. The High Court will meet at Toronto next year. The Order was shown to be in a very flourishing condition.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

PARIS, June 20.—In an interview here yesterday Marquis Tseng said that should France force China into a war, it is scarcely possible that with the best intentions in the world the Chinese could make any distinction between nationalities. The terrible consequences of war would fall upon all western foreigners alike. Englishmen, Frenchmen, Americans and Germans would all be placed in the same category by the people of China. The secretary of the Chinese Embassy stated that none of their official despatches concerning Tonquin had yet been answered by the French Government. The French Government, he said, occasionally ask us to perform some service or accord some favor in other parts of the Empire. Such despatches are the only ones at once answered by us, but not one of our despatches on Tonquin has been officially noticed by the French for over a year. A correspondent who was shown copies of the diplomatic correspondence, says that the Chinese envoy is having much the best of it, and there is little wonder that his logical and conclusive despatches remain unanswered.

UNEXPLODED TORPEDOES.
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Torpedoes found in the river here were put in 35 years ago with several others for the purpose of experimenting, but they evidently refused to explode.

A STRANGE STORY.
PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—A despatch from Snyderstown says that on Monday night Mrs. Moore a widow who lives in a dilapidated house was awakened by the agonizing shrieks of her son in an adjoining room. Running in she found the boy almost dead from fright. He said he had seen the spirit of his father who was killed 5 years ago. The mother looked towards the window and in a flash of lightning saw her husband's face pressed against the pane with terrific yell, she sprang to the window and fell through receiving fatal injuries. When she recovered consciousness she was insane and the boy also became mad, foaming at the mouth and barking like a dog. A farmer named Harriot, who attempted to quiet him, was seized by awful spasms the moment he caught hold of Moore's hand. The young man was finally secured by the neighbors and a physician now has charge of the case.

A TRANSPARENT QUIBBLE.

THE opponents of the new temperance legislation indulge in a very dishonest quibble in regard to its effect upon sales of liquor on Sunday. They say that the Crooks Act forbids such sales, which is only paltering with the truth, for, though the original Act does so, an amendment passed by their own party alters the Act, and has become part of it. The amendment to the clause as to Sunday closing runs as follows:

"The twenty-eighth section of the said Act" (the Crooks Act) "is hereby amended by inserting after the words 'any such liquor,' in the fourteenth line, the words 'whether sold or not,' and by adding at the end of the said section the words 'except by the occupant or some member of his family or lodger in his house.'"—40 Vic. (1877) ch. 18, sec. 13.

Now we grant that this amendment may be made in a slovenly manner. That is nothing new indeed under the leadership of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, for much of the time of each session is occupied by tinkering the defects of their measure, till even the judges complain that they cannot keep track of the changes. But we ask if there can be any doubt that the meaning and object of the amendment was to enable the licensee holder to supply his lodgers with liquor. As it was not likely that he would give it away, his sale must have been contemplated. This is not only the common sense view, but it is the view that has actually prevailed in practice. The magistrates, the prosecuting counsel, the licensee officials, the licensee holders and the travelling public have all believed this to be the meaning of the law, and have so guided themselves. We have not heard of a single case in which a different interpretation has been adopted.

Some of the Reform journals, however, after this opinion has prevailed among all concerned for six years, now pretend that this amendment means that the lodger may use his own stock of liquor that he may have in his possession, but that he must not be supplied on Sunday. Is it reasonable to suppose that the amendment was introduced for any such purpose? What was there practically to prevent a lodger from using his own stock under the original Crooks Act, if that were all? It is certain that an amendment would not have been gravely proposed to legalize this.

The fact is that after six years of a general belief to the contrary this quibble was invented merely to aid the slanders against Mr. Foster, who was falsely accused of favouring Sunday liquor selling. The pretence has still been maintained as a means of attacking the Conservative administration and opposing its temperance legislation.

OUR CONSTITUTION'S FORCE.

We are now calmly told by the leading Reform journal, that:

"The violations of Provincial rights are all of quite recent occurrence, and the demand for such amendments to the Constitution as will remove all colour for them has therefore only begun to be made. It is a demand, however, in which all the Provinces will yet be found joining, and that at no distant day. The veto power must be swept away as an instrument capable of producing incalculable mischief in the hands of an unscrupulous Minister."

It seems, then, that it was not a violation of Provincial rights for Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues to pass the Scott Act, though it is an outrage for a Conservative administration to pass the new License Act. The veto was all right when exercised by Mr. Blake and his colleagues, but according to the same impartial critic it is quite wrong when used in the same manner by the Macdonald ministry. It will be seen that we have a fresh admission that the veto power exists, that its exercise is not unconstitutional, and that it is our constitution that has to be altered to suit the present views of those who object to it simply because the people of Canada will not entrust them with the administration of it.

The Globe tells us that "Mr. McLellan could not be forced to retract what he had said" (of Sir Charles Tupper) "even when he sat as the colleague of Sir Charles in the House of Commons." Hereward says that Mr. McLellan told the House that he found he had been mistaken in his opinion of the transactions for which he has formerly censured Sir Charles, and "we really must believe the authentic official report rather than the unscrupulous party organ."

THE UNION QUESTION.

SHALL THE FOUR METHODIST CHURCHES UNITE IN ONE BODY?

The Toronto Conference considers the Question—Three Resolutions Offered—Different Views of the Basis Submitted.

TUESDAY, JUNE 19.

The Conference was opened at 9 o'clock with devotional exercises.

The Rev. J. W. TOTTEN read the report of the Church Property Committee, which was adopted.

The Rev. T. CULLEN presented the report of the Temperance Committee.

A discussion arose on certain recommendations which were already contained in the new Dominion law. It was urged that it was unnecessary to recommend anything which had already been enacted.

The Rev. Dr. RICE said that the Dominion Act made the law more restrictive in regard to the sale of liquor on Sunday.

The clause relating to legislation were eliminated and the report adopted.

The Rev. Mr. YOUNG moved that unfermented wine alone be used at the Conference sacramental service, and that the people be urged to request to use no other.—Carried.

The Rev. PETER ADDISON moved that the Conference express its opinion that liquor should not be sold with groceries.—Carried.

The order of the day, the consideration of the adoption of the basis of union, was called at 10 o'clock.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

The Rev. JOHN SHAW rose to a question of privilege. It had been his honor or misfortune, whichever they might consider it, to move a certain resolution in the General Conference in regard to the union, and for this action he assumed the whole responsibility. In the discussion yesterday the Rev. Mr. Hunter had taken occasion to use his name and represent him as going back on his motion, and it was unfair to use his name in that way, especially in the presence of his congregation. Why was his name singled out from among those who had voted as he did in the Committee? He did not consider that he had gone back on his motion, and he thought it very objectionable to use such personalities in this discussion.

The Rev. Dr. DEWART argued that the Rev. Mr. Hunter had said nothing out of place.

The Rev. S. J. HUNTER—Will you be satisfied if I name the others who voted with you in the Committee.

The Rev. JOHN SHAW—I wish personalities to be avoided.

THE DEBATE RESUMED.

The Rev. S. J. HUNTER resumed his remarks on the basis of union. He did not wish to hurt any person's feelings in this church or any other. He was discussing last night what he understood to be instructions given to the committee by the General Conference. He had several good thoughts on it then, but for the life of him he could not remember them. The arrangement made in 1874 had given great satisfaction to the church, and it would be well to continue that constitutional arrangement. Nothing had occurred to disturb the relations between the General and Annual Conferences. It remained for this proposition as to the General Superintendency to throw the first seeds of discord among the Methodist Ministers. The General Conference remained true to the basis of 1874, and it was regarded as so absolutely solid that nothing should interfere with it. If this basis was torn up, what guarantee had they that any basis which they might lay would not soon be destroyed? Was there any beauty in the General Superintendency that they should love it? Would they ask one day who would preside the next? They had been accustomed to see the man of their choice presiding at the Annual Conference. This plan would lead to difference of opinion, one decision being given one day and another the next day. It would break down under the weight of its own absurdities. They had in this basis an episcopacy. Not, it was true, an Anglican episcopacy, but did they want a bishop over them, or a half or a quarter of a bishop? (No, no.) What had become of the restrictive rules? No person was competent to say what would be done with reference to them in the future. The fact was that the restrictive rules were not found in the basis. It meant lifting the General Conference to the position of an oligarchy; it meant giving it absolute authority while from the pound-keeper in the backwoods to the Queen on the throne there were restrictions to guide. (Cheers.) They had to judge not only by the speech of the talk but by its silence, and its silence was ominous. Were they prepared to accept the basis which swept away their restrictive rules and landed them—God only knew where. (Laughter.) The General Conference might touch rights which they held as dear as life. Why was there this everlasting attempt to exalt the General Conference at the expense of the Annual Conference? Give up the veto power, and consequences would follow which they would regret. Adopt this basis and the Annual Conference would be like the man Dr. C. Taylor used to tell of, who was stripped by Arabs of every article of clothing but his hat, and with that they wished to cover two heads. (Loud applause.) He regretted that the basis was so defective. They could not say "Why don't you suggest a better?" as they had not given him a chance. It was not a question of like or dislike, but would this basis command the cordial assent of the ministry and laymen of the church? Would it advance the cause of Christ? Better, infinitely better, to have war without than war within. It would be better to be satisfied with their position in the Northwest than to land their church in a musket. (Laughter.) The basis was prophetic of discord in the future, because the ministers were evenly divided upon it, and there was an organized opposition to it in another church. He submitted these resolutions and prayed that the great Head of the Church would guide and direct them. He was loudly cheered on resuming his seat.

The Rev. JOHN BREXID was received with cheers. It was no exaggeration he said to say that this basis had thrown discord into families, difficulties into district meetings and discord in Conferences. (No, no.) He referred to the basis as an indestructible basis of union. Dr. Sutherland said he did not know who was responsible for the movement, but he (the speaker) knew who was responsible for "the bugled sang truce," for a number of mischievous pamphlets, for a series of letters, and an eloquent and magnificently unapologetic speech yesterday.

It was easier to arrest legislation while in progress than to amend it after it was consummated. He contended that the Committee had succeeded the instruction of the General Conference. The consequences if they rejected the basis would be the same as it had been for the past eight years. Would the Conference endorse an abortion which its authors acknowledged to be imperfect? Dr. Sutherland had said that he had rambled in his speech yesterday, and so he did, for his basis was wrong. (Laughter.) If they laid the doctor on the table before them, and quartered him, and made use of the dissecting knife, they would find basis of union on his brain, affecting his lungs, poisoning his liver and sticking in his gizzard; and if a Coroner's inquest was held, the verdict of the jury would be, "Died from basis of union." (Laughter and hisses.)

The Rev. Dr. YOUNG and others protested against this manner of carrying on the discussion, as it degraded the dignity of the Conference.

The Rev. Mr. BREXID, resuming, asked if the record of the votes of the Quarterly Boards could be furnished?

The Rev. Dr. Sutherland said he could give it. It was as follows:—Boards in favour of the basis, 217; opposed to it, 10; ties 3. The individual vote in favor of it was 2,521; opposed, 402. (Cheers.) Of all the 700 Boards of the church, about 100 had attached riders to the acceptance of the basis, recommending modifications.

The Rev. Mr. BREXID asked what would be done with the majority of these Boards, with the large minority of the ministers in the Montreal Conference, the majority in the London Conference, and the majority they would have in this Conference? No Papal bull was ever more despotic than this basis of union. The basis of union was an open question, and they were not committed to it. It was said that they had gone too far to go back, but who had gone too far? It was the man who overstepped the instructions of the General Conference, Bro. Sutherland. He read from the addresses of the Methodist Episcopal, Primitive Methodist and Bible Christian Churches, to show that they were depressed in finances and that their ministers were leaving them. If they adopted this basis they would disband their grand old Toronto Conference. (No, no.) The union they proposed was a moral miscegenation, and the basis should not be accepted.

The Rev. W. J. HUNTER, D. D., was received with cheers. He was exceedingly anxious that nothing should burke the great question of union, and that it should not be delayed longer than next September. He would not like to say that his resolutions were in hostility to the resolutions proposed. He felt until four weeks ago that he must support the basis, but when he read the discussions and saw the votes in the London and Montreal Conferences, he halted. So far as he was personally concerned he could vote for the basis of union, but when so many ministers assured them that they had profound and conscientious objections to the basis he could not vote for it. (He read his resolution which was published yesterday.) He went back to the inception of the movement to show the grounds for his resolution. He read a motion moved by the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, and seconded by the Rev. Dr. Dewart stating that organic union was desirable, provided always it carried the cordial assent of the ministers. Did this basis receive the cordial assent of the ministers? He believed that it would be competent for the General Conference to meet, and for the churches to unite if this resolution were adopted. He had heard no objections to the admission of lay representatives into the Annual Conference. He had authority for saying that if his resolution was carried it would give no offence to the other churches. He was sorry that hard things had been said of the Methodist Episcopal Church. They were one in aim and object, and were brothers. If the union was consummated the Primitive Methodist Church would come in with a better financial condition than any of the four contracting parties. But he left out the financial aspect of the question, if they could only have a cordial union. The one point of difficulty which met them was the form, not the principle, of the General Superintendency. The representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church did not even give an inkling of the idea that the form of the General Superintendency on the basis was the only one that they could accept. If the form was modified they would not shut out the Methodist Episcopal Church. (Cries of "yes" and "no.") By his resolution they conceded the principle of the General Superintendency. They could not have a union without the cordial consent of the ministers. The devil was not dead yet and he feared disunion. The General Superintendency as they had it on the basis was either a vital principle or it was not a vital principle. If it was not essential, and only a sentimental, then let the Methodist Episcopal Church bar the union on that ground, and they could face the public sentiment of the Dominion. If it was a vital principle involved he would like to know what it was? (A voice—"Apostolic succession.") If the position was as stated by Bishop Carman, then the discussion should come to an end. No one in this Conference could vote for that if they believed it. It was as high as an Anglican or Roman Catholic prelate could put it. Still he believed that Bishop Carman and the Methodist Episcopal Church would accept the modified form of the General Superintendency as proposed in this resolution. The reason why he felt constrained to move his resolution was that he felt that the construction the Methodist Episcopal Church put upon the General Superintendency was as Bishop Carman had stated it. Dr. Rice, the President of the General Conference, was only a member of the Conference, and he took a seat on the floor of the church, but no sooner was the Conference organized than he was invited to the platform. There was no laity in the world who had more confidence in their ministers than the laymen of this church. The laymen only saw one united, glorious church. The laymen were looking to them to accomplish union—(cheers)—but not by giving up a fundamental principle. Adopt this resolution and it would go down to the eastern Conferences and be adopted there, and he believed the Methodist Episcopal Church would adopt it; but if that church did not, it was a matter of principle, and let them go. Because they had a base majority would they say to the minority that they must accept the basis or go elsewhere? He argued that even should the basis not be accepted as a whole, the General Conference could still be summoned on this question, and the union could still be consummated on the modified basis. He prayed that God might guide them aright in this matter.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. Persons who are very susceptible to sudden changes of weather would do well to keep a supply of GRAY'S SNAKE OR RUM SNAKE GUM in the house. This syrup is a scientific preparation of the Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce Tree, and holds a large quantity of the Gum in perfect solution, never separating. Its remarkable power in relieving certain forms of Bronchitis, and curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well-known to the public at large. No remedy can equal it as a safe and thoroughly reliable Cough Medicine. Sold by all chemists. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

MR. WM. PAYE, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddon, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

THE UNION QUESTION.

SHALL THE FOUR METHODIST CHURCHES UNITE IN ONE BODY?

The Toronto Conference considers the Question—Three Resolutions offered—Different Views of the Basis Submitted.

The Conference re-assembled at 2 o'clock, and the Rev. J. C. Seymour led in prayer.

The report of the Committee on Statistics was read and accepted, as was also the report of the Children's Fund Committee.

The Rev. Wm. Briggs resumed the debate on the adoption of the basis of union, supporting Dr. Hunter's amendment. Organic union was a consummation devoutly to be wished, if it would come as the flower, gourd and blossom, but it should not be forced. A union sentiment had grown up, the volume and power of which was felt all over the country. The public sentiment and the voice of the people were important. In this annual Conference they had difference of opinion, but it did not lead to divergence of feeling. The point which brought out the minority vote in the London Conference and the majority vote in the London Conference was one which affected only one of the churches with which it was proposed to unite. Why not then unite with the two churches which were proposed to come in? They were ready to do all that could be required of them. He was willing to concede lay representation, but to bring in the other church they had to pay in a different coin. He considered the dual Presidency an Irish hold for the President of the Annual Conference, a peg lower. He would heartily receive the Methodist Episcopal Church when he could do so without giving up his principles. It was not intended to delay the entrance of the Methodist Episcopal Church an hour if they could by mutual concessions come to a satisfactory arrangement on the General Superintendency. He closed by urging the acceptance of the amendment to the amendment.

The Rev. HUGH JOHNSTON, B. D., said that the property of Christ's Church was more dear to them than any party consideration. They were not here to modify the basis or make a new one. A new basis could only be argued between the contracting parties. The amendment to the amendment was on both sides. It was running—the trial of the serpent was over it. (Cries of "shame.")

The Rev. Dr. HUNTER warmly appealed to the chair for protection against such base and baseless charges.

The Rev. Mr. JOHNSTON said that if he had said anything wrong, or that wounded any one's feelings, he would heartily withdraw it. The amendment asked the General Conference to modify the basis of union, and that was a rejection to the basis, thereby preventing the General Conference from meeting. If episcopacy was included in the basis he would visit it to the end, but it was not included in it. They could go no further without destroying the General Superintendency. The General Superintendent would assist at ordination because the ministers were received into the whole church and not into one annual Conference alone. The representatives of this church, while yielding no principle, met the other representatives in a spirit of brotherly love, and they settled down to their basis, which was not a triumph of diplomacy, but of divine grace. In his own Quarterly Board the basis of union was thoroughly discussed. What gave significance to the decision of the Quarterly Boards was that those boards which rejected it were those who had not felt the evils of division. Out of 3800 votes cast in the Primitive Methodist Church 3100 had voted in favour of union, and in the Bible Christian Church the vote was about the same. If there didn't arise discussion it would come from those who had raised the black flag of treason. (Oh, oh.) Were they as Christian Ministers justified in reaping apart not only this generation, but succeeding generations? There was nothing in the way of union but what love and reconciliation would remove. No one doubts that there should be a great saving by union: All over the land little buildings stood, the emblems of weakness and the reminders of strife. What did this church give up? Nothing but the note power, and for that they had a substitute. The Methodist Episcopal Church had to give up the bishops, the life long term, special ordination, Presiding Elders and their very name. How could they put consecration into a mere opinion? The General Superintendent would not be President of the Annual Conference. Would it detract from the dignity of the President of the Annual Conference to have the chief officer of the church sitting beside him? Were they justified in placing themselves in opposition to the highest Christian sentiment of the day for a mere bauble? The President of the Annual Conference was as much a bishop as an Anglican Bishop. The General Superintendent would have no powers more than the President now had. What danger would there be in the presence of laymen in the Annual Conference, when they were in all the courts below this Conference and in all the courts above? The laymen were a unity on the question, and every minister would loyally accept the decision of the majority. The financial affairs had been fairly settled. They had gained strength by the union sentiment since the last union. There was no power in the world that could abolish the restrictive rules. Who made the General Conference? The church made it, and why should they be afraid of it assuming despotic powers? Were they going to compromise their Christianity upon a party point? The church of the future would be perfectly free to make new rules. Ponderous weight was given to technical and legal irregularities, but they could be got over as easily as jumping a ditch. A day at Ottawa would do it. Every safeguard necessary was provided, and there was no longer need of delay. Why do an injustice to the smaller bodies, who relied upon them that had entered into this arrangement in good faith, and had disunited from their born churches? There was no fear of disruption, as the spirit of the age was opposed to the multiplication of sects. Consolidate Methodism and they would elevate the standard of Methodist ministers.

The Rev. E. H. DEWART, D. D., after a few opening remarks, said he admitted that the rejection of the basis involved serious responsibility, but to accept it in its present shape would be to invite more serious consequences. The question was not, should they vote for union or not, but would they rush through this basis with its unquestionable defects? He opposed this basis because he wished to have one that would bring about a more harmonious union. He argued that the Committee had exceeded the instructions given by the General Conference in regard to the General Superintendency, and therefore the basis was not a legal one. He pointed out that many quarterly boards counted as voting for the union had entered protests against some parts of the basis. The basis took away from the Annual Conference the right of selecting their presiding officer. (No, no.) They had always had ample supervision of their work, but they had never had episcopacy, and did not need it. He claimed that the demand for the General Superintendency, as developed in the basis, was a new demand, as it was not put before the General Conference at Hamilton as continuing the episcopacy. If the episcopacy was not incorporated in the basis, the Methodist Episcopal Church was not proceeding legally, as they had not taken steps to abolish it. If episcopacy was included in the basis, they, with their Wesleyan education, were not prepared to barter their principles for a Methodist Episcopal mess of pottage. The Methodist Episcopal Church had accepted this basis as containing the episcopacy. Some of these changes, to which they objected, were not pressed upon them by the other contracting parties. In this basis there was a tendency to concentrate power in the General Conference. He urged that the rights of the minority in those bodies that had already voted on the basis should be respected. Some were so anxious for union that they would have it, even at the expense of disunion. There were financial difficulties to meet, and there were legal points to be decided, which, although he did not say they were insuperable, should be considered by them, as they balanced seriously the advantages of the union. There was no ground for talking in this "now or never" way. The union of Methodism in Canada was only a question of time. The rejection of this basis would only delay it for a time. They should do what they thought was best in the sight of God for their own church in particular, and Methodism in general.

The Rev. N. S. BURWASS moved, seconded by the Rev. G. WARDEN, M. A., an amendment making slight alterations in Dr. Sutherland's motion, and adding the following clause:

"That to secure this important object, as well as to take steps to bring about a more perfect union, without which the purpose cannot be attained, we request the General Conference and its officers to postpone the consummation of union until after the meeting of the Annual Conference in 1884, and in the meantime to secure if possible a further convention of the representatives of the uniting bodies."

The Conference then adjourned at 5.30 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, June 20.

The Conference opened at 9 o'clock with devotional exercises, the Rev. J. G. LAIRD leading in prayer.

The Rev. C. M. TATE asked whether the Conference would permit him to take subscriptions for the building of a saw mill in British Columbia for the Indians. The permission was granted.

The Rev. Dr. WITHEROW moved, seconded by the Rev. Dr. YOUNG,—That this Conference desires to express its sympathies with the Woman's Missionary Society, and congratulates the society on the work it had accomplished.—Carried.

The Rev. R. DUKE moved, seconded by the Rev. J. W. SAVAGE,—That the temperance meeting this evening be set aside, and the discussion on the basis of union be continued at the evening meeting.—Carried.

The Rev. Marmaduke Pearson, of the Montreal Conference, was introduced to the Conference, and also the Rev. Alex. Hardie, of the same Conference.

The Rev. E. BARRAS, M. A., was elected a member of the Central Sunday School Board, the Rev. Alex. Sutherland, D. D., was elected a member of the Transfer Committee, and the Rev. G. COCHRAN, D. D., a member of the General Board of Missions.

The order of the day was resumed at 11 minutes to eleven.

The Rev. S. D. RICE, D. D., after some preliminary remarks, said that the two points he intended to discuss were their present circumstances, how they got there, and what they had to do. He came to this country in 1847 because of union. There was a bitterness then, but the British and Canadian Methodists were united while at sword points, because they went earnestly to work to unite without raising technical points. He was amused to hear it asked what would be done with the minority if the basis were adopted. What would be done with the majority if it was rejected? Could they trust the laity not to rebel if their votes were outvoted, and yet fear to trust the ministry? He related incidents which occurred during the time of the union in 1847 to show that there was no danger of disruption. God was on the side of union and not of disunion. Every union had been wonderful in its results in improving the financial condition of every interest they had. The union of 1847 was a forced union, but the strength of the union sentiment, but its result had been good, for God was in it. Would Canada have been as Methodist as it was today if that union had not taken place? Certainly not. Look at the advancement in the missionary work between 1847 and 1873, as a result of peace and harmony and God's blessing. The superannuation fund had also largely increased. He claimed that the union with the New Connection church had been a blessing to them, and quoted a number of figures to show that it had strengthened them financially. In twenty-six years their investments for the superannuation fund had grown to $31,000, and in the six years since that union it had increased to $70,000. In 1875 three churches retired from the negotiations for union, but as they viewed the result of the union, and saw that every agreement entered into was honorably carried out, they who had retired from union now were promoting it. If they did not adopt this basis of union they could get none from the contracting parties. There was a disposition to be little some of the other denominations. Why did not they do that when union with them was first taken up? They could not, as honorable men, repeat this basis now. He believed that Dr. Hunter was in earnest and truthful in the position he had taken, but his amendment was very adroit and deceptive. While they could agree with part of it, it still rejected the basis and would stop the purpose of the other churches towards union, and undo what they had done.

The Conference adjourned at 12 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Rice having the floor.

A MINISTER'S EVIDENCE.—The all prevalent malady of civilized life is Dyspepsia. Rev. W. E. Gifford, of Bothwell, was cured of Dyspepsia and liver complaint that rendered his life almost a burden. The cure was completed by three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters.

The Rev. N. S. BURWASS moved, seconded by the Rev. G. WARDEN, M. A., an amendment making slight alterations in Dr. Sutherland's motion, and adding the following clause:

The Rev. N. S. BURWASS moved, seconded by the Rev. G. WARDEN, M. A., an amendment making slight alterations in Dr. Sutherland's motion, and adding the following clause:

"That to secure this important object, as well as to take steps to bring about a more perfect union, without which the purpose cannot be attained, we request the General Conference and its officers to postpone the consummation of union until after the meeting of the Annual Conference in 1884, and in the meantime to secure if possible a further convention of the representatives of the uniting bodies."

The Conference then adjourned at 5.30 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, June 20.

The Conference opened at 9 o'clock with devotional exercises, the Rev. J. G. LAIRD leading in prayer.

The Rev. C. M. TATE asked whether the Conference would permit him to take subscriptions for the building of a saw mill in British Columbia for the Indians. The permission was granted.

The Rev. Dr. WITHEROW moved, seconded by the Rev. Dr. YOUNG,—That this Conference desires to express its sympathies with the Woman's Missionary Society, and congratulates the society on the work it had accomplished.—Carried.

The Rev. R. DUKE moved, seconded by the Rev. J. W. SAVAGE,—That the temperance meeting this evening be set aside, and the discussion on the basis of union be continued at the evening meeting.—Carried.

The Rev. Marmaduke Pearson, of the Montreal Conference, was introduced to the Conference, and also the Rev. Alex. Hardie, of the same Conference.

The Rev. E. BARRAS, M. A., was elected a member of the Central Sunday School Board, the Rev. Alex. Sutherland, D. D., was elected a member of the Transfer Committee, and the Rev. G. COCHRAN, D. D., a member of the General Board of Missions.

The order of the day was resumed at 11 minutes to eleven.

The Rev. S. D. RICE, D. D., after some preliminary remarks, said that the two points he intended to discuss were their present circumstances, how they got there, and what they had to do. He came to this country in 1847 because of union. There was a bitterness then, but the British and Canadian Methodists were united while at sword points, because they went earnestly to work to unite without raising technical points. He was amused to hear it asked what would be done with the minority if the basis were adopted. What would be done with the majority if it was rejected? Could they trust the laity not to rebel if their votes were outvoted, and yet fear to trust the ministry? He related incidents which occurred during the time of the union in 1847 to show that there was no danger of disruption. God was on the side of union and not of disunion. Every union had been wonderful in its results in improving the financial condition of every interest they had. The union of 1847 was a forced union, but the strength of the union sentiment, but its result had been good, for God was in it. Would Canada have been as Methodist as it was today if that union had not taken place? Certainly not. Look at the advancement in the missionary work between 1847 and 1873, as a result of peace and harmony and God's blessing. The superannuation fund had also largely increased. He claimed that the union with the New Connection church had been a blessing to them, and quoted a number of figures to show that it had strengthened them financially. In twenty-six years their investments for the superannuation fund had grown to $31,000, and in the six years since that union it had increased to $70,000. In 1875 three churches retired from the negotiations for union, but as they viewed the result of the union, and saw that every agreement entered into was honorably carried out, they who had retired from union now were promoting it. If they did not adopt this basis of union they could get none from the contracting parties. There was a disposition to be little some of the other denominations. Why did not they do that when union with them was first taken up? They could not, as honorable men, repeat this basis now. He believed that Dr. Hunter was in earnest and truthful in the position he had taken, but his amendment was very adroit and deceptive. While they could agree with part of it, it still rejected the basis and would stop the purpose of the other churches towards union, and undo what they had done.

The Conference adjourned at 12 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Rice having the floor.

A MINISTER'S EVIDENCE.—The all prevalent malady of civilized life is Dyspepsia. Rev. W. E. Gifford, of Bothwell, was cured of Dyspepsia and liver complaint that rendered his life almost a burden. The cure was completed by three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters.

The Rev. N. S. BURWASS moved, seconded by the Rev. G. WARDEN, M. A., an amendment making slight alterations in Dr. Sutherland's motion, and adding the following clause:

UNION BASIS ACCEPTED

BY THE TORONTO CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST CHURCH OF CANADA.

The Debate Closed and the Vote Taken at One O'clock in the Morning—A Majority of One Hundred in Favor of the Basis of Union.

THURSDAY, June 20.—The Conference resumed at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Green leading in prayer.

The Rev. N. Hill, on behalf of the Conference, in a brief and brief speech, presented the Rev.
T. Manning, B. A., with an address and a paper for his kindness and assistance, in attending to the Conference post office. The Rev. Mr.
Manning replied, expressing his gratitude.

The Rev. T. W. JEFFERY read the report of the Committee on the State of the Work, which was very gratifying. The increase of membership was 668, and every branch of the work was progressing satisfactorily. The report was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. RICE resumed his remarks on the basis of union. As to the veto power, he laid down the principle that no nation had ever become strong that had not acknowledged the authority of the federal head. The Annual Conferences and District Meetings elected the delegates to the legislative Conference, and if any representatives did wrong they need not re-elect them. The General Conference was the creation of the Annual Conferences and it was impossible for it to injure them. The matter was entirely changed by the admission of laymen into the Annual Conferences. The equivalent which the basis gave was all they could require—it was more than an equivalent.
As to the allegation that the Committee had gone beyond their instructions, he said that they had received no instructions. In considering the General Superintendency and other questions they acted under the restrictive rules, which rules were as solid as a rock. It made no difference what Bishop Oarman believed as to the General Superintendency. The question was, what were they bringing into the new church? The power of the Annual Conference to elect a President remained, and the right to ordain was not taken from him. It would not degrade the President to preside alternately with the General Superintendent. The General Superintendent would not interfere with the pastoral duties of the President. The laymen knew what they were about when they accepted the basis of union. He could not hold out any hope that a meeting of the General Conference could be called unless the basis of union were adopted. He thanked them for their kindness in hearing him.

The Rev. W. Jeffery, D. D., said that Conference had shown an excellent spirit in giving a cordial reception to all the speakers. Because some could not approve of the proposed terms of union, it should not be said that they did not favour union. By reversing the usual order and sending it to the Quarterly Boards before it came to the Annual Conference, had tried to put them into a corner. A difficulty would arise in stationing the largely increased number of ministers. The circles would have to be cut up, and they then could not support the ministers. The superannuation fund was a dark subject, and he believed that they would be better without that fund altogether. He did not believe that the ministers of the other churches would bring in half of their people or support and this would put an additional tax on their societies. Methodism compelled them to find fields of labour for their ministers, and they would have to increase their mission fields and put a strain on the mission fund. The quarterly meetings voted more on the question of union than on this basis. The articles in the leading Toronto papers had had a powerful effect on the public mind, but the public did not know that in one paper they were written by a Methodist minister, who was a strong partisan in the matter, and in the other they were written by partisans. If this basis was adopted many of their people would go to other churches.
He believed that the union would bring in a large number of claimants on their superannuation fund, without a corresponding increase in its resources. The laity did not understand the questions which affected more particularly the ministers. He could not trust any General Conference with unlimited power by leaving out the restrictive rules. The General Superintendent presided during the first day of the session of the annual Conference, the day on which they nominated their committees and shaped their work. The Stationing Committee had most despotic power, and could move every one of them every year, and how would it be, supposing two or three officials, from the nature of their position, could influence the committee and control the patronage of the church? There was a danger in centralizing power. Their Presidents were bishops in every sense of the term, but the President of the General Conference was an official of a different nature. This basis conceded nothing to episcopacy. A salary of $2,000 had been voted for the General Superintendent, and why was that done if he was not going to do work, and interfere with the administration of their affairs? The General Superintendency was entering the thin end of the wedge, and it would soon go further. He contended that the Committee's power had been restricted by the General Conference, and that they had exceeded their instructions. He had long favored union, but he was sorry to say that yesterday during the debate he lost all hope of union. He proposed at the Conference at Hamilton that they should wait four years longer, so that all the churches could arrange their finances.

The Rev. N. S. BURWASH, T. D., read his amendment. [This resolution was published yesterday].

The point of order being raised, it was ruled that this motion must be accepted as a rider to the original motion.

The Rev. Dr. BURWASH then asked leave to withdraw the motion.

The President hoped they would not lose the benefit of Dr. Burwash's remarks.

Dr. BURWASH then addressed the Conference.
Both the amendments rejected the basis, while the rider he proposed accepted the basis, but tried to meet the views of those who opposed it.

The basis should be accepted in such a way that there would be no danger of a miscarriage of this great work, and all legal points should be settled, as millions of dollars worth of property was involved. He argued that the Committee had not exceeded its powers, and this Conference had no power to modify the basis, although they could petition the General Conference in favor of a modification. They had either to accept or reject the basis. He was prepared to accept the basis. It was impossible to devise a basis that every one would agree with, but they should meet each other with compromise. There was nothing in the basis that changed any fundamental points of their constitution. He explained the principle upon which lay representation was admitted. The presence of laymen in the Annual Conference would cause them to be composed in the same way as the General Conference, and changed the position of the General President. The General Superintendent would have no more of the power of the Episcopacy than the President now had. No Methodist Church looked upon ordination as something magical. It was a religious service, and the President who laid his hands upon the heads of the ordination class was a representative of the Conference praying for a blessing upon them. The General Superintendent would have nothing to do with stationing the ministers—one of the principal functions of the Episcopacy. The basis did not invest the power of discipline in the General Superintendent; it remained where it had been, in the hands of the President of the Annual Conference. In viewing these district they found 44 men, where 35 men could do the work.
If union was consummated 9 men would be set at liberty, and they now were waiting 35 men.
Inside of three years they would have good fields of labor provided for every man, and they would bear a small tax for that length of time.
(Dr. Burwash—There are 15 circuits waiting men in the Montreal Conference.) He moved this rider to the motion because he feared the legal difficulties, and wished to have all go into the union cordially.

The Rev. A. BROWNING moved, seconded by the Rev. J. F. GEMME, M. A., "That all the speakers, except the movers of the resolution and amendments, be limited to ten minutes each."—Carried.

The Conference then adjourned at 5.30 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, June 20.

The Conference resumed at 7.30 o'clock p.m., the Rev. J. E. SANDERSON, M. A., leading in prayer.

The Rev. C. M. TATE, of the Balla-Balla mission, in British Columbia, appealed to the members of the Conference and the people for contributions to assist in purchasing a saw mill for the Indians.

The Rev. J. B. CLARKSON, M. A., resumed
the debate on the basis of union. This church has ever moved, as the hand of God directed.
The whole question was one of organization.
The discipline was a part of their life, and they could not interfere with one without affecting the other. They could enact laws, but not make opinions. A committee had been appointed to find a basis of union. Columbia was not so great in suffering America, by he was in believing there was an America to find, and the committee had found a basis, but they were greater because they had believed there was a basis to find. This basis was the only thing that could bind the four Methodist churches together. It was said that it was necessary that drove them to union, and so it was. It was necessary that drove him to Christ. In the Methodist churches they were one in principle.
The speaker was cut short in an eloquent sentence by the President ringing the bell for time,
the ten minutes having expired.

The Rev. A. BROWNING wanted to give his reason for voting as he intended to. He was told that if the basis was rejected Methodism was ruined, and if it was not rejected it would be ruined. He did not believe either. He intended to vote for the main resolution, with Dr.
Burwash's rider. He wanted the laymen in the Conference and in the Stationing Committee. He believed by union they would have the inauguration of a second Pentecost. He was prepared to make any sacrifice for the cause of God. He would vote for the rider on account of the legal questions raised, and to please the brethren who opposed the basis. He longed for the time when the four churches would be one.

The Rev. R. DUKES argued that the President could not call the General Conference unless the basis was adopted. He supported the original motion without the riders, as the motion provided for the very things which Dr. Burwash feared. He did not fear division, as any who should secede would go out naked into a cold world. To turn back the tide now would be to turn against sect. The Roman Church was waiting eagerly to see what they would do. A divided Methodism would cease, and all their agencies for carrying on the cause of God would be united, and would do the work better.

The Rev. R. JONES said he had been officially connected with all the changes through which this connection had passed for many years, including that of 1832. When he looked over all the changes, and he could go back fifty years, he had no fears of the result of this change. If ever a kind Providence had watched over a body of men they had watched over this church.
In sitting down he wished the brethren to understand that he was for the basis.

The Rev. W. H. EMMERY said he was for union but not for the basis. He supported Dr.
Hunter's amendment.

The Rev. E. STAFFORD said that the ministers in the far North-west could not come here, but where they were their votes they would be for the basis. The opposition in the Montreal Conference was organized and firm, but the members of the minority were still brotherly with those of the majority, and some of them actually said they were glad that the basis was carried. The Montreal Conference was unanimous now for the carrying out of the union on this basis, as the opponents of the basis yielded when the majority was found to be against them.

The Rev. J. G. LAIRD said he was a union man from head to foot, but he must vote against the basis. In the former unions referred to by a previous speaker there was no difference in church policy, but in this case there was a principle involved. He opposed the basis because of the episcopacy in it, and because it left out the restrictive rules.

The Rev. J. CARROLL, D. D., compared the churches to lovers who had long been courting, and had had lovers' quarrels, but were about to be married. He reviewed the history of different unions, and supported the one now proposed.

The Rev. PETER ADDISON said that the Pri-mative Methodist church only desired union from necessity. He argued that the adoption of Dr. Hunter's amendment would not block the union, but only delay it until they could secure unanimity. He objected to the basis as containing the episcopacy, (because by it the Annual Conference would lose the veto power).

The Rev. E. R. YOUNG said that the last union had been a blessing, and he would vote for the basis pure and simple. One reason he would do so was because of the benefit it would be to the North-West. He wished to remove the reproach of the divisions of Methodism.
Union was strength, and they could then send missionaries to many places where it was desirable they should send them.

The Rev. T. W. JEFFERY objected to the basis because it was thoroughly illegal, as the General Conference which met at Hamilton was illegal, on account of not meeting at Kingston, the place appointed.

The Rev. JOHN HUNT supported the adoption of the basis.

The Rev. N. R. WILCOCK moved that the debate be now closed, with the exception of the replies of the movers of the resolutions.— Carried.

The Rev. W. J. HUNTER, D. D., said that his resolution was a straightforward one, and was the profound conviction of his heart. He could not vote for Dr. Burwash's rider because it postponed the completion of the union. The Union Committee had done their work honestly and well. He did not like some parts of the basis, but had decided to accept it for the sake of union. But when he found so many having profound convictions against it, he could not support it. Dr. Rice, in his history of Methodism in Canada, failed to tell them that on the occasion of one union there was disruption, and it was because of this very article of the Episcopacy. His resolution would not break the union. On the occasion of the last union the basis drawn up was modified by the Conference of both churches, yet that did not prevent the union. He then argued that the General Conference could be convened if his resolution was adopted. He prayed for a union on a basis that would secure unanimity.

The Rev. S. J. HUNTER said that each one had only to consider, "Is the way in which I am going to vote the right one?" He thought that the argument of those who wished to accept the basis had been so triumphantly met that he need not take up much more time. No one objected to lay delegation. The concession of modifying the other churches had been held up to them, but the almost entire polity of this church would be changed. The basis gave the General Conference power to sweep away all the pastoral powers of the Annual Conferences. Some who were standing up for this basis wished in their heart of hearts that the Methodist Episcopal Church would throw out the basis and take the responsibility of the action. If the Methodist Church could only move with manufactured public sentiment, the time was not far distant when a David would be called to take charge of the church. It was said that they would impair the whole church by rejecting the basis of union. The church of God could not be impaired. The men who voted against the basis in the other Conferences were men who had been true to the church, and when they said they were actuated by conscientious scruples and could not accept the basis, were they prepared to say that many of them must either accept the basis or go out from the church? His resolution only spoke the truth when it referred to the organized opposition, and it was certain that if the basis was accepted there would be litigation. The majority of the heads of departments, who understood the financial affairs, voted against the basis in the committee. Dr. Burwash's rider amounted to nothing. If there was a majority for the

the authorities of the church must push it through to the last extremity. There was nothing he dreaded as much as disunion in this church, and he laid at the feet of those who were bound to push the basis through the whole responsibility.

KILLED ON HER WEDDING DAY.

A Bride of only an Hour Instantaneously Killed by an Accident.

One of the saddest occurrences which it has been our duty to relate for some time past, occurred at Meyersburg on Wednesday about noon. Albert Keeler, a young man about 21 years of age, and Miss Ida Campbell, both of whose parents reside at Norham, drove into Campbellford and were married by the Rev. D. O. Crossley. After the ceremony they returned homeward, and at Meyersburg, Keeler drove to the river's edge to give his horse a drink. The animal was afraid of the water, so Keeler turned him around with the back of the buggy to the water, and brought a pail from a pump. In doing this he took the bit out of the horse's mouth, and started for another pail. Just then the horse became frightened, and tried to run away. Keeler grabbed the horse by the nose, but when they reached the road he fell. Miss Campbell, his bride, was still in the buggy, and she clung to the lines, but seeing no safety she attempted to get out of the buggy at the rear. In doing so she fell upon the wheel, which threw her head foremost to the ground, and she was instantly killed. Young Keeler was heart-broken with grief, and could not comprehend that his wife was dead, though the doctor assured him that such was too true. The young lady was very chatty, pleasant, and full of life only one hour before, and was looking forward to a time of greeting from friends at their home. The news of the accident sent a thrill through every person to whom the story was told.—Campbellford Herald.

THE ALLEGED MASSACRE. LONDON, June 21.—The British North Borneo Company officially deny the report that the staff of the company has been massacred by natives in Borneo.

A SHIPMENT OF MORMONS. QUEENSTOWN, June 21.—The steamer Nevada, which sailed from here for New York to-day, had on board 671 Mormons, 171 of whom are British and 500 Scandinavians.

ASSASSINATION SOCIETY. DUBLIN, June 21.—During the examination at Mullingar in connection with the murder of Mrs. Smythe, an informant testified that an assassination society was started by Michael and John Fagan, with the object of removing tyrants and bad landlords. Among those named for removal were the two Smythes and the Earl of Longford. Two of the prisoners were deputed to execute the sentence.

DISPOSAL OF CAREY. DUBLIN, June 21.—The Government have given Carey, the informer, the option of proceeding to the colonies or being released and allowed to remain in Dublin without police protection.

CHINA FIRM. PARIS, June 21.—The Marquis of Tseng, Chinese ambassador, and Prime Minister Ferry had an interview to-day. The former was very conciliatory on all points except that of the recognition of French suzerainty over Annam. His views on this principle he said he could not abandon.

INVINCIBLE EXPOSURES. DUBLIN, June 21.—During the examination at Mullingar in connection with the murder of Mrs. Smythe, an informant testified that the Assassination Society was started by Michael and John Fagan, with the object of removing tyrants and bad landlords. DUELING DIPLOMATISTS. CONSTANTINOPLE, June 21.—A duel was fought to-day between Richter, second secretary of the Russian Legation at Athens, and Balazzi. The former was wounded in three places. The British and Russian Consuls and Ottoman police tried to prevent the meeting.

A HISTORIC SPOT. VERSAILLES, June 21.—At the opening of the Tennis Court, where the third estate met in 1789 and swore not to dissolve until a constitution was obtained, Erikus, Minister Ferry said the men of 1789 taught us "It is not force but right that triumphs." The movement of 1879 was irresistible owing to the union of all revolutionists.

THE ANIMAL BY-LAW. To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Last week an elaborately worded notice was affixed to the walls of our town, stating that the provisions of the so-called Cow By-law would be strictly enforced on and after Monday, the 18th instant. An almost exhaustive list of animals forbidden to run at large was appended. The list was as follows:—Any horse, mare, gelding, bull, ox, heifer, steer, calf, sheep, pig, lamb, goose, duck, or any other poultry. I do not know whether Mr. Thomas Menzies, whose name is attached to the notice, intends to include cows in the sentence, "any other poultry" for the punctuation of the list might warrant such a supposition, and it so happens that those animals do not appear at all by name. Some cow-owners probably think they are so included, while others think they are not; for while the majority have kept their cows at home since the issue of the notice, others have failed to do so. I have seen cows running at large every day this week, unaffected by the terrors of the pound. By the way, where is the pound, and who is the custodian thereof?

A BURGLAR SHOT. SYRACUSE, June 22.—Burglars entered Frank Shellman's saloon at one o'clock this morning. They were discovered by the proprietor, and two officers summoned. A desperate fight ensued. An officer shot one burglar in the head, and he will probably die.

LESS WHISKEY. WASHINGTON, June 22.—According to a statement prepared in the International revenue office the product of Kentucky whiskey for the present fiscal year is only about a fourth as great as for the two preceding years.

DRIVING TO DEATH. CHESTNUT, June 22.—Yesterday John Campbell and James Casey, while under the influence of liquor, were driving along the turnpike road between Mount Carmel and Chestnut at a headlong pace and on coming to a curve they gave no heed to the horse's movements. The animal kept straight on, carrying the wagon off the road and precipitating the men into a cave. Their bodies were found at the bottom horribly mutilated.

TAILED MEN. RIO JANEIRO, May 26.—The existence of a tribe of Indians in Paraguay with tails is asserted apparently on good authority. A person who is in the establishment of the Paraguayan mission of Lacuru Luy was collecting yerba, when his mules were attacked by Guayacurus, a dog species, who fed after killing several mules. The muleteers pursued, firing on the Indians, one of whom, a boy of eight years, was wounded and captured. The boy was brought to Posadas and excited much wonder, and some Germans photographed him. He has a tail six to eight inches long. The boy is very ugly, but his body is not covered with hair. A brother in possession of Col. Rock has also a tail, and it is said that all the tribe are similarly adorned.

BOAT RACING. FULLMAN, Ill., June 22.—5000 people are here to witness the boat races. Water is in good condition. Preliminary heats will be rowed this morning and the great scull race at 4.30 p. m.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1883.

STILL SLANDERING MR. FOSTER.

MR. FOSTER, M. P. for King's county, N. B., has shown too much ability in the support of Conservative measures, and too much energy in assisting to pass temperance legislation, for the sham Reformers and professed temperance men who have been thwarting a temperance act, to desert from their malicious representations in regard to him.

The point is now made that Mr. Foster, in his able communication to the Mail, admits that the sale of liquor on Sunday is really prohibited by the Crooks Act (as amended), though nine persons out of ten would come to the opposite conclusion. We may remark that it is not of much consequence what meaning the literal grammatical construction of this bungling amendment might be made to bear. Such an interpretation will make an absolute absurdity of an amendment, the intention of which is indisputable. What is of practical consequence is that those nine persons out of ten include the officials who have the control of such matters, that this asserted literal interpretation of the clause has never been given to it in practice, and that ever since the amendment was passed, the supply of liquor to lodgers on Sunday has been the rule, with the sanction of those whose duty it is to enforce the law. While such a state of things exists a discussion of what the words should mean, literally, is of no particular importance, though some use might be made of this blotch by giving it in a grammatical examination as a specimen of loose construction, with a request so to alter it as to make it express some intelligible meaning not leading to an obvious absurdity.

It is now admitted, after the falsehoods to the contrary, that Mr. Foster did vote for the amendment proposed to the new Act prohibiting any Sunday sales. He is still blamed, however, because he supported this beneficial and progressive Act in spite of his not being able to carry out his views as to this detail. If every member were bound to vote against every measure which did not absolutely, in all its minutest details, square with his opinions, there would be very little legislation.

NORTH BRANT.

THE Independent Toronto Telegram, which certainly is not inimical to the Mowat administration, says:—

"There is really no reason for the Reformers hurrying over the election of Mr. Young in North Brant. It is a sign of weakness to do so, as the constituency is one of the safest in the Province. Mr. Young carried it on a former occasion by something less than four hundred, and at the last general election he was elected by acclamation. The extra efforts made by the Conservatives on the present occasion were offset, or should have been, if the Mowat Ministry is as strong as its friends represent it to be, by the fact that a private member came back within a few months of his election, with the prestige which surrounds a member of the Government."

The thoroughly independent Montreal Star utters the following note of warning:—

"The Liberals are a great, because a united party in Ontario, but it would be well to efface the present apparent hostility to Confederation from their banners, or disaster may overtake any party contributing to Canadian disunion."

The ex-Canadian Premier on the Allan Line. In presenting an address to Captain Smith, of the Circassian, the Hon. A. Mackenzie, in the course of his remarks, stated:—I am sure I speak the views of at least all Canadians when I say that we are proud of the Allan-line of Canadian steamships, and that no money was ever better spent than the comparatively small mail subsidy which the company receives from the Government to carry the mails and aid in securing a first-class steam communication with England.—The Liverpool Journal of Commerce.

A Royal Author.

JUNE 20.—The Prince of Wales read a paper written by the Duke of Edinburgh before the Fisheries conference which contained a statement that in view of the diminution of the fish supply in Europe, the example of the American government, which devoted a sum annually for the breeding of sea fish, was well worthy of imitation by the European powers.

Accidental Poisoning.

Mrs. Riley Clark, of Brighton township, a lady who had been ailing for some time from debility, having heard that certain herbs would cure her, immediately proceeded to gather some and partook of them, which proved poisonous, from the effect of which she died. Dr. Richards, Warkworth, was immediately sent for, but on his arrival found medical aid of no avail. She died on Wednesday morning. The family to which she belongs are old settlers highly esteemed and respected. They have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW CONSTABLE.

Many complaints have been made lately to the village fathers of petty annoyances to the villagers and rowdiness on the part of young men from other parts, who frequent the village on Saturday and Sunday evenings. It is alleged that a large number of young men visit Lakefield with livery rigs on Sundays and frequently drive around the place furiously and often using profane and obscene language, at the time that our citizens are either going to or coming from church. It is also said that a number of young men who know better and of whom better is expected gather at certain convenient places on Sunday evenings and amuse themselves in making remarks upon passers by irrespective of sex, &c., &c. The Council has been called upon to put an effectual stop to this kind of thing, and the Reeve and Council all have set to work at once to do their duty in the matter, with a determination and will that augurs well for the peace and good name of the place, and evil and terror to the evil doers. Mr. Thomas Simpson, a man of few words, but great determination, has been appointed a village constable, salary or wages being conditional upon complete fulfilment of duty. We congratulate the Council on their choice, and we feel confident that Mr. Simpson, backed by our Reeve and Magistrate, will bring sure and certain punishment to all evil doers.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

A special meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held in the Council Room on Tuesday evening last, June 19th. Members present, Mr. G. J. Galvin, Chairman and Messrs. Armour, Caldwell, Gordon, and Sanders. Communications were read from Mr. F. A. August, head teacher, re the janitor ship, and inclosing School Reports for April and May, and from Mr. T. J. Bird, sending statement of account. Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. GORDON, that the communication of Mr. August, Head Master, inclosing reports, be received.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Dr. CALDWELL, that Mr. August's communication re Janitorship be received and referred to the Managing Committee with power to act.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. ARMOUR, seconded by Mr. GORDON, that the account of Mr. McDonald, viz. $50 for putting in glass, be paid.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. ARMOUR, seconded by Mr. GORDON, that Mr. Galvin, the Chairman, and Mr. Casement, the Secretary, be and are hereby appointed a managing committee for the ensuing three months.—Carried.

At about half past ten o'clock the Chairman's attention was called to the fact that a quorum was not present, and he immediately left the chair.

NEW CRICKET CLUB.

A junior Cricket Club has recently been formed in Lakefield and are now regularly organized, with Master D'Escount, Strickland, Alfred Simpson, Secretary, Charlie Clarin Treasurer, John Morrison Captain.

It is expected that the boys will challenge the men to play a friendly game of cricket on the 1st of July next.

STORM ON MONDAY.

We had a severe wind storm here, on Monday afternoon, June 18th, accompanied by rain. No damage was done in the village, but a little to the north the wind raged with great fury, doing considerable damage. On Mr. Lech's and Mr. Sheik's place, which are situated on the high lands to the north of the village, a considerable amount of damage was done. Several ornamental and fruit trees were blown down and a great many others injured. On the lake to the north of the village several narrow boats were reported by parties caught in the storm on the water and driven ashore, but no lives were lost or any one seriously hurt.

HIGH WATER.

The recent heavy rains in the north have no doubt been the cause of the present high water in the lakes and river. The water in the river here is nearly as high as any time this season, and considerably higher than any time last season. The water has for two weeks been steadily rising, and does not seem to have reached its highest yet. Vegetation on low wet lands is beginning to look yellow and sickly; and the present prospects for good crops on such lands looks anything but bright. Farmers are beginning to assume a serious look or cast of countenance, and to complain of the want of water, dry weather and to sigh for brighter weather and brighter skies.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LACROSSE.—The Norwood Lacrosse club have challenged the Madoc Sioux to cross sticks with them on July 2nd, which has been accepted. Our boys are now introducing science into their playing, which they learned from the Peterborough team. It was the one thing useful, and as they are the real material, they will no doubt prove themselves formidable wielders of the stick.

THE FIRST.—Dominion Day will be celebrated on the 2nd in grand style. Sports, horse racing, and a lacrosse match will form the principal amusement.

CONFIRMATION.—A large number of people assembled in St. Peter's Church on Sunday last to witness the Confirmation ceremony, conducted by His Lordship Bishop Jarnot. This is the first time the village has been honored by his visit.

DROWNED.—A sad and mournful funeral procession passed through here on Wednesday last, accompanying the remains of a young man named Whibby, who was drowned in the Trent river on Monday last. It seems that him and Mr. Lob were out sailing in a small canoe, when they observed a storm rapidly approaching, and fearing danger the deceased made a desperate push with the paddle to impel the boat in order to reach the shore in time; this capsize it, and the two young men were left to struggle with the waves. Mr. Lob succeeded in swimming ashore, while the other met a watery grave.

PAINTING.—Mr. Ralph Cagion, of Peterborough, has taken the job of painting Mr. T. Fraser's house, and is busily engaged in the work.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. Thomas Fraser's new residence on Queen street, when completed, will surpass all others in that vicinity for size and beauty, besides being a credit to the owner. Mr. W. E. Rosborough's store on corner of Peterborough and Colborne streets, is being rapidly overhauled. It is the owner's intention, after having fitted up the interior, to brick the building and cover it with a mansard roof. Mr. J. Y. Ackerman has erected a store-house for his hardware next to R. Stewart's drug store.

CAMPELWOOD.

BUSINESS BRIEF.—The Herald says that business is brisk down at the paper mills, the machinery is kept constantly running, and the employees have to move about dilly to keep pace with the work. There seems to be an endless demand for paper board, and new avenues for its use are opening up constantly.

Many tons have been shipped from the mill during the past few weeks.

EXTENSIVE MILLING PREMISES.—Besides the stone building 33 by 60 feet, which Mr. Chas. Smith is now erecting for custom work, he has decided to enlarge very much upon former dimensions by the erection this summer of two other buildings, a storehouse and a mill. These will be situated alongside of each other north of the present building. The storehouse, which is to be put first into the hands of the artisans, is 30 by 42 feet, and five storeys high. Operations upon it are to commence immediately; and Mr. Smith hopes to have it completed in about six weeks. As soon as the water in the river drops a little lower, the workmen will be put on the mill foundation. This building is to be five storeys high, and its dimensions 42 by 53 feet. The old mill was 26 by 50 feet. When these buildings are completed, Mr. Smith will have a milling capacity sufficient to meet the demands of this entire section of country.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto; will be at the Calise House, Peterboro two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aside surgeon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, catarrhal Disinfects, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, Constriction and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are waiting there in every town and city. A proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spike, Harrowmuth P. O., near here. Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont, Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Disinfects; Gen. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church Street Toronto or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

PERSONS who are very susceptible to sudden changes of weather would do well to keep a supply of GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM in the house. This syrup is a scientific preparation of the Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce Tree, and holds a large quantity of the Gum in perfect solution, never separating. Its remarkable power in relieving certain forms of Bronchitis, and curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well-known to the public at large. No remedy can equal it as a separator and reliable Cough Medicine. Sold by all chemists. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

MR. WM. PAYNE, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddin, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

WHAT EVERY PERSON SHOULD KNOW.—The grand outlets of disease from the system are the Skin, the Bowels, and the Kidneys. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most safe, pleasant, and effectual purifier and health-restoring tonic in the world. Trial bottles 10 cents.

Old things made new by Triangle Package Dyes. Take only the three cornered package, thirty (30) colors, all guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

PICTURE MAKING.

A Complete Description of the Way Chromo Picture Cards are Made.

In the last few years no branch of art has advanced more, we think not so much, as lithography in the production of picture cards printed in beautiful colors, that are now used for Christmas, New Year, Easter, birthday, and many other purposes.

Many boys and girls, on seeing a pretty card, exclaim, "how nice, isn't it pretty?" "Ving no thought as to how it is produced."

First, it is designed by the artist, and illuminated in water or oil colors. The lithographic artist then proceeds to carefully trace the design in the outline, which can be done by two or three methods. For fine work gelatine is secured on the design with thumb tacks, and the outline engraved with a sharp steel point in the gelatine, which is perfectly transparent. The engraving is then filled with lithographic transfer ink, which is composed of beeswax, mutton-tallow, black printing ink, caustic soap, &c., then laid between moist sheets of clean paper to soften enough to become pliable; a lithographic stone, polished with pumice stone and water perfectly clean, fitted to pressure in a hand printing press; ready, the gelatine is reversed, laid on the stone, and subjected to pressure passed over from end to end; the stone moves in the carriage bed; the pressure is sharp-edged wood, scraping over a brass, iron or leather tympan. The gelatine is then removed, leaving the outline transferred on the stone. It is then measured, to see if the gelatine had stretched to any serious extent. If all right, the artist takes with care the corner guides and register marks with ruling pen and lithographic ink, called touch, which is soluble in water; the ink having dried, it is then etched with a solution of nitric acid and gum arabic, reduced to a proper strength in water, which neutralizes the surface of the stone from taking ink, where there is no work when in process of printing, which I will explain when I arrive at that point; the acid is washed off clean with sponge and water, the transfer is now charged with ink, that is "rolled up," and all the imperfections removed and corrected, etching where the parts are removed to keep them from reappearing when the roller is applied. The strength of the powerful, greasy transfer ink has been absorbed by the stone.

You may, naturally, say why don't the whole surface of the stone become black when the printer passes the roller over it, as nothing has been cut out from the stone. If he would fail to dampen the stone with water, it would be black mass of ink. The fundamental principle of lithography is water and grease will not adhere, so the work on the stone being greasy, and the ink on the roller the same, it leaves the ink on the stone where the work is and not affecting the moist, clear surface.

When the outline is charged with ink an impression is taken on smooth sized paper, and dusted with powdered French red chalk, sometimes lamb black is used, the fresh ink readily absorbs the dust, a clean polished stone is put into the press same as before, the chalked outline sheet laid on the pressure leaves the chalk only on the stone; this is called "making an offset."

The artist now takes charge of the stone, and rules in the guides and register marks, which are crosses at each side and end, and are continued on each color plate to register perfect one over the other in printing, then proceeds to make the first color plate—if there be gold or silver bronze it is usually first—he fills in the place with tuch where the bronze is to be dusted on the card when printed in yellow ochre; when the plate is finished it is etched; another outline is proceeded with in the same manner, usually the yellow plate is second; if you would see the plate while the artist is working on it, you would call it black, the artist imagines it to be yellow, that is he knows what the work will be when printed in the color, though he must make it with the black tuch ink so the grease will penetrate the stone.

Some large color-plates look odd enough in the black. An old woman, on seeing the light grey plate of George Washington asked the writer, "what nigger was that, sure?"

If you will examine a fine card, you will see all the gradations of colors are in small dots, called stippling work; it is slow and tedious, requiring patience and care, each dot made with a pen.

A machine called "stigmograph" has been brought into use for stippling work. A skillful operator can produce results almost equal to hand work, and very much quicker.

The artist continues each plate in rotation as they are to be printed, some opaque, others transparent, blending them into each other, stronger and lighter, according to the effects desired.

The first stone finished is etched and proved by the printer in a hand press, the stone being cleaned with a sponge; spirits of turpentine is applied with a rag; the tuch, or if previously rolled in black, is removed, and the stone dampened with the water sponge, is rolled up in the color, an impression taken, and compared with the original sketch.

The proofs when dry are pierced in the centre of the crosses for registering the following colors:—All the plates following the first have holes bored in the centre of the crosses at each end, the second plate is etched and rolled up in color, perfect in the back through the holes previously pierced in the cross after first printing, and points fixed into the holes in the stone, the proof pushed down, needles removed and pressure applied, and again the proof is compared with the original by the artist.

An experienced prover can match the shades of color by mixing very close, and is a great assistance to the artist.

allow for them to be cut up in the cutting machine with margin required, having arranged the impressions according to the guide marks on the ruled spaced sheet, and lays it on a large, clean, polished stone previously fitted in the hand press, it is transferred, the spaced sheet removed, water applied which loosens the paper from the starch preparation, the stone washed, leaving the work on the stone. The transfer is then etched lightly and rolled up, and a few impressions taken in black ink, with all the guide marks remaining in for use in pulling up all the remaining colors, so each will register correctly. The stone is then well rolled up and powdered resin dusted on to resist the acid; the individual register and guide marks are removed and the dirt spots cleaned off with an eraser and pumice or Scotch stone, leaving a register mark at each end for the steam press, where the large sheet is fed to graces; the transfer cleaned is etched, the acid washed off, and sponge with a solution of gum arabic applied so lightly that when dry it is scarcely noticeable. This is to exclude the air and prevent the work from spreading. All work is gummed up when not printing.

The edition being started and colors compared, proper precaution is taken to keep the work clean, interlaying blank sheets to keep the color from setting off on the backs.

Thus it proceeds, the edition of possibly 2,000 to 5,000 receiving each color as in the proving, until complete, when it is allowed to dry thoroughly before it is cut up.

The cards can be, and generally are, printed in sets, the process being the same as described, the artist making the group instead of a single picture.

Lithographic colors are ground in boiled linseed oil called varnish, classed in numbers according to the boiling.

Lithographic stone is of fine texture and porous, it is a limestone, and most of the supply is quarried in Bavaria, it is sold by weight, and value varies in size and quality.

Drawings, such as labels, show cards and illustrations, are drawn with lithographic crayon on a grained surface produced by manipulating with fine sand and water.

For lithograph engraving the stone is polished and etched before the engraver begins, so when the engraving is linked up the surface will resist the ink; impressions are made with a dabber.

Engraving, stipple and crayon, can all be arranged in one transfer by patching the four distinct branches of lithographic art are required to produce a picture card, after it is designed—the lithographic artist, the engraver to make the lettering, the transferer and the printer.

The original plates, if preserved, are kept in black ink and gummed.

The transfer is cleaned off by grinding the stain out with sand and polished for future use.—Charles S. Walkey, in the Cincinnati Times.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

COFF CAKE.—Five cups of flour, three of sugar, one of butter, one of cream, five eggs, one teaspoonful of soda; season to taste.

COOKIES.—A large and good "batch" of cooking can be made from this receipt:—One cup of butter, two cups of sugar, four eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sour milk or buttermilk, half a teaspoonful of soda, with flour enough to make a moderately stiff dough.

REMOVING IRON RUST.—Iron rust may be removed from delicate garments, upon which you dare not try oxalic acid, by mixing the juice of a lemon with some salt; put this over the rusted spots, and then hold over the spot of a steaming tea-kettle. This is almost always effectual.

LAMP SHADE.—A lampshade of pale blue may have the proper aesthetic touch given to it by running a fine wire through lace and then bending it around the bottom of the shade so that it forms a little flange. The lace should be about three inches deep, and should be scant. There should be just sufficient enough to make it hang gracefully.

LEMON PUDDING.—Grate the peel of two lemons and the juice of one; mix with two cracked eggs. Add three-quarters of a pound of sugar, yolks of two eggs, whites of six, three-quarters of a pound of melted butter, half a pint of thick cream. Mix well together, line the dish with a very thick paste, pour the ingredients in and bake one hour.

PINEAPPLE PUDDING.—Butter a pudding dish and line the bottom and sides with slices of stale cake (sponge cake best), pare and slice thin a pineapple, then stew with sugar, then more pineapple, and so on until all is used. Pour over a small teaspoonful of water, and cover with slices of cake which have been dipped in cold water; cover the whole with a buttered plate, and bake slowly for two hours.

U KAN'T KOFF.—Climax cough cakes. Quick, sure cure; of all dealers; 15c.

DON'T PULL IT.—Use Newton's one minute toothache cure. Relief at once; of all dealers, 15c.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact I had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

MRS. S. L. MOORE.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending June 16th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,321.99; freight, $19,413.87;
total, $25,735.86, as compared with $23,098.99 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $2,636.87; and the aggregate traffic to date is $444,514.29, being an increase of $18,839.17 over 1882.

Excursion.

An excursion on the steamer Golden-Eye to Idyl Wild took place on Thursday, under the auspices of Carwell Lodge, I. O. G. T. The boat left the wharf at about half past eight o'clock with a large number on board, and the run down the river was a pleasant one, a palace saw being attached, on which the lovers of the dance enjoyed themselves. At Idyl Wild a few hours were pleasantly spent, the chief amusements being swimming, boating, &c., and a few improvised races were run. The weather during the day was favorable, as the sky was clouded enough to keep the air cool and there was no rain, and in the evening the moon shone brightly. The return trip was a delightful one, and the excursion party returned at about eleven o'clock. There was, of course, no liquor on board the boat, but temperance drinks took its place, and refreshments were not lacking.
Altogether the annual excursion was a successful one, and like those previously held under the auspices of this lodge, very enjoyable.

on Thursday Afternoon—The Stationing Committee's Final Report.

THURSDAY, June 21.

The Conference re-assembled in the afternoon.
Some time was spent in social chatting and in transacting unimportant business, while the Conference was waiting to hear the reading of the final draft of the stations of the ministers as arranged by the Stationing Committee.

The Rev. JOHN SHAW read the report of the Treasurer of the General Conference Fund, which was adopted, and the Rev. Mr. Shaw was, on motion, re-elected Treasurer of the fund.
At about four o'clock the Stationing Committee came into the church and the final draft of the stations was read. The following are the names of the ministers for the different stations in the Peterborough District:—

VII.—THE PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT.
Peterborough—(George Street) John Shaw;
(Charlotte Street), Thos. Manning, B.A.
Millbrook—James Anderson.
Cavan—Albert C. Wilson.
South Monaghan—Francis Johnston (Fraserville).

Keene—John Tozeland.
Norwood—Daniel F. Gee.
Lakeside—William Johnston.
Hall's Bridge—Charles Deerpore, under Superintendent of Lakeside.
Mud Lake—To be supplied from Hall's Bridge.
Hiawatha—Thos. Woolsey.
Bathany—David N. McCamus, H.V. Mounteer.
Ballyduff—John B. Wain, M.A.
Waraw—Walter W. Loyd.
Blairton—Charles Mearin.

The following are some of the changes made from the first draft of the stations, which was published previously:—The Rev. T. W.
Jeffrey goes to Queen Street Church, Toronto;
the Rev. J. E. Starr to Yonge Street North (Richmond Hill); the Rev. W. J. West to Weston, in Brampton District; the Rev. W. A.
V. E. Pattison to Newcastle, and the Rev. W.
C. Washington, M. A., to Reach, in Whitby District; the Rev. J. Leary to Port Hope; the Rev. H. Sherin is left without an appointment at his own request; the Rev. J. A. Chapman, M.A., to Wellington, in Picton District; the Rev. W. M. Pattison to Woodville; the Rev.
J. E. Sanderson to Aurora, in Bradford District; and the Rev. T. Fox to Huntsville, in Bracebridge District.

A discussion took place as to whether the draft of stations as fixed by the Stationing Committee could be discussed, sent back to the committee, or changed in the Conference, but it was decided that none of these could be done.
The Conference finally adjourned at 5.30 o'clock, to meet next year at Picton.

commission. Lot of money for the right man.

Extensive Improvements.

Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M. P., is having extensive improvements made to his grist mill. He is throwing out the old fashioned grinding stones, and replacing them with the gradual reductive or roller system. This system which he is introducing into this mill is different from that used in any mill in the Province, except the one mill owned by Sir W. H. Howland at Watertown, this side of Hamilton. The system is known as the "James Jones" system, the patent being owned by James Jones & Co., of Toronto. The rollers are of stone, differing from the rollers usually used, which are of chilled iron. Mr. Hilliard visited the mill at Montreal and was pleased with the working of the system. He sent some of the flour to Montreal and had it tested, and it proved to be good, and he resolved to introduce the system into his mill here. There will be eight rollers and among the other machinery to be added, are two new packers, and three new purifiers.
When this work is completed the mill will be greatly improved.

Fenell Point.

The weather was warm to-day.
Yesterday was the longest day of the year.

The Band will give an open air concert this evening in the market square.

The police made ten arrests last night—under the new cow by-law.

The warm weather causes additions to these terse expressions often heard, such as "Fan me with a rhubarb leaf."

An orchestra composed of the "best musical talent of the town," has been formed in Port Hope.

Twelve men enjoyed the hospitality of the town in the police cells last night. Eleven of them were Italians. There was a blank at the Police Court this morning.

The opening services of the new Methodist Church at Campbellford take place to-day.
Several of the ablest clergymen who attended the meeting of the Conference here take part.

Among those who suffered by the recent fire in Stirling was Mr. Thompson of the News.
Argus, the entire contents of the office having been lost. The News-Argus proprietor has our sympathy in this loss.

The committee for the celebration of Dominion Day at Campbellford advertised the sports to take place on the first of July. The Herald
however, relieves the anxiety of the frightened people by informing them that the celebration will not be held on Sunday, but on Monday, the 2nd.

The police constables seem to understand the business of enforcing the cow by-law, and can run a cow into the pound as easily as they run a drunken man into the cells. Ten cows were impounded on Thursday evening and—whisper it low—two of them belonged to a Town Councillor. With constables Pidgeon and Adams to enforce the by-law, cattle had better be kept off the streets, as they do their duty strictly.

THE ENNISMORE PICNIC.

A Large Number Present and a Good Programme of Sports.

The picnic held at Bridgenorth under the auspices of the people of Ennismore on Thursday, was one of the most successful of those events ever held. One gentleman, who has been at a number of these annual picnics, says that this one was beyond any of its predecessors in the number present and in enjoyment. There was a very large number present from the town, and at noon every livery horse was engaged.
Buses went out to the scene of pleasure from here in the morning and at noon, and they were all filled with pleasure seekers. One of the events of the day was an exhibition lacrosse match between teams chosen from the Peterborough lacrosse club. Mr. H. LeBrun captained one team, and Mr. W. J. Devlin the other. The game was a very good one, and was very interesting. It was won by Mr. Devlin's team by two games to one. A long programme of athletic sports was carried out, including jumping, in which Mr. Collins carried off several first prizes. Messrs. J. Reynolds, J. O'Brien and John Clancy, of Peterborough, won prizes for throwing the stone and putting up heavy weights. In the running races Messrs. J.
Reynolds and A. Mooney carried off prizes.
There was also an interesting football match, and the dancing platform was never empty, as a large number enjoyed the amusement of "tripping the light fantastic toe." The Indian band furnished music during the day.

The grounds are well adapted for the purposes of a picnic, and in every way this one was a success. There was a large attendance, there was any amount of amusement, and one thing which often mars the pleasure of picnics, that is excessive drinking, was conspicuous by its absence, and the picnic was financially successful. The managers are to be congratulated on the result.

Prices not Promises!
Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the current is open to the best things for the least trouble,
money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them best, and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & CO. posted into business. Look at
T. DOLAN & CO. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT and FITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvements have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

WE HARP ON THIS—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods found on clear day

How Would They Like It?

Some boys in Norwood seem to have been playing the same mischievous trick as has been played here, and this is what the Register says about it:—

"Some boys, we cannot say how big, are in the habit of tearing down posters as soon as they are up. Such conduct is very disgraceful and ought to be punished. Any person who will tear down another's poster would have his place of business or residence were he not deterred from so doing by the law. Look out, boys, some of you are being watched, and should you be caught you may have the privilege of learning what the inside of the stone building in the rear of the Court House looks like."

AMERICA AND TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 22.—The American Minister has refused to accept the notice given by the Porte of the termination of the treaty of commerce between Turkey and the United States, on the ground that it was given too late. The American Consul has gone to Bitlis to inquire into the case of two American missionaries who were attacked and nearly killed by Kurds. Gen. Wallace has demanded and the Porte has promised that the persons guilty of the outrage shall be punished. An American physician was forbidden to practice his profession in Tripoli because he was not provided with a Turkish diploma. Wallace had the physician come to Constantinople, pass an examination, take his diploma and return to Tripoli. Wallace addressed a note to the Porte insisting upon an apology for the treatment the physician was subjected to, because hundreds of native doctors are permitted to practise without a diploma.

AN APPEAL TO FRANCE.

ROME, June 22.—The Pope has sent a protest to President Grevy regarding Church matters in France. It is couched in an amicable though firm tone. He points out the painful position of the Church in France because of the policy of the republic during the last few years. He says laws hostile to the Church are now being prepared and he hopes the papal assurances given by France at various times really signify a desire to avoid a painful conflict, which will be equally disastrous to both Church and State. He requests President Grevy to use his high influence to prevent such a conflict.

LOUISE MICHEL'S TRIAL.

PARIS, June 23.—Rochefort, at the trial of Louise Michel, yesterday, said that when she was exiled she reduced herself to poverty to aid her fellow-sufferers. The prisoner spoke in her own defence. She resolutely attacked the government and declared the issue of the pamphlets to be the death of the Queen of Madagascar that the soldiers at Sedan would have done well to shoot the chief officers and save their honor.

MADAGASCAR.

LONDON, June 22.—The Malagasy envoys, after being refused the second audience by Minister Ferry, have left Paris for London. The report of the death of the Queen of Madagascar is the latter credited by friends in London that the latter is preparing an illuminated address to be sent to Queen Ranavola.

THE CHURCH BILL.

BERLIN, June 23.—The Lower House has declined the remaining clauses of the Government Church Bill.

AN IMPORTANT LEVEE GONE.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—Information was received late last night that Fish Lake Levee, the protection of fifteen square miles of rice farming lands on the Illinois side of the river below St. Louis, broke on Thursday night, and that about ten thousand acres of fine farms are now under water. The damages to the crops and other property is estimated at $100,000.

AN EXTRAORDINARY TEST.

Mr. Cumberland Reads the Mind of Mr. Theo. White, M. P.

Mr. Stuart Cumberland, at a private seance at the Windsor Hotel last evening, gave an exhibition of his powers as a mind-reader, subjecting himself to a test that seemed little short of marvellous to the ladies and gentlemen assembled. Mr. Cumberland first announced that as a preliminary to the grand experiment, which would consist of finding any article within a radius of a quarter of a mile of the hotel, previously thought of, by any gentleman present he would endeavour to discover some object thought of in the room with a view of securing a desirable subject. Several articles having been thought of and easily found, Mr. Thomas White was fixed upon as a good subject for the chief feature of the evening. That gentleman was requested to think of some portable article within a quarter of a mile of the hotel, and furthermore to write a description of the object to be sought for on a piece of paper to be left in the room. This was done, and Mr. Cumberland, by means of a piece of piano wire attached his wrist to one of Mr. White's. After having been blindfolded, the mind-reader and his captive followed by a selected committee, rushed madly down stairs, through the crowded vestibule and into the street. The novel sight of a gentleman with a handkerchief tied over his eyes groping widely along the street, and with an excited knot of pedestrians at his heels, soon attracted a crowd, all anxious to know the meaning of this strange spectacle. Nor did their interest lessen when they were informed of the experiment in progress, but, on the contrary, pressed closely after Mr. Cumberland, anxious to witness the result of the test. The eager crowd went towards and across Dorchester street, the mind-reader leading the M. P. down to the front of the Rev. Canon Carmichael's residence. Pausing for a moment, they continued their career, ascending the steps to St. George's Church, at each door of which a brief halt occurred. Then Mr. Cumberland led Mr. White across the grass plots, through the shrubberies, to the door of the parsonage, entered and went upstairs to a study on the second floor; descended again he at once went into a downstairs study, where was found a clergyman, a stranger, calmly examining a book, and who must have been surprised at the sudden appearance and the apparent strangeness of the whole proceeding, crossed over to a table on which stood a microscope, took from the instrument its cloth cover, and at once said that was what Mr. White had thought of. Mr. White acknowledged the correctness of the discovery, and the party returned to the hotel, where Mr. Stevenson opened the paper and found written thereon, "The cloth cover of the microscope in Mr. Carmichael's study." The company having congratulated Mr. Cumberland upon his success shortly afterwards dispersed.

TROUBLE IN ALBANIA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 23.—Notwithstanding the official denial of serious trouble in Albania, the agitators there are gaining ground. The attitude of even the Moslem tribes is disquieting.

ARRANGING A BANQUET.

LONDON, June 23.—A committee is being formed from the volunteer force to arrange a banquet to the American rifle team at the close of the Wimbledon meeting.

NOT SETTLED.

SHANGHAI, June 23.—The report that the difficulty between China and France was settled lacks confirmation.

AMERICAN.

A NEW CANAL.

BOSTON, June 23.—The bill to incorporate the Cape Cod Ship Canal Company has passed the legislature.

MEXICAN JUSTICE.

DENVER, June 23.—Indian Agent Wilcox, in an interview, said he had understood that the Mexican authorities would demand the return of the bucks taken by Crook, on the ground that they were captured on Mexican soil. The agent believes that the demand is just and will be complied with, thus securing to the Indians justice in the manner peculiar to the Mexicans when dealing with Apache butchers.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—General Crook's telegraphs to General Schofield as follows:— "I see by the papers that Secretary Teller declines to receive on the San Carlos reservation any of the Chichau Apaches except women and children. If these Indians are not fed they must starve or go back to the war path. They are now as thoroughly subjected as possible to them to be. Any attempt to hold them responsible for their acts before their surrender will drive them back to the cliffs and gorges of the mountains, and we shall then have to fight them until the last one dies. In their code all depredations committed upon ourselves and Mexicans while at war are legitimate. While it is repellant to my feelings to put these red-handed murderers on the reservation, they are no worse than were the six thousand Apaches I put on the reservation ten years ago. Then I had nothing but the soldiers and scouts, who subjected them to ordinance and discipline six thousand, but to discipline and control this handful of Chichauas I would have not only the soldiers and scouts, but the valuable assistance of all the other Indians, who would watch with jealousy the slightest movement the Chichauas might make." Gen. Schofield has forwarded the above to the War Department, and has recommended the management of the surrendered Chichauas to be left in Gen. Crook's hands, at least for the present.

A LIBERAL LEADER.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Dr. Lashar, a National Liberal Leader, of Germany, has arrived here.

MEXICANS AND APACHES.

EL PASO, June 23.—It is authoritatively stated that the Mexican authorities heartily approve of Gen. Crook's recent operations, and that their co-operation will be afforded in any further action he considers necessary to undertake in Mexico to clear out the Apaches.

FATAL FLOODS.

OMAHA, June 23.—Immense damage has been done to the crops and to other property by floods in southern and south-eastern Nebraska. A considerable amount of live stock has been drowned, and railroad travel has been suspended. The Nemaha river rose to an unprecedented height, entirely submerging the valley. John Grubbs, his wife and four children were drowned near Cincinnati, while trying to reach the hills in a boat. At Baker's Fort an old man named Aker and his wife were drowned, while trying to escape from a submerged house. In the same vicinity a Bohemian family of ten persons undertook to reach a place of safety, but seven were drowned. One woman was saved by tying herself to a tree, where she remained eighteen hours. It is reported that two men were drowned in Long Branch creek. This shows sixteen persons drowned in Pawnee county and four in other localities.

A NEGRO HANGED.

DARIEN, Ga., June 23.—Tony Jones, a negro, was hanged yesterday for the murder of a fellow-workman.

DROWNED HIMSELF.

REIDSVILLE, June 23.—Col. Wm. E. Madane, a prominent citizen, drowned himself last night, the cause being financial difficulty.

A DYKE BROKEN.

MADISON, Mo., June 23.—The dyke between here and Aiton on the Illinois side broke this morning. The water is rushing through at a fearful rate. It is expected that the entire bottom north of St. Louis, embracing from fifty to sixty square miles, will be flooded. The farmers are leaving their homes as rapidly as possible. The destruction of crops and damage to farm property will be very great.

ATTACKED BY A ROOSTER.

TROY, N. Y., June 23.—A four year old child of Frank Thorbow was attacked by a game cock in the face and head and terribly cut. The spear penetrated the socket of the eye the entire length. It is feared the child will lose its sight.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

Personal To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

Mr. THOMAS GIVE, Carpenter, St. Thomas, says:—"My wife has long been troubled with Constipation; she has used a great many so-called cures, but without doing her any lasting good. Dr. Cassin's Stomach Bitters cured her, and she thinks it the best medicine ever made. For sale by all Druggists everywhere, in large bottles at 50 cents."

LORD DUFFERIN'S ASSAULTS.

A discussion having arisen as to the language used by a portion of the Canadian press in regard to Lord Dufferin, some Reform papers have had the effrontery to deny that they or their confederates abused him. The Ottawa Citizen replied by giving a number of extracts from various Reform papers, but as it could not in all cases state the exact date, its assertions were boldly denied and it was inferred that the Reform press as a body was cleared from any such stigma. This denial will hardly be accepted by the people of Canada, for they remember too well the broad fact that at one time the Reform press seemed with abuse of Lord Dufferin, even if they have had the good taste to destroy those scurrilous words instead of preserving them, and so cannot give details of name and date.

We would not care to spend hours over the old number of such journals to extract some of their disgraceful language, even if we had their files at our disposal. But we have looked into several histories which we have at hand, in order to see how the historians state the matter.

In our first authority, Dent's Last Forty Years in Canada, we find the following, on page 533 of the second volume:—
"Lord Dufferin was for some weeks assailed with much rancor by the Reform press; and it was long before he succeeded in re-establishing his reputation among the Opposition."

In Stewart's very exhaustive account of Canada under Lord Dufferin, we find a very similar statement as follows:—
"Lord Dufferin, too, was violently assailed by irresponsible writers in the public press. He was in turn compared to King John and to James II, and on one occasion at a political meeting he was likened to Charles I."

The authority for the last statement is given in the following foot-note:—
"Lord Dufferin, upon the advice of ministers has done what Charles I did upon the advice of Buckingham—he has interfered with the freedom and privilege of debate."—Hon. David Mills' address at Aylmer, Ontario.

In Tuttle's History of Canada we find on page 363 of the second volume the following reference to the transmission of a copy of the Oath Bill to the Imperial authorities by Lord Dufferin:—
"This action on his part was very freely criticised by the Opposition press after the allowance of the Bill, and he was charged with aiding his ministers in delaying or defeating investigation into the serious charges made against them."

On page 396 of the same volume is the following account of the first indignation meeting of Reform members held in the railway committee room:—
"The meeting was stormy and excited, and His Excellency came in for some share of blame, one speaker comparing him to Nero fiddling while Rome was burning."

In a foot-note to the same page we read as follows:—
"The tone of the Opposition press generally was very severe on Lord Dufferin; we give the following extracts from the leading organs in Quebec and Ontario as mild specimens:—
"Yesterday at Ottawa an act was perpetrated which is probably the greatest outrage on the constitution which has occurred since Oliver Cromwell ordered that banister to be taken away."—Montreal Herald, 14th Aug., 1878.
"Lord Dufferin has in short done what the Premier asked him. He has missed a great opportunity of showing that he had a mind of his own, that he could rise to the dignity of a great crisis, that he could aid in putting down corruption with a firm hand. It will be a disappointment to some, but others more familiar with the past career of Lord Dufferin have not looked for much at his hands."—Toronto Globe, 14th Aug., 1878."

It will be seen from these excellent authorities that the Reform press really did assault Lord Dufferin with great violence because his views of his duty did not coincide with theirs. It will also be seen that this abuse was not confined to Reform journalists, but that Reform members and even leaders of the party joined in these disgraceful attacks.

It would not be necessary to recall these facts after so long an interval, but for two reasons. In the first place it is only right that the effrontery and the falsehood of recent denials should be exposed. In the second place, it is well to remember that history repeats itself, and that as the so-called "Reformers" assailed and slandered whoever then stood in the way of their craving for office, so they are now repeating their falsehoods and abuse to undermine if possible the leading men of Canada in the esteem and affection of its people. Such tactics might succeed once, but they will fail miserably now.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MUNICIPALITIES.

The Reports of the Committees on Roads and Bridges, Schools, Petitions and County Property, Read and Adopted.

FRIDAY.

The County Council resumed on Friday afternoon, the forenoon having been spent in Committee work.

COUNTY PROPERTY.

The report of the Committee on County Property was read, as follows:—

Your Committee on County Property beg leave to report:—
That Mr. Nesbitt be allowed to cut and remove the grass on the Court House lawn, the same to be cut in a neat manner, and the grass to be removed from the premises, on or before the 15th of July next.

That the sidewalk on the western side of the Court House be removed and replaced, and made good some feet to the west of its present position, from the entrance gate to the north side of the Court House, and that turned cedar posts, with iron wire fencing, be fixed thereon as a protection against cattle over the entire length of the Court House front.

That the fencing around the Court House Green be repaired, and that the fence immediately in front of the Court House, and the fences and entrance gates at the south and north of the Court House be repaired and painted, the expense thereof to be shared by the Town, equally with the County.

MICHAEL SANDERSON, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

SCHOOLS.

The Committee on Schools presented the following report which was adopted:—

Your Committee on Schools beg leave to report:—

That the County equivalent of school grants be as follows, viz:—

Asphodel.....	203
Beaumont and Methuen.....	230
Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos.....	183
Douro.....	251
Dumfries.....	282
Kanawake.....	145
Galway and Cavendish.....	100
Harvey.....	121
North Monaghan.....	104
Otonabee.....	612
Smith.....	392
	$4,596

That no action be taken as to territorial certificates to school teachers.

That this Council memorialize the Minister of Education to allow the School Inspector to grant permits to teachers for remote and poor school sections as hitherto.

CHARLES O'REILLY, Chairman.

The following report of the Committee on Petitions was read and adopted:—

Your Committee on Petitions beg to report:—

That at a Committee be appointed by the Council to investigate the matter complained of by the Trustees of School Section No. 5, in the Township of Smith, also with regard to the petition of the Trustees of School Section No. 11, in the Township of Otonabee, and your Committee recommend the appointment of the Warden to act in conjunction with the County Judge and Public School Inspector of the county of Peterborough in the said Committee.

GEORGE STEWART, Chairman.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

The report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges was read and adopted, as follows:—

Your Committee on Roads and Bridges beg to report:—

That no action be taken in the matter of the notification forwarded by the County Clerk of the County of Victoria concerning the repairs and painting of the Boboysgreen bridges, and that the Warden be authorized to defend any action taken by the County of Victoria in the matter.

The sum of $25 be granted as a special grant to municipality of the Township of Harvey towards the repair of the bridge, over Nogies Creek, the balance of the cost of the said repairs to be borne by the said municipality.

That the Council be asked to memorialize the Local Government to grant a sum of money for repair of the roads and bridges connecting Beckhorn and the Boboysgreen road in the Township of Harvey.

That the report of the County engineer be adopted with reference to the Mud Lake bridge, and that he and the Warden be authorized to carry out the recommendation therein contained.

That the County Clerk notify the County of Victoria that the approach to Pigeon Creek bridge at the County of Victoria and is out of repair, and request that they immediately repair the same as per agreement, and unless this is done this country will not expend any money on the said bridge.

That Mr. Elmhurst, Reeve of Burleigh, be instructed to have the drift wood at Perry's Creek bridge removed, so as to clear the waterway.

That this County bear one half of the expense of a new bridge over Deer River, the boundary between this County and the County of Hastings in the Township of Belmont under the supervision of our County Engineer, and the Reeve of Belmont act as Commissioner.

That a special grant of $57 be granted to the Municipality of Belmont and Methuen, towards the rebuilding of the Pigeon bridge in the Township of Belmont, and that the Reeve be a Commissioner in the expenditure of the grant.

JOHN LANG, Chairman.

The Committee then adjourned until 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Calves House, Peterboro two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have to supply to Spirometers, the invention of M. Bourville, of Paris, ex-surgon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spika, Harrowburgh P. O., near here, Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont. Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Deafness; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church Street Toronto or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

Mr. Wm. PAYE, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheldon, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

LADIES AND THE A. C. A.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Though addressing this letter to you it is really intended for your numerous lady readers, and I take the liberty of using you as a medium, a happy medium, through which to communicate with them, and to ask their co-operation in connection with the meetings of the A. C. A. at Stony Lake in August next. I presume they already know that there will be a regatta on that occasion. As a member of the Regatta Committee—who arranged the programme for the different races—it becomes my duty as the local member to see that prizes are provided for the winners of the different events. It is proposed that the prizes shall be of the same nature as those competed for in the past regattas of the A. C. A., viz. canoe flags of the regulation size, not exceeding ten inches by fifteen inches, which can be worked on my in such designs and colours as taste may dictate. Any ladies who will volunteer to make one or more such flags to be offered as prizes (about twenty-five will be required in all) will find their donation most highly appreciated by those interested in the success of the regatta, and even more particularly by the successful winners, as such prizes would have a higher value in their eyes than any that money could buy, at least that is the way the members of the A. C. A. feel about it—including even so young a member as your humble servant.

H. T. STRICKLAND.

N. B.—Both Commodore Edwards and myself will be glad to receive the names of any ladies who will co-operate in this matter and will give them any further information that they may require. Flags should be sent in no later than August 1st.

CONCOURS.

NOT TO BE REMOVED.—The Sentinel-Star says that a report was circulated in Toronto, and published in the Mail of last week, that Mr. Crossen's Car Works were to be removed from Cobourg to that city. The mayor interviewed Mr. Crossen, who gave him authority to write to the Mail promptly denying the statement, and also to intimate that there was no foundation whatever for the rumour.

WATERWORKS.—At a special meeting of the Council, held last Tuesday night, Mr. Graham, of the Canada Waterworks Company, representing a London financial company, was present, and addressed them on the scheme for the waterworks for this town, a notice of which we gave last week. The scheme was favorably considered and a committee, composed of His Worship the Mayor, and Coun. Smith, Daltry and Field appointed, to ascertain the probable amount of water consumption from private sources, and also the legal position of the town in giving the guarantee asked for. We will give a full account of the scheme and prospects next week. The mayor, Mr. Graham, and others went out on the road yesterday to see the elevation of the old pond known as Solomon's pond, with a view to utilizing it for a reservoir, as the gravitation system, if it can be obtained, is vastly superior to any other.

MIDLAND.

A SUGGESTION.—The Free Press says that Mr. W. B. Gladstone intends supplying his hotel with water from the spring near the Catholic Church. He has received permission from the council to lay the necessary pipe along Hugel Avenue. The council might follow his example only on a larger scale.

A table of Receipts composed of Dress Goods and Prints, decided bargains at Turnbull's.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured, who are daily receiving Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50 cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.—1

Winning Fraze.

Fame says of the Peterborough Lacrosse club that they are champion athletes, and Father Kelly was saying about them in our sanctum this morning that they are perfect gentlemen. This remark was elicited in a conversation regarding the picnic of Thursday last.

Music in the Park.

The Band gave their weekly open air concert on Friday evening. They commenced it on the market square, but the Warden of the County, Mr. John Moloney, asked them to go to the Court House Green, which was opened for them, and they there continued their concert to a better advantage. The music sounds better in this park than it does on the market square, where they are surrounded by buildings, and can be heard further in the town. This, we suppose, is a preliminary step to opening the park to the public. A large audience enjoyed the music on the walks outside the park. Two of the selections played were new ones, which were first practiced on Tuesday evening, and they were well played, one of them being a particularly good selection. The band went to the park on the invitation of the Warden, and because it was well known that a majority of the citizens would rather they would play there. However, as there are some who wish them to give concerts at their old stand on the market square, they have compromised the matter in a way that the citizens will appreciate. For a time at any rate they will give two open air concerts in a week, playing on the market square on Tuesday evenings and in the park on Friday evenings. They will accordingly appear on the market square next Tuesday evening.

LACROSSE.

The Second Twelve Make it Lively for the First—Improvements of the Grounds.

On Friday evening a match was played between the first and second twelve of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, on the Ashburnham grounds. Two or three of the best players of the second twelve were absent, including A. Mooney and A. Mercier, but the first was also weakened by the same means. The first game was a lively and closely contested one, and the rubber played round the goal of the first twelve in an uncomfortable manner. Several close shots were made on the stakes, one only failing to win the game by going too high. The juniors played so well that they warmed up the seniors, but after they had become heated in the play, and saw that the juniors would cause them to exert themselves to win the match, the superiority of their playing was seen. The match was won by the first twelve by three straight games, the time being thirty, fifteen and ten minutes.

This match was a splendid practice for both the first and second twelve, and if matches between these two teams were continued weekly it would be of great advantage to the club. They should have another match before they play on Thursday afternoon next for the championship—say on Wednesday evening.

The Lacrosse Club is having the fence around the grounds improved. Next the street, on the west side, the fence is being raised to a height of twelve feet, and a fence seven feet high will be put up on the north side. Besides this a stand will be erected to the left of the entrance gate, which will give more sitting room on the grounds from which matches can be viewed. The fence on the other sides of the grounds will be raised during the summer.

Enforcing the Cow By-law.

Ten more wandering cows were driven into the pound at the corner of Bethune and Murray streets last night by the police constables. Six of them were impounded after twelve o'clock.

St. John's Day.

To-morrow being the festival of St. John the Baptist, a sermon will be preached to the members of the Masonic fraternity by the Rev. Bro. H. B. Matthews, of Millbrook, at the evening service in the George Street Methodist Church.

University of Toronto.

A meeting of the graduates of the University of Toronto residing in this locality was held on Thursday, and organized a county Association. There will be an adjourned meeting on Thursday evening, June 28th at the Mechanics Institute.

Improvements.

The sidewalk on the terrace in front of the Court House is to be removed and placed on a level with the road, and a wire fence will be put up in front of it. The terrace will then be turned into a flower plot, and the appearance of the place greatly improved.

The Cattle Pounds.

Two cattle pounds have been provided for the enforcement of the Cow By-law. One is at the corner of Murray and Bethune streets, of which Mr. W. Roberts is poundkeeper. The other is on Rink street, on the west side of Spaulding's Bay, and of this one Mr. H. Watson is poundkeeper.

Another Contract.

Mr. H. J. Beemer, contractor of the "Missing Link" of the Midland Railway, has been awarded the water-works contract at Quebec, estimated to cost half a million dollars. Mr. Beemer is a contractor of vast experience, and he may be depended upon to do well any work he undertakes.

Ladies Co-operation.

It will be seen by a letter in another column that the A. C. A. is inviting the ladies of Peterborough to aid them in preparation for the Regatta on Stony Lake. We may suggest to those of our fair readers who may employ their nimble fingers in providing flags for the prizes, that whatever design they may adopt, it would be well to introduce the place and date of meeting,—Stoney Lake 1883, and the initials of the Association "A. C. A."

The Midland Time-Table.

It is announced that in consequence of changes in the Grand Trunk time-table the following Midland trains will be cancelled from Monday, June 25th:—That arriving at Peterborough at 6.20 p.m., and that leaving at 6.45 p.m. The 4.45 afternoon train will run through to Port Hope and connect there with the Grand Trunk now fast express, reaching Toronto at 8 p.m. These arrangements are only temporary, pending the issue of the new time-table on July 4th.

Railway Notes.

The Norwood Register says that the recent heavy rains have considerably retarded grading on the Ontario and Quebec Railway there. Notwithstanding this, however, Mr. McDonald informs us that his section will be ready for the rails in July. Mr. Lewis' section, which is much larger than Mr. McDonald's, will be completed early in August.

Sixteen Italians came in here on Friday and were sent to Indian river to work on the Ontario and Quebec railway.

Spreading Rails.

BROCKVILLE, June 22.—The G. T. R. express going west this afternoon met with a very serious accident at the semaphore just east of the North Augusta road. It seems that after the engine had passed a rather sharp curve the track spread and a number of cars were thrown from the rails. The tender went off, the express car pitched down the embankment on the north side, and was smashed into kindling wood. The second car, containing a quantity of baggage had the trucks broken from under it. It struck the express car and knocked the end off it and dashed into the field nearly at right angles with the first. A baggageman named Bagarette and a brakeman were in the car at the time, and both escaped with slight injuries. Bagarette had a number of trunks piled on him, but was only slightly injured about the chest. The two cars were pitched into the field, turning end for end, the baggage car over the end of it, and landing at right angles to the track. The post-office car went off on the south side and ran into the bank, which rises about four feet there, and turned more than half way over. The mail clerk was not hurt, and beyond some scratches on the side of the car it escaped pretty well. The next was a first-class carriage and it was tipped partly over to the south side. The car following it also left the track. The Pullman left the track but was not injured, and the dining car did not leave the rails. The only passenger who complained of being hurt was an old woman, named Jane Frier, who belongs to Delta.

USE YOUR EYES!

Prices not Promises! Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now and that is the result. Business growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvements have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are in best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

WE HARP ON THIS:—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives them the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JUNE 25, 1883.

Peterborough Boating Club.

A lot of new oars and sculls have been received, and it is expected that practice for the regatta will go on actively this week. Those members who have not yet entered in any of the crews, and who wish to take part, are requested to give their names at once to the captain or to any of the members of the rowing committee at the boat house this evening.

Fossil Finds.

—Warm weather continues.
—Considerable rain fell to-day.
—New machinery is arriving for Mr. Brodie's woolen mill.

—A meeting of the General Dominion Day Celebration Committee will be held to-night at 8 o'clock sharp in the Firemen's Hall.

—It is said that "decayed pumpkin" will soon supersede "crushed strawberry" as the fashionable color.

—A new musical band, organized for the occasion, and with new instruments, will be one of the features of the "paradoxical pantomimic paraphernalia" procession on Dominion Day.

—The increase boys expect a lively game on Thursday afternoon next with the Uxbridge Club for the Championship of Central Ontario. They should practice as much as possible this week, and retain the Championship medal.

—Belleville has a new lacrosse club, with the glittering name of Silver Stars. The Okas, of that city, defeated the Sioux, of Madoc, last week by three straight games. Could the Belleville Club be induced to play a match here this season?

—The citizens living on Brock and Rubidge streets, and those who use those streets, feel thankful for the new sidewalk laid down last week. Rubidge street is now one of the prettiest streets in the town, and will no doubt be much used for evening walks.

—An error which occurred in the Globe's telegraphic report of the last evening of the union debate in the Methodist Conference here is being continued in other papers which copied that report. The error credits the Rev. Dr. Dewart with having delivered a large part of the Rev. Dr. Rice's speech. What made the mistake all the greater was that while Dr. Rice supported the acceptance of the basis of union, Dr. Dewart opposed it.

CABLE.

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.

LONDON, June 25.—The Queen's condition is greatly improved. She was able to walk from the train to her carriage on her arrival at Windsor. The Queen has invited the painter, Angelo, to come to England and take a life-sized portrait of her, which she will present to the Emperor William, on the 25th Anniversary of his assumption of the regency of Prussia.

AMERICAN.

IMMIGRATION.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The steamship Tennessee arrived yesterday with 300 assisted emigrants. The Immigration Commissioners questioned them and ascertained that many of them had been in the workhouse in County Kerry, and were destitute. The Commissioners hold a meeting this morning and will probably insist that the Steamship Company shall take these people back to Ireland.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

STAPLETON, L. I., June 25.—Samuel Rutherford, aged 12, and John Ryan, aged 13, were drowned while bathing here on Saturday evening.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

DES MOINES, June 25.—Seventy-nine Republican County Conventions have been held out of which fifty-nine declared in favor of prohibition.

HANLAN TO LEAVE CANADA.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Hanlan, the oarsman, declares his intention to become a resident of this city. He expresses the hope of beating all previous records this summer, and then stop rowing.

EGAN IN ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—At the reception of Patrick Egan here last night, Egan exhorted all to stand by the National League. Judge Jno. O'Neill, who denounced the murder of Lord F. Cavendish and the work of secret societies, was hanged.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IN PARIS.

NEW YORK, June 25.—A Paris despatch says that the Bourse is at a complete standstill. All attempts to stimulate a rise of stocks are utter failures. All credit and public confidence are destroyed. There is abundance of money, but all faith in investment seems to have failed. The German banker, Erlanger, appeared at the Police Correctionnelle on Saturday, charged with unlawful transactions in connection with the Credit General Francaise. The court ordered a criminal investigation. The downfall of the Credit General Francaise is expected, and it will doubtless carry with it several other institutions. The affair creates great excitement on the Bourse. The authorities seem to have received orders to run down all bankers whose solvency is at all suspected. A large number of documents were seized at Erlanger's residence, and the charges must be serious. He is supposed to be Bismarck's agent. It is thought that some arrests will be made. The origin of Erlanger's fortune was a loan contracted by the Confederates during the American war. The Credit Lyonnais is in a precarious state, being overwhelmed by enormous expenses. The Societe des Depots et Comptes Courants would have to suspend if called up to pay what it actually owes its bondholders. The police also visited the Banque d'Arbitrage et de Credit, with which Wilson, son-in-law of President Gravy, is identified.

SUCCESS AND DETRACTORS.

The thoroughly independent Montreal Star has the following sensible remarks:—

The opponents of Sir Charles Tupper have been receding, presumably for the benefit of the rising generation in politics, the story of his appearance in the public life of his province, his rapid advance to a prominent place, taking care to drag in all the old stories of political jobbery and intrigue which have often before been connected with his name. While it is acknowledged by the Confederates during the American war, the Credit Lyonnais is in a precarious state, being overwhelmed by enormous expenses. The Societe des Depots et Comptes Courants would have to suspend if called up to pay what it actually owes its bondholders. The police also visited the Banque d'Arbitrage et de Credit, with which Wilson, son-in-law of President Gravy, is identified.

THE FACE OF OLD SOL.

Some very remarkable changes occurred between Tuesday and Wednesday in the groups of spots which are now visible on the sun, and whose existence can be detected with the aid of no greater magnifying power than that of an ordinary opera glass. One of the groups which on Tuesday consisted of four conspicuous black and jagged holes in the shining surface broke up in a few hours into a great number of rather small spots, which were arranged yesterday in the most singular shapes, and spread over an area far exceeding in extent the whole surface of the earth. In another group several enormous white bridges were thrown across a black central chasm, as broad as the Atlantic, and in a third group a vast depression, resembling a shadowy veil drawn over the glowing photosphere, was developed about a cluster of dark pits. All around these wonderful groups the glowing surface of the sun appeared in the telescope covered with white specks like the flaky particles in a mass of butter-milk, and here and there appeared intensely brilliant crinkling lines, marking the spots where spots and jets of fiery hydrogen gas were erupting forth from the sun's interior. When will the astronomers be able to tell what causes these tremendous outbreaks, which wax and wane in periods of eleven years, and occasionally make their power felt across ninety odd millions of miles of space by setting the earth's atmosphere aglow with electric light and playing strange freaks with the telegraph wires, now sending a magnetic torrent rushing through them with the speed and strength of lightning, and again striking them powerless?—New York Sun

A CADIT has been expelled from the Royal Military College at Kingston for ungentlemanly conduct.

A FINE Catholic Convent is being erected at Richmond, Que., to cost, when finished, about $12,000.

THE Methodist Church of Canada has seven colleges under its direction, attended by 1,400 students.

Mr. T. J. Davey, of London, sold two of the dogs he exhibited at Chicago for $250 and $300 respectively.

Mr. L. A. Senecal has purchased an asbestos mine from Charles L'ionale, in the Eastern Townships, for $44,000.

Coming Leap Year.

In Catholic and Protestant countries the year 1900 will not be a leap-year, they all have adopted the Gregorian calendar. In countries where the Greek Church is established (Russia and Greece), the old Julian calendar still holds, and those countries will count it a leap-year. After February, 1900, therefore, the difference between the two calendars which is now twelve days, will become thirteen days, and will remain so until 2100, the year 2000 being a leap-year in both the Julian and Gregorian calendars. The rule for leap-year may be thus stated, according to the Gregorian calendar, which differs from the Julian only in a special treatment of the century years:—All years whose index number (1883 is the index number of the present year) is divisible by four are leap-years, unless (1) their index number is divisible by 100 (century years). In that case they are not leap-years, and unless (2) their index number is divisible by 400; in which case they are leap-years. Thus, 1700, 1800, 1900, and 2100 are not leap-years, while 1600, 2000, and 2400 are.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Roderick Powell, an old man between 70 and 80 years of age, was placed on trial at Stummerside, P. E. I., on a charge of murdering Wm. Wallace at Malpeque in December last. Chief Justice Palmer presided. Prisoner and deceased were neighbours and quarrelled about some fence material. Wallace, aided by his brother, was carrying off some poles which Powell claimed to be his, and the latter shot and killed him. The defence was that the prisoner and deceased were in a scuffle and that the gun accidentally went off; that the gun was not loaded with shot; none was found in deceased's body, but a wedding was found; and that had not deceased attacked Powell the shooting would not have occurred. The trial occupied three days. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter.

Criminal Statistics.

An appendix to the report of the Minister of Agriculture has been issued giving the criminal statistics of Canada for 1881. In 1881 the total number of persons accused of crime in Canada was 44,947, of whom 29,225 were convicted, 12,079 acquitted, 97 acquitted for insanity, and 566 committed for trial at other courts. The figures for 1880 were:—Accusations, 40,874; convictions, 28,209; acquittals, 11,827; commitments for trial, 754; acquittals, for insanity, 84; total, 28,209, or an apparent increase of 1,016 in the criminal population in one year.

The "Saved Army"

A Kingston despatch says that the "Saved Army" is the name of a religious body which commenced its operations in Portsmouth. It is now extending its operations and taking in all the adjacent villages, the calculation being to engage in a big revival and to convert everyone in the county who can be rendered susceptible to the influences of the movement. Converts are being led to the penitent bench in scores.

Distress in Labrador.

Great distress is reported among the fishing families along the Labrador coast owing to the detention of their spring supplies by a jam of gulf ice along their shores. It is feared that some deaths from starvation have already occurred.

Sudden Death.

On Saturday night a young woman, whose name could not be learned, fell down in a fit on the train leaving Londonborough for the north on the London, Huron & Bruce, and expired instantly.

Child Drowned.

A boy aged about eleven years, supposed to be the son of a Dominion policeman, fell off the Rideau locks, at Ottawa, on Friday afternoon, and was drowned before any assistance could be given him.

FROM THE OLD COUNTRY

ENGLAND.

In the London Temperance Hotel over 14,000 patients have been treated, and it has not been necessary to use alcohol once.

Mr. M. T. Bass, the senior member for Derby, has resigned his seat owing to failing health. Mr. Bass is 84 years of age, and has represented Derby for 35 years.

Of late years the employment of women as clerks has greatly increased in England, as well as in France; and, in both countries it is generally agreed that the system works satisfactorily.

The latest fancy of the London makers is to have a cab painted a delicate primrose color, and drawn by a chestnut horse. The Junior Army and Navy Club appears to be the headquarters of these brilliant equipages.

The Prince of Wales has presented in the name of his sons a splendid barometer to the Abbot of one of the great Buddhist colleges in Japan, where the young princes were entertained during their stay in that country.

THE entries for the Queen's Prize at Wimbledon, as far as can be ascertained, number 2,422. Last year the entries were 2,272. By the St. George's Vase also the entries show a great improvement, the number being 2,500, against 2,065 last year.

NEARLY nine hundred lives were saved last year on the British coast by the aid of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, which during its fifty-nine years work has preserved 29,606 persons from drowning. There are now 273 lifeboats under the management of the Institution, nine being added last year, and these boats were launched 231 times during 1882.

WHILE returning from divine service at Aldershot on May 27th the Empress Eugenie narrowly escaped a serious accident. One of the horses became restive and kicked its tracefellow, which reared and plunged violently, and the pair became unmanageable. Fortunately Mr. Hengist, of the Wellington Hotel, Aldershot, and two of his friends, drove up and rescued Her Majesty from her perilous position.

On the 1st June in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, the Earl of Shaftesbury, the American Minister, and others, the Duchess of Sutherland unveiled a marble medallion portrait of General Garibaldi placed in Stafford House, and presented to the Duke of Sutherland to commemorate the visit of Garibaldi to Britain, and in recognition of the hospitality he received at the hands of his Grace during that period.

IRELAND.

£1,000 has been granted by the Government to Detective Mallon for his services in connection with the Phoenix Park murders.

Mr. JUSTIN MCCARTHY, Mr. O'Kelly and other Irish members, have introduced a Bill to abolish the office of Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland.

THERE was recently a visible decrease in the number of inmates in the Workford Workhouse. Contrasting it with the same period last year the numbers were 503 in 1882, and 478 in 1883.

SOME time ago the school house of Ballymacoda had to be closed in consequence of an outbreak of fever, and now it has been found necessary to close the national school of Lady's Bridge, near Castlemary.

THE recent vote in the Free Church Assembly in Edinburgh has had its effect on the Irish Presbyterian Assembly at Belfast. That body has adopted, by 320 votes against 309, a motion in favour of the use of instrumental music.

THE Cork Exhibition promises to be an event of great importance in the manufacturing history of Ireland. The entries closed on the 17th of March, when the applications for space were found to be far in excess of that at the committee's disposal. The display will be the most complete exhibition of the industries and resources of Ireland yet collected within the walls of any building.

LORD and Lady Lansdowne will remain for the most part at Bowood till the beginning of August, when they intend going over to Ireland to stay for a few weeks at their place in Kerry. Lord Lansdowne will leave for Canada about the second week in October, but it is not yet decided whether Lady Lansdowne and their children will accompany him, or whether they will defer their departure till the spring. Lord and Lady Rosebery will remain the tenants of Lansdowne House during the absence of its owners, and Bowood will be shut up.

SCOTLAND.

THE Tweed has been staked from Lyne to Cardrona, a distance of six or seven miles, with the view to putting a stop to trout netting.

TWO policemen were severely rebuked at Inverness Court for trying to trap an old woman 88 years of age into selling a little whiskey from her private bottle.

A young daughter of John Calder, burgh officer, Wick, cut a candy ball into her mouth and slipped it into the windpipe. She died in an hour.

THE cost of introducing water from Loch Coult to Falkirk is estimated at £20,000. A publicist of the ratepayers is to be taken before proceeding with the scheme.

THE Burntisland Liberal Association are blaming Sir George Campbell, Member for the Burghs, for wasting time and frittering away his influence in fruitless questioning.

AT the Montrose hiring fair on the 1st June, good male and female farm servants were so scarce in consequence of recent removals by emigration that many farmers were unable to obtain necessary help.

THE British and American Atlantic Express Co., promoted to run swift passenger steamers between Milford Haven and Sandy Hook, have made arrangements to have a fleet of steamers built on the Clyde.

COSTRACKS have been fixed for a coffee-house to be gifted to Kilmarnock by Lady Ovington. The cost will be about £3,500, including furnishings, and the building will occupy a site at the head of John Finnie street.

Mrs. JANE MUNIE of Dryburgh, who was apprehended at Kirkcaldy on the 12th April on a charge of murdering her husband by throwing a bottle at his head, in consequence of which he died to death, died in Cupar Jail on the 6th inst.

Water Drinking.

Children are apt to drink more water than they need. You don't it my dear child? When you come in the house panting and thirsty from play, you will take a tumbler of water and drink it down as fast as you can, and then resume your play after rushing out, and perhaps repeat the drink. Now, the next time you feel thirsty try this experiment.—Take a goblet of water and slowly sip it. Before it is half gone your thirst will be fully quenched, and you will feel better for having drunk only that which you need. And again, we are apt to acquire the habit of drinking while eating our meals. Animals don't do it, and it is hurtful to us. Nature gives us all the saliva we need, and if anyone will chew his food slowly and thoroughly, and not take a swallow or drink until through eating, the desire to do so will soon leave, and he will require only a few sips of water, tea, or coffee, after the meal is finished. This practice, too, will do wonders in the way of keeping off indigestion, dyspepsia, and illness.

A letter received on Saturday from the Executive of the Young Men's Christian Association, Toronto, conveys the information that it has been decided to send a Secretary to Peterborough, who will give his whole attention to the work of the Association here. A guarantee fund has been subscribed here for that purpose.
Mr. G. Williams is expected to arrive here on the 1st of August to assume the duties of this office.

Church Opening.

The Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be opened on Sunday next, the 1st of July. At the morning service a sermon will be delivered by the Rev. E. H. Dewar, D. D., editor of the Christian Guardian, and in the evening the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. S. S. Nelles, LL. D., Principal of Victoria University. On the Tuesday evening following, the Rev. W.
Jeffers, D. D., of Belleville, will deliver his celebrated lecture on "Our New Dominion."

Strawberries.

The crop of strawberries promises to be enormous this season. Peterborough alone will contribute no less than thirty-five thousand quarts, and in addition to this about twenty thousand quarts have been contracted for from out of town, which will make a total of some fifty-five thousand quarts to be disposed of in Peterborough within the next three weeks. There will be a lively and jolly time with the luscious fruit, and the prices that now rank among the tens will probably drop to more insignificant units.

THE SURE FOUNDATION.

A SERMON TO THE MASONIC FRATERNITY
ON ST. JOHN'S DAY.

The Rev. Bro. W. H. Matthews in the Pulpit
—The Temple of Solomon at Jerusalem, the Ancient Order of Masons, and the Church of Christ.

On Sunday evening the members of the Peterborough Lodges A. F. and A. M., commemorated the festival of St. John the Baptist, the 24th of June, by attending divine service in a body. They went to the George Street Methodist Church, where a very appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. H. S.
Matthews, of Millbrook. After the usual opening devotional exercises, including a beautiful anthem rendered in an excellent manner by the choir, the Rev. Mr. Matthews gave out as his text I. Kings vi., 37-38:—"In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the Lord laid, in the month Zif. And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, was the house finished throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the fashion of it."

He knew of no better way, he said, of honoring St. John's Day, than to celebrate it in the way they were now doing, by attending divine service, and he was glad that they had taken that way of doing it. The month Zif, he explained, corresponded with the month of May, and the other month mentioned, Bul, with our November. The text brought before Christ
Solomon, who reigned 1,016 years before Christ.
David, the King, voluntarily gave the government into the hands of his son Solomon, who became celebrated throughout the world for his wealth and wisdom. The most wonderful event of his history was the erection of the great temple on the summit of Mount Moriah. He described the immense size of the temple, its architecture and the amount of labor that was required to build it. At the end of seven years it stood completed in all its splendour. Spiritual lessons had been drawn from this temple by the Prophets and the Apostles, as when Isaiah said,
"Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone,
a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation," (chap. xxviii., 16) and Paul said,
"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." (I. Cor.
iii., 11.)

A building to be firm must have a solid foundation. Although the temple was now absolutely gone, the foundation yet remained. He described the solidity and extent (36 acres) of this great temple. In the foundation of Masonry one of the chief elements was benevolence.
The order was older than the Roman eagle, and would he say more honorable than the Garter? The doctrine of Christ crucified was the foundation of the Church of the Apostles, and the doctrine God had blessed to the conversion of souls.
They should rest on Christ, their sure, immovable foundation.

The material in the temple had been properly framed, so that there was neither hammer, nor axe, nor any tool heard when it was put together. In Masonry the candidates for membership were first prepared. They must be free born and of good moral character. The material in the temple was so framed that all the roughness was polished off and so squared that it suited perfectly the superstructure. Masonry of itself could not be a man's work, but it impressed upon them the most important duties of life. It taught industry; indolence and Free Masonry were inconsistent terms. It required physical and mental activity. The Grand Masters of the Craft were either of the blood royal or some scholarly men. It sought to bind man to man and heart to heart, a mutual object behind them together and benefitting each other thus benefitting mankind. For the church of Christ the material was prepared. Repentance for their sins led them to Christ, and likeness to Jesus was the great bond which bound them together. They grew up like Him, and formed part of His church.

The temple was for the comfort of God's people. They regarded it as their great centre, and three times a year they came to it to worship. In the service of God they found peace, satisfaction and joy. In Masonry they tried to comfort others by distributing charity.
They endeavored to relieve the wants of the widow and watch over the fatherless. During last year $13,000 had been distributed in charity. No true Mason ever sought bread of a brother and went away empty. They covered each other's foibles with the broad mantle of Masonic charity, and all stood upon the same level—they were men, they were brothers.
Brotherly love sparkled like the stars and shone forth resplendent in all its glory as the sun.
He related two incidents illustrating the care that Masons took of their brethren and their brethren's near relations. In the church of Christ it was their privilege to enjoy the richness and blessings of true and full comfort.
They should press forward to the mark of the prize of their high calling, until they reach God's right hand, where they would enjoy forever the fullness of joy.

The temple was a source of strength to the Jews when they were in national trouble, and of safety to the people. Masonry was a source of safety to the people, as it taught reverence towards God. It taught every man the necessity of calmly and truly trusting in God. It was a great and grand bulwark against infidelity.
Every one who united with the order had to believe the Bible. It stood forth against the cold negations of infidelity and said "We believe."
The Bible shut infidelity out of the lodge room.
In the church of Christ there was true safety—safety from a guilty conscience, perplexing doubts, a painful death, and the gloominess of the grave, and in the love of Christ they were safe for Heaven. He read a glowing description of the beautiful temple, which brought the grand edifice before the eyes of the congregation. The Masonic temple, he said, was growing larger and larger. The crowned heads of Europe, and the best men in church and state felt it a privilege and a pleasure to belong to the craft. It extended through all the nations of the earth, teaching brotherly love, and endeavouring to benefit mankind. The church of Christ would rise above all difficulties. The time was coming when all would know that Christ was Lord, and they could sing.

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun,
Doth his successive journeys run.

If they would remain true to God, when called away from labour, Heaven would be their temple and home for ever, and they would receive their reward from God. Masons should love and serve God, should rest on Christ, the sure foundation. He exhorted those who were out of Christ to give their hearts at once to God, and the time would be brought about when the glory of the Lord would cover the earth.

Police News.

Well, there is no police news. The cells were empty and no cattle were impounded since Saturday, and there was a blank at the Police Court this morning.

New Temperance Society.

A branch of what is known as the "Church of England Temperance Society," is to be formed here in connection with St. John's Church.
It was announced by the Rector on Sunday morning, and steps will be taken in the matter at once. The object of this society is to keep down excessive drinking, and it will be open to moderate drinkers, or those who are not strictly total abstainers. In the course of time the benefit of such an institution will be felt in Peterborough, and no doubt many will avail themselves of the privilege of becoming members.

A Meat Delivery Wagon.

The new delivery wagon for Mr. Smith's fish and vegetable market, George street, is a credit to its builder. The wheels and gearing are light, easy running and durable, and are painted a light color. The box is a high one, all enclosed, with a projection of the roof to cover the driver. On the sides the words
"Smith's Market" are handsomely painted in gold letters with a dark shading. On one side there is a good representation of a lake with trees and foliage on the shore, and high and rugged hills in the background, and in the water a large fish is about making a meal of a smaller one. Hanging on the corner are a pair of tempting ducks and other game painted very naturally. On the other side is a representation of a rural lake, with a camp of hunters on the shore, two of whom are on the bosom of the lake in a canoe. A hound is chasing a deer towards the lake, where it runs to meet its death, as a hidden sportsman is levelling his rifle on the panting animal. On the corners of this side, surrounding this picture fish and vegetables are appropriately depicted. On the rear end of the box is to be seen another rural lake, with two small boats with canvas hoisted, sailing on the water, and a camp in view. There are also representations of fish hung up by the gills, a brace of partridge and of fruit. The wagon is a very attractive one, the work on it and the painting being well executed, and surely nothing but the best fruit, vegetables, fish and game could be delivered in it. Mr. T. Laplante is the builder of the wagon, and Mr. J. H.
Watson the painter. Mr. Smith deserves credit for his enterprise.

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whether the way is open to the best things for the least trouble,
money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people and people choose with a decent sagacity on
the average, and in the long run know what suits them
and where to get it. It is only eight years since
T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at
T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon
cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND
TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE
HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvements have been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

WE HARP ON THIS:—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day

FATAL DISASTER.

Forty-seven Persons Killed in a Burning Theatre—Fatal Result.

LONDON, June 25.—While a performance was being given in the Puppet Theatre at Derioco, on the shore of Lake Como, the structure took fire and was entirely destroyed. Forty-seven persons were killed and twelve injured. The show was held in a large hall over a tavern. There were ninety persons in the hall. A Bengal light was used to represent fire, and the sparks set fire to a quantity of straw and firewood stored in an adjacent room. On perceiving the flames the showman shouted "fire," but the spectators thought the cry was merely a realistic detail of the show, and remained seated. Cries of "fire" were soon raised outside the hall, and the audience, thinking an affray had arisen in the street, barred with a heavy table the door leading from the hall. They did not discover the mistake until the flames burst into the room. After the fire was out forty-seven charred corpses were found near the table, including the bodies of the showman and his wife. A large portion of the dead bodies are those of women and children. The wounded were hurt by leaping through the windows. A child was flung out of the window by its mother and fell upon a pile of straw. This is the only one of the spectators present in the hall that was not hurt.

Lacrosse.

A committee meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held in Mr. LeBrun's store this evening. A practice match of the first and second teams is called for this evening and tomorrow evening. Please bear this notice in mind.

Tried to Blow His Brains Out.

James Mantle, a young man living at Hope street and Henderson avenue, Toronto, attempted to take his own life. He placed a revolver on his forehead and fired. The bullet passed along between the skin and the skull and came out at the top of his head. Before he could repeat the attempt his mother wrested the revolver from him. He had been on a periodical spree.—World.

For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

The Stone Wall of a Well Caves in on Mr. James Payton—Rescued with Difficulty.

On Monday Messrs. Matthew Wright and James Payton, pump manufacturers, were putting in a pump at a well opposite the Charlotte Street Church, when Mr. Payton narrowly escaped being accidentally killed. There was a piece of stick in the water which the owner of the well wished to have removed, and Mr. Payton descended for the purpose of taking it out. Mr. Wright was a few feet from the top of the well, and soon after Mr. Payton had disappeared down it he heard a loud noise. He was at the well in an instant, and saw that the stones in the wall of the well, from the top to about five feet down, had fallen in, and large stones were still rattling down upon the unfortunate man below, who was about ten feet down. Mr. Payton had just picked up the stick when the stones came upon him, and he braced his feet against one side of the well and held himself there, while large stones grazed past his head, body and legs. When Mr. Wright saw the situation of his partner, he sent for help, and then at once took hold of a brace at the mouth of the well with his hands and let himself drop down, calling to Mr. Payton to catch his feet and climb up. As Mr. Payton looked up a large stone rolled out of the wall close to his head and struck him above the eye, inflicting a cut, but not a dangerous wound. He obeyed at once the call of Mr. Wright, and as he swung from his position, and his feet left the wall where they had been braced, the stones followed them and rolled down into the water, but he was out of their reach, and, assisted by a third man above, he got out of the well and his perilous situation. He received a bad cut on the wrist and on the back of his hand, besides the cut on the forehead and another bruise on his nose, but when the quantity of large stones that fell about him is considered, it is wonderful how he escaped being instantly killed. There was several feet of water in the bottom of the well.

Cricket Match.

A cricket match was played at Lakeside on Saturday last between the Lakeside and Peterborough clubs, resulting, after a close contest, in a victory for Lakeside by one run and four wickets. The Peterborough team was weakened by the absence of some of their good players, but the Lakeside Club is to be congratulated, nevertheless, on the manner in which they won the match. On the part of Lakeside good all round play was shown by the Watson brothers, and for Peterborough the batting of Messrs. Hartley and Hammond was very serviceable. The Lakeside cricket field is nicely situated near the lake, but the ground is not yet in good order, making the bowling difficult. The following is the score:—

RAILWAY OPENED.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The West Shore railroad was opened for passengers and freights to Kingston yesterday.

THE INFORMER LYNCH.

NEW YORK, June 26.—It has been ascertained beyond a doubt that the correct name of Lynch, alias Norman, the informer, is James Glibney, a carriage painter in this city. He was a member of the Thomas Davis Club, which is officially known as Camp No. 18 of the Irish Republican Brotherhood. He was also a member of the dynamite school. He was born here.

CHOLERA.

DAMIETTA, June 26.—Of forty-two deaths here yesterday, twenty-eight are known to have been caused by cholera, and it is expected that the rest were from the same malarial.

THE FLOODS.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—Six villages are now inundated and 3,000 families are homeless; six thousand head of cattle and other stock have been drowned. The loss of crops and property cannot be estimated, but is enormous.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

TEOT, June 26.—Garret J. Rose, 21 years of age, held for examination at Middlebury, Vt., on a charge of attempting to poison his mother, Mrs. Amanda Hawley, by putting Paris green in whiskey, is also accused of outrageously assaulting her, and threatening her life if she exposed him. Rose has a good reputation. The charges are not generally believed. Some think the woman is deranged. It is said that she has attempted to take her own life.

COLORED CADET AT WEST POINT.

WEST POINT, June 26.—Out of 152 applicants for admission to the military academy, 37 were found deficient. Among the latter was Wm. Waite, of Ohio, whose alternate was Alexander (coloured). Alexander is said to be much superior to Whitaker in every way. It is not believed that he will be taboed by the other cadets.

A FATAL FIGHT.

HUNTSBORO, Ala., June 26.—Joseph Brown had a fight with Rena Polite (coloured), who abused his wife a few days ago. The woman stabbed Brown in the breast with a large butcher knife. Brown took the knife away from her and plunged it into her heart.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

CHICAGO, June 26.—It is stated on good authority that a committee of the Iroquois Club sent to New York to secure the next Democratic nominal convention for Chicago received such assurances as to justify them in the belief that the object of their visit has been practically accomplished.

STILL VILLIFYING.

We see that the local organ of the Reform party is still continuing to besmirch the character of Mr. Sandford Fleming, and the excuse for further villification of him is that the Review from no private or political friendship, but in the interests of common honesty and of the credit of our country, protested against the previous slander of Mr. Fleming. So it appears that not only are the proprietors of the Review to be personally assailed and abused, but any one whom it mentions favourably is to be attacked and slandered by our contemporary. And this is claimed to be reputable journalism. The manner in which Mr. Fleming is now attacked is as dishonest as the motive thus confessed. Going back to the days before Confederation and to the provincial affairs of Nova Scotia, quotations from an old speech of the Hon. Mr. McLellan are recalled from oblivion to endeavour to damage the good fame of Mr. Fleming. Mr. McLellan is quoted as speaking of the suspicions that were excited, but it is dishonestly concealed that in his place in the House last year Mr. McLellan stated that he had found these suspicions and the attack to which they had given rise, in the midst of the heat of a bitter party conflict, were unfounded, and that with fuller knowledge of the circumstances he had changed his opinion. And yet his old erroneous and retracted opinion is now exhorted to damage a gentleman of high standing.

It is likely that if Mr. Fleming were the dishonest man and corrupt official that it pleases the Examiner to represent him to be, he would have retained till now his good name and high character. For many years he has filled an important position under administrations of both political parties, and has enjoyed the respect and esteem of both, having earned and received the implicit confidence of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie as well as of Sir Charles Tupper. Yet this good record cannot preserve him from the slanders and villification which seem to have become the chief stock in trade of Reform journals in default of fair argument or justifiable criticism.

CAPITAL OR INCOME.

The Monetary Times supplies us with the following very suggestive text:—

"The Hudson Bay Company's dividend of 12 shillings a share, for the year, though accompanied by a return of capital of £1 a share, caused some grumbling among stockholders. The £1 a share came from land, as was proper, for when the land is all sold out the capital ought to be refunded."

We fully agree with the leading commercial paper of Canada in its approbation of the action of the Hudson Bay Company in treating its receipts from land sales as capital and not as income. There can be no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man who gives even the slightest consideration to the subject, that this is the only proper course for an individual, for a firm, or for a joint stock company to pursue, if eventual insolvency is to be avoided.

Though the cases of our Dominion and Provincial Governments are not exactly parallel with those of individuals or private companies, they are at least to this extent, that the proceeds of their land sales should be regarded as capital rather than current revenue.

This is equally true in a very large degree, as to sales of lumber,—that is, the same rule would apply in the cases where the timber sold is not the periodical growth, but is the chief value of the tract cut over, and this is the general rule.

Such sales are in fact the conversion of a real estate asset into a cash asset, and an application of the proceeds to meet current expenditure would clearly be to impoverish the community, just as much as a farmer would impoverish himself by selling a corner of his farm, and paying his tailor's bill with the money he received. Such receipts in the case of the Province or Dominion should be placed to a capital account and should either be invested, so that the interest might afford a revenue, or should be applied to public improvements of such a nature as would make them a judicious and reproductive employment of capital.

No Canadian Government, either central or provincial, of either party, has been entirely above criticism in this respect, so far as the manner of keeping the public accounts is concerned, the receipts in question having been classed with ordinary revenue. The grave objection to this method is that it tends to conceal the two classes of receipts, and to facilitate the expenditure of capital upon current account.

It is, however, right to point out that in this Province, in which our readers are undoubtedly most interested, the government of Mr. John Sandfield Macdonald pursued the right course. The money derived from the sale of our real estate, both land and timber, were invested in such a manner as to be capitalized and produce a revenue. This was the cash surplus left by him, but which under the Mowat Administration has almost entirely disappeared, together with the large additional sums that have since been received for our land and timber, a very important portion of our public capital.

COLLISION BETWEEN VESSELS.

One ship sinks—Her Side Collapses Like a Piece of Cardboard.

LONDON, June 24.—The British passenger vessel Hurunui and Waitara, belonging to the New Zealand Shipping Company, came into collision off Portland on Friday night. The Waitara sank in two minutes. Twenty-five persons were drowned. The Hurunui immediately launched boats and rescued sixteen persons, including a lady, a saloon passenger, to whom a sailor who was saved had given up his life belt. Two other saloon passengers were also saved. All the second class and steerage passengers were lost. The captain of the Waitara was dragged aboard the Hurunui with the aid of ropes. The two vessels left London together on Friday. The Hurunui struck the Waitara end on just in front of the saloon, on the starboard side. The survivors state that no crash was heard, but the side of the Waitara gave way like cardboard. They say more of the passengers might have been saved had a bark and a steamer which were seen near by heeded the Waitara's signals of distress. The Waitara was an iron ship of 833 tons, built in 1863. The Hurunui is also an iron ship.

A New Swindle.

BUFFALO, June 24.—A new confidence game has been discovered, and it is practised almost entirely on trains running between Buffalo and Canadian cities. Canadian agents are usually the time, and a well-dressed, urbane sharper works it on them by asking them for a $20 Canadian bill in return for American greenbacks. The confidence man tells his victim that Canadian bills will be subject to a discount, and then the victim from the Queen's dominion is only too ready to effect a change. The swindler's way of doing the business is to give back three good $5 bills and a bad one for the $20 bill. The bogus five is generally a pretty good counterfeit, and the fraud is not discovered until the man tries ineffectually to buy something with it in Buffalo. The operations have been conducted so quietly that the railway detectives do not appear to have tumbled to the racket, and most of those who are bitten prefer to pocket their loss in silence to being held up to the possible ridicule of their friends and the public generally. A well-known shoe merchant of this city became aware of a case a few days ago. A resident of Hamilton called at his store and made a purchase, tendering a $5 bill in payment. The bill looked all right, and the genuineness of the greenback was not called into question until the return to the store of the proprietor. He detected the counterfeit, and being unable to find his customer in the city, wrote to him. In response the Hamilton man explained how he came in possession of the bad bill, and offered to replace it with a good one the next time he came to Buffalo if nothing was said about it.

A Sorrowful Saturday.

On Saturday last three fatal accidents occurred in Toronto. The first occurred at about 11.30 a.m., when Alfred Collier, aged four and a half years, was crushed between a wagon and a building and so seriously injured that he died next day. In the afternoon of Saturday Percy Willey, aged 14, fell off a floating log into the bath at the western end of the Island and was drowned, his body not being recovered until the next morning. Mr. Martin Hatchard at about 7.15 on the evening of the same day, in trying to get on a street car while it was in motion, fell under the wheels and was run over. He died on Sunday morning. To add to this mournful list, the dead body of an infant, fearfully mangled, was found early on Sunday morning on a vacant lot a few doors east of the Adelaide street rink, and a boy named Johnny Taylor, while playing in the fourth story of a new building, looked out of the window and fell into the basement area. He was seriously injured, though not fatally.

Speedy Justice.

A despatch from Kingston on June 24th says that John Gibault, who burglarized Stewart Bros. store at Sharbot lake, was arrested by detective Sullivan at Perth. He was taken before a justice of the peace, committed for trial, and half an hour afterwards sentenced by Judge Semler to three years in the penitentiary. He was arrested, tried, and sentenced inside of two hours. Gibault is one of the convicts who about two years ago overpowered the guards on a railway train and endeavoured to escape. He is a desperado. During his examination before the justice of the peace he smoked a cigar.

Extension of Point St. Charles Shops.
MONTREAL, June 24.—The Grand Trunk is obliged to extend its great workshops at Point St. Charles in order to meet the increasing demand for rolling stock of every description. It is the pressure to meet the regular passenger demand that the company has to cancel a number of excursion trains in the west advertised for Dominion day. A large number of new locomotives have just been turned out of the shops, and to meet the requirements of this department a new locomotive running shed is about to be erected.

An Interesting Model.

An interesting model at the Fisheries Exhibition shows the ingenuity of the Chinese fisherman. It represents a "foot boat," a clever contrivance for conveying a single passenger. The boatman carries under his arm a paddle for steering purposes, while with his feet he works a wide-bladed oar. In this manner he often rows from eighteen to twenty hours at a stretch, only pausing for a few moments occasionally to take his food, an operation which is very simply performed on the boat by means of a small portable clay furnace close beside him.

A New Industry.

Mr. Victor Hudson is about to start a factory at Beauharnois for the manufacture of merinoes, cashmeres, cardines, etc. The town has granted a bonus of $8,000 to the enterprise, for water power, and exemption from taxation for twenty years, and in addition has taken stock to the amount of $200,000. The work of construction will begin at once, and it is hoped to have it in operation this fall. The industry will be new to Canada.

Mr. Wm. F. PATER, Station Master, C. V. R., Sheddin, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Calise House, Peterboro two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Bonville, of Paris, ex-surgon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spike, Harrowsmith P. O., near here, Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont., Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Deafness; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church Street Toronto or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

Father and Son Drowned.

On Saturday Michael Flannigan and his son were rowing in a boat on the bay, at Hamilton, when the boat moved from one seat to another and tipped the boat over. Both were drowned. A man named Lunny, a little girl, and another son of Flannigan's were saved.

A MOTHER'S POWER.

Mother, ye that toll unceasing,
With heart and hand and hand,
Seeking daily for new wisdom
To guide your little band.

I would fain bring you a message
That would cheer and help you too;
But my words seem weak and useless
For a cause so grand and true.

If at night your heart is heavy
With its load of petty cares,
Do not mourn the day as wasted;
Buds may blossom unawares.

Though the children seem to heed not Fear wise counsel and commands,
Good seed sown will come some day;
Guide them on with loving hands.

Often when they seem so careless,
Thinking only of their play,
In their hearts they feel repentance
For the faults of yesterday.

Their young eyes see very keenly,
And their faith in you is strong;
Let them see the love that chasteens;
"Rule by patience" says the song.

Oh the days are one long battle
To keep peace and do the right,
But the strife is worth the while;
When the daylight fades from sight.

Then, with little hands close folded,
Or with head on mother's breast,
Tired voice murmurs "Now I lay me"—
But the angels know the rest.

Mother, do ye know your power?
Strength is yours; 'tis still secure,
For the hand that rocks the cradle Rules the world and keeps it pure.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

FLOUR FOR JELLY.—Flour may be used instead of corn starch in lemon jelly for the filling of layer cakes. Stir all the lumps out and use a little more, say one-third more, than you would of corn-starch.

PARSLEY GARNISH.—Parsley makes such a cheap and excellent garnish for all kinds of meat and fowl, and is such a decided addition to the dressing for roast lamb and for potato salad, that it should be in every garden. It is nice as a flavoring for soups when barley is used.

PINEAPPLE AND ICE CREAM.—Pineapple prepared in this way is delicious with ice cream, or without it. Grate the pineapple after removing every particle of the peel or chop it; it must be minced so fine that anyone eating it will be in doubt as to the method of its preparation; add sufficient sugar to sweeten it; let it stew gently until it is soft. When it is prepared thus it can be eaten by many who are obliged to refuse it uncooked on account of its producing indigestion.

PREPARE THE DINNER.—It seems to be an unknown fact to most of our domestic assistants that platters and vegetable dishes are sure to crack sooner or later if they are set on the hot stove. If they are left there a moment only, there is a danger of their good looks being spoiled. It is a good plan to have something on or near the stove where such dishes may be placed; of course if one has a shelf above her range or stove, there is no excuse for the annoyance mentioned above, but if there is no shelf, a brick may be kept in the heater and used when it is necessary, or an iron (flat iron) holder will be found useful.

TO CLEAN COLOURED KIDS.—One of the simplest and best ways by which light-coloured kid gloves can be cleaned is this: Put the gloves on your hands, take an old and very soft linen handkerchief, wet it in sweet milk and rub it on a piece of white soap—candle or any toilet soap will answer the purpose—then apply to the soiled parts of the glove; do this until the spots disappear; then wet the entire glove and pull it and stretch and rub it until it is entirely dry. If you are faithful it will not dry in wrinkles. One word of caution should be added to the above: lavender-coloured kid gloves cannot be cleaned in this way, as they will fade and look spotted.

The Russian Volunteer Fleet.
With the incorporation of the Moscow Volunteer fleet the other day with the Russian Navy a remarkable organization has come to a close. The fleet owed its origin during the war fever of 1878 to a suggestion caught made at a meeting of the Society for Promoting Russian Trade, that a Russian "Alabama" or two fitted out by private persons, would probably effect more damage to England, by preying upon its merchant shipping—the main support of the greatness of the Empire—than all the attacks of the regular Russian navy upon our marines. The idea was caught up with enthusiasm. Several thousand pounds were subscribed on the spot, £3,000 poured in the next morning, and the donations continued to arrive until in the end they exceeded half a million sterling. As soon as sufficient funds were obtained, the Committee despatched Captain Bannock to Germany, and he purchased for the aggregate sum of £160,000 sterling, the steamers Holatia, Hammonia and Thuringia, belonging to the Hamburg-American Company. These were rechristened the Russia, Moscow and St. Petersburg, and fitted up at Cronstadt as cruisers, after which the war began over, they were despatched to the Black Sea to serve as transports. Since then their number has been increased by the Nijini Novgorod, the Yaroslavl, and the Kostroma, while a decrease has taken place in the case of the Moscow, wrecked a short time ago. For a time the Committee managed to pay its way without any difficulty, but latterly it has made so many applications to the Government for assistance that the latter has found it advisable to take over the concern and work it itself. For a few months the commercial operations of the Committee will be carried on as hitherto; but as soon as the contracts expire the vessels will be withdrawn from trading pursuits, and attached to the transport branch of the service.—Broad Arrow.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give Sulphur and Iron Bitters a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

Sewing Silks:

Ladies who are annoyed at not finding a STRONG SEWING SILK will please ask for our Brand "BELDING, PAUL & CO."

To meet a popular demand for a cheap silk we produce other Brands, which, although labelled "A" are only half or three-quarter size. Hereafter every Spool will be stamped 1-2 or 3-4 size, to show its exact standard.

Our Brand "BELDING, PAUL & CO." has for 20 years sustained its supremacy over all others, and taken PREMIUMS OVER ALL COMPETITORS wherever exhibited, and its sale far exceeds any other make.

See that every Spool is stamped "Belding, Paul & Co. Full size and length.

Persons who are very susceptible to sudden changes of weather would do well to keep a supply of GRAY'S STRIP OF RED SPRUCE GUM in the house. This strip is a scientific preparation of the Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce Tree, and holds a large quantity of the Gum in perfect solution, never separating. Its remarkable power in relieving certain kinds of Bronchitis, and curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well-known to the public at large. No remedy can equal it as a safe and thoroughly reliable Cough Medicine. Sold by all chemists. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

The Summer Holiday.

To overworked men of business, and especially to literary men, a summer holiday by the seaside, or among the mountainous regions, is greatly to be recommended. But in order to get the full benefit of such a holiday no work of any kind must be done—i. e., the artist must not take his picture with him to sketch, nor the author his book, and the business man must not have letters—other than those of friendship—to attend to. Therefore, it is not merely money that a person has to take into consideration when he asks himself the question: "Can I afford myself a holiday in July or August?" but time as well. "Can I finish such and such a piece of work?" or "have done with this or that business by July or August, so as to go away from home with nothing on my mind?" "When I lock my study or office door, am I quite sure that Daddy Care is safe inside, and that there isn't a crack nor a crevice through which he can escape and follow me? Well, one must just make sure that there is no chance of his escaping, or even of his being carried away in the neatly-packed portmanteau. Why, theascal has been found, ere now, in the pocket of an old office coat. It is a favorite trick of his to come popping out of the post bag with a "How d'ye do?" and a "Here we are again!" And he has frequently been known to take the telegraph, and be down first at the seaside, ready to meet his unhappy slave on the railway platform. The best way to avoid so unpleasant a re-union with care or business is to set to work about six weeks beforehand to prepare in every way for the summer holiday.

this morning in the Collegiate Institute building.

Smith's Market.

Fresh Strawberries and Cherries every morning from this date forward.
Oranges, Lemons, and Fresh Fish as usual.
New and fresh Vegetables supplied daily.

Annual Sermon.

The annual sermon to the members of the Loyal Orange Order will be preached on the evening of Sunday next, July 1st, by the Rev.
Mr. Bradshaw, in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cool and cloudy.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a.m. to-day by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes and St. Lawrence—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly from the west and north; occasional rains, followed by clearing weather; finer tomorrow. Not much change in temperature.

Foggy Points.

—A heavy shower of rain passed over here yesterday afternoon, and rain fell during the night and this morning.
—Two bankrupt pedestrians occupied the police cells last night.
—A party who went to Bobcaygeon on Saturday had a pleasant excursion and a successful day of fishing.
—The police kept up a search on the streets last night for law breakers until the rain forced them to desist. One stray cow was impounded.
—No cases were tried at the Police Court this morning. One charge that had been laid was withdrawn.
—The Band will give an open air concert on the market square this evening, weather permitting.
—We would ask the Cobourg World, if it sees our reference to our local mind reader, to keep as calm as it can; and at least try not to go into hysterics.
—The Dominion Day celebration committee, and all others who are assisting or will assist them, are requested to meet at the Firemen's Hall this evening.
—Among those registered at the Oriental Hotel are Mr. R. J. Beemer, Montreal; Mr.
H. D. Lumsden, Ontario and Quebec Railway engineer, Toronto, and Mr. Thos. Kalso, of Belleville, formerly President of the Grand Junction Company.

MIND READING.

A Local Rival of Mr. Stuart Cumberland—
Some of the Things He Can Do.

The town of Peterborough has sent out a vantriquist who has won praise at every place he has visited, including the largest Canadian and American cities, (we refer to Mr. Orm. Dixon), and the town now possesses a young man who has abilities of a more peculiar character. Mr.
John Miller, a young gentleman at present attending the Collegiate Institute, a son of the late James Miller, Esq., formerly reeve of Otonabee, attended Mr. Stuart Cumberland's performances in Kingston, and afterwards saw his performances here, and was greatly interested.
Some time afterwards, more for a joke than seriously, he tried to do one of the mind-reading feats, and to his own astonishment he accomplished it. He continued to try experiments, and found that he could do many things which had surprised the large audience who attended Mr. Cumberland's entertainment.

We have before mentioned Mr. Miller's gift, but having been favored with a seance, and having received his permission, we will give further particulars. On Monday evening Mr.
Miller met with several young men, including a reporter of the Review, and, having been asked to do so, proceeded to entertain them with mind reading feats. First he banded the quill driver a key, and while the mind reader was out of the room the key was secreted.
Mr. Miller blindfolded himself and came in,
and taking the reporter by the hand, he at once,
and without hesitation, went to where the key was hidden and produced it. This he did several times, the key being hidden in the most unlikely places, but he did not once make a mistake. Then Mr. Miller requested the reporter to think of some article, which he did, and the mind reader, as before, placing the "subject's" hand to his forehead, went to the article thought of and picked it up. Mr.
Miller again went out of the room, and, in view of those present, the reporter touched three spots in the room, the first being the arm of a rocking chair, the second a corner of a picture and the third a spot on the carpet. Mr. Miller having come in blindfolded, led the subject to the places touched and placed his finger upon the exact spots.
The mind reader then held the subject's hand and requested him to think of some article which he wished removed to another place.
The article thought of was a pipe, and the place where it was to be placed was in another young man's mouth, and this Mr. Miller, who was blindfolded during the time of all the performances, did as accurately as the other things.
Finding a hidden pin, a la Cumberland, was the next test, and the pin was hidden in the wall, but was found without any difficulty. The test that followed Mr. Cumberland had described as the acme of mind-reading. That was telling the date of a coin. The reporter and another present looked at the date of the coin, which was 1874, and Mr. Miller took the reporter's hand and traced the figures on a paper without a mistake. The test was repeated, the next date being 1880, and again the date was written by the mind reader. Then Mr.
Miller requested the reporter to think of some person's initials. The initials were written on a paper, which a third person held, and the letters thought of "J. C.," were written in the same manner as the dates of the coins. Then a name was thought of, and Mr. Miller wrote the name, that of the Minister of Agriculture, "J. Pope," upon the paper. Other tests followed, such as leading one person to another, moving a particular book from its place and putting it in another place, taking one young man by the hand and placing his hand upon his head, &c., &c., and not once did Mr. Miller make a blunder.
Many of the tests were repeated with other "subjects," but all the subjects present appeared to be good ones, and able to concentrate their minds on what they desired him to do, and he was successful with each one.

One theory as to mind reading is that an involuntary movement of the muscles directs the mind reader, but the reporter knowing this, tried to guard against it, and Mr. Miller says he never thinks of the muscles at all. In fact he does not know how he explains what he is expected to do, except that the idea to go to the place, and pick up the article, comes to his mind in some way, and he follows the impulse of his mind. Mr. Miller expressed a dilemma to appearing in public, when that was suggested to him, but he has very frequently amused his friends and private parties by his mind reading abilities, and he is as accomplished in the art, if art it can be called, as was Mr. Stuart Cumberland. He has not only amused, but astonished his friends, who have tried many times to puzzle him, without doing anything unfairly, but he has always been able to follow the mind of his subject.

Railway Notes.

The Toronto World of Monday says that the junction of the Ontario and Quebec with the Credit Valley has been made and the rails are now laid along the former eastward from the junction for nearly a quarter of a mile. More iron and ties are on the ground, and the track ought to be to Yonge street in a few days. The Ontario and Quebec crosses the Grand Trunk and Toronto, Grey & Bruce in front of Harris' hotel, and the Northern more to the east, up from Blatney's hotel. The new road is already over the first two, and will cross the Northern in a day or two.

Mr. Beemer's Contracts.

A despatch from Montreal says that the City Council adopted the contract to be entered into with Mr. Beemer, the successful tenderer for improvement of the city's water supply, and it was duly signed by the Mayor, Mr. Beemer, and the sureties. The work on the undertaking is to be commenced forthwith, and an important reduction in the present exorbitant insurance rates is looked for in consequence. The Quebec & Lake St. John Railway Company have also entered into an arrangement with Mr.
Beemer to complete the balance of their road to Lake St. John, not already under contract, by December 1st, 1883.

Decoration Day.

The Oddfellows, who carefully and charitably look after the welfare of their brethren when assistance is needed, do not forget them after they have passed away from earth. This fact will be demonstrated on Friday next, when the Odd-fellows will pay a touching tribute of respect to their departed brethren by marching to the Little Lake Cemetery and decorating their graves with flowers. The members of the Order are requested to meet at Peterborough Lodge hall at 2 o'clock, p. m., for that purpose, and the Fire Brigade Band will accompany the procession as they go to show their kindly appreciation of those who once met with them in their lodges. Donations of flowers and foliage plants will be received up to 12 o'clock that day at Mr. Cluxton's office. This day, too, would be a good time for others who are not Oddfellows, but who have laid friends to rest in this cemetery, to visit their graves with flowers, and make it a general decoration day.

Liberal Bequest.

We learn from the Edinburgh Courier that the late Mr. James Carnegie, W. S., of that city, and uncle of Mr. John Carnegie, of Peterborough, left by his will the following legacies for charitable and religious objects, viz.:—For religious and benevolent schemes connected with the Parishes of New Grey Friars and Lady Yester, the sum of £100 each, to be expended by the ministers of those parishes; to the following schemes of the Church of Scotland:—
Foreign Missions, £100; Conversion of the Jews, £100; East Indian Mission, £100; East African Mission, £100; Mission to China, £100;
National Bible Society of Scotland, £100;
Naval and Military Bible Society, £50; Italian Evangelization Society, £50; Waldenses Mission Aid Fund, £50; Spanish Evangelization Society, £50; and to the Edinburgh Young Men's Christian Association, £50; Edinburgh Young Women's Christian Association, £50; Edinburgh and Leith Seamen's Friend Society, £50; Edinburgh Working Boys' and Girls' Society,
£50; Society for the Relief of Indigent Old Men, £50; Society for the Relief of Indigent Old Women, £50; Edinburgh Night Asylum and Strangers' Friend Society, £50; the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh, £200, and to the Convalescent House in connection therewith, £200.
Total, £1,750, or about $8,500.

Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble,
money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on
the average, and in the long run know what suits them
and where to get it. It is only eight years since
T. DOLAN & CO. posted into business. Look at
T. DOLAN & CO. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon
cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND
TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE
HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & CO.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement has been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond call.

WE HARP ON THIS:—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal

P.M., to proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery, accompanied by the Fire Brigade Band, for the purpose of decorating the graves of the Oddfellows buried there.
Donations of flowers and foliage plants, by relatives or friends of the deceased, will be received at Mr. Cluxton's office until twelve o'clock of that day.

SENTRIES KILLED.

LONDON, June 26.—A violent thunder storm prevailed throughout the various sections of England yesterday. Four soldiers are reported to have been killed by lightning at Chatham.

THE CHIEF INFORMER.

LONDON, June 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon the Attorney-General for Ireland stated that James Carey, the informer, had not been pardoned, but the subject was being considered by the Government. If Carey should be pardoned the Executive clemency would be certainly coupled with conditions.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS MEETINGS.

LONDON, June 26.—A woman's rights meeting was held last night. Mr. Jacob Bright, M.P., president, and Susan B. Anthony, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton made addresses.

THE BOSTON EXHIBITION.

PARIS, June 26.—The Municipal Council has voted an appropriation of 20,000 francs for the purpose of paying the expenses of a delegation to the World's Exhibition at Boston.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

PESH, June 26.—All the Christian lawyers at Nyirchass, Hungary, where the trial of Jews charged with murdering a Christian girl is proceeding, have adopted a resolution attacking the conduct of the public prosecutor, because he scarcely conceals his belief that the case was fabricated by persons opposed to the Jews.

It was elicited that the magistrate Peczaly, who aided in the preparation of the case for the prosecution, was once sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment for a brutal murder. Peczaly admitted that he signed the depositions of several witnesses in the present trial, though he was absent when they were examined. Several witnesses deposed that the boy Moritz Scharf, who said he saw Peter Salomony murdered in the synagogue, was beaten in the house of the police commissioner. The defence pointed out as a significant fact Scharf's deposition contained a special clause denying that compulsion had been resorted to in his examination.

MORE EMIGRANTS.

LONDON, June 27.—The last company of emigrants from Swinford Union, one hundred in number, have gone to Queenstown for shipment to the United States. It is said most of them have been in the workhouse. Peter Carey and family have left Ireland, but their present whereabouts is unknown. James Carey is also going to leave or has already left. The Times says it has been arranged to send to the principal Irish emigrant to Montreal.

THE ST. PETERSBURG FIRE.

St. Petersburg, June 27.—Several persons were killed during the progress of the fire yesterday in the warehouses on Gutesjow Island at the mouth of the Neva.

OBITU.

LONDON, June 27.—Com. Spottiswoode, L.D., F.R.S. is dead.

EMIGRATION.

LONDON, June 27.—In the House of Commons to-day, Cowen, (radical) gave notice that he would submit a question as to whether it was true that Irish paupers had been sent to America with the knowledge and consent of the Government.

AMERICAN RIFLE TEAM.

QUEENSTOWN, June 27.—The American rifle team arrived this morning in excellent health and spirits. They will proceed by steamer Alaska to Liverpool, accompanied by Sir Henry Hallford, and others.

AMERICAN.

CHINA'S POWER.

PARIS, June 27.—Gen. Gordon says that the Chinese are sufficiently powerful to give France a good deal of trouble, for it is not with France as with Russia, who could approach Ekip by land. The approach by sea would need a very much larger force than in 1860. If the Chinese were educated they would be able to resist all the world. China has not signed the declaration of Paris regarding privateers, and will doubtless make full use of her rights.

TROUBLE IN COLLEGE.

SCHENECTADY, June 27.—The meeting of the trustees of Union College yesterday afternoon was very stormy. Dr. Potter had a squabble with Prof. Jenkins, Registrar of the College and Secretary of the Board. Jenkins handed in his resignation and it was accepted. Then Treasurer Woodward resigned. His duties were temporarily turned over to the finance committee and Potter. The trustees re-organized that committee in their interests. They did the same with the other committees. The finance report of Judge Laudon, which disputes the figures given by the Alumni trustees, was adopted. Harrison E. Webster, Professor of Natural History, was removed. Laudon made a speech, in which he said that Webster was the ringleader of the faculty in opposing Potter and ought to be dismissed. The friends of the faculty protested against the motion as an outrage. Other resolutions were adopted. The affair caused a good deal of excitement in town.

STEAMER WRECKED.

ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT, June 27.—The elegant steamer Rothsay, plying on the St. Lawrence from Cleveport to Montserrat, struck a rock this morning near the Thousand Island park. She proceeded two miles and ran ashore and sank. Sixty passengers were saved.

THE UNIVERSITY CREWS.

NEW YORK, June 27.—A Lake George despatch says that Cornell, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania crews are now there. So far the Cornell's do not promise well. The Princeton's are in splendid trim, and the Pennsylvania's are confident of success.

BREWER ASSIGNED.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Wm. Manpot, a brewer of Williamsburg, has assigned with $73,000 of liabilities.

A LUMBERMAN'S FAILURE.

MERVILLE, June 27.—H. Wright, lumber manufacturer, has assigned. Liabilities $200,000, assets $100,000.

GROSS CARELESSNESS.

PORTLAND, Oregon, June 27.—Advisers received here state that 23 Chinamen were killed and 15 wounded by the accident on the Northern Pacific railway. The accident was the result of gross carelessness.

OUTLAWS AT WORK.

BEMARCK, DAK., June 27.—A special from Little Missouri says that the life of the Marquis Demoreau has been threatened by Frank O'Donnell, a buffalo hunter, who objected to the Marquis' extensive sheep and cattle ranges. O'Donnell is the leader of a gang of outlaws, and on Monday morning at 2 o'clock the gang commenced to fire revolvers into all the buildings around there. They fired several balls into an hotel. The Sheriff of Morton county was telegraphed for and arrived yesterday with a posse of citizens and friends of the Marquis. A hot chase after the outlaws ensued. A fight occurred a mile from the railway. Riley was killed, and two other desperadoes, O'Donnell and Wangman, were captured. There are threats of lynching, and the wildest excitement prevails.

CROPS DAMAGED.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 27.—A storm in this County is proving very disastrous to growing crops. The tobacco and corn fields are badly washed out. In many cases the crop is completely ruined. All the creeks are swollen to torrents.

CHOLERA SPREADING.

DAMETTA, June 27.—Forty-seven deaths occurred yesterday. Thirty-seven are known to be from cholera. There has been seven cases in Mansour, two of which were fatal, and two at Port Said, one of which was fatal.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.; saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Cough, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

SPEAKING FOR TIMBER.

A new industry has recently been developed in Ireland—a sort of timber prospecting never dreamed of by our American pine hunters. It is a well known geological fact, says the North-western Lumberman, that immense tracts what are now bog lands in Ireland were once covered with forests of oak and pine, and that in cutting peat, immense trees of those varieties are found embedded in the earth at depths of ten, twenty and thirty feet, in many cases whole groves being found standing just as they grew. To find out the location of these miniature subterranean forests is now the speculative work in which some industrious Irishmen are engaged. The timber, when brought to the surface, is found to be perfectly sound, and the oak, which is as black as ebony, is used extensively for ornaments of jewellery and fancy cabinet work, and sells at a high price. A recent visitor to the wild moor and mountain regions of Donegal thus describes the way in which the seekers after buried forests operate. Two men, armed with steel rods about thirty feet long, traverse the bog, and by running their rods into the ground are able to ascertain where the trees are to be found. They work by what may be termed natural mathematics, and quickly determine the length of their prize, its approximate diameter, whether it is pine or oak, and is or is not a clumper—one of a company or clump. They fix on twenty or thirty feet square, and cross it with their searchers, key north and south, and then east and west, search it across each way, a stab to each foot or so, and in the course of a few minutes they know whether that area contains what they are looking for. The square lying next and next, and all near each other, are so searched, and the discoveries, if any, marked for future action. The unproductive are also marked, to avoid future loss of labor.—Scientific American.

A Tussle with Bruin.

Mr. D. J. Sullivan and Mr. George Babcock, two American tourists from Springfield, Mass., who have been sojourning for a few weeks fishing among the lakes in the northern part of this Province, met with rather a thrilling adventure last Friday near Lake Morin. As they were proceeding through the bush they suddenly perceived in a clearing where lumbermen had recently been at work a large black bear sitting quietly on a log. Bruin on noticing the intruders immediately began to show signs of disapprobation on being so suddenly disturbed. The fishermen, however, unaware of the fierce character of Bruin, prepared to bring down this large game. Mr. Babcock, who alone was armed with a revolver, took aim, and rapidly discharged two shots at the shaggy monster. This discharge had the effect of making him jump into the air, and with a spring and a fearful growl he bounded forward with incredible speed, and would soon have had the valorous Mr. Babcock in a rib breaking hug. Mr. Sullivan, however, perceived the danger of his companion, came to his rescue with a lumberman's axe which was fortunately within his reach, stunned the animal, and before he could recover he received several more shots and blows from the axe. The gentlemen carry home the skin as a trophy of their adventure, but as one of them remarked, "The next time I see a bear which is not interfering with me, I will at least to mine and let him stand strictly to his own business unless I am up a tree and well armed. Bear hunting isn't in my line of business."—Montreal Witness.

The Swiss Good-Night.

Among the lofty mountains and elevated valleys of Switzerland the Alpine horn has another use besides that of sounding the far-famed "Ran des Vaches" or cow song; and this is of a very solemn and impressive nature. When the sun has set in the valley, and the snowy summits of the mountains gleam with a golden light, the herdsmen who dwell upon the highest inhabited spot, take his horn, and pronounce clearly and loudly through it, as through a speaking trumpet, "Faisle the Lord God!" As soon as the sound is heard by the neighbouring herdsmen they issue from their huts, take their Alpine horns and repeat the same words. This frequently lasts a quarter of an hour, and the roll resounds from all the mountains and rocky cliffs around. All the herdsmen kneel and pray with uncovered heads. Meantime it has become quite dark. "Good-night!" at last calls the highest herdman through his horn. "Good-night!" again resounds from all the mountains, the horns of the herdsmen, and the rocky cliffs. The mountaineers then retire to their dwellings and to rest.

Flower Missions.

In some of the cities in the States they have flower missions. The object of these missions is to collect flowers for the patients in the hospitals. There are numbers of people in our own city having gardens wherein a great many more flowers than they need themselves are constantly growing in the summer months. A few of these, if laid on the table of a patient at the hospital or any of the public charities or institutions, would bring joy to his heart and help to brighten his lot. Even a handful of lilies, with their fragrance telling of the birds and the fields and the trees, would be acceptable to some poor sufferer whose bones are aching or who is stretched on the bed of disease. The sick room could be made less dreary if those whose gardens are brimming over with flowers would give a few to the hospitals, as we are sure they would if a regular mission were established, the duty of whose members it would be to collect the flowers and distribute them at the various homes of sickness, sorrow and disease.—Toronto Evening Telegram.

Protection Against Organ-Grinding.

An ingenious Frenchman has lately imparted to the world his secret remedy for that plague of cities, the organ-grinder. When one of that accursed race appears before the window of those steps out into his balcony and listens with the liveliest satisfaction and delight while the miscreant grinds his programme through. Astonished at this unwonted appreciation he naturally expects a substantial recompense. But when this is signified a frown takes the place of the smile on monsieur's face, the balcony is deserted, the window shut. The baffled musician makes a note of that house and grind-eth elsewhere for the future. An ingenious remedy no doubt and in the long run effectual.—London World.

The Masonic Grip.

Sir Archibald Alison relates the following story:—"In the Crimean war, during the assault on the Redan, an English officer led a party of soldiers up to one of the guns placed in a recess of the Redan, and most of the men fell before the tremendous fire with which they were assailed. The others were attacked by a body of Russians, and the English officer was about to be bayoneted when he chanced to catch the hand of a Russian officer, and had possession of him enough to give him a Masonic grip. The Russian in a moment struck up the bayonet of the soldier, led his newly-found brother to the rear, and treated him with all the kindness of a Mason."

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1883.

It is asserted by Reform journals that the Crooks Act prohibits the supply of liquors by licensed hotel keepers to their lodgers on Sunday. We have shown that the Crooks Act (as amended) does allow this, and that such has been the interpretation acted upon for years by the authorities, by travellers and by license holders. The only possible way in which our argument can be strengthened is by the formal decision of a court in its favour, and this has been supplied by the Orillia Packet, a staunch temperance advocate, which says in reference to this contention:—

"If so, this clause is so ambiguous that an Orillia hotel-keeper had his conviction quashed on appeal, on the ground that the patron served with liquor during prohibited hours was a boarder. The liquor was served in the boarder's room."

The Markham Economist a Reform journal of good standing, has the following remarks:—
"The Peterborough Review, a staunch Conservative organ, says: 'We and other Conservative journals have repeatedly repudiated the language of the Mail. The Mail will very soon have to draw in its horns or become disorganized.'"

We can assure the Economist that whether the offender is a political friend or a political foe, we will continue to condemn the employment of gratuitous abuse on account of mere difference of opinion, the use of means whereby to assail political opponents that would be considered unfair and dishonourable in private life, or the breach of that wholesome rule which forbids personal attacks upon individual journalists, instead of criticism of the journal as an entity. We trust that in so doing we shall have the countenance and support of a respectable journal like the Markham Economist. Until such a stand is taken Canadian journalism cannot command the respect which it should enjoy, nor exert its proper influence.

PRESENTATION.

From the Teachers and Pupils of the Public Schools to the Retiring Principal.

As it became known in the Public Schools, and the High School also, that Mr. John Braden, Head Master of the Central School and Principal of the Public Schools in the town, was about to retire from the profession, the regret among the teachers and pupils was universal. Mr. Braden intends to enter business in the town, but such was the regard that was felt for him that he was not allowed to sever his connection with the schools without carrying with him a memento of the esteem in which he was held.

On Tuesday afternoon the teachers and pupils in the Central School, together with some friends, assembled in Mr. Braden's room and presented him with a beautiful and valuable silver tea set and address. Mr. J. Stratton went on the platform and invited the young ladies who were acting for the schools, and Mr. Braden, to come forward. Miss Emma Davidson read the address, and Miss Emma Deane made the presentation, which they did in behalf of the teachers and pupils of all the public schools in the town. The address was as follows:—

DEAR MR. BRADEN.—As your pupils, fellow teachers and friends, who are gathered here to-day, express the feelings not only of those present, but also of the large number who have during the last nine years passed under your care as scholars, been associated with you as fellow workers and supporters. Your recent action in resigning the Head Mastership of the Public Schools of this town has taken us by surprise, for we had hoped that the efforts to induce you to reconsider your intention would have prevailed, and that after the holidays we should see you again among us.

We learn with unfeigned regret, however, that it is to be otherwise and that to-day is the last in the continuance of those relations which have been fraught with so much pleasure and profit.

While we hope that you will forget our faults and only remember wherein we have tried to follow your precept and benefit by your teaching and practice, rest assured that your kindness towards us, the interest in our welfare and your diligent zeal for our good, shall ever be fresh in our memory.

As an earnest of this assurance we beg you for yourself and Mrs. Braden to accept of this tea service as a small token of our love, esteem and best wishes for your united prosperity. May a kind Providence overshadow you both and lead you and your family into still pastures and beside the still waters.

Signed on behalf of the teachers and pupils of the Public Schools of Peterborough, AGNES MICHES, EMMA DAVIDSON, MINNIE COX, EMMA DEANE.

Mr. BRADEN, in reply, thanked them for their magnificent and munificent gift. He had no idea that anything of this kind was going to take place, until a few hours ago, when he received a hint of it, and even then he had no idea of the cordiality of the present. His vocabulary did not contain words sufficiently strong for him to express his feelings. He would ever value the articles, not so much for their intrinsic worth, but because they came to him from the teachers and pupils. It was thirteen and a half years since he first came to Peterborough, and a great number of pupils had passed under his care during that time. He believed he was the oldest teacher in the school. He sincerely thanked them in behalf of Mrs. Braden and himself, and said he would ever cherish this token and remember them.

Mr. W. O'Connor, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, and Mr. Campbell briefly addressed those present, referring to Mr. Braden's success as a teacher.

Mr. STRATTON also spoke briefly, remarking that he had been Public School Inspector for eighteen years and that he had found Mr. Braden to be very successful in maintaining order, in teaching, and in forming the habits of the pupils. His retirement from the school would be regretted by the pupils and their parents. While he regretted that Mr. Braden was leaving the schools, he was glad that he would remain in town, and that they might not lose his good advice and certainly not his good will.

The pupils who had gathered in the room to take part in the presentation then retired.

SPRINGVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PISC.—The F. F. C. held their annual picnic at Lee's Point, Riox Lake, on Saturday last. They drove to Bendley, and spent a pleasant time boating, fishing, etc. Some very fine fish were caught.

FIRE.—The building formerly used as a cheese factory, at Scott's corner, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night. It was partially ignited on the Saturday previous, but the fire was extinguished through the exertions of the neighbours.

BUILDING.—Mr. Richard Dundas is building a new brick house. Mr. E. Sutton, of Peterborough, has the contract. On every hand there are signs of material progress and improvement.

THE CHURCH.—On high land the crops look well. Owing to heavy rains the low flat lands have not had a chance to dry properly since spring, and consequently there are considerably smaller crops than last year.

CHURCH CHURCH.—The New Methodist Church, at Bailliesboro, will be opened on Sunday, July 1st. Music and singing will be provided by the Fraserville choir.

CHURCH CHURCH.—Last Sunday the Rev. W. Bapatt being absent attending Synod, we missed the stirring ringing of the village Presbyterian bell. On the two preceding Sabbaths the pulpit was occupied by union ministers from the Methodist Conference.

ON TOWN AND QUEBEC R. R.—Fence building, grading, etc., is being pushed rapidly in this section. We are somewhat disappointed at not having the new station in the village. On account of the scarcity of water here it is to be built near the edge of the creek, close to Cavanville, thus dividing the stations more evenly.

RECEIVING.—Mr. Bapatt from Dakota and Messrs. McIndoe & Howden, from Pickering College, are expected here this week.

ROMAN ROSE.—John Wright has just finished his potato patch. The bags are not as numerous as they used to be.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LOCKS.—Mr. Alex. Ross, from Lindsay, foreman for Mr. Watson, of the Public Works, arrived here last Tuesday with the divers' dress, &c., to supervise the state of the lock gates. A lot of the iron had rusted and had given way. He got them all put into good working order, and left for Lindsay last Saturday. The Locks Bridge was also put in order and a good job done. Therefore there will be no hitch for the remainder of this season.

THE DRIVE.—The head winds have kept back the saw log drives considerably this last week. Messrs. Gilmore's drive of 12,000 logs passed through here last Saturday, and Mr. E. Wigg, foreman for Messrs. Ross & Co., of Quebec, passed through here last Monday with a drive of 8,000 logs. Mr. Wigg is making very good time. The foremen have an anxious time of it this season coming through here en route to Lakefield, the current is so very strong, owing to the unusually high water for this season, that the booms have broken and the logs scattered all over the lake.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.—We have had a great amount of rain of late, making the roads bad, but the crops do not appear to have suffered much to this locality, although you will find a few greenhouses across the farming community which have been installed into them from their youth. If they had the making of the weather no doubt things would be different.

CAMPING OUT.—Some campers have passed through here of late for the purpose of fishing, but have not remained long. The mosquitoes and black flies are much too affectionate as yet, and too much wet.

A DISASTER.—A young man full of whiskey, etc., drove from the hotel to the bridge with some man's horse and backboard at a very rapid pace on Tuesday morning early. Should this young man or any other person ever do the same thing it is before a magistrate they will have to appear for such cruel conduct. They must not think because it is at the Point they are they can do such things with impunity.

PORT MOPE.

BOILER EXPLOSION.—About twelve o'clock on Monday, the steam vulcanized rubber boiler in J. A. Brown & Sons' Dental establishment, Walton street, exploded making a fearful noise and scattering the debris all over the premises. Mr. Brown had a moment before been over the boiler and had passed into another room or he would undoubtedly have been killed, as fortune would have it so was hurt. When the explosion took place Mr. Brown remembered hearing the same noise the night before in his own residence in another part of the town, and was reminded of it after the accident occurred. He thinks it was a premonition of what was to happen.—Crack.

BELLVILLE.

STEALING MISTRESS MONEY.—The Intelligencer says that some miscreants entered the basement of St. Andrew's Church by a broken window, during last week, and forced open the door of a small cupboard in the library and abstracted therefrom the mission collection boxes and breaking the locks of these, took what money they contained. This is the third time an act of this kind has been perpetrated in this church and no trace of the miscreants has been found. It is evident that it is the work of some one who is acquainted with the premises.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterboro, two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-surgon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of Diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spille, Harpworth, P. O., near here, Consumption; E. J. Milnes, Lindsay; Editha; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli O'Leary, Agincourt, Ont., Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Deafness; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church St. Toronto; or 19 Phillips Square, Montreal.

MR. WM. HAYES, Station Master, C. V. R., Shaddon, was cured of Dyspepsia by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of other way men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

Why Ashamed?

We notice that the laughable programme for Dominion Day has no "imprint" on it, though we do not see why any printing office should be ashamed of affixing its name to a production which is very amusing in itself, and is creditable from a typographical point of view. No one could object to it unless very thin skinned.

Smith's Market.

Strawberries every morning. Parties and festivals supplied at a moment's notice. Berries picked on dry days for preserving; all orders will receive prompt and careful attention.

Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, etc.
Fresh Fish. Parties will confer a great favor by leaving their orders on Thursday evenings, as we find it utterly impossible to get over so large a tract of ground late Friday morning in time for dinner.

Coal Inspection.

Mr. G. Christie, Government Inspector of Gaois, who visited the Peterborough County gaol on June 1st, has sent a copy of his report to the officials here. He says that on that date he found 12 prisoners in the gaol, 10 males and 2 females. Of the former one was committed charged with murder, five as vagrants and four for drunkenness. The females were kept in a satisfactory condition, and showed due care in carrying out the instructions and regulations.
He noted a large increase in the number of commitments as compared with last year, and remarked that it was due to the large number of men brought into this vicinity to work on the construction of the railways and public works in the county. He noted, also, that females were sometimes committed to the gaol in order to find them a place during sickness and that no nurse was provided. The matron could not care them properly and attend to her duties, and he thought that the least the municipality could do would be to provide a nurse.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNKENNESS.

WEDNESDAY, June 27.—Daniel Sullivan was charged with having been drunk, and pleaded guilty. He was fined $2 or ten days in days in gaol, and when he could not persuade the court to accept $1 he paid the two.
John Wilson was charged with having been drunk and with indecent conduct, and he was fined $2 or ten days in gaol.

The Weather.

Rain fell more or less heavily during all day.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day by the Great North-western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Light to moderate variable winds; generally fair, warm weather. Fine and warm to-morrow.

Personal.

Mr. F. E. Burnham, formerly of Peterborough, who has been a candidate to represent Emerson in the Manitoba Legislature, having been elected and unseated by the Election Court, has not been successful in the present contest, having been defeated by Mr. Douglas of the International, the Conservative candidate.

Dominion Day.

The programme for the pantomimic procession on Dominion Day is out. If the programme is any criterion of what the procession will be, the windows had better be guarded, lest the explosion of laughter may shatter them. It is intended to be a "colossal caricature of creation's crafty creatures," and the third item in the programme is as follows:—

"The celebrated G. T. Band (Grand Tin, not from Bradford), will make their first, and it will be sincerely hoped by those who hear them, only appearance in public on this auspicious occasion. They will be under the leadership of Professor Dick Fieldner, late of On-Trent. The instruments used were specially imported from the world renowned manufacturer of Paris, France, M. Madero, and were paid for by promenade concerts over the river, and also over the left."

The management of the celebration is in good hands, and there is every promise of success.

Pencil Points.

—Two prisoners in the cells last night.
—Two drunks in the Police Court this morning.

—Considerable rain fell last night and the weather is cloudy to-day.

—The band did not give their open air concert last night, on account of the unfavourable weather.

—The Peterborough Cricket Club will play a match at Campbellford with the club of that village on July 2nd.

—It is said that vacant lots and pasture fields have increased in value since the Cow By-law came into force.

—One of the prisoners confined in the cells last night used his lungs vigorously and kicked the door of his cell furiously throughout the night.

—There are a few men in Peterborough who can look at the Dominion Day programme without smiling. They are those who cannot read English.

—It was once remarked of a British statesman—the Marquis of Londonderry, we believe —that he had a "mint in his mind." Who was the Castlereagh on the Dominion Day celebration committee who coined so many words?
His head must have been large to contain the moulds.

—The Port Hope amateurs who intended to present "Writing on the Wall" to a Peterborough audience to-morrow night, have postponed the date of their coming until the play season opens again in the fall, when they expect to pay Peterborough a visit. They are preparing several good plays for the coming season.

Decorations Day.

In reference to the intention of the Oddfellows of both the Lodges in Peterborough, to decorate on Friday the graves of their departed brethren, a few particulars as to these deceased members will be of interest. Of the old Ononabee Lodge, which was established in 1846, and has now been so satisfactorily revived, the following members have gone to their rest, and the remains of most of them, with a few exceptions only, have been buried in the Little Lake Cemtery:—

Judge O. B. Hall, M. P., First N. O.,	Charles Perry, M. P.,
John Ollivier, M. P.,	Rev. R. J. C. Taylor, Rector of Peterboro'
Sheriff Conner, M. P.,	Sheriff James Hall, M. P.,
Col. Alex. McDowell, M. P.,	Frederick Ferguson, M. P.,
W. H. Wrighton, Clerk of the Peace,	Dr. John McLaughlin, Chas. Forrest, Barrister
James Foley, M. P.,	James Scott, Barrister,
Wm. Murray, Barrister,	Dr. James Bird,
Alfred Rudge, Barrister,	Dr. John Ross,
Wm. Bradfield,	James Harvey,
David Taylor,	J. H. Coulter,
James Ferguson,	Robert Thompson,
Daniel Griffith, Clerk of Division Court,	Capt. A. S. Fraser,
Augustus Savers,	James Taverly,
Walter Sheridan, County Treasurer,	Samuel W. Albro,
John Reid, P. L. S.,	Wm. Henry Vizard, Bar- rister,
Col. Samuel Strickland,	And others.
Frederick Haycock,

Of Peterborough Lodge, the following deceased members are buried in the same cemetery:—
W. H. Scott, M. P., P. O., Samuel White, P. O., David Christie, P. O., Walter Beal,
Alex. Baple, F. W. Rubidge,
W. A. Allen, Jas. Martin,

The revived Ononabee Lodge has not so far had to regret the loss of a member. We may add that as the graves of some of the deceased members of the old Ononabee Lodge had (in common with too many others) been neglected, the Lodge has now undertaken to have them sodded and dressed. It will be observed that the list of departed Oddfellows contain the names of men who in their lifetime did good public service and were highly esteemed. Not only their brethren, but the whole community should, therefore, be glad of this opportunity of paying another mark of respect to the departed.

Railway Note.

The Belleville Ontario says that about three miles from Cookstown on Saturday evening, two cows on the track were killed by a passing train and three others badly injured.

Lads to-morrow.

To-morrow afternoon a match will be played on the Ashburnham grounds, between the Peterborough and Uxbridge Lacrosse Clubs, for the championship of Central Ontario. A closely contested and interesting game is expected. The Peterborough club will be represented by the following team, captained by Mr.
W. A. Sanderson:—

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.
Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Beating our Best Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not climb over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble,
money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a degree of sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what will then and where to get it. It is only eight years since
T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at
T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncon-mon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT and
TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE
HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & Co.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvements have been the rule in all the departments. The pleasure to the taste, and is the prescription of one of

WE HARP ON THIS:—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day

In Full Blast Once More

As my store of late has been undergoing repairs, in order to allow me more room to display a BETTER VARIETY of Goods, it is now complete in every department. It will be to the interest of any intending purchaser to call and inspect my Stock and Prices, as you will immediately be convinced that I am bound to sell goods

CHEAPER THAN ANY HOUSE IN PETERBOROUGH.

As my expenses are many hundred dollars lighter than any house in the trade, it is reasonable to think that I can sell CHEAPER GOODS. If any lady wishes to be convinced of this fact, let her call and examine the quality of my Supper and Address.

The Brighton Ensign contains an account of a pleasant incident which occurred in the village of Norham, on the occasion of Mr. T. Giroux's departure for Peterborough. A number of friends gathered at Mr. Giroux's hotel, where a supper was provided, and the evening was spent in addresses and songs. The following address was presented to Mr. Giroux by his friends:—

To Timothy Giroux, Esq.:

DEAR SIR.—As you have been a resident of this village for the past twenty years, and as you are about to leave, we, your neighbours and friends, cannot let this opportunity pass without saying that we are sorry that you have come to the conclusion to depart from our locality. Though many of us do not endorse the actions of those who love the inebriate's cup, nor the practice of many of those who keep houses of public entertainment, yet since for the good of the country and for the advantage of the travelling public such places must be open for use, therefore we require men of proper habits to keep such places of entertainment. In you and your estimable lady we have just the persons suited for such business in this place.

We have ever found your house a comfortable home, at all times when visited by us, and have always heard of hospitality was extended to them on all occasions. Your strict observance of the Sabbath we must say has done much to raise you in our estimation, and we hope this will not be forgotten by you when in your new place of abode, so that at last if we never meet again we may all meet in the better world above.

We can assure you that you carry with you our best wishes for your future prosperity, and also that of your companion and family, and in the moments of reflection we hope you will look back on the last twenty years with their ups and downs, as a green spot in your memory. Now, we bid you a good-bye, wishing you and yours all the comfort and happiness this world can give, and at last a home in glory.

Mr. Giroux is at present the proprietor of the fine Albion Hotel in Ashburnham, where he is becoming as popular as he was in Norham, where he resided so many years.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, June 28.—Mr. James Stevenson, J.P., occupied the bench this morning.

THEFT.

Wm. Adams, a small boy, was charged by Mr. McWhinnie with stealing two articles, valued at about $2.50, out of his house. The boy was remanded until Friday morning.

St. Paul's Church.

At a meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, the plans submitted for the alterations and improvements to that building at an estimated cost of $30,000, were adopted. The contract for the work has not been awarded.

Calcutta's Line of Steamers.

These steamers were thoroughly inspected yesterday, by Mr. Adams, Boiler Inspector, and Mr. Taylor, Inspector of hulls. They both passed first-class for passenger boats, and the Golden Eye was credited with being one of the best steamers they had inspected this season.

Steamer Golden Eye.

will make an excursion to the Regatta, Little Lake, on Dominion morning, and will also run to Hales' Bridge in the afternoon, when Professor Reynolds' quadrille band, will be on board for dancing. She will leave the Peterborough wharf at 3 o'clock p.m., and return at 7 p.m. Tickets 25cts. For the Regatta 15cts. d150

Strawberry Festival.

The strawberry festival season will be opened by the Young People's Association of St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) Church giving one of these pleasant entertainments at the residence of Mr. Geo. Edmondson, Rubidge street, on the evening of Thursday, July 5th. A good programme of vocal and instrumental music will be provided, and care will be taken to make the festival one that will be remembered throughout the season. Admission 15 cents, refreshments extra. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

The Schools.

The examinations for entrance into the Collegiate Institute are in progress at that building. There are about fifty-five candidates. Mr. James Stratton, Inspector of the public schools of the town, and Mr. W. O'Connor, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, are the examiners. Mr. J. Braden's room in the Central School closed for its summer vacation on Tuesday evening, as Mr. Braden is conducting the promotion examinations in the Public Schools. The other public schools and the Collegiate Institute will close for the summer holidays on Friday night. The Intermediate and Second Class examinations will commence on Tuesday next, and will be under the charge of Mr. J. O'Leary Brown, County Inspector of Public Schools.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1883.

THE Nova Scotia Methodist Conference has pronounced in favor of union, but with the narrow majority of three. This makes three Conferences for union on the proposed basis namely Montreal, Toronto and Nova Scotia, to one Conference against it, namely, London, Ontario. There are two conferences of the Methodist Church of Canada still to pronounce. New Brunswick (including Prince Edward Island) and Newfoundland.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

THERE seems every probability of the Ontario Boundary question coming before the Privy Council ere long. In the case of the Queen against Washington for alleged murder committed at Port Arthur, perhaps better known under its old name of Prince Arthur's Landing, the counsel for the prisoner have raised the question of jurisdiction. Unfortunately, however, owing to Mr. Mowat's obstinacy in refusing to submit the whole question to the highest court in the realm, the Privy Council, will be very likely merely to decide the status of the exact locality of the crime, and thus it would require an infinity of such decisions to cover the whole territory in dispute.

THE OLD SECTIONAL CRY.

The Montreal Gazette having recently made some remarks on the Provincial Rights question in relation to railways in Ontario, the Globe says:—

"If we choose for good and sufficient reasons to allow two local roads to amalgamate that is our own business, and the interference of outsiders is impertinent and insulting. Has the editor of the Gazette any right to interfere with his neighbor's methods of managing his business so long as the neighbor does not render himself amenable to the law?"

We do not know, or care, who is the editor of the Gazette, but we do know that the responsible publisher is an old resident of Peterborough and still holds property here, so that he is in no respect an "outsider" whose interference would be impertinent and insulting. But even if he were not an Ontario property holder, we cannot admit the doctrine, that it would be impertinent for him or any other citizen of this Dominion, to express his opinion of any matter affecting the welfare of a province and therefore of Canada as a whole. The Globe frequently advises Quebec as to its finances and its choice of an administration, and has a perfect right to do so, if it would only keep to the truth. Both in objecting to Quebec criticism, and in criticising Quebec the Globe has one guiding motive, the evil desire to set province against province and promote sectionalism instead of union.

THE STREAMS BILL.

The Globe says:—

"Some of our contemporaries are in the habit of stating that the Ontario Streams Bill is involved in the appeal made by Mr. Caldwell to the Privy Council against the decision of the Dominion Supreme Court, in his suit with Mr. McLaren. This is a mistake."

The Globe goes on to show, correctly enough, that the Streams Bill was intended to supersede a statute of the old Province of Canada, but has never been allowed to become law, and so could not be brought before the court. It is evident that the Globe misses the point of the contention of Conservative journals. The Streams Bill fortunately is an absolute nullity, and there is neither ground nor necessity for any court to pronounce upon it. But it must be remembered that the Streams Bill, though intended to supersede the old statute of Canada, contains the false assertion that the law has always been that the Streams Bill would make it. Not only the Supreme Court, but an overwhelming majority of the judges, have pronounced that our law is not, and has not been, what the Streams Bill says it is and was. If the Privy Council were to decide that the judges were wrong in this view of the law, we would feel that they would also indirectly pronounce against the reasons for the disallowance of the Streams Bill, namely, that it proposes to alter the law so as to interfere with pending litigation in our courts, and to expropriate private property without full compensation.

CANADIAN JOURNALISM.

We quote from the Toronto Telegram the following remarks, with the general purport of which we heartily agree:—

"There is a strong tendency on the part of some Canadian journals to follow the custom unfortunately so common among journals on the other side of the border, of pouring abuse upon each other. Instead of arguing on the question at issue in a judicious spirit with calmness and moderation, they abuse each other in set terms, calling names that would sound much more natural from the lips of the fabulists of Billingsgate than from those who profess to lead the minds of the people. It is very rarely indeed that English journals are found abusing each other. They agree to disagree, and instead of calling names they quote authorities and put forward argument. We are persuaded that this is much the better plan. Journalists cannot reasonably expect the community to respect them when they do not respect themselves. The most discomforting feature of the case is that the two worst offenders are the two organs which set themselves up as being the leading journals of the Dominion. Their conduct in this respect is rather a warning to be guided by than an example to follow.

We would suggest, however, that in respect to the two leading political journals in Toronto themselves, and also in respect to the course of other journals in regard to them, there is a wide difference, which cannot with fairness be ignored. Though we admit, and regret, that the Mail sometimes uses language which seems to us unnecessarily strong for the occasion, and occasionally attacks an opponent as to matters below the dignity of any but a little village paper to call in question, these are very venial offences as compared with the system continuously pursued by the Globe of slandering the leading men of Canada, and of insulting not only them, but the majority of the people of the Dominion, simply because of political differences without the slightest regard to honesty or truth, its pet scandals being so absurd and so baseless that not a leader of its party cares to support them in Parliament.

Then as to the treatment of these two journals by the other members of the press, Conservative journals have not hesitated to repudiate the utterances of the Mail when they thought it was wrong. The independent journals have rather freely criticised both Mail and Globe. But we never see a journal that is a regular supporter of the Reform party uttering one word of protest against the far worse offences of the Globe. The only exception we remember was that after the general elections of 1878. Some Reform organs, anxious to find an excuse for their crushing defeat, began after the event to blame the Globe for its too strenuous advocacy of free trade, but they have since fallen into line again and do not utter a dissentient word. As an example of this difference we may take the last two great party conventions at Toronto. The Globe grossly insulted and slandered the Conservative delegates, but there was not a word of protest from any of the Reform press. The Mail used language as to the subsequent Reform convention which we thought highly objectionable, though not nearly so strong or so insulting as that which had been used by the Globe, and at once many Conservative papers, ourselves among them, expressed their disapprobation. We might give other instances, but this is enough to illustrate our meaning. Conservatives are willing to grant fair play to opponents and even to condemn their own organs if they offend, while it seems, unfortunately, as though Reformers as a body thought any treatment good enough for an opponent. The more unscrupulous Reform papers echo the abuse and slander of the leading organs, and even those that have too much self respect to do so, utter no protest, while the party as a body gives its tacit consent to such a system of political warfare by its silence.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The council met at Centreville on June 19, at the call of the Reeve. Present—The Reeve, Wm. Rutherford, Esq., and Councillors Lightfoot, Riddell, Byers, and Perrin. Communications were read from E. B. Edwards, Esq., giving legal opinion as to the proper steps to be taken to close the road between lots 18 and 19 in the 4th concession, and open up a road across lot 19 to lot 20. In the matter of opening a drain at Fraserville, petitioned for by William Rogers, the committee reported unfavorably. The committee appointed to inspect the roads and bridges of the township reported in favour of granting $70 for graveling opposite lots 5 and 6 on the first concession; $100 for graveling opposite lots 5 and 6 in the second concession; $50 for graveling on 4th concession between Wallace Point bridge and Squirrel bridge; to grade with clay taken from Clark's hill 250 yards of the 3rd concession opposite lots 1 and 2; to grade with clay taken from Bonar's hill the full length of Squirrel bridge, one foot deep and nine feet wide; to grade with clay from Haggid's hill 110 yards opposite lot 8, 2 yards of clay to each rod; also to gravel 60 yards at the rate of 2 yards to each rod opposite lot 8 in the fourth concession; to build a new culvert (18 foot span) opposite lot 10, 4th concession; to build a new culvert, (18 foot span) opposite Truscott's gate, and the putting in of new sleepers and rails; to build a culvert opposite Tippet's gate, both on the 3rd concession; also to gravel, at the rate of two yards of gravel to the rod, from the most eastern culvert to the eastern termination of the swamp, opposite lots one and two, 3rd concession. The Reeve and Mr. Lightfoot were appointed to inspect the claying of the 4th concession. The Reeve and Mr. Riddell were appointed to inspect all the work done on the 3rd concession, the building of the culvert opposite lot 10, and the grading and graveling opposite lot 8, 4th concession. Messrs. Perrin and Byers to inspect all work done on lot 2 and 3rd concession. The following accounts were passed, and orders drawn on the Treasurer for the amount:—A. Reynolds, half price for building culvert on west boundary, $0.50; John Arnott, for care of John Moyes while sick, $2.00; W. Rutherford, for coffin and other supplies, to the late Wm. Bonar, an indigent, $11.50. W. Rutherford, Esq., Reeve, paid to the Treasurer $25, refunded by County Council, of the money advanced by this Municipality, for certificates of insanity, &c., in the case of Robt. Montgomery. Council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Calver House, Peterboro two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-ade surgeon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spilke, Harrowsmith P. O., near here, Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont., Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Deafness; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church Street Toronto or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

New Books and New Editions.

Daily the desire of those who cannot read, and what is more, have no desire to read, is becoming less; indeed in a short time the man or woman who can neither read or write will become as rare an object in our rural districts as was the man or woman who could read and write in these same places fifty years ago, and, that being so, it becomes of the utmost importance that the popular reading of the people shall not be "Penny horribles," or histories of the doings of "Five-fingered Jacks." The demand for something to read should be met by a supply of the best and most healthy works we have, and until the time arrives when modern writers will see that the surest and quickest way to fame and fortune is by publishing their works at a low price, enterprising publishers may find abundant material ready made to their hands in the most approved works of our old writers. We are glad to know that it is not only in what is popularly known as our light literature that great and important advances have been made towards meeting the growing and improved taste for something better. When we find high class works multiplying in number and finding their way into the homes of the industrial classes, as they do for instance, in the case of the man or woman who could read and write in these same places fifty years ago, and, that being so, it becomes of the utmost importance that the popular reading of the people shall not be "Penny horribles," or histories of the doings of "Five-fingered Jacks." We are glad to know that it is not only in what is popularly known as our light literature that great and important advances have been made towards meeting the growing and improved taste for something better. When we find high class works multiplying in number and finding their way into the homes of the industrial classes, as they do for instance, in the case of the man or woman who could read and write in these same places fifty years ago, and, that being so, it becomes of the utmost importance that the popular reading of the people shall not be "Penny horribles," or histories of the doings of "Five-fingered Jacks." The demand for something to read should be met by a supply of the best and most healthy works we have, and until the time arrives when modern writers will see that the surest and quickest way to fame and fortune is by publishing their works at a low price, enterprising publishers may find abundant material ready made to their hands in the most approved works of our old writers. A Palatial Convent.

The convent of Villa Marie, at Monklands, the interior of which is rapidly approaching completion will, it is said, be one of the finest buildings of the kind in the North American continent. The total cost will be about $1,000,000.

A Strange Proceeding.

Major Hiram Mills, of Montreal, during his life, built a wing to the Western Hospital, and by his will gave $30,000 to the General Hospital, $46,000 to McGill College, and $20,000 to the Anglican Bishop, but he left his widow destitute. McGill College has given the widow $300 a year, and the Montreal Synod $150.

The Montreal Land League.

The Montreal branch of the Irish League has issued a manifesto which is much enlarged in that city for its moderation and good sense. It maintains that freedom and liberty exists in a larger measure here than in any other land, and that the League seeks to do is to assist their brethren in Ireland in getting similar rights by constitutional means. The new League has no connection with the one established in the United States, being a Canadian organization exclusively.

Cyclone Curiousities.

A cyclone curiosity was found in the woods south of Bevier, Mo. Leaning against a tree, with its pipe stuck in the ground, was found a large blacksmith's bellows in good condition. No one has missed it, and no one knows from where or how far it has come. Near another house that was not hurt was deposited a box of queensware. About one-half of them were whole and one-half broken. No one can tell where they came from.

Fatal Termination to Youthful Rashness.

Eleven cars of excursionists from Stratford passed through London on Tuesday on the way to Fort Stanley. As the train bearing the party approached the Richmond street depot a boy was observed hanging to one of the coaches in a dangerous position. He was helped on to the train and rode to the depot, where he was advised to get home. It would appear, however, that instead of doing so he got on the 6.35 train going south, as his lifeless body was found near the Port Stanley bridge about seven o'clock. His skull was crushed. His mother is a widow. He was about 7 years old.

Smothered His Own Cattle.

Mr. Xavier Letourneau, of St. Pierre, River du Sud, Que., met with a heavy loss a few days ago. He had thirty-nine fat oxen, which he found difficult to keep closed up in the field. He accordingly placed them in a barn for the night, with the doors so tightly closed as to be for the purposes of ventilation, all but hermetically sealed. The heat of the animals was so great that the air quickly became suffocating and they were gradually choked to death. In the morning it was necessary to force an entrance, so many of the carcasses being wedged against the door. Of the whole lot only five were taken out alive, and those have all died since.

Presenting Flags and Badges.

Gananoque ladies take a great interest in mainly sport, and so pleased have they been with the Gananoque Lacrosse Club that they presented it with a pair of flags and sixteen badges. The flags are of blue, with two crosses and the initials "G. L. C." worked in white floss silk. The badges are of white twilled silk with the initials of the Club worked in blue floss silk. The Kingston team now know why the Gananoque boys struggled so vigorously to win the match on Saturday. They were hoping to win the smiles of their fair admirers and to protect the flags worked by the fingers of lovers. The example of the Gananoque ladies is worthy of imitation. —Kingston Whig.

A Strangely Marked Egg.

While the little daughter of Wm. Carr, who lives about three miles from Moscow, Addison county, was gathering eggs at the barn she found one that had the following in raised letters on the shell, which were very plain and distinct:—

1883.—The last year.

Under the word year was a scroll or dash, and under that a raised cross, on which could be seen the form of a man hanging; and on the opposite side of the egg was a spot that looked like a sun or moon. Considerable excitement is caused by it, many people believing it to be a warning of the consummation of the world. This is no hoax, as your correspondent has examined the egg carefully. —Globe.

Not Alleged.

"I have made it a rule through life," he said at the lunch table the other day to the man who sat at his left, "never to meddle with another man's business."

"That's right—perfectly right," was the reply.

"But I see you have a new confidential clerk."

"Yes, sir—yes."

"He's a hard-looking case. I've seen him drunk a dozen times, and I wouldn't trust him out of my sight with a nickel. Took him in out of charity, eh?"

"Well, not altogether, you know. He happens to be my eldest son."

Then there was a period of silence so painful that both wished some one would yell "Fire!" to break it. —Wall Street News.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain forms of Bronchitis, and curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well-known to the public at large. No remedy can equal it as a safe and thoroughly reliable Cough Medicine. Sold by all chemists, Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Dry Earth as a Disinfectant.

Dirt is so cheap that hardly any one appreciates its worth, at least as far as its value as a disinfectant. Dry earth is one of the most excellent of all disinfectants, and possesses another advantage in that it can always be obtained in any quantity without money and without price. Its very cheapness perhaps is the reason why it is so little esteemed and employed. The character of the earth used is, however, not a matter of no consequence. Coarse sand and moist earth are valueless. To be effective the earth must be fine and dry. Dry, powdered clay is perhaps best of all. Dust from the road is excellent. Dry coal ashes are also very excellent. By the free use of dry earth, privies, stables and similar sources of foul gases and disease-producing germs may be kept in a perfectly wholesome condition. The application of the earth once a week, once a month, or two or three times in the course of the summer, is not, however, sufficient. To be effective, it should be applied daily, and when the matter to be disinfected is large in quantity, several times a day.

A good supply of fine, dry earth should be kept constantly on hand, conveniently near to the place where it is to be used. When so good a disinfectant is so near, no one can have any excuse for tolerating a bad smell upon his premises. —Good Health.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1883.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

MRS. S. L. MOORE.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1883.

The Weather.

The weather to-day continues rather cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds; clearing, warm weather.

To-Day's Lacrosse Match.

A lacrosse match is being played on the Ashburnham Grounds this afternoon, between the Peterborough and Uxbridge clubs, for the championship of Central Ontario. The team which represents the Uxbridge Club arrived on the 8.20 train and put up at Crevier's Hotel. They have the appearance of good athletes.

The Otonabee.

The river Otonabee is very high for this season of the year, and shows no signs of lowering. The heavy and constant rains of the last few days has had a tendency to keep the water well up, and in consequence the drives are making excellent headway. At the present time, there is a large drive of saw logs going down, and there are other drives on the way.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending June 23rd, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $7,553.25; freight, $18,549.53; total, $26,102.78, as compared with $25,788.22 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $314.56; and the aggregate traffic to date is $470,617.09, being an increase of $19,143.73 over 1882.

Smith's Market.

Strawberries every morning. Parties and festivals supplied at a moment's notice. Berries picked on dry days for preserving; all orders will receive prompt and careful attention. Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, etc.

Fresh Fish. Parties will confer a great favor by leaving their orders on Thursday evenings, as we find it utterly impossible to get over so large a tract of ground late Friday morning in time for dinner.

Military College.

In the report of the closing of the term at the Military College, Kingston, the name of Sergeant-Major H. B. Weller, of Millbrook, son of Mr. C. A. Weller, of Peterborough, figures prominently. In the general result of the examination Mr. Weller stands fourth in the first class, he carried off the prizes in theory and construction of artillery, physics, and civil engineering, and in drawing, of the first class most deserving of mention his name appears. Mr. Weller was offered a commission in the regular army in the Royal Artillery, cavalry, or infantry, but declined it. Mr. M. Von Hugel, of Port Hope, and Mr. Van Straubensie also appeared to advantage at the closing exercises and examinations.

DOMINION DAY.

How it is to be Celebrated in Peterborough—An Extensive Programme.

The committee of management for the celebration of our national holiday in the town of Peterborough have made arrangements for a very extensive and attractive celebration. The programme of events is one that will doubtless attract large numbers to the town and please them well when they are here.

REGATTA ON THE LAKE.

The celebration will commence at 9 o'clock in the forenoon with a regatta on the Little Lake. The regatta will include a canoe race, a single scull race, a double scull race and a four oared race, and for each of the races good first and second prizes will be offered. The prizes are such as will cause our best oarsmen and paddlers to enter the competitions. The steamers Golden Eye and King Fisher have been engaged to carry the spectators around the course during the races, so that they can be viewed to advantage. The fare will be 15c. The Brigade Band will be present at the regatta.

THE TREMENDOUS PROCESSION.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, sharply on time, the "terrible paradoxical pantomimic paraphernalia" procession will emerge from the agricultural grounds and meander through the principal streets of the town. This procession will be at once stately, magnificent and laughable, containing all the features of a procession that can please and amuse the people. It will include the Fire Brigade Band, with its excellent music, a calcade of twenty four richly dressed horsemen, a whole tribe of Indians, a band, grand tin band—organized for the occasion, a representation of the Provinces of the Dominion, and a large number of other representations, the greater part of them very amusing, and it will be made up of at least thirty wagons. No efforts or expense are being spared to make it a great success, and it will, without doubt, be the finest physical procession ever seen in Peterborough.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Immediately after the procession has wound its way through the principal streets, and been viewed by the assembled multitude, the athletic sports will take place in the agricultural grounds. These will include an Indian race on horseback, a girl's race, bicycle race, 100 yards race, quarter mile race, three mile race, 300 yards hurdle race, standing high jump, running long jump, three legged race, standing high jump, vaulting with a pole and a tug of war. Prizes will be offered for the best looking physical costume and the most comical one. The prizes to be offered in these competitions are valued at $1,000, and the Fire Brigade Band will be on the grounds during the afternoon.

PROMENADE CONCERT.

At 7.30 o'clock in the evening a promenade concert will be held in the drill shed, the Fire Brigade Band furnishing the music. The shed will be floored for the occasion, in order that the promenading may be of the most pleasant character. During the concert a number of acrobatic feats will be performed by the best amateur athletes in the country.

FIREWORKS AND TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION.

After the concert there will be a grand display of fireworks in the Agricultural Grounds. These fireworks have been procured from the celebrated house of Prof. Palmer, of Rochester, one of the best pyrotechnists in America, which is a sufficient guarantee that they will be a beautiful display, and it will be one of the best features of the day's programme. This will be followed by a magnificent torchlight procession, and it is expected that a ball will wind up the day's proceedings.

LACROSSE MATCH.

A grand Lacrosse match will take place in the afternoon, on the Ashburnham Cricket Grounds, between the Victoria, of Toronto, and the Peterborough Club. The ball will be faced at 3 o'clock. The Victoria send a strong team into the field, and the playing of the Peterborough team is well known, so that a closely contested and very interesting match may be looked for. Seats capable of accommodating 1,000 persons have been erected on the grounds, and the match will be one of the events of the day.

On View.

The Dominion Day Regatta prizes may be seen at China Hall, W. A. Sanderson's and R. W. Muncester's.

"We are Coming, Gentle July!"

Fifty costumes for Knights, Courtiers, etc., were received on Wednesday from Toronto, and have already been fitted. The cavalcade will be one of the grandest features ever witnessed in the Province.

Domination Day.

The Executive Committee have made arrangements with the Midland Railway Company and the proprietors of the northern lines of steamers, to issue tickets, good for two days, from all points for Peterborough.

Fell in the Creek.

A little boy named Laplante, son of Mr. T. Laplante, had a narrow escape from being drowned in the creek on Wednesday. He fell into the water near the dam at Mr. Patterson's tannery, and his cries brought assistance. Mr. S. Norton came to the rescue and saved him from the impending danger.

Pencil Points.

—The weather is still cloudy.
—Five flocks of geese and one stray cow were driven into pound yesterday.
—Mr. P. Macnamara, of Peterborough, has the job of the Westwood town hall.
—One tramp rested in the police cells last night. A prisoner arrested on a warrant was taken to the goal.
—The cow by-law is preserving the neat appearance of the streets, but it is death to the grass on the Mud Lake and Lakeside roads.
—Among the names registered at the London office of the Canadian Government, during the week ending June 14th, was that of Mr. R. Maxwell Dennistoun, of Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. Buchanan, city editor of the Hamilton Times, called upon us to-day.

Plane Tuning.

Mr. George I. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Risch, Toronto, is in town, and will attend to any orders left at T. Menzies' book-store or Taylor & McDonald's drug store.

Mr. THOMAS GINN, Carpenter, St. Thomas, says:—"My wife has long been troubled with Constipation; she has used a great many so-called cures, but without doing her any lasting good. Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters cured her, and she thinks it the best medicine ever made." For sale by all Druggists everywhere, in large bottles at 50 cents.

Old things made new by Triangle Package Dyes. Take only the three colored package, thirty (30) colors, all guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

USE YOUR EYES!

Prices not Promises!
Beating our Best-Record!

Water runs down hill, anyway. It does not think over obstacles. So trade flows. It flows whither the way is open to the best things for the least trouble, money and risk.

The flow of trade represents the average choice of people; and people choose with a decent sagacity on the average, and in the long run know what suits them and where to get it. It is only eight years since T. DOLAN & Co. posted into business. Look at T. DOLAN & Co. now—that is place and trade. Such growth is uncommon, it must be due to an uncommon cause. That cause is probably the RIGHT AND TITLE TO SATISFACTION WHICH EVERYONE HAS IN DEALING WITH T. DOLAN & Co.

Steady trade, steady growth and steady improvement has been the rule in all the departments. The hundreds of people who deal with us in our store are our best buyers in other departments. And our prices are no less honest than our goods—either are beyond cavil.

WE HARP ON THIS:—

The greatest stock from which to choose. A system of business methods founded on clear day light. A policy that keeps the customers always in view and gives the best for the least. These are the points. People see them, believe them and prove them, further by buying. Do you want Dry Goods, Clothing and Furnishings. Deal with us and consult personal interests.

T. DOLAN & Co.

Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Clothing and General Dry Goods.

DESIRABLE PROPERTIES FOR SALE.

$11500 WILL BUY the vacant Lot, 11x100 feet to a lane, on the corner of Hunter and Water Streets, Peterborough. Piano Tuning.

Mr. George I. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Rich, Toronto, is in town, and will attend to any orders left at T. Menzies' bookstore or Taylor & McDonald's Drug store.

Cheese Shipment.

Two cases of cheese, consisting of 800 boxes, were shipped at the Midland station to-day by Messrs. Dundas and Flavell Bros. The cheese was shipped to London, Eng. The price paid for it was 9 11-6 and 7 1/2 cents per pound, aggregating $4,500.

French Crystal Photographs.

Mr. H. E. Caswell is staying at the Oriental Hotel for a short time, coloring photographs in what is known as the French crystal style, which is very effective. Mr. Caswell has a number of specimens on exhibition at Davis bookstore, where orders can be left.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is warm and partly cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Light to moderate, variable winds; fine, warm weather.

Come Again To-night.

This morning about two o'clock, some person or persons tried to force an entrance into the house of a citizen on Water street. Going to the back door and finding it locked they next tried the windows, but they also were fastened. After this they again made an effort to open the door, but on being alarmed by the inmates they made a hasty retreat. If those burglars, tramps, or whoever they may be, will be good enough to call at the same house to-night, a couple of young men will meet them and convince them of the fact that there is something warm besides the weather at present.

POLICE COURT.

THEFT.

FRIDAY, June 29.—Wm. Adams, a small boy, was up on remand, charged with stealing an idle pencil and a silver pepper box from the house of Mr. McWhinnie. He pleaded guilty. The pencil had been returned, but the boy said he had hidden the pepper box and could not find it. This was his second appearance in the Court for stealing. Sentence was deferred, and he was allowed to go to appear for sentence when called for.

The Calum House.

The Christian Guardian of June 27th says:—"During the recent Conference in Peterborough the editor of this paper and Rev. John Bredin were the guests of Mr. T. G. Choate, of the Calum House. Several other ministers stayed there also. We have much pleasure in acknowledging the very courteous attentions of Mr. Choate during our stay. This hotel is orderly and well kept, the rooms clean and pleasant, and the table good. We can recommend any of our readers who may visit Peterborough to patronize 'mine host' of the Calum House."

Improved Grounds.

Those who attended the lacrosse match yesterday afternoon, found the newly erected stand to be very convenient. It is a large one, on the west side of the field, and the whole game could be viewed from it. The Club may charge more for admission to assist them in meeting the expense of the improvements on the grounds, but as the play can be seen more advantageously, and enjoyed more on account of the improvements, there will not likely be any complaint made. The next lacrosse match will be at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, with the Victorians of Toronto.

Pencil Points.

—The question of the day—Is your cow in the pound?

—The police cells were empty last night. No prisoners and no tramps.

—One perambulating cow was impounded yesterday.

—Mr. W. Nicholls, J. P., occupied a seat on the bench with the Police Magistrate this morning.

—The Fire Brigade Band will give an open air concert in the Court House park this evening.

While the Police Court was in session this morning P. C. Henson made an arrest in the constable's room, and brought the prisoner, A. Bird, before the Magistrate. After hearing the evidence in the case the Magistrate saw no just cause for detaining the prisoner in custody. The constable loosened his hold, and the prisoner flew out of the window. It was a bird.

THE BAND'S ENGAGEMENTS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—As some misunderstanding appears to have arisen regarding the Fire Brigade Band and the second of July, I may say, to put all doubts at rest, that we are engaged for the entire day by the Celebration Committee, and will play as follows:—Morning—At the Regatta on the Little Lake; afternoon—During the progress of the athletic sports on the Agricultural Grounds from 2 o'clock until 5, in the evening at the promenade concert, the fireworks and torchlight procession.

Yours truly,

F. W. MILLAR,
Bandmaster P. F. B. Band.
Peterborough, June 29, 1888.

The Work of a Tramp.

MONTREAL, June 26.—Some weeks ago at Cornwall station a G. T. R. telegraph operator named Waggoner was attacked by a tramp, who used some sharp instrument which inflicted a very severe wound on the neck. In the region of the external carotid artery. The wound at the time bled freely, but before the medical aid which was at once summoned had arrived the hemorrhage had nearly entirely ceased. The wound was dressed and the patient for a few days was apparently doing well, but at the end of that time a change occurred, and it was noticed that the patient was growing weaker and an examination in the region of the wound had set in. Waggoner was then at once removed to the Montreal General Hospital, where, in order to endeavour to save his life the operation of ligaturing of the vertebral and common carotid arteries was yesterday undertaken by Dr. Ross. The patient was operated on by Dr. Ross and Dr. Fenwick, and although very weak the patient was last night doing as well as could be expected. This evening at eleven o'clock he was alive and that was all that could be said. Meantime the murderous tramp has escaped.

Will Loathlyly Accept It.

The Christian Guardian, which opposed the proposed union of the Methodist Church on the present basis, says:—"With the exception of a few personal friends, the discussion (in the Toronto Conference) was marked by an excellent spirit, and brethren who took sides for and against the basis will be as good friends as ever in the future. Whatever temporary feeling may have been evoked, we have no doubt when the final result is reached, by successive steps, that all will loathlyly accept it, and unite in earnest efforts to extend the kingdom of Christ, through the agency of Methodism."

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. AMERICAN.

A DESPERADO'S ESCAPE.

CANTAGE, Mo., June 29.—Constable Davis, C. G. Davis, and one Hudson, last night went to Bland City to arrest Lane Britton, a desperado who killed a man two years ago. The accused was taken into custody and permitted to go into a house for a coat. He reappeared with a revolver and opened fire on the officers. The constable was killed and C. G. Davis was mortally wounded. The third shot missed Hudson. Britton mounted a horse and escaped. Citizens are pursuing.

MEDIATION SUGGESTED.

BERLIN, June 29.—It is stated that Germany has suggested the mediation of Russia in the difficulty between France and China.

FORGERS ARRESTED.

New York, June 29.—Isaac A. Briggs, a broker, and Wesley Lyon, a lawyer, of this city, with Emil Brie, a lawyer, aged 70, of Stamford, have been arrested on a charge of selling forged Missouri state bonds to Edward R. Kirk, a sailmaker. Kirk was induced to purchase the bonds at the face value to the number of 271,000, but instituted inquiries and learned that Brie had similar bonds lithographed in this city, on the representation that he was a Missouri official. Briggs was in the State Prison some years ago for attempting to blackmail John Jacob Astor. Brie ranks as a professional forger. Lyon was arrested a year ago on a charge of selling forged bonds, but was released on bail and has never been tried. When Briggs was arrested there were found in his possession bonds on the New York and Atlantic Railway Company, and of the Chicago, Brazil and Ohio Railway and Coal Company. They are supposed to be bonds of mythical companies prepared for swindling purposes.

DECK HAND DROWNED.

Oswego, June 29.—Miles McCriken, a deck hand, fell from the tug Navajo into the lake last night and was drowned.

GARFIELD AND THE STAR ROUTE.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Wm. A. Cook makes a statement in which he says he was employed by the directions of President Garfield to take charge of the Star Route cases; that he reported directly and confidentially to Garfield, and that he was in absolute charge, not even being under the control of the Attorney-General, up to the day of Garfield's death. He claims that he is the only one who can speak with authority on Garfield's attitude toward those prosecutions. The President, he says, had fixed and honorable views in regard to the cases. As indicated by him they were these:—That it was to be regretted that there was any apparent occasion for an investigation of the fiscal and personal conduct of individuals who had occupied high positions in public life, or of any contractors with the Government; that everyone, according to the established rule of law, was to be presumed to be innocent until fully proven guilty; and that in his opinion no criminal case could be properly conducted from any other standpoint against any citizen. That while this was true, he desired and expected a full, free and impartial investigation of all the facts involved in each case without regard to the persons who might be accused. But in making such an investigation he wished him to avoid "making a case for the sake of having a case," and that he did not regard it as proper to obtain an indictment against any one unless the facts made out a strong probable case, and appeared to be such as would fully justify a trial before a petty jury. The President did not select any one of the defendants for subjects of special consideration or remark.

ACCUSED OF SEVERAL CRIMES.

LITCHFIELD, Conn., June 29.—Chas. Moore, town clerk, has disappeared. He is accused of forgery, swindling, and stealing $2,000 of town funds. He recently married a highly connected lady.

IMMIGRATION.

New York, June 29.—The Commissioners of Emigration have sent to Collector Robertson the names of 28 immigrants, who arrived by the steamer Tarnesia, who are likely to become a public charge. The collector forwarded the list to the Anchor Line with the request that the objectionable immigrants be taken back to Ireland.

A GOVERNOR AND A COLLEGE.

Boston, June 29.—It is understood that the Governor will attend the commencement exercises of Williams' College next Wednesday. It is rumored that he will touch on free trade and protection in his address to the students.

DISAPPEARED.

Tremont, Ohio, June 29.—Krebs, post master here, who was $3,000 short in his accounts and was suspended, has disappeared. It is supposed that he has gone west with a widow with whom he had improper relations. Krebs' family move in the best circle.

DIVORCE OBTAINED.

New York, June 29.—Mary A. Tearle has obtained a divorce from her husband, Osmond Tearle, the actor, upon the ground that he committed adultery with an English actress.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1883.

Erratum.

Bergeant-Major Waller, who graduated at the Military College, Kingston, is a brother of Mr. C. A. Waller, and not his son, as we stated yesterday. We fell into this error being aware that Mr. H. B. Waller, of Millbrook, who is captain of the Port Hope troop of cavalry, is at present at the School of Gunnery in Kingston preparing for his examinations.

Growing and Beautiful.

The Christian Guardian, the organ of the Methodist Church of Canada, says:—"The annual meeting of the Toronto Conference was this year held in the growing and beautiful town of Peterborough; through which the Otonabee river sweeps as a thing of strength and beauty. The Peterborough of to-day is a very different place from what it was when we first saw it, not far from fifty years ago."

To-night.

The members of the Dominion Day celebration committee, and those who have volunteered or will volunteer to assist them, as many as can possibly attend, are requested to meet in the drill shed this evening at 7:30 o'clock. There is not much time left, as there is some work yet to be done in making preparations, "all hands" and willing hands should be on hand.

"The Greatest of them All."

The Peterborough celebration is attracting attention from all the neighboring places and enormous crowds will visit town on Monday. The arrangements are about completed, and the greatest celebration ever seen in this district is assured. The Indians will be almost numberless, and over fifty teams and wagons have volunteered. The regatta will be a big feature.

Smith's Market.

Berries every morning. Parties and festivals supplied at a moment's notice. Berries picked on dry days for preserving; all orders still receive prompt and careful attention.

Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, etc.
Fresh Fish. Parties will confer a great favor by leaving their orders on Thursday evening, as we find it utterly impossible to get over so large a tract of ground late Friday morning in time for dinner.

Reduced Prices.

In the heading of W. Fairweather & Co.'s new advertisement for July. Read it. That firm has sold an immense amount of goods this season already, and by their present announcement they are to offer still greater inducements to cash purchasers, during next month. When so many buyers through their store, it must be evident that they are getting bargains. We admire pluck and perseverance in business, and certainly W. F. & Co. possess these valuable characteristics. All the month of July they promise great things, and the public are not likely to be disappointed. Give them a call.

DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP RETAINED.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club defeated the Uxbridge Club by Three Straights.

A lacrosse match was played on the Ashburnham Cricket Ground on Thursday afternoon, between the Peterborough and Uxbridge Clubs. Unusual interest was taken in the match, as it involved the championship of the Central Ontario District, and the Peterborough players were determined not to see the medal carried away if they were capable of holding it. That it was not in great danger was shown by the result, as the Peterboroughs won the match by three straight games.

There was a large attendance of spectators on the grounds, among whom the ladies were prominent and not the least interested, and the Fire Brigade Band was present and played several selections during the progress of the match.

The players took up their positions on the field at about 3:30 o'clock. The following composed the teams:

PETERBOROUGH.
J. Olin.	Goal.
M. Tenny.	Point.
G. Olin.	Cover Point.
M. McDonald.	Field.
W. Walsh.	"
J. Sheehy.	Centre Field.
A. Velland.	Field.
M. Halpe.	"
R. H. Fortie.	"
C. Rutherford.	Home.
W. Rudkin.	"
J. Reynolds.	"
W. A. Sanderson.	Field Captain.
UXBRIDGE.
E. McGuire.	Goal.
Jos. Vickers.	Point.
H. Bacon.	Cover Point.
H. Wheeler.	Field.
E. Crosby.	"
L. Frank.	Centre Field.
T. Morgan.	Field.
Jos. Vickers.	"
F. Fogg.	"
F. Kirby.	Home.
O. Peers.	"
B. Vickers.	"
W. Long.	Field Captain.

Mr. Dwyer, of Toronto, was chosen referee, and Mr. G. L. Bustin acted as umpire for Uxbridge and Mr. Alex. Elliott for Peterborough.

The ball was faced by Sheehy and Frank, and Sheehy scored the rubber and sent it towards the Uxbridge goal. There was some lively play about the stakes, but it did not continue long, as the ball was sent by a good long throw, to the other side of the field. The play was lively and interesting for a few minutes, the ball being often in the air passing from one side of the field to the other, but soon after the game started the backers of the Peterboroughs felt that they were safe. Finally the ball fell near the centre of the field, and Velland secured it. Dodging a player who attempted to check him, he neatly tossed the ball to Sheehy. Sheehy ran with it towards the goal and carried it until nearly even with the stakes, but north of them, and then dropped it in front of the flags to Rudkin, who put it through. Time, six minutes.

The second game was of shorter duration by two minutes. The Uxbridge players worked pluckily to win the game but they were over-matched. They had a good defence, but the Peterborough team had good defence, field and home players, and the ball, when it did go to their side of the field, did not remain there long. After four minutes playing Rudkin dropped the rubber to Rutherford who passed it through.

The third and final game consumed more time than either of the preceding ones. The Uxbridge team appeared to give up trying to win a game, and played almost entirely on the defensive. After a few minutes play Rutherford got the ball, and dodging past the players who tried to check him, he made a direct shot for the Uxbridge goal, but it failed. Soon after this game commenced the Peterborough defence had very little to do, as several times the Uxbridge home and field men were every one on the defensive side of the field. The ball was thrown to the Peterborough side of the field several times, but was at once sent back, and there was some very neat playing done in the vicinity of the Uxbridge goal. By a succession of drop shots the ball fell time after time in front of the flags, and it was often nearly through the stakes, but the goal-keeper understood his business well, and twice he stopped the ball when it was actually between the stakes, and did not allow it to go through. Two passes were made for drinks, (temperance drinks, water and meal), during the progress of the game, and including these it lasted forty-two minutes. Four minutes after the ball had been faced after one of these passes Rutherford scored the rubber and threw it between the flags, winning the third game after thirty-two minutes of playing, and the match by three straight games.

Cheers were then given for the victors, the victors and the referee, and the clubs marched back to town, headed by the band.
The Peterborough team was made up of twelve good players, and where all did so well it would be difficult to particularize. In fact, if one were to try to pick out and name over the best players he would find himself naming over the whole team, one by one. The Uxbridge team played very well, but their defence appeared to be the strongest.

Ice Cream.

Go to J. Craig's for Fresh Pastry, Ice Cream, Confectionery, &c., opposite Wright's store, George street.

L. O. L. Meetings.

At a meeting of the Orange Association of this town it was unanimously resolved to attend divine service in St. Luke's Church Ashburnham, on Sunday next, the 1st of July, in conjunction with the True Blue Association, when the Rev. Bro. Bradshaw will preach the anniversary sermon. The lodges of the different orders will meet at their respective halls at 6 p. m., sharp. No regalia will be worn. It is expected that a large contingent from Lakeside and Nassau will join with the Peterborough lodges. The centre aisle has been reserved for the members.

The Uxbridge Lacrosse Club.

The team representing the Uxbridge Lacrosse Club, who played with the Peterborough Club on Thursday afternoon, left for Lindsay this morning. They play a match with the Lindsay club to-day and at Port Perry on Monday. They are a company of fine young men. They took their defeat here good naturedly, but they think they could have shown better play on a larger field.

A Fall and Escape.

A carpenter named Gordon, who was engaged in shingling Mr. Hanks' house on Edinburgh street, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. He was on the roof, and a bracket on which his feet rested gave way. He fell to the ground, a distance of about twenty-two feet, and although considerably shaken, he was able to resume his work in about half an hour.

One of Mr. R. W. Carmichael, Chemist and Druggist, of Belleville, writes as follows:—"Your Barwick Blood Bitters have a steady sale, are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all admit to its virtues with unqualified satisfaction."

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1883.

THE TOWN TIME.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir, I wish you would call the attention of the proper authorities to the irregular manner in which the town clock is kept. During the past week Peterborough time has been from 12 to 18 minutes ahead of railway time, which results in just so much waste of time to travellers who allow themselves to be governed by our town clock. Yours truly,

OBSERVATORY TIME.

Peterborough, June 30, 1883. [NOTE.—It seems to me that the great difficulty is that there is no recognized standard for our time in Peterborough. We repeat the advice that we have already often given, that arrangements should be made to have the exact time telegraphed periodically from the Toronto Observatory. All our public clocks, town, railway, and post-office, and our private timepieces would then agree, to the great convenience of everyone. Will the Town Council take the matter in hand, and consult with other interests?—ED. REVIEW.]

LACROSSE MATCHES.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Is it not a mistake to charge 25c. for admission to the lacrosse matches that are being held from time to time? If it were reduced to 10 or 15 c., would not the number of spectators be thereby increased to such an extent that the proceeds would be larger? And would not such a reduction tend to diminish the immense number of people who seek to witness the game gratis from house-tops, lumber piles and other elevations, if not entirely remove the cause for resorting to such devices, while the smaller number are paying exorbitant prices for the same thing? And besides, would it not help to foster and perpetuate our national game and give the same chance to both rich and poor of witnessing the fascinating play? I do not think that such charges are made in other small towns or even in the cities where clubs of similar standing play. Yours etc.

AN ADMIRER OF THE GAME. June 29, 1883.

Lacrosse Match.

The competition of the team which will represent the Peterborough Club in the match with the Victoria's, of Toronto, on Monday afternoon next, has not been definitely decided upon. It will be pretty much the same team as played on Thursday afternoon, with perhaps one or two changes. A board fence has been put up along in front of the grand stand on the grounds, which will prevent the ball from being thrown among the spectators, while it will not in any way interfere with their view of the game. The match on Monday afternoon will be an interesting one.

CONSTRUCTING A FORTRESS.
BERLIN, June 29.—The town of Castrin at the confluence of the river Wartha with the Oder, and the main point of cover for Berlin against an invasion from Russia, is being converted into a first-class fortress, capable of sheltering 50,000 men.

FRANCE AND CHINA.
LONDON, June 29.—The Post says that the latest news received at the Foreign Office in regard to the Tonquin difficulty is that China is resolved to prepare for the eventuality of war while carrying on negotiations with France to gain time.

QUALIFIED DENIAL.
PARIS, June 29.—The Temps publishes a qualified denial of the statement that negotiations between France and China have been broken off, but admits that negotiations have so far been difficult and unfavourable.

GERMAN AFFAIRS.
BERLIN, June 29.—The Government denies the renewed assertion that it intends to establish a colony in Mexico. The Emperor William has promised to give 125,000 marks towards founding an hospital on the island of Nordney if an equal amount is subscribed from other sources.

A BIG FIRE.
BERLIN, June 29.—A fire broke out this afternoon at Aix la Chapelle, and was at last advised raging fiercely. Nine houses and one of the towers of the Town Hall are on fire.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL.
LONDON, June 29.—The Press Association says there is reason to believe that the Marquis of Lansdowne, Chairman of the Joint Committee in the House of Lords and House of Commons on the channel tunnel project, will report favourably upon that scheme, and there will also be a minority report adverse to the project.

THE SCOTCH MINISTER.
LONDON, June 29.—In the House of Commons to-night the bill for the creation of a Minister of the Board charged with the administration of local affairs in Scotland was read for the first time. The bill fixes the salary of the office at £2,000, which will be secured by the abolition of the salary of the Lord of the Privy Seal.

THE VATICAN.
BERLIN, June 29.—The Vatican will notify the Prussian Government of clerical appointments on condition that Prussia declares the exercise of all priestly functions devoid of persecution, and the training of priests free from all restrictions. The Vatican declines to continue negotiations notwithstanding the Prussian violation of diplomatic usage by passing a Church Bill while negotiations are pending.

SUEZ CANAL QUESTION.
LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Bourke (Conservative), gave notice in the House of Commons this afternoon that he would move that no arrangement for a second Suez Canal would be satisfactory unless it provided for a reduction of rate and adequate representation of British shipping in its administration.

AMERICAN.

A RIOTOUS EXCURSION.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The steamer Grand Republic arrived from New Haven at 12.30 last night. About sixty persons who landed at New Haven were not permitted to re-embark, those on board pulling the gang plank in and leaving them to shift for themselves. On the way back fighting continued almost unintermittently. The excursionists landed without molestation from the police, no notice of the rioting having reached them. It is believed that no one was seriously injured.

TRUST DEEDS.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., June 29.—The Moline Malleable Iron Works Company executed trust deeds for $140,000 on its property.

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

WESTPORT, Wis., June 29.—As a freight train on the Northwestern road, drawn by two engines, was crossing the iron bridge near Norwalk yesterday morning, the structure gave way, letting down both engines, with three cars on the top. Albert Gething, fireman on the first engine escaped death. The bridge had been undermined by floods.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Fatal Results of a Fire at Winnipeg—The City Severely Shaken.

WINNIPEG, June 29.—Fire broke out at ten o'clock to-night in the storehouse of J. H. Ashdown, hardware merchants, and the building, a frame one, was soon wrapped in flames. The damage to stock will be heavy, but the building only slight. Some kegs of powder stored in the warehouse exploded with serious results. Upwards of twenty men were more or less injured, and a hundred landing shops on the main and other streets had their plate glass and other glass smashed to atoms. The report shook the whole city to its centre as if by an earthquake. It is difficult to-night to get a list of the casualties. Chief McRobie, of the Fire Brigade, was slightly injured in the face; George Seale, insurance clerk, it is thought is fatally injured, as a pile of burning debris lit upon his face and breast, injuring him almost beyond recognition; W. Rutherford, fireman, severely burned; J. Kerr, another fireman, also badly burned; J. Youill, fire alarm superintendent, severely cut on the head and face; Wm. McRobie, son of the chief, is severely burned; the face and hands; George Sinclair, saddler, had both hands and feet burned to a crisp, and the pants burned off his limbs; James Bowie, saddler, had his hands badly burned; Archie Grant, manager for Ashdown, was badly burned on the face in his efforts to move the powder; Wm. Coda, Assistant Chief of the Fire Department, is also seriously injured by falling timber; Wilson, another fireman, has a scalp wound by falling timber. A man named McGuire was also burned badly. Seale has since died, and others are reported to be fatally injured. All the doctors in the city have their hands full. The excitement is intense. There must be upwards of 5,000 people on the streets in the vicinity of the disaster.

SENATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—It is understood that the Peruvian Government is preparing to bring a legal action against Edilberto Giron, of Christianity divorces fame. It is expected that the developments will be decidedly sensational.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The work on the Washington monument came to a complete stand still, owing to the failure of the contractors to furnish marble as agreed. Nearly a year will be lost, and it will probably be three years before the monument is completed. It is now 370 feet high.

THE INDIANA EDITORS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—The Democratic editors of Indiana met here yesterday and passed resolutions unanimously endorsing Senator McDonald for the Presidency. A majority of those present were opposed to protection.

THE CAT USED.

BUTTE CITY, Montana, June 30.—The organization known throughout the territory as 3, 7, 77 took Harry Gundy into a vacant shaft-house and administered sixty-four lashes with a cat tail, terribly lacerating his body. Gundy had assaulted a ten-year-old daughter of a citizen of this place. He confessed after the chastisement, and he was driven out of the country and told never to return.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The value of merchandise imported during the twelve months ending May 31, was $721,068,000, and during the same period of the preceding year $720,370,000. The value of exports of merchandise for the twelve months ending May 31 was $820,403,000, and in the previous twelve months $762,914,000.

THE STAR ROUTES.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—George Bliss denies several statements made by Wm. A. Cook concerning the Star Route matters. He says that after Cook and Gibson ceased to be connected with the Government, one of them passed openly into the pay of the defendants and received four or five thousand dollars, which appears upon the books of Boole as paid to him. As to the other he did not dare to do openly what Bliss believes he was doing secretly, and that there appears upon Boole's books the payment of $4,000 to Cook's partner, which he believes was wages of perjury.

EFFECTS OF THE NEW TARIFF.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Tribune reports have made inquires of leading men in the branches of trade most particularly affected by a new tariff in order to ascertain the present and anticipated effects of the new law on their business. In metals, drugs, groceries, woollens and cotton and silk goods there has been perceptible disturbance. In paintings and sculpture there have been large importations, but a large decline is expected after July 1st. A similar state of affairs is shown in the price of the new tariff causing an advance in prices. During the first six months of 1882, 3,597 failures were reported in the United States, with liabilities amounting to $50,000,000. During the same period this year the number of failures, with liabilities amounting to $65,000,000. The reports as to the business outlook from 97 trade centres indicate a more hopeful feeling as to the future. The demand for pig iron has greatly increased of late, and prices have been raised here from 40 to 85 per ton.

A NEGRO ARRESTED.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 30.—A negro whose appearance corresponds with the description given by Miss Slocum of her assassin, was arrested last evening within a few miles of the scene of the outrage. He will be taken to North Salem for identification.

A FIGHT.

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., June 30.—A telegram received here states that Belton and Elam fought near Waynesboro. Elam was slightly wounded. Belton was accosted by young Chalkley and Wright, of Richmond, and Elam by John Snelling and John A. Lewis and son.</

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1883.

If the Lindsay Post wishes to criticize the Review it might speak the truth about us and not a deliberate falsehood, as in its last issue. The Post finds plenty of time and space for little bits at us, but it has never yet been able to answer our oft-repeated question, why it stated that agricultural machinery has grown dearer under the N. P. In Peterborough agricultural implements and machinery have grown cheaper instead of dearer, a fact to which we invite the attention of the farmers of Victoria.

It is not a "Tory organ" but the Toronto World, a Reform journal, though very independent, that has an article on "The Decadence of the Globe." The success of the Globe under former circumstances is pointed out, and the contrast which it offers at present is forcibly and truthfully described as follows:—

"Since then there has been hardly anything but blunders, especially in its editorial columns. In place of journalistic brains we have a subaltern organization. The Globe party is held to be the embodiment of every political virtue; the other side nothing but corruption."

The Quebec Reform journals are complaining because the writ for Jacques Cartier has been delayed for a few days beyond the fixed time. They omit to mention that Mr. Joly, when Premier, kept back the writ for St. Hyacinthe for nine months. The Ontario Reform journals are reproaching these Quebec complaints, but they forget to mention that Mr. Mowat has kept back writs for by-elections for many months, though the law says they should be issued forthwith. By the bye can any one inform us why Mr. Mowat is delaying the Algoma election, contrary to the spirit if not the letter of the law.

The Cobourg World is crowing lustily because we accepted its statement that it had borrowed its falsified version of part of a speech by Mr. Moussau. We always thought that the utterer was as criminal as the forger, the only distinction being that it requires more brains to forge, which the utterer need not possess. Columns of abuse emitted by the World will not conceal the fact that it left out Mr. Moussau's words stating that he was addressing Mr. Masson, and falsely stated that Mr. Moussau avowed that he was addressing Sir John Macdonald, and that the authority for saying so was the Conservative Montreal Gazette. There can be no excuse for such falsehood.

RIEL AGAIN.

LOUIS RIEL has returned to Manitoba, his term of banishment under his qualified amnesty having expired. The Globe gladly seizes the opportunity of reviving, if possible, all the old bitter feelings which that amnesty was meant to allay, and repeats its old attacks upon Sir John Macdonald for having aided by money to induce Riel to leave the Red River, though he expressed a wish to be able to catch him. Very possibly Sir John wished he could catch him, but as he could not do so without the risk of stirring up a civil war, thought it desirable to secure Riel's absence at a critical time when his presence was an obstacle to the peace of the district.

The Globe can twist this into an apparent inconsistency, but it omits to mention that Mr. Blake was guilty of the real inconsistency of voting $5,000 of Ontario's money for the capture of Riel, and then voting in Parliament for an amnesty to him. It also forgets to state that it was not under the Macdonald government, but when Mr. Blake was a member or a supporter of the Mackenzie administration (it might have been at the time of one of his periodical exits) that Riel came to Ottawa and subscribed the roll of Parliament, being very confident that Mr. Blake's $5,000 reward was a piece of political clap net. The Globe thinks it was very easy for Sir John Macdonald to catch Riel in Manitoba then in a still disturbed state, and very difficult for Mr. Blake, even with $5,000 to procure assistance, to catch Riel in Ottawa.

PROTECTION IN THE STATES.

As the Reform press is very fond at present of pointing to the United States as a favourable example, it may be well for us to quote from the Lumberman's Gazette of Bay City, Michigan, the following fact as to protection in the States:—

"The Republican doctrine that the tariff should be so adjusted so as to afford a proper measure of protection to home manufactures, home labor and home producers, was the policy of the fathers of the republic. Within three months after his inauguration as president Washington signed the first tariff act. 'For the encouragement and promotion of manufactures,' and Fisher Ames, of Massachusetts, said in Congress in the debate on the first tariff bill:—

'The present constitution was dictated by commercial necessity more than any other cause.'

The want of an efficient government to secure our manufacturing interest and advance our commerce was long seen by men of judgment and patriots. Yet Democratic teachers of denationalizing doctrines declare that this general government has no right to levy duties that shall protect our people. 'When the federal constitution was adopted in 1787,' says Horace Greeley, in Political Economy, 'and it was announced that enough states had voted to ratify it, there was instantly great rejoicing in all the seaboard villages, and great processions were formed, with in the laboring classes appeared parading the hammer and anvil, crying out, 'Protection to American industry! They had had free trade since the war ended, and they had enough of markets glutted with foreign goods and no demand for American labor.' Within the boundaries of the United States trade is free in a larger area than anywhere else in the world, and the difference between the kind of free trade we have and the kind the democrats would give the country is that under the present system the benefits of the trade are retained at home while under the system they would inaugurate the benefits would go to enrich the manufacturers and laborers of Great Britain. Our own markets are the best and most extensive in the world and we want them for our own products to as great an extent as we can profitably supply them. That is the traditional policy of the nation.'

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CROPS AND ROADS.—The roads are in a very bad state here on account of recent heavy rains. The reports regarding fall wheat and other grains sown on low lands are very unfavorable. Unless dry weather sets in at once farmers say that fall wheat will be a failure.

THE O. & Q.—Work is progressing favorably on the Ontario & Quebec line. The approaches to the stone abutments over the Ouse will soon be filled in. A large quantity of barbed wire for the road passed through here last week. Mr. Lumsden, chief engineer, was in the village on Wednesday last.

CLOSING HOURS.—Some of our most promising clerks, becoming weary of watching until the new year comes in, and longing for the time to come when they shall no longer turn the key in the doors of the shops as the clock announces the approach of morning, called on the merchants to relieve them of their sufferings for a few weeks in summer by closing their shops at 8 o'clock. As was expected, their appeals did not often the stony hearts of some of the merchants, and thus, sad to say, our boys were left alone in their glory.

THE BAND.—Our band is making great progress in music under the leadership of Mr. W. H. Mullins. They generally give an open air concert every fortnight.

VICTORS.—Mrs. Maxwell Hall, of Longford, and Miss J. A. McWilliams, of Peterborough, are spending a few days with their friends here. The Rev. Wm. Mitchell, of Belleville, who has been unable to preach on account of severe illness, has resorted to Norwood to recruit his strength. Mr. Harry Dunlop, formerly employed here in R. Stewart's drug store, and who is now employed as head clerk in a drug store in Napawan, called on his friends this week.

VICTORY FOR THE NORWOOD CLUB.—The match between the Norwood and Campbellford Lacrosse Clubs came off on Friday, June 29th, and resulted in a victory for the former by the score of 1 to 0. The first game was taken by the Campbellford team in one minute. After the ball was faced it was thrown towards the Campbellford goal, and came near going through. It was then thrown back to the home goal, when it was picked up by the goal-keeper, and by accident became entangled in the netting of his stick which prevented him from throwing it, thus giving Rellie, of the Campbellford team, an opportunity for knocking it through. The next three games were taken by the home team in 5, 25 and 5 minutes respectively. The ball being put through the goal by A. J. Robertson, J. J. McKelvie and J. McClelland. Our club have improved wonderfully since their match with Peterborough. Some fine playing was made by A. J. Robertson, G. Atkinson, Fred. Pearce, J. McDougall, and others. In justice to the Campbellford team it must be said that they played well, considering the short time they have had to practice.

MIDLAND.

ELEVATOR NOTES.—The Free Press says that up to the present time they have handled 270,000 bushels more grain at the elevator here than at this time last year.

ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.—A sailor named Edward O'Connor, who came here from Penetang on Friday last, caused quite a sensation in the village by attempting to commit suicide. He entered the butcher shop of Mr. J. A. Stafford early in the evening, and asked Mr. Griese for a revolver, remarking that he wanted to shoot himself. He was told that he could not have a revolver and to leave the premises. Instead of doing this he picked up a large meat knife and he would have put an end to his life but for Mr. Griese, who had a hard struggle with him. As it was he succeeded in making an ugly gash in his throat. He was handed over to the police authorities, and locked up in the cells as an insane person. His friends, who live in Sarnia, were communicated with, and his brother came here and took him away on Monday, paying all the expenses that the corporation had been put to. We are told that at Penetang he jumped off a boat and tried to drown himself. Instead of the authorities there placing him where he could do no harm they sent him on here. While here the unfortunate man was cared for as well as possible.

LINDSAY.

SWALLOWED A FROG.—The Warden says that on Wednesday a young son of Mr. Cathro, with that peculiar perversity of the small boy, managed to swallow whole, a very fair specimen of a kicking frog, and then, of course, ran home to tell it. After considerable trouble the frog was brought back and the little fellow is as well as ever.

WAJES ON THE RAILWAY.—A strike in a small way occurred among the navies working on the Wick branch of the Midland Wednesday morning. They were paid $1.50 a day, but as the work was nearly completed the company reduced the pay to $1.40. Accordingly a number refused to work and several were subsequently engaged by Mr. Choate to work on the Ontario & Quebec railway, east of here, and along which there will be plenty of work all summer. To pay a navy $1.50 a day appears to be a large sum, but in a season like the present one where it rains regularly every day and sometimes twice the poor fellows do not find themselves much richer at the end of the week. There have been some weeks this season that men have been unable to work three full days through wet weather.

Mr. Wm. Payne, Station Master, C. V. B., Sheldah, was cured by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters when all other remedies failed. I have recommended it to lots of Railway men and they all think highly of it. If you suffer from Dyspepsia go to your Druggist and get a bottle.

MILLBROOK.

AN IMPROVEMENT.—The Messenger says that at a meeting of the Directors of the Cavan Agricultural Society, it was decided to build a wing to the Agricultural Hall, suitable for Ladies' Work, Fine Arts, Floral Display, etc. It will be 30x40 and of sufficient height. This is a good move, and will be appreciated by intending exhibitors. We understand the Directors will put every effort forward to make the approaching exhibition one of the best ever held in this place. Tenders are called for the erection of the proposed addition to the Hall.

Epidemic Among Fish.

A Kingston despatch says that two years ago millions of small fish floated down the lake and river. The cause of their death was a mystery, but the conclusion was reached that they were slow-witted, and not suited to the change of temperature and condition of the water. This year a similar condition of things exists. The river surface for miles is covered with these tiny fish, and, being in various conditions of decomposition, the smell on frontier roads is very offensive.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? THOUGHT READING.

Mr. Bishop's Experiment in the Matter of His Wager with Mr. Labouchere.

The Pall Mall Gazette gives the following report of the scenes given by Mr. Bishop, the thought reader, at the St. James Hall, London. The easy chair set up for Mr. Labouchere was unoccupied. The £1,000 promised was not paid. But the experiment could be tried in Mr. Labouchere's absence, and Mr. Bishop was willing to make his £100 with no other set off than the promise, willingly given, that the audience would witness the experiment. The number eight Mr. Labouchere should hand over the £1,000 to the Victoria Hospital for Children. Mr. Charles Russell here introduced a diversion which kept the reading in an uproar for nearly an hour. By word from the body of the hall—Mr. Bishop refused to join the committee—that he had enclosed a five-pound note in an envelope and given it into the keeping of Professor Ray Lankester, who was also in the audience and who alone knew its number. He challenged Mr. Bishop to read the mind of Mr. Ray Lankester the number of that note. If successful the note should go to the hospital. Mr. Bishop asked Mr. Bishop if he accepted the challenge. Mr. Bishop demurred. He had experimented before with Professor Lankester, and found him a very hard subject. The chances he had given to the committee were to be one against the success with Mr. Lankester. To give him a fair chance he thought he ought to try with some one with whom he had not experimented before. He had, for instance, experimented with Mr. Waddy, and if he were selected as medium the chances were ten to one that he would be successful. It would be fairer to reject all whose capacity for being read had been tested beforehand and confine the experiments to a new subject, to be freely selected by the audience. Professor Lankester did not deny the reasonable nature of this suggestion, but a large proportion of the audience roared their disapproval. A heated and violent wrangle ensued in the course of which Mr. Bishop was freely denounced as a shuffler.

THE MEDIUM.

At last an old gentleman with senatorial lungs proposed that the Chairman should nominate a medium. Mr. Lane Fox was suggested and accepted. A Mr. Lane was also suggested and rejected; and at last amid great cheering, Colonel Statham, of the Lancashire Rifle Volunteers, consented to be the medium. A further attempt was made to induce Professor Lankester to be the medium, but Mr. Russell's note to Colonel Statham for the purpose of the experiment, and then Colonel French, to whose high character the Hon. Edward Stanhope bore emphatic testimony, and who declared that he had never seen either Mr. Bishop or Colonel Statham before, produced a five-pound note, the number of which he did not know, and handed it to the chairman. A large black board was then introduced, on which Mr. Bishop was to write the number. Mr. Bishop, however, refused to do so, and the number of the note, in the presence of all the audience, was written by the committee and the chairman, while standing at some yards distant from Mr. Bishop, Col. Statham, unfurled the note for all to see. Mr. Bishop, however, refused to do so, and the number of the note, in the presence of all the audience, was written by the committee and the chairman, while standing at some yards distant from Mr. Bishop, Col. Statham, unfurled the note for all to see. Mr. Bishop, however, refused to do so, and the number of the note, in the presence of all the audience, was written by the committee and the chairman, while standing at some yards distant from Mr. Bishop, Col. Statham, unfurled the note for all to see.

THE READING.

He shook all over, his right hand raised above his head quivering violently, his left hand touched the seat. As it mounted in the air displaying not the "hard red" color of failure, but the bright white light typical of success, the crowd cheered loudly. Inside the hall, when a woman's illness had been cured, Mr. Bishop said:—"I appeal to this audience of three thousand Englishmen to demand of Mr. Henry Labouchere that he shall hand over to the Victoria Hospital at Chelsea the £1,000 he offered to stake that I could not read the number of a note." On questioning Colonel Statham afterwards, he said that when Mr. Bishop had reached the last figure he (Colonel Statham) forgot whether it was 4 or 0. It was when he was trying to recall the figure that Mr. Bishop hesitated and grasped his hand. He then decided for the 4, which Mr. Bishop then wrote down.

Attempted Murder in a Railway Train.

A desperate attempt has been made in the carriage of a railway train running from Gales to Paris to murder and rob the Rev. Mr. Withers, an English clergyman. The would-be murderer attacked Mr. Withers with a knife, stabbing him five times. The assassin tried to escape when the train arrived at Amiens, but was captured after a terrific struggle. The clergyman's wounds are very dangerous, and it is not expected that he will survive. The assassin is an Englishman. The would-be assassin has been charged with the murder of Mr. Withers. He is now in custody at Amiens.

THROUGH WITH SCHOOL.

"Study? Why Aunt Kate! When I'm all through with school, and have my diploma about all that, I don't know what I should study," with a conscious smile over her superiority of such needs.

"You know Mr. Lowell's wife?" asked Aunt Kate quietly, looking up from her book.

"Yes, of course, but I do not see what that has to do with the question."

"I will help you to find out. When she graduated last year ago, we were all so proud of her, as she was of herself. She was accomplished; she sang, and played the piano exquisitely, she sketched and painted, she spoke French and German admirably, and was really a marvel of book learning."

"It did not last very long," her lips broke in a little contemptuous smile.

"You can see that, can you? I am more successful than I hoped. She went into society, taking the right place there, with delight at being released from school duties; she should never need to study any more—she knew everything! There happened to be no one at home with whom she could speak French or German, and what was the use of reading the dry, tiresome books when there was so little time for reading? By and by she began to be 'out of practice.' She was then busy preparing for her marriage, and had no time to learn new music, and was tired of all her old things, nobody played them now. When she married people thought Mr. Lowell a fortunate man; his wife would be able to appreciate his fine education, his culture, and grace his position. But she was 'through with school,' she wasn't going to waste her time over books, she knew all she needed to know. New Bell, do you want to be like her?"

"I don't think there is any danger, and I do think you are unkind to compare us."

"No, my dear, when Mrs. Lowell was your age you would have been proud of the comparison. I only want to show you that if we would keep our place in this world, we can never be through with study. When you came home from Aunt Clara's last summer, do you remember how steadily you had to practice to make up for lost time, how difficult it was to play long, rapid scale passages with the old ease, and how your arms and hands ached so that had it not been for your desire to pass a creditable examination in music, you would have shirked a little, now and then?"

"Yes," faltered her niece, slowly.

"Hands are not the only things which must be kept in practice. Brains, too, grow rusty if not kept busy. Thoughts will not centre themselves on any one subject with the old power, if grown idle. Memory is perhaps the last to go slow, but it will fail to keep a firm hold of all these necessary things if the daily training is omitted."

"Life is all a school. We are never through with study, and, as we grow up out of the lightness of youth and take up life at its broadest, with the greater possibilities of mature thoughts and feelings; we can grasp and enjoy the great ideas of nature more fully, if we will. Don't let your life be the failure so many are. It is in your power to make it a source of pleasure to yourself and every one else around you. You are not ready as yet to be satisfied with the height you have attained, and begin to go down the hill. Climb on! You have not yet reached even a resting place."

"After the summer vacation take up your books; poems, poetry, fiction—the best you can find. Do not give up the old masters. Are there any new masters grander than Beethoven, and Mozart, and Mendelssohn? Is any new poet greater than Shakespeare? Can you remember all these, can you keep pace with the present rush of thought if you do not study—if you know already all you shall ever have to learn?"

"Don't say any more, auntie, please," said Bell quietly. "I feel as if I had made a very bad mistake."

So, Bell was in the house.

It is a pity that we have no folk songs, such as people like to sing together whenever they meet in a social way, as they have in Germany, and for instance here so much in doing to encourage people to sing, and, while enjoying themselves, to improve their voices. For the lamentable fact is that nearly every American knows a little of every national song, but knows no folk song, and it is the duty of the people to sing, and, while enjoying themselves, to improve their voices. CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH

ENLARGED, IMPROVED, AND RE-OPENED FOR DIVINE WORSHIP.

Increased Seating Capacity—A Splendid New Organ—The Re-opening Services—Sermons by the Rev. Dr. Dewar and the Rev. Dr. Nelson.

It was found last year that, in order to accommodate comfortably the congregations which attended the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, the building would have to be enlarged. When this conclusion was arrived at steps were at once taken to carry out the enlargement and to otherwise improve the church. Mr. Geo. A. Cox and Mr. James Stevenson were the foremost movers in this, and their liberality was extended towards completing the improvements. Mr. Stevenson has given a great deal of time and attention to the work as it progressed, visiting it daily, and to him a great deal of the credit is due for its present fine appearance. The work was begun in November of last year, and on Sunday last it was re-opened for public worship.

The addition to the church, which was erected at the north end, adds twenty-two feet to the length of the building. It is finished with a gable roof and ornamented by a number of treasured high-pointed arches, set at an angle with the slope of the Gothic gable. In the front or northern end there is a large Rose window of stained glass, in which the colors harmonize beautifully. The walls of the new portion are finished with Ohio freestone.

Entering the church a small porch is first entered and then the main porch, fourteen by six feet, finished in a style to correspond with the building, and the doors and woodwork are handsomely painted and grained. The walls inside are nicely tinted and pencilled in an imitation of stonework, and the coloring of the ceiling is tasteful and handsome. New sash has been put in the windows, set with glass richly stained, the pieces of glass in all numbering about 9,000. The light for the evening services is furnished by three hanging gasaliers, with four additional jets on the choir platform. The gasaliers nearest the pulpit furnish light enough for the officiating minister, and no jets are therefore set in the pulpit, a fact that will be comforting to the eyes of the congregation. The building will be heated by hot air from a furnace situated in the basement of the new portion.

The space inside the church is ninety-eight by forty feet, and the seating capacity is about seven hundred or seven hundred and fifty. A new double floor has been laid over the whole building, and this floor has been strengthened by new joists. The space occupied by the seats is raised four inches above the general level, and the whole floor will be covered with a beautiful imported carpet of dark red, with a darker branching flower, brightened by a light red color running between the flowers. The aisles are three feet and a half in width, and two in number. The seats are of pine, oiled and varnished, with ornate cast iron ends painted a deep green. The seats are very comfortable, and have deep cushions of crimson rep, with arm cushions on the iron ends. Book racks are provided in each seat, and each seat in the centre row is divided into alternate large and small sittings by an ornamental partition. The seats in the side rows are set at an angle, so that the whole congregation will be facing the pulpit. Draw seats are also provided at the end of each seat, so that on occasions when the congregations are unusually large, as at the opening services on Sunday, the seating capacity can be greatly increased.

The choir platform is at the southern end of the church, behind the pulpit, and covers a space of eighteen by eight feet. The new organ, a splendid instrument of good tone, is on this platform. It was manufactured by the well known firm of S. Warren & Son, Toronto. The case is of richly grained chestnut, finished in a style to correspond with the architecture of the church, and the pipes are finished in blue, brown and gold. The specification of the organ is as follows:—

Compass of manuals, C C to A 3.....58 notes
Compass of pedals, C C to D 2.....27 notes

Miss Walsh will have charge of the new organ, which is a proof that that part of the service will be ably conducted. The following voices have been secured for the choir:—Mrs. Chambers, soprano; Miss Brundeth, soprano; Miss Stephens, alto; Mr. Billington, tenor; and Mr. A. L. Davis and Mr. Morris, bass, all of whom are good singers.

From the front of the organ case, and projecting about a foot in advance of it, a chestnut screen about ten feet in height extends on either side to the walls. The space thus enclosed to the right of the organ will be used for the minister's vestry, and the room on the left side for a retiring room for the choir. At the front of the choir platform, and enclosing the singers, there is a semi-circle screen three feet high, also of chestnut, ornamented with stucco circular panels and carved work. In front of the choir platform, and about six inches lower, is the pulpit platform, about eight by twelve feet. The pulpit stand is a neat one, without having any unnecessary display about it. Lower again than the pulpit platform, and about six inches higher than the level of the floor, is the altar, enclosed by an oak railing. The choir, pulpit and communion platforms are covered with the same material as the floor is carpeted with, and there is a cushion nine inches wide, made of the same material as those in the seats, on the outer edge of the communion platform.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect, drew the plans for these improvements. Mr. John Alford had the contract for the whole work of the alterations, extension and improvements, and, while supervising the whole work, had special charge of the carpentry. This carpentering, as well as the brick work, of which Mr. J. J. Hartley had the sub-contract, is done in a creditable manner. The painting, of which Mr. T. McGrath has the sub-contract, is not yet completed, but appears to give entire satisfaction so far as it has been proceeded with. The cost of the work will be about $3,000.

The general effect of the improvements is good, and unfeigned praise has been bestowed upon the church by all who have visited it since the work approached completion. The members of the congregation will find a comfortable, well lighted, well ventilated and tasteful edifice in which to worship the Lord, to whose service and worship it is dedicated. With the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., as the minister of the church, they will also have a popular pastor and an able expounder of the Scriptures.

THE RE-OPENING SERVICES.
This church, enlarged and renewed, was re-opened for divine worship on Sunday last. The pulpit was occupied at the morning service by the Rev. E. H. Dewar, D. D., editor of the Christian Guardian. After the opening exercises the choir sang a beautiful anthem in an excellent manner, Professor Heatfield, organist of George Street Church, presiding at the organ.

The Rev. Dr. Dewar chose for his text part of the 10th verse of the 22nd chapter of Acts:—"And I said, What shall I do, Lord?" The occasion on which words were uttered, he said, often invested them with a deeper interest than they would otherwise have, as their meaning was often intensified by the associations connected with them. They had many illustrations of this fact in history, as the words of Nelson, "England expects every man to do his duty," those of Luther when at the Diet of Worms, "Here I stand; I cannot do otherwise, so help me God, amen," and the words of John Wesley before his death, "The best of all is, God is with us." They had often gathered new inspiration from their suggestive and inspiring words of Wesley. The last words of dying friends often came back to them, a beautiful inheritance of their lives living forever in their hearts. The words of the text were used by the Apostle at the crisis of his history—the turning point of his life. Many lessons could be learned from the circumstances. Paul's transformation from the fierce persecutor to the noble Apostle of Christ was one of the grandest evidences of the truths of Christianity. Every dark mind that was enlightened and selfish mind that was annihilated was an evidence of the truth and power of religion, with which they could confound the sneering opponents of Christianity. Several thoughts came to one's mind as this text was pondered over. One was, that God's will was the supreme law of human life. This arose out of their relation to God and His relation to them. He was their all-wise Creator and loving Father. He who created them, and was infinitely wise and good, best knew why He had created them and how that purpose could be best accomplished. They had no other authority of law and action than God. It was popular, especially in works of fiction, and even with the better class of novelists, to represent the passions of nature as the supreme law of life, and to inculcate the idea that the instinctive propensities of the heart might be safely followed. This was false and misleading. Some of the darkest deeds in the calendar of crime had resulted from giving vent to the passions and propensities of unenlightened nature. The will of God was the supreme law because it was the foundation of moral obligations. "No matter how we came by them," said John Stuart Mill, "we have now sound principles of moral doctrine." But what motive would there be to teach these principles if the obligation to do so were taken away—if there was no God watching over them and no future world? If there was no legislature to enact laws, or no courts to enforce them, there would really be no laws. If God did not exist there was no law but their own propensities and the great moral laws were swept away. He warned them against a class of literature which used religious terms after emptying them of their meaning. There could be no religion without God. Religion was the faith of a trusting heart in the living God. If there was no being worthy of their trust and love, there could be no trust or love. If they did not trust in God's words they could have no hope, nothing but bleak, blank, hopeless despair. Trust in God and the hope of the land beyond was the saints' delight. They could know God's will in some measure from the character of His works and the revelation of it in His word. If they had felt the touch of God they could answer the many and misleading objections of sceptics, like the blind man who received his sight, by saying, "Whereas once I was blind, now I see." They could say that that word came into their hearts and made them different. They could also know God's will by the light of His Spirit. Of all the works of nature, God had made man alone with a nature capable of holding communion with Himself. Wherever there was a heart bowed in prayer there was a holy temple, a sacred altar and a present God. God had a work for each one to do. The circumstances of their existence and their capabilities proved that. Their mental and moral abilities, and the fields of labor, showed that He intended them to work, and the Scriptures proved what reason showed. What they could do would not merit salvation, but the inclination to work for God proceeded from a consecrated love and was acceptable to Him. Spiritual idleness was a sign of spiritual death. God had in his wise and loving plans and purposes a special work for each redeemed soul to do, and they fulfilled His purpose when they moved according to that plan, and failed to do so when in the perversity of their nature they turned from it. The thought that God had a plan and a purpose for them, that they were objects of His love and regard, imparted a dignity and grandeur to life. Although their field of labor might be obscure, they could not tell how much good they were doing, and if they preserved they would receive the reward. Mothers of large families, whose life seemed one of toil, should take heart, for if they were setting a holy example before their families they were strengthening the roots of society and their labor was highly esteemed in Heaven. He prayed that God would give all a baptism of power to consecrate themselves more fully to His service. Nothing revealed the true Christian so much as the prayers in which he opened his heart to God. The language of the text was that of perplexity. Shadows sometimes gathered around them and they could not see their way. They must, as Paul did, seek to know what God would have them to do. They must not delay by theorizing about religion, but submit to God's will. The language of the text was also the language of trust. They should be willing to do as God wished, and trust to him to sustain them. They should come to Him in a spirit of unreserved submission. The language of the Apostle, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" was suitable for all. Selfish desire should never be set up in opposition to God's plans. A safe rule for children to follow when in doubt as to any action, was to consider what their father or mother would wish them to do, and all should consider what God would wish them to do. To those unware he said that God wished them to repent and be saved, and they should not allow an opportunity to do so pass by; the the Luke warm in the church should become zealous. He invited those outside of the church, who found fault with the members, to come in and assist them. All should be glad to have a place in the glorious army of the living God. In conclusion he congratulated the congregation in obtaining possession of this church. It should be a consoling and supporting thought to those whose liberality had assisted in erecting and rearing the church that after they had passed away from earth the truth would still be spoken in the church and streams of influence for good would still be flowing out from it. He prayed that God's blessing might attend them in the church.

THE EVENING SERVICE.
Although the congregation was large at the morning service, there was a still larger number present in the evening. The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Dr. Nelson, Principal of Victoria University. The musical portion of the service was well conducted, and the anthem was an especially good one.

The Rev. Dr. Nelson took his text from I. Timothy, vi. 12:—"Lay hold on eternal life." He referred to the way in which a Christian in the allegory started on the pilgrim's program, and said they should be deaf to the allurements of sinful pleasures and to sounds that would intimidate them. There were several forms of life. There was plant life, the lowest form, and animal life, which included powers of sensation and locomotion and marvellous instincts. Then there was human life and angelic life, and infinitely beyond them all the life of Him who alone possessed immortality of Himself. He referred to the characteristics which distinguished human life from animal life and angelic life. It combined the animal nature and intellectual and moral nature. It was a two sided nature, one side touching the earth and the other reaching the angels, heaven, glory and God. This existence makes degradation possible, a thing that is not known among the lower animals, and gives the privilege of exaltation and glory. The life of man was like a ladder, the foot resting on the earth and the top resting on the threshold of the Eternal City. It was intended that man should climb and soar. Eternal life belonged to man's higher nature. It was that life which God's people gained possession of through regeneration.

A new principle of life might become engrafted in the old life by regeneration. It might be called eternal life because it partook of the divine nature. He was unable to define or make clear what eternal life was. This perplexity was not limited to that life alone. No one knew anything of the essence of plant life, or could tell what animal life was. There were profound mysteries connected with eternal life, but they should not reject it on that account any more than they would refuse an apple or the assistance of animals. Heaven was not eternal life, and immortality was not eternal life. The fallen angels were still immortal, but they had lost eternal life. Every day since their revolt the eclipses had darkened on Satan's intellect. Those who die in sin have immortal life, but not eternal life; they meet eternal death. Eternal life was not pleasure, any more than the perfume of the rose was the flower. At times perfume of soul was shown in a direct contrast to enjoyment. Man was not at his best in scenes of pleasure and delight, but in scenes of conflict, self-denial and even pain. God did not love man because He died for him, but He died for him because He loved him. If they would learn more of this higher life, they could learn it in the life of Jesus. That was one reason why He came to earth; to show the Father. "This is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." (John xvii. 3.) If they did not lay hold of eternal life in this life, they could not receive it at all. It was not hard for the good to die. It was a joyful transition to the fulness of eternal life.

After the sermon, while the collection was being taken up, Mrs. Chambers sang a beautiful solo.

The Rev. John Shaw then conducted the closing devotional exercises.

WHAT THE BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS REVEAL TO US

The Timber Trade Journal of June 16, says: In the returns under consideration there is nothing very reassuring. Not is there much to lament over. Our imports have slightly increased, on the whole, but the timber trade is in a state of depression. The total value of our imports for the month was $26,377,433, against $25,335,935 in May previous, the difference being only $1,041,498, or less than 1 per cent.; while our exports are not materially changed either, though the difference is on the wrong side. Last May, that is in 1882, they were valued at $25,421,000, this May at $24,851,000, the difference being but $570,000 on the month, or about 2 per cent. on the total; which, when we consider that an enormous business is still doing, and that some trade fluctuations materially in different periods of the year, might easily be accounted for without signifying any general downward tendency. But unfortunately it is below the average of the previous months of the year, and must therefore be taken to prove that the favorable turn we are all looking for has not yet demonstrated itself.

The difference may be said to be accounted for entirely by the lessened value of the woollen goods exported, for, though there are considerable fluctuations in other articles, they pretty nearly neutralize each other. For instance, in metals there is a deficiency in the export of iron, tin, and copper of $280,000, but an increase in machinery of $211,000, and arms and ammunition $288,000, &c. We need only touch on the salient items and general tendency of these returns, as the particulars have been discussed by the daily press before our audience to notice them came around. It is remarkable, however, that the trade which employs the largest quantity of shipping tonnage very seldom obtains any special notice in these monthly revelations, so that what has to be said thereunto usually appertains alone to this Journal.

If there were but reasonable resuscitation of trade, the timber returns of the Government officials would appear sufficiently encouraging. We may account for a certain degree of business depression by the numbers contending in almost every branch of trade, which has the effect of subdividing it into so many minor establishments that, though much is doing, few individual firms, in proportion to their staff and appointments, are doing a great deal. But when we find that the timber import of the country itself is diminishing, that, in fact, though the number of people competing in the trade is increasing, the business they do, as a whole, is smaller than it was a year ago, then it must be admitted that the business of trade has a deeper foundation than the number of competitors in it accounts for; and that appears to be the case with the timber interest now.

It happens, however, from the position of the trade itself, that this curtailment is not an evil at the present time. It is a consequence of the action of the import merchants themselves, and though indicating some restriction of trade, has the recommendation that it does not cut them, as last year, with superfluous while they are still tolerably well supplied for the requirements of the country. It would be more satisfactory on the whole, perhaps, to see the trade expanding instead of pulling itself together, as the phrase goes, but to find our wharves growing under accumulations of wood goods for which the retail dealers seemed to have no room, and trade altogether more quiet than usual would make but a gloomy prospect for the importer of the property. We might see greater figures on the import side without corresponding benefit to the merchants importing.

In May we called attention to the fact that the importations of foreign building timber up to the end of April were worth $17,000 less than that of 1882 for the same period of the year; but the falling off in May was still greater, as the importations were short of what they had been in 1882 by $10,000 less than that of the flat. The total deficiency of the quantity imported at that date is $28,111 loads. Now this amount of timber, though very great, is not any considerable portion of the British annual supply; but, at any rate, it is equal to about 6 per cent. of it, and assuming the total to average yearly about 54 millions of loads, the first five months of 1883 have left a gap to be filled up of more than a quarter of a million loads. Now we are quite aware that this apparent deficiency for it is so by comparison—may vanish away in a single month, because, on some occasions, such as occurred last year in the month of August, when over 900,000 loads came forward, exceeding the supply in August, 1881, a year of large importation, too, by about 180,000 loads—such a quantity is not a third part of a month's supply. But this is just the reason why it is reasonable to suppose it will remain in arrears. The supply was so full last summer that this season is not likely to surpass it, and a full importation henceforward cannot be expected to do more than keep pace with it; and what state of affairs may hold in the autumn it is too early yet to discuss, but the same reason that has put us in arrears in existence still, and the later months of the year may find the import of timber checked, as it was then, for the American harvest is likely to be a plentiful one, and it is to Europe they look for their principal market, which will tempt ships away from the timber trade.

It will, therefore, during the summer to almost a matter of simple calculation that the state of supply, if it does not further recede, will stand at about a quarter of a million behind last year, a difference that may be safely predicted to hold good to the end of September, and it would not surprise us if the marginal difference were increased in the same direction, though great efforts are being made to induce English importers to extend their purchases abroad.

There is one peculiarity in the Board of Trade returns which we should have noticed in its right place, but we may anticipate here rather than pass it over unnoticed. This country had to pay in 1881 and 1882 for corn food, and potatoes from foreign parts, a little over $23,000,000. For cereals and drinkables altogether about $25,000,000, from January to May inclusive. This year, for cereals and potatoes, we have

THE CONNECTING LINK.

RECENTLY the Globe has had two articles in reference to the additional Dominion grant of $6,000 per mile, making in all $12,000, for a line from Allandale to Gravenhurst, in order to connect our Provincial railway system with our great Transcontinental route. The Globe says: "This line will form the chief link between the Ontario railway system and the Canadian Pacific, and over this link every Ontario railway must have equal rights, and the traffic of every part of the Province must have absolutely fair play. The two systems which reach Gravenhurst are the Northern by its own line, and the Midland by statutory running powers over the Northern from Atherly Junction to Gravenhurst. Neither of these railways should have the slightest advantage over the other from Gravenhurst northward, but the neutral link of subsidised line should be outside of and independent of them both. The Northern and North-Western serve Toronto, Hamilton, and the West, and therefore they should have the fullest fair play, and equal rights with the Midland. The Midland is a Toronto standard gauge road now, and by it Toronto is the same distance from Atherly and Gravenhurst as by the Northern. Therefore Toronto, in order to have its two routes to Callender, must have the Midland's rights secured over the neutral link. The Grand Trunk is in close connection with the Midland, and every place on its great system in Western Ontario must insist that the Midland shall have fair play. In addition to this, the whole of the Province, from Toronto to Kingston will be subjected to a grossly unfair discrimination if the Midland does not stand on absolutely the same footing as its rival, the Northern."

There is another consideration in this question that must not be overlooked. The settlers of the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts have been long hoping for a railway to the front, and have always had the advocacy of the Globe to help them. But there is one thing that they do not want, and will not submit to—that is, a railway monopoly for their local traffic. If a railway is built by private capital, or with moderate public aid, it may require to have a monopoly of traffic to pay its interest. A line which is to receive $12,000 per mile, however, must never be a monopoly. Both the Midland and the Northern must have the same rights as to local traffic over the neutral link."

We are glad to accept the aid of the Globe in making assurance doubly sure that this connecting link shall be neutral and open on the same terms to all our railways. We need not concern ourselves especially with Toronto interests, for that selfish city with its selfish press is amply capable of looking after its own. But this district in common with the rest of the Province is greatly interested in seeing that this welcome grant is applied to its intended purpose, that of connecting our whole railway system on equal terms with the C.P.R. This aid was due to Ontario, as the Province of Quebec and the Maritime Province had already secured such public assistance for a connection with their own lines.

The Globe goes on to say that:—

"The public will be startled to hear that a bold effort is now being made to throw the whole Dominion subsidy into the hands of the Northern Railway."

The fact is that the public will hardly be startled by anything that the Globe may be pleased to assert, knowing well that it is an unsafe authority to trust. The Globe and its friends did all in their power to aid and advocate the construction of this connecting link by a company that certainly was not neutral, but was part of a scheme of monopoly. Now that a really neutral link is proposed, these disinterested critics are suddenly very much in favour of neutrality, and profess to see reason to fear that it may not be preserved. In favour of neutrality we have not only the pledge of Sir Charles Tupper, which in spite of the insulting language of the Globe is worth at least as much as that of any member of its party, but we have statutory obligations. The act authorising this and other grants says:—"Provided always that the granting of such subsidies shall be subject to such conditions for securing such running powers or traffic arrangements and other rights as will afford all reasonable facilities and equal mileage rates to all railways connecting with those so subsidised as the Governor in Council may determine." In the act chartering the company upon which the Globe looks with so much suspicion, it is provided that equal running power shall be given to all railways with no unfair advantage to any company, so that the granting of any undue preference would forfeit the charter.

It will thus be seen that provision has been made for the neutrality of this connecting link, and that conditions have been imposed to prevent its being controlled in the interests of monopoly. Still we are familiar with the bold and startling manoeuvres of the modern railway magnates, their combinations, alliances, purchases and mutual arrangements, and we should be on our guard lest any bold stroke or stealthy intrigue should interfere with that neutrality which both the Government and Parliament have aimed to secure. The press of this district and our representatives in the Commons should watch vigilantly that no such manoeuvre, if attempted, should be allowed to succeed.

Peterborough and the whole Midland District have a special interest in seeing that this connecting link with our Prairie and Pacific Provinces should not be hampered by unfair restrictions in favour of any particular line or railway combination. It would be a blow to our prosperity if the Midland Railway, which has done and is doing so much for the service of this district, should be subject to any discrimination on this connecting link that would harass and impede it in making arrangements for our traffic. At the same time we have an alternative route through our town rapidly nearing completion, and neither should it be subject to any invidious restrictions.

Peterborough, and we believe the rest of the Province, desires strict neutrality and fair competition in connection with this connecting link, and nothing short of this should be tolerated.

Herford's Acid Phosphate gives strength where there has been exhaustion and vigor in place of impaired vitality.

STRAWBERRY GROWING.

Scientific Culture of Choice Varieties and an Abundant Crop.

Learning that Mr. Arthur Blade had an extraordinary crop of strawberries on Mr. G. M. Roger's land, just within the town boundary, we paid a visit to the locality to judge for ourselves and obtain information for our readers.

The space at present devoted to the strawberries is about an acre and a quarter of rather elevated and naturally well drained land, the soil being a stiff clay loam, and we need hardly say being thoroughly well cultivated and enriched with bone dust and stable manure.

The yield this year is unusually large, and it is expected that it will amount to 5,000 quarts for the season. Already about 600 quarts have been marketed, although some varieties of the berry are not ripe enough for picking. On the morning of our visit, Dominion Day, or rather July second, over 300 quarts were picked and despatched. Some of the berries were so large as to require only eighteen to fill the quart, many specimens measuring over five inches in circumference. An inspection of the plants showed how so large a yield could be expected, for they were covered in profusion with enormous clusters of fast ripening berries.

A detailed account of the varieties grown will be of interest and we hope of service to many of our readers.

The "Crescent Seedling" is the earliest ripening. It is a very heavy yielder, but hardly so choice in quality as some others, and is too soft for any but a local market.

Next comes the "Duchess," a perfect berry both for form and flavor, and it is also a fair yielder.

Then follows the "Windsor Chief," a fair berry and a good yielder.

The "Champion" is a medium berry and yielder.

The "Sharpless" comes next, with a very large and well flavored berry, excellent for choice home use, but its yield not being sufficiently heavy to make it advantageous for the market.

The "Glendale" is the latest berry grown on this ground, it is of fair size and gives a good yield.

The "Bidwell" and "Jersey Queen" have been planted for a trial and give good promise, especially the "Bidwell."

The "Wilson," which is a favourite in some localities, has not succeeded in this ground.

Most of the plants are last year's pot plants, a year's time being gained by letting the runners root in pots and then transplanting them without disturbing the roots.

Mr. Blade uses 4,000 pots for this purpose, each of them two or three times over. He has now orders on hand for a large number for this fall's planting.

Some of the plants were imported from St. Catharines and the United States.

All the varieties wintered well this season and upon this the fruiting almost entirely depends. The previous winter the plants suffered severely.

Only two crops are taken off the vines and then they are ploughed under.

From what we learned we conclude that it is not advisable for people to rush indiscriminately into strawberry growing for the market, as there is great trouble and labour involved, and the crop is very precarious. On the other hand there is no reason why anyone with a garden large enough to spare a few yards space for the purpose should not have a strawberry bed, especially if he keeps a horse or cow so that he can enrich the soil.

Strawberries do not monopolize Mr. Blade's attention, half an acre being devoted to raspberries.

The following are the red raspberries grown:

The "Turner," a fair-sized, hardy berry, which always winters well and is a good yielder.

The "Philadelphia," which is the best berry for market, being a large yielder. The berries drop from the vines soon after they ripen. It is not quite so hardy as the "Turner."

The "Cuthbert" is the great berry in the States. It has a large berry and is a heavy yielder, but it is not very hardy, having been slightly winter killed this season.

Of blackcaps the "Gregg" is the only variety here cultivated; it has a fine large berry, and is a good yielder, but it is not quite hardy. About a quarter of an acre is also devoted to currants and gooseberries, which promise a good crop if the caterpillar can be successfully fought and it has apparently been overcome after a hard fight.

We may mention that the whole crop of strawberries, raspberries and other fruits for the season has been bought by Mr. H. E. Smith, the fishmonger and fruiterer on George street.

BELLEVILLE.

ARRESTED FOR SWINDLING.—Walter Cruick shanks was arrested at Belleville on Saturday charged with swindling. He advertised the appearance of a troupe of coloured jubilee singers in the village of Madoc, and a large audience assembled, but no performers appeared. The prisoner took the receipts for admission and came to Belleville. He was taken to Madoc for trial.

HOUSE BREAKING.—A man named Michael Lally was arrested on Friday morning for breaking into the house of James Demill, in the third concession of Tyendinaga, and threatening the inmates. The prisoner, who had $266 in his pockets, pleaded that his conduct was attributable to drunkenness. His brother was arrested on the same charge.

FENELON FALLS.

THE DREDGE.—The Gazette says that early on Friday morning the steamer Water Witch appeared in the Fenelon river towing the dredge that is to be employed in cleaning out the approaches to the canal. Mr. McDonald, the contractor, informs us that the dredge will commence operations on Tuesday.

HOBBS DROWNED.—On Tuesday evening a span of valuable horses owned by Messrs. McArthur & Thomson were sent across Cameron Lake to warp a tow of logs to the mill. They were turned loose on Grape Island, near the mouth of Burns River, for the night, and next morning it was discovered that one of them had swum half a mile or more to the main land, and that the other, in attempting to do so, had got drowned.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International throat and lung institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Calise House, Peterboro two days, July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spike, Harrowmuth P. O., near here, Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. De Boacherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont., Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Catarrhal Deafness; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung Disease; and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 173 Church Street Toronto or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

Dead Bodies Picked Up.

The schooner Midnight at St. Pierre reports that on June 20th she picked up a dory containing two dead bodies, dressed in black oil clothes and rubber boots. One had a smooth face, and the other about two weeks' beard. The dory was an old one, and had two trawls aboard. The bodies were buried at sea.

For all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters are unsurpassed. They strengthen the whole muscular system, give a healthy complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite and arouse into healthy action the whole physical energy of the human frame.

ANNUAL SERMON.

A Discourse by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw to the Members of the Orange Societies.

The Orangemen of the town and vicinity, accompanied by the True Blues, having met at their hall on the corner of George and Simcoe streets at 6 o'clock on the evening of Sunday, July 1st, marshalled in procession to St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, where a special sermon was delivered by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw.

Mr. BRADSHAW chose as his text the 17th verse of the second chapter of the First Epistle of St. Peter. He said: I have been requested on this occasion to address the members of the Orange order, and I gladly take the opportunity presented to me of tendering them some useful and practical advice. I am sure my words will be received by you all in the spirit in which they are offered, my sole desire being to benefit the institution and to make its members think a little more carefully of the duties incumbent upon them, and of the principles on which their society has been formed. I hope to speak to you to-night as at all times, in the spirit of Christian charity, and if I refer to the faults and failings, not of the institution, though I suppose being human it is not quite perfect—not to these things, however, but to the conduct of some unworthy members, it will be done kindly and with the view of correcting existing abuses. My main object is to lead you as good men and true, to fulfil more faithfully what is expected from you as self-appointed upholders of the constitution and maintainers of pure and undefiled religion. The charges to which I may refer, sometimes brought against the society, have only reference to unworthy members. I know, I am glad to say, many faithful Orangemen who endeavour earnestly to carry out their principles and live sober, righteous and godly lives. But here, while correcting faults, I may not seek to gain temporary popularity at the expense of truth. I may not dare to speak smooth things and prophesy deceit. With the great Apostle of the Gentiles, I too may say, "Woe is unto me if I preach not the Gospel."

I pray that I may be strengthened on this occasion to speak forth words of truth and wisdom, and that the seed may fall on the good ground of honest and faithful hearts and may bring forth forth the honest and useful fruit.

So far as I understand the principles of the Orange Institution, they are as follows:—First, loyalty to the Crown, the maintenance of law and order, and the British constitution. There is, secondly, a duty to maintain the assistance of the distressed and needy; and thirdly, there is obedience to Almighty God, the inculcation of those religious principles which make men happy here and hereafter. The general declaration prefixed to the constitution of the Orange Association, says, "It is formed by persons desirous of supporting to the utmost of their power, the principles and practices of the Christian Religion, to maintain the laws and constitution of the country, afford assistance to distressed members of the Order, and otherwise promote such laudable and benevolent purposes as may tend to the due ordering of religion and Christian Charity and the supremacy of law, Order and Constitutional freedom." This in fact is but an expansion of the scriptural injunction which forms my text, and if faithfully followed out, would undoubtedly result in good, both to the members themselves and to the entire human race. I know it has been supposed, indeed it is still considered by many, that the Orange Institution is mainly a political society and that hatred to one particular phase of religion, forms the best passport to an entrance into one of its lodges. This view, which I admit is widespread, is most erroneous. Mr. Bradshaw then alluded to the origin of the society, the germ of it appearing as early as November, 1688, when the Orange Confederation was founded at Kesh, near Derry. Since then a wonderful change has passed over the Society and its principles show religion lies at the base. That it has been in the past too much mixed up with politics is owing to the fact of very demagogues, who have frequently raised themselves to positions of trust and emolument through a misuse of their privileges as members. Such men have often proved their unfaithfulness to the duties imposed upon them by forsaking the society in the hour of need and by selling their principles for a moment of political gain. And sometimes they have done things against their own conscience that they might by any and by all means retain their place in the nation's hall of legislature and so often misrepresent their constituents. I venture to say as capable of proof, that the Orange Society has received more fair play from outsiders than from her own sons.

Perhaps, too, this idea of politics being the main purpose of Orangemen has spread somewhat, because preachers on such occasions as the present, have not insisted more upon the religious aspect of the institution and on the practical duties imposed upon all who are members.

With respect to the other charge, that it is designed to breed discord and division between our countrymen holding different religious views, no one, I submit, could gather this from a perusal of their written documents. True it is confined to Protestants. But so we find many religious and benevolent societies confined to Roman Catholics in this and in every land, and men have a perfect right to band together who have common rights to protect and common interests to defend, and who do not in any way break the nation's laws. So, too, those who have benevolent or religious purposes in view may associate themselves together, and are even protected in doing so.

Whether it was wise to graft such an institution in this Dominion from the parent land and so perpetuate and intensify past sectional feeling and strife, is not at present the question. About this I am not now concerned, though I have an opinion upon it.

I merely desire to show that if the members would only strictly follow out their own wise rules and guard carefully entrance among themselves, such a mistaken notion regarding the charge of spreading bad feeling among the subjects of Her Majesty would soon be exploded. Had Orangemen only been faithful to their own principles in the past, and had they acted as they are bound to do, this charge could never have arisen.

In the Declaration from which I have already quoted occurs this passage: "Disclaiming an intolerant spirit the society demands as an indispensable qualification, without which the greatest and the wealthiest may seek admission in vain, that the candidate shall be deemed incapable of persecuting or injuring any one on account of his religious opinions, the duty of every Orangeman being to aid and defend all loyal subjects of every religious persuasion in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights."

Again, in the qualifications essential to members occur these words,—"I cannot quote them without again impressing upon those present the need of being more particular respecting the admission of members. Look more to quality than quantity. Do not take into your lodges any who are drunkards or profane, or religious even. Have men in proposed for initiation enquire carefully into his character and antecedents. See if he is noted for possessing the fear of God and the love of mankind as well as simple loyalty. To do otherwise and admit the openly wicked is to break both the letter and spirit of the constitution, and to degrade yourselves as a society. Headlessness of these wise maxims laid down by the founders of Orangemen has done more to injure its prospects here and elsewhere than any conduct on the part of its friends or enemies."

Well, to quote these two-often neglected requirements. What is enjoined? An Orangeman "should have a sincere love and veneration for his Almighty Maker, the production of those lively and happy fruits, righteousness and obedience to His commands. His disposition should be humane and compassionate, and his behavior kind and conciliatory; he should be an enemy to savage brutality and every species of unchristian conduct; he should propagate the principles of religion, that is charity and good will to all men."

Now how could any one who fulfils these conditions become a bitter partisan and refuse to allow liberty of conscience to other men? How could he be a true Orangeman and yet those whose religious belief was different from his own? Mark you, he is to promote charity and good will to all men. He cannot do this if he is careless of giving offence, or intolerant or bigoted. Christian charity is one of the principles which form the foundation of the Orange institution, and without the exercise of this charity, St. Paul tells us, we are nothing. Without it our religion is as the sounding brass or the tinkling cymbal.

But it may be said this is all very well as theory, but rules go for nothing when practice is opposed to them. Actions speak louder than words. Men assert that Orangemen have done more by prepossession and such like to intensify party spirit than anything else.

Men ask as they see these displays, why should the friends and divisions, the factions and disturbances of other lands be imported into this great Dominion? Why should the growing generation be taught to look with suspicion and jealousy on their fellows because of events which occurred in other lands nearly two hundred years ago? Why should not all men live in peace and Godly concord?

I see no reason in the world. For my own part I can look on with an amused smile at processions of all kinds. Whether the regalia be green, or orange, or yellow, or nondescript, in no way disturbs my equanimity. If the law permits them, such displays are all right. But for my own part I should like to see all party processions abolished, and in their stead a grand national fête day observed, say the 1st of July, in which all the people in this great Dominion could gladly join, no matter what their religion, or politics, or race.

Let the Orangemen meet quietly in his lodges in honor of the glorious, pious and immortal memory. This is all his obligation binds him to do. And if, while there, surrounded by sympathizing friends, he spent the day or evening in amusement, or in that feast of reason and flow of soul which intellectual treatise supply, it would be a more rational, and in my humble judgment a better plan, than that now usually adopted of keeping up his connection with past events. Let those who uphold St. Patrick or St. George for their patron saint do the same. In this way we might, I am convinced, banish those feuds existing between those who should live in amity and peace, and Godly concord. By this plan, coupled with the exercise of Christian charity, we should forever destroy division and faction, which are of the devil, and which moreover degrade humanity, and insult the dignity of Almighty God.

I have been led into these rather irregular and desultory remarks at the risk of both you and myself forgetting the text and the duties which it imposes upon us. Let me refresh your memory by again repeating it, and though I may detain you somewhat longer than usual, we shall briefly gather up the teaching it is designed to convey to us. Thus writes St. Peter: "Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the King." These four pillars sentences make up an admirable sermon by an Apostle on the subject of Reverence. The writer considers his theme in four different aspects. First generally, reverence towards all men, or universal charity and esteem: Honour all men. Second, reverence in somewhat closer or nearer relations, or regard for the brethren: Love the brotherhood. Third, reverence in its highest and yet humblest form, or submission to God: Fear God. And lastly the reverence of fidelity and submission to authority, or in one word, loyalty: Honour the King.

Under each of these divisions the preacher spoke fully and eloquently, insisting upon the practical duties they set forth, and showing how Orangemen especially were bound by their rules to observe them.

He closed his sermon by an affecting allusion to Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria. Her reign, he said, will indeed be a golden one in the annals of our nation's history, and in our inmost hearts this day, as loyal men we pray that God may bless and keep her. We do not claim in this great Dominion any monopoly of loyalty over other countries connected with Great Britain, yet we claim to be second to none in our attachment to the person of our gracious sovereign, and in our esteem for the British constitution. As Canadians we are this; as Orangemen you too are this; and you can be no more. May you be as faithful to the King of Kings as you are to an earthly sovereign! May you be as obedient to the laws of Heaven as you are to the nation's laws! And may the very God of peace sanctify you wholly, and I pray God your whole spirit and soul, and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The church was filled to overflowing, and the sermon was listened to with marked attention by all present. After the service the members of the order marched back to their hall, where they were addressed by the County Master, Bro. R. Weir, and others. It was then moved, seconded and resolved,—That the thanks of the Orangemen of this district are due, and are hereby tendered to the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw for his able and eloquent sermon. The members then separated.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1883.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.
 TUESDAY, July 3.—Patrick Shearer was charged by Chief Johnston with having been drunk and disorderly on Monday. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $2 or to go to gaol for ten days. The fine was paid.

Robert White, jr., had a similar charge preferred against him by P. O. Pidgeon. He also pleaded guilty and was fined $2 or ten days.

INTERFERING WITH THE CONSTABLE.
 R. White, jr., was also charged with interfering with the constable while in the discharge of his duty. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the Police Magistrate. The evidence of P. O. Pidgeon was taken, and he was convicted and fined $5 or twenty days in gaol.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.
 WEDNESDAY, July 4.—Thomas Ritchie, a young man, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty. The Magistrate pointed out to him the evils of drinking, gave him some excellent advice, and allowed him to go.

Is Your Watch Clean.
 Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hagan's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

Piano Tuning.
 Mr. George I. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Riech, Toronto, is in town, and will attend to any orders left at T. Menzies' book-store or Taylor & McDonald's Drug store.

The Warsaw Mail.
 There is now a daily mail to and from Warsaw by South Douro, the Government having acceded to the petition of the people using those offices.

The King-Fisher.
 The steamer King-Fisher will run to Gore's Landing, Harwood and Idyl Wild on every Monday, Thursday and Friday, leaving her wharf at 8 a.m. This steamer has been inspected by the Government Inspector, and pronounced A.1.

Strawberries and Music.
 The ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral have made arrangements for a strawberry festival and promenade concert, at which the Fire Brigade Band will assist, at the Murray Street Separate School, on Thursday evening, July 5th. The proceeds will be devoted to the Library Fund.

Early Closing.
 As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, the drug stores will, on and after Monday next, close at 8 o'clock each evening, except on Saturdays, during the months of July and August. Their customers are requested to remember this and govern themselves accordingly.

Strawberry Festival.
 A strawberry festival, the first of the season, will be held at the residence of Mr. George Edmondson, Rutledge street, on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Association of St. Andrew's Church. In addition to a plentiful supply of the luscious fruit and other refreshments, there will be a good musical programme provided for entertainment, and all who attend may expect a rare treat.

Mail Arrangements.
 In consequence of the change in the Midland time table, mail arriving from the East and West into Port Hope in the evening would have to be there until the 10 o'clock train from Port Hope, not reaching Peterborough until noon, as the 6 a.m. train from Port Hope runs through on the main line, but has no connection with Peterborough. The Post Office Inspector for this district has therefore made arrangements for the mails to be conveyed by stage from Millbrook, arriving here at 9 a.m. as usual. It is to be hoped that the Midland will rearrange their time table in this particular.

Good Templary.
 The amalgamation of Peterborough and Friendship Lodges, I. O. G. T., which has been talked of for some time, on Tuesday evening became an accomplished fact. Friendship Lodge being the longest established, it was agreed to work under its charter, and the united lodge will be known by the name of Friendship. Although this action decreases the number of lodges in the town, there being only two now instead of three, it will doubtless add to the influence of the Order. The united lodge will celebrate the union on Monday evening next by a strawberry festival.

The Striking Italians.
 The Italian navy who was in custody in Omeene, was liberated on Tuesday and has returned to the work. The strikers have all resumed work except about thirty-five of the sons of Italy, who came into town on Tuesday, and are at present quartered in an empty house on Aylmer street. The three men who were shot had their wounds dressed by Dr. Kincaid, and two of them have gone to work again. The third one was brought to Peterborough on Tuesday night. His wound is more serious, the bullet having entered his hip, but in a conversation with the surgeon this morning we were led to suppose that he was not at present in danger.

LEGAL NEWS.

The County Court Term—Appealed Cases at Osgoode Hall.

A session of the County Court was held on Tuesday, His Honor Judge Denison presiding.

DUMBLE v. BOYD.—Mr. C. W. Sawers, for the defendant, moved for an order nisi to set aside the verdict rendered for the plaintiff at the June sittings, and to enter judgment for the defendant upon several questions of law. Order granted.

The above was the only application to the Court.

The following cases are reported in the Toronto papers as having been heard in appeal at Toronto:—

GUNES v. MIDLAND RY. CO.—Action by the mother of a brakeman of the defendants for damages under Lord Campbell's Act for the loss of her son, who was swept off a train by striking against a bridge belonging to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway, which latter railway crosses over the defendants' line on the bridge in question. Verdict for the plaintiff at the trial. Judgment—Motion absolute to enter judgment for the defendants with costs. J. Bethune, Q.C., for the motion; Clute (Belleville) contra.

COCHRAN v. BOUCHER.—Action for damages for wrongful seizure of goods, tried before Wilson, C.J., and a jury at Peterborough, and verdict for the plaintiff for $275. Order nisi to set aside the verdict discharged with costs. G. Moss, Q.C., for the motion; Z. A. Lash, Q.C., contra.

The fall sittings of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice will be held in Peterborough on Monday, September 24th, the Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench presiding. The Chancery autumn sittings will commence on Monday, October 15th. His Honor Mr. Justice Proudfoot will preside.

First of the Season.
 Our enterprising market gardener, Mr. Stephen Payne, had green peas on the market this morning, the first of the season, as well as a large supply of fine, fresh strawberries. Strawberries are a delightful luxury at all seasons, and green peas come under the same category at this early season of the year for them. He found a ready sale for them.

The Weather.
 Another shower of rain visited here shortly after noon to-day. The weather is very warm. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a.m., to-day, by the Great North-western Telegraph company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds; fair to cloudy weather, with local rains and thunder storms. Not much change in temperature.

New Court of Foresters.
 A dispensation has been granted to Mr. H. W. Watson, P. C. R., by the Right Worshipful High Court of Canada, to organize a new Court of Foresters in Peterborough, to be called "Little John," which starts with thirty charter members. We wish the new Court all the success which it will no doubt meet with under the active experience of Mr. Watson, whose enthusiasm for Forestry is well known.

Lacrosse Notes.
 The Uxbridge lacrosse team, which played here last week, defeated the Port Perry club on Monday by three straight games. Time, 3, 2, and 20 minutes.

The Norwood club defeated the Madoc club on Monday by three straight games. Time, 23 minutes.

The Toronto and Shamrocks had a tussle for the championship, but the latter still hold it.

A Heavy Thunder Storm.
 One of the heaviest, if not the heaviest, thunder storm that has visited this section for years arrived at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night. The rain came down in torrents, and the flashes of lightning were terrific, while the heavy peals of thunder shook the earth. The storm continued for an hour. The chimney of a house on Water street, occupied by Mrs. Moscrop, was struck by the lightning and some of the bricks thrown down. A safety cylinder in the stove pipe hole was thrown out and fell down in the hall. Several trees in the vicinity of the town were shattered, but the only report of serious damage received so far comes from Otonabee, where two cows belonging to Mr. George English were killed.

The New Time Table.
 The new time table went into effect this morning on the Midland Railway. The trains for Toronto leave here at 6.15 a.m., and 3.30 p.m., and arrive at Toronto at 10.55 a.m., and 8.30 p.m. The 6.15 train reaches Port Hope at 7.45 a.m. The trains from Toronto leave here at 7 a.m., and 4.15 p.m., and arrive here at 11.55 a.m., and 9.25 p.m. The trains to Lakeside leave here at 8.30 a.m., returning at 10.55 and at 12.05 noon, returning at 2.35 p.m. The trains on the Grand Junction branch leave here at 6 a.m. and 3 p.m.; and arrive at Belleville at 10.15 a.m., and 7.30 p.m.; coming this way they leave Belleville at 6.45 a.m., and 2.40 p.m., and arrive here at 11.55 a.m., and 7.30 p.m. A train goes to Port Hope from here at 8 p.m.

University of Toronto.
 A meeting of the graduates was held at the rooms of the Mechanic's Institute on Thursday, the 28th of June, ten members being present, when it was unanimously resolved to form a local association to include all graduates of the University resident in the County of Peterborough. Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, M.A., was elected chairman and Mr. K. B. Edwards M.A. Secretary of the association. A resolution was passed that in the opinion of the meeting, it is desirable that some plan be devised whereby the views of graduates resident outside of Toronto upon questions within the powers of convocation may be expressed and recorded without the necessity of personal attendance of all the members at the meetings of convocation at Toronto. A committee consisting of Messrs. J. F. Jeffers, T. A. Haultain, and K. B. Edwards was appointed to draft the details of a plan to this end and to submit the same for the consideration of the association and to communicate with other County Associations.

Watches and Jewellery.
 Anything in the Watch or Jewellery repairing line left at Hagan's New Shop, Simcoe street, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, will be promptly attended to; charges moderate.

Smith's Market.
 Strawberries every morning. Parties and festivals supplied at a moment's notice. Berries picked on dry days for preserving; all orders will receive prompt and careful attention. Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Green Peas, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, etc.

Fresh Fish. Parties will confer a great favor by leaving their orders on Thursday evenings, as we find it utterly impossible to get over so large a tract of ground late Friday morning in time for dinner.

The Forest at the bottom of Lake Tahoe.

For some years past there has been a bank in Lake Tahoe, which in clear weather has generally been taken for moss formation. It lies at the right of the steamer's course between Tahoe city and Tallac house, about two miles beyond Idlewild. It looked as if a lot of trees had sunk to the bottom of the lake and that moss and alms had collected there until the whole presented a wavy semi-transparent appearance about 50 feet below the surface. During the past few weeks the moss and debris has disappeared, and now when the water is clear a forest of pine trees can be plainly seen with every limb and twig perfect. On Wednesday last some fishermen went out there in a boat, and lowering some grappling irons, secured some splendid pieces of the petrification. One is a pine branch about three feet long, which, held a few feet from the eyes, has the exact appearance of a pine branch just taken from a living tree, and apparently fresh and green, the brittleness and weight distinguishing it from the freshly-cut branch. The forest occupies about two acres, and seems like a forest immersed, except that its stony branches are forever still and tall woods and vines which cluster about the trunks of the giant trees are as motionless as the rocks. No wind ever stirs this strange verdure, and the birds which once sang in the branches centuries ago have given way to fish, which swarm through the forest in thousands.—Carson Appeal.

AN IMPROVEMENT.

The printing of this issue has for the first time been effected by motive power supplied by a water wheel. A small motor driven by water from the Water Works Company's main at the ordinary service pressure, suffices to run all our presses simultaneously with great ease and steadily, saving expense and labour, and adding greatly to the comfort of our staff.

We have no doubt that Turck's water motor will be largely used in Peterborough, as it supplies a most convenient and economical motive power for many purposes.

For this benefit we have to thank the Water Company, since it is owing to their enterprise and public spirit that such a useful motive power is rendered available.

NOT EVEN THE LETTER.

Of course the appointment of Sir Charles Tupper as High Commissioner for Canada in London is very irritating to those whose equity has been injured by his great services to his party and to his country. The Globe and its imitators are especially aggrieved that he should fill this office while still retaining his seat in the House of Commons and his portfolio in the Dominion Cabinet, pronouncing such an arrangement to be unconstitutional and unprecedented. When it is pointed out that, among numerous other precedents, Mr. Gladstone, the British Premier, and Sir Stafford Northcote, the leader of the Opposition, both represented the British Empire without giving up their seats in the Commons, we are told that they and other ministers and members in a similar position were not paid for their services, and that the law of Canada forbids the seat of a member accepting a paid office from the Crown. Here again they are met with the conclusive rejoinder that neither Sir Charles Tupper accepting any remuneration for his services as High Commissioner, so that the law does not apply in his case.

The opposition critics being thus altogether routed in their attacks upon the appointment as unconstitutional, forsake any argument as to the spirit of the law and proceed to cavil at the mere letter. The statute, they say, does not confine the forfeiture of a seat to the acceptance of a paid office, but extends the qualification to any office to which a salary is attached, and they go on to assert that the statute creating the office of High Commissioner attaches a salary to it. We would submit that critics who dwell in a pettifoggish manner upon the mere letter as opposed to the spirit of an enactment, should themselves be scrupulously correct as to the letter. Far from being accurate, however, they make a distinctly false assertion, for the statute does not attach a salary to the office of High Commissioner. What it does is to provide that no salary exceeding $10,000 shall be given, so that the remuneration may range from nothing to $10,000.

In brief, Sir Charles Tupper gets nothing for his salary as High Commissioner, and so complies with the statute creating the office. He has not accepted a paid office, and so has not come under the statutory disqualification.

The question whether it is desirable for the same person to fill the offices of a Dominion cabinet minister and of our representative in London is one upon which there may be a difference of opinion, and it is fairly within the province of the opposition to discuss it. But it is not fair or honest of them to import falsehood and misrepresentation into their discussion of the subject.

VICTORIA AND PETERBOROUGH COUNTIES

The Lindsay Post in its last issue has a very unjustifiable and unfounded attack upon the County of Peterborough in regard to certain bridges. It refers especially to the road from Kilmount to Pigeon Creek, on which there are a number of bridges. As to the Bobcaygeon bridges, it has, in accordance with its view of the law, declined to maintain bridges in the county of Victoria for the use of the people of Victoria, and as the county of Victoria has obtained, by Act of the Legislature, part of the territory of the county of Peterborough, it seems not unreasonable to expect the county of Victoria to assume also the contingent liabilities.

In reference to the Pigeon Creek bridge, the county of Victoria has on its part exhibited considerable meanness, for except upon one occasion, when it made a small grant, it has always refused to assist in maintaining that bridge. This is the more extraordinary as Pigeon Creek Bridge is altogether in the county of Victoria, and for the benefit of its ratepayers. By means of this bridge the farmers of the county of Victoria are enabled to reach the town of Peterborough, where they can obtain remunerative prices for their produce in what is acknowledged to be a very superior market. We can understand the animus in Lindsay against the Pigeon Creek bridge, which facilitates the traffic of Victoria farmers with a more thriving rival town affording a better market, but our contemporary should remember that Lindsay is not the county of Victoria.

A complaint of meanness and selfishness against the county of Peterborough comes with very bad grace from the county of Victoria, when some events in their past municipal history are recalled. We will mention two as specimens.

When the counties of Peterborough and Victoria separated they came to an amiable mutual arrangement that a certain sum of money, which was due from Victoria to Peterborough, on account of outstanding liabilities of the then united counties was to be payable by instalments. On the final settlement, the county of Peterborough voluntarily remitted a certain portion of their claim though it was legally and admittedly due by Victoria.

In marked contrast with this liberal treatment, upon the rebuilding some years ago of the Cowans Bridge in the County of Victoria, that County refused to pay its fair proportion of the expenditure, the county of Peterborough having unfortunately only its verbal agreement to do so.

We may ask which appears to be the liberal and which the selfish and mean county?

As to the threat of putting up toll gates and charging stiff prices to Peterborough travellers it is very silly. Such a proceeding would be illegal, impossible to carry into effect, and very injudicious if it could be effected. Victoria had better make up its mind to act fairly and liberally and to be neighbourly, for its threats and law suits will not avail it anything.

SLANDER REFUTED.

The Winnipeg Times of June 27th contains the following refutation of what it justly characterizes as "infamous slanders," of which one of the victims was a highly respected gentleman from Peterborough, though this did not prevent the false accusation from appearing in a local paper. The people of Peterborough in general will rejoice that Col. Kennedy is cleared from such an unfounded and malicious charge. The Winnipeg Times says:—

"Just before the House adjourned yesterday, the Premier rose to a question of privilege and referred to two statements which recently appeared in an eastern paper with regard to matters which recently transpired in the House. The first was a paragraph in the Ottawa Free Press of June 18th, about the registrar, lately of Selkirk and now of Winnipeg. The paragraph stated that Col. Kennedy was behind in his accounts to the extent of fifty thousand dollars, having indulged to a large extent in speculation; that on the previous day he had paid in $13,000, and had transferred all his real estate to the Government; that he had a large family, and had been dismissed from office. Having read this extraordinary string of falsehoods, the Premier said that in the interests of the public, as well as for the safety of the character of private individuals, the correspondents of the press, knowing the wide circulation which the press has to-day, should be more guarded in their statements. Even those who brought up the matter for the investigation, admitted on the floor of the House that the gentleman, so far as honesty was concerned, was beyond suspicion; and it was really too bad that statements like these should obtain a world wide circulation. The statement was false, and very prejudicial to the character of the gentleman whose conduct was now being investigated by the public accounts, and who desired the investigation as much as any member of this House."

In its issue of June 28th the Winnipeg Times also says:—

"The public accounts committee met until 12 o'clock last night, being occupied nearly the whole time in discussing the accounts of Col. Kennedy, now registrar of Winnipeg, and formerly of the county of Selkirk."

Col. Kennedy, accompanied by his counsel, Mr. Bedley Blanchard, appeared and explained the accounts which he claims against the Government in connection with both offices, for the years 1881 and 1882. The accounts were examined, and a great deal of discussion took place. The members of the committee admitted that a large portion of the account was properly chargeable to the Government, including a charge for copying documents, an act necessitated by the transfer of a large office of the business from the county to the city office, when the letter was created. But as to the remainder of the account the general opinion expressed was that although the expenditure might have been properly incurred by Col. Kennedy, it was not chargeable to the Government of this Province, but to the city of Winnipeg and the county of Selkirk. In reference to these points Mr. Kennedy said that he was compelled to charge to the Government the whole amount of his contra account, because the law, as it now stood upon the statute book, did not give him the power to compel the county and city to pay the running expenses of his office. He therefore contended that as it was certainly not fair that he should pay the amount out of his own pocket, he should look to the Government for what he claims to be fairly due him. The committee decided that Mr. Kennedy be requested to pay over to the Government the sum of about $8,000, being the amount considered to be chargeable to the city and county.

Instructions were also given to the inspector of registry offices and to the provincial auditor to examine all the accounts and report as soon as possible to the public accounts committee.

The trouble which Mr. Kennedy has had in collecting the running expenses of the office from the city and county appear to be experienced by other registrars, the cause being the lack of machinery which should be provided by the registry act. The main difficulty is the improper organization of the county councils. But the new act now before the Legislature will prevent any difficulty of this kind arising in the future.

C. F. R. Steamer Launched.

On Tuesday the launch took place at Glasgow of the first of the three steamers under construction for the Canada Pacific Railway service on Thunder Bay. The vessel was christened Athabasca, and is two hundred and seventy feet long, thirty broad, and twenty-three deep. She is of two thousand tons burden, and her contract speed is fifteen miles per hour. The ceremony was successfully performed. The vessel promises to fully realize expectations.

For all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters are unsurpassed. They strengthen the whole muscular system, give a healthy complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite and arouse into healthy action the whole physical energy of the human frame.

The Globe, writing of the Northwest and the C. P. R., says "that every far-sighted intelligent man knows that the monopoly which that giant enterprise is today one of the chief hindrances to the growth and prosperity of that magnificent country; that in it lies the danger which threatens the peace of Canada."

Does the Globe really expect anybody to believe this dreadful nonsense? The C. P. R. has been the making of the Northwest. What would be the result if the Globe were to see while Mr. Mackenzie was pottering about the Landing of the John Thompson? Is he asking English capitalists to build the road from end to end? The rate of progress of the undertaking since the Globe took hold of it, has been unprecedented. To-day the rails are laid and construction trains are running 30 miles west of Medicine Hat, and by the middle of August at the latest the line will be open as far as Calgary. On the section east of the Landing, four thousand men are employed. In British Columbia the surveys are completed, and, once through the mountains, completion will be made in short order with Ontario's section. No Government could have carried on this gigantic work with the enterprise or skill that has been displayed by the Syndicate. The people of Manitoba and the Northwest can never be persuaded by the Globe that the signing of the Syndicate contract was a bad job for them.—Winnipeg Times.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FORESTERS' EXCURSION.

The Foresters of Lakefield held their annual excursion to Stony Lake per steamer Cruiser on Dominion Day. The steamer Cruiser left her wharf at 8 o'clock in the morning with over a hundred people on board; the weather was delightful throughout the whole day. After a splendid cruise around Stony Lake, Grillechrist Bay was reached about 11 o'clock. The invigorating effect of Stony Lake air was soon seen. Foragers and their wives as well as their sons and daughters were tugging and lugging huge baskets from the boat to shady spots, convenient as a picnic ground. About four hours were spent at this place by the party. During the stay at this beautiful bay a little girl made a mistake and fell overboard; an older brother sprang in, now having after her and before other onlookers could realize what was the matter the child was placed on shore. All were loud in their praise of the boy's promptness. About three o'clock a start was made for Julian's Landing, where the party arrived at five o'clock and a picnic was held. The boat was then taken to the shore and the party dispersed. The boat-boys gave satisfaction to all parties, and everyone seemed pleased with the boat, the captain, the weather, themselves, and everybody else.

TWELFTH OF JULY.

The Orangemen of Lakefield are going to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne in the town of Port Hope this year. It has been arranged that the Peterborough Fire Brigade Band will come to Lakefield in the morning of the 12th, and accompany the Lakefield brethren to Peterborough, where a procession will be formed by the County of West Peterborough, which will march through the principal streets to the station, before leaving for Port Hope. It is expected that a large number of people will go from Lakefield. The people of Lakefield will be glad to have a visit from the Peterborough Band, which is held in great favour in this village.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Council of the Lakefield Public School held a meeting in the Council Room on Tuesday evening next, at 7:30 o'clock.

YOUNG CANADIANS.

No. 1385, will meet in the Orange Hall, in this village, on Tuesday evening next, at eight o'clock.

Council of No. 1385, will meet on Tuesday evening next, at 8 o'clock, at 8 o'clock, in Union Hall, on Queen street.

YOUNG'S FIGHT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DOMINION DAY.—The village was very quiet-looking on Monday last, as nearly all the villagers availed themselves of the right night they celebrated on, seeing in Peterborough, and they came back well pleased. The day was fine but very warm. The Lakefield Foresters took a trip up the lake with their wives and families. They had a pleasant day of it. Your correspondent took a trip to Rochester, he saw the sports on the 4th of July and got lots of nice warm weather. His weather for home coming at last.

SAVING DRIVERS.—Messrs. Rathbun & Sons have allocated 140,000 saw logs to pass here this season en route to their mills on the Trent—this firm does an immense business.

OUR OLD FRIEND.—We had a visit last week for a few days from Mr. W. G. Thompson, formerly of Peterborough. He looks well and feels a little spirit since he has shaken off his feet any remains of dust or dirt from dry roads. Mr. Thompson is now a resident of Lindsay, being book-keeper for Messrs. Needler and Saddler, flog and saw millers, and like the change immensely.

THE SEPARATE SCHOOL.

The examination for the promotion of pupils in the different classes of the boys division of the Separate School was completed on Thursday, with the following results:

FOR ENTRANCE TO HIGH SCHOOL.—Joseph Henry, Joseph Phelan, Patrick J. McNamee, Patrick Murphy, Armand Welch, James Lynch, Redmond Henry, Michael Kelly.

PROMOTED TO THE 4TH CLASS.—Joseph Cahill, Daniel Hayes, John J. Murphy, Charles McDonald, John Tagney, Daniel Bolton, Michael Bolton, George McAllister.

PROMOTED TO THE 3RD CLASS.—William McGrath, Garrett Fitzgerald, James O'Brien.

PROMOTED TO 2ND CLASS, JUNIOR.—James Albert Butler, Thomas Carroll, Edmund Bolton, Matthew J. McPherson, John Garry, Agnes Barrett.

PROMOTED TO 2ND CLASS, SENIOR.—James McDonough, William O'Brien, Fred McFadden, Geo. Kearns, John Sullivan.

This school has had a very harmonious and successful session. The new teachers that took charge of the school at the beginning of the year have produced marked changes in its organization, management and efficiency, and it now stands second to no separate school in Ontario. A live, intelligent and progressive School Board, elected a short time ago, have been instrumental in raising the school to its present efficient condition.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE!

ON THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY LINE NEAR PORT HOPE.

A Brakeman Fatally Injured and a Fireman Hurt—The Engines and Twelve Cars Destroyed—Damage of $200,000—Two Midland Cars Wrecked.

Special to the Review.

PORT HOPE, July 6.—One of the most disastrous collisions that has occurred on the Canadian section of the Grand Trunk for many years took place just east of the Port Hope viaduct, about six o'clock this morning, between two freight trains. The train going west had the right of way. It was drawn by locomotive No. 450, Graham, of Toronto, engineer, and Willibee, of the same place, fireman. The train going east was drawn by locomotive No. 464, Baird being engineer and Clay fireman, both of Toronto. The train from the east had the right of way. When the train from the west arrived at Port Hope station, the engineer, knowing the other was a regular train, pulled up for orders. He was handed an order cancelling the regular train, thus giving his train the right of way to Cobourg. He then pushed on. It was about six o'clock and a pretty heavy fog was hanging over the track. As he reached the heaviest part of the down grade he saw the locomotive of the other train just turning the curve south of the toll gate. He whistled for brakes, but the grade and the loaded cars were too much to make any perceptible difference in the speed of his train. At the same moment the engineer from the east observed the train ahead. He had just got on the fullest head of steam so as to ascend the grade. The men on both trains saw in an instant that a collision was unavoidable and they prepared to save themselves by jumping or running back over the cars. Those who jumped were all right; they escaped without injury. One of the firemen, Clay, had reached the top of the third car before he jumped, and in the fall he sprained his shoulder. The one who received the greatest injuries was a brakeman named Porter, of Belleville. He was thrown from the top of a car in such a way as to be badly injured internally. At this time of writing, Dr. Powers, who was summoned to the scene of the disaster, can scarcely tell how badly he is injured, but he fears there are no hopes of his recovery. The huge locomotives came together with a fearful crash. Mr. Philip, living on the old Carverth farm, was watching the trains when the collision took place. He says that when the steam monsters came together they were thrown up in the air, and then they tumbled to the south side of the track, locked together. Not less than eleven or twelve freight cars were destroyed, beyond any hope whatever of ever being fit for use again. Half of them at least are smashed into splinters. Among the details are a couple of Midland railway cars that were loaded with corn at the Midland elevator on the 4th instant. As for the locomotives, they were destroyed completely. The boilers and machinery were smashed into a thousand atoms, even some of the great wheels being damaged beyond repair. The track is torn up for about a dozen car lengths, the ties being broken into splinters and the rails twisted out of shape. The damage cannot be covered with less than $200,000, and will probably exceed that sum. The Port Hope News of this morning thus sums up the situation:—"As to who may be at fault it is not our province to indicate. This disastrous collision ought to be a warning to the managers of the Grand Trunk Railway. If there is any necessity of any class of railway employees being men of experience, the telegraph operators must be regarded as such, who are the poorest paid men on the road. Those who are known as the most reliable and responsible telegraph operators in the country should have charge of the telegraphic instruments at railway stations, and they should not be overworked. Such men cannot be secured at starvation salaries. They must be paid in accordance with their abilities. If the management of the Grand Trunk will go to work and place only such in charge of their telegraph offices, they will save more than enough in one year to reimburse them for the additional expense incurred under such a system in twenty years. The subject is one that should excite the immediate attention of Mr. Elphinstone and his able staff of assistant managers."

A Fresh Anecdote of Webster.

It was a pleasant day in spring, when Daniel Webster, military and alone, with gun in hand, explored several ducks swimming out toward the centre of the lake, after he had in vain scoured the old hill roundabout for many hours in search of game. He was determined to get a good shot at them, if it took all the rest of the day. So securing himself in the bushes until they came within fair range, he let 'em have it with both barrels at once, and laid low on the surface of the water a couple of pair of beautiful teal, which he was not long in carrying away with him. He had not got out of sight of the water, however, before Mr. Allen, hailing him, held up in his hand a cheque for $500, which he had just received as a fee in some suit Webster had argued, exclaiming:—"Here is something I have brought you, more than all your ducks."

Upon explaining what it was, Webster replied:—"You are mistaken Allen, easily mistaken. These birds are worth to me double the amount of your cheque, for, beside the sport I have had in catching them, they have given me new life and spirits in the open air; while the money only reminds me of sleepless nights, mental worry and anxiety and the drag of my profession."

And what manner of man is it, let me ask, that shall say Webster was not right?

A cheque for £100 has been forwarded by the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland to Lord Bandon in promotion of the Cork Exhibition.

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

AMERICAN. THE HEATED TERM.

New York, July 6.—Twelve cases of sunstroke were reported yesterday, and a number of sudden deaths of infants from heat.

NO DUEL AFTER ALL.

New York, July 6.—There is much doubt whether the Knox-Shabanah affair culminated in a duel. Some think it a mere advertising hoax.

DRINKING ON THE SCAFFOLD.

El Paso, Texas, July 5.—Joseph Brewster, a soldier guilty of rape, who was hung at Yuleta yesterday in the presence of 800 spectators, made no confession, but delivered a speech of twenty minutes, during which he took two big drinks of whiskey, his religious adviser taking the bottle from him once. After the fall Brewster behaved terribly. The rope slipped and he was hauled up to the platform and the rope replaced.

ANTI-POLYGAMY LAW.

St. Paul, July 6.—Gov. Ramsey, Chairman of the Utah Commission, says the Utah election in August 6th for members of the Legislature and local officials will test the efficacy of the anti-polygamy law. The next Legislature must be elected by monogamists.

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED.

Kinston, N. C., July 6.—Two little children of Wilson Williams disappeared on Wednesday night. The body of one was found in the river. Both were probably drowned.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Annapolis, Ind., July 6.—Fordland Hart, while trying to save his grandson from drowning at West River yesterday, perished with the lad.

BUSINESS HOUSES BURNED.

Godsby, Ala., July 6.—Fifteen business houses were burned yesterday. They included some of the largest in the town. The loss is very heavy.

A FATAL RESULT.

Salt Lake, July 5.—Fitzsimon the noted pugilist, who was shot by a broker in an altercation yesterday, died this morning.

A PUGILIST'S ARRIVAL.

Philadelphia, July 6.—Wm. Sheriff, middleweight pugilist, has arrived from England, and Arthur Chambers will train him to meet Sullivan.

A STUDENT CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Annapolis, Pa., July 6.—S. A. Shields, who had been sent by the General Conference of the United Brethren Church to Lebanon Valley College to be educated for the ministry, is charged with stealing $300 worth of books from the College library.

MURDERED HIS SWEETHEART.

Stables Mill, Minn., July 6.—John Reed, a noted rifle shot, was arrested yesterday for murdering his sweetheart at Tyrus, Ill., twelve years ago.

SIX PERSONS DROWNED.

Waltham Bridge, N. C., July 6.—Four colored men and two women were drowned on Wednesday, while crossing a deep stream on a rude raft which broke.

POISONED HERSELF.

Warrenton, Conn., July 6.—Mrs. Sarah Clark demanded of Mayor Kendrick yesterday, that he should support her. On his refusing she took poison. Her condition is serious. The woman's husband last April accused the Mayor of improper intimacy with Mrs. Clark. The charge is denied.

A CONFLAGRATION.

Frankville, Minn., July 6.—Twenty-six buildings were burned yesterday. Loss, $150,000.

AN OPERA HOUSE BURNED.

St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—A fire caught in the green room of Wood's opera house at midnight. It was entirely destroyed. The performance had just closed. Loss, $15,000.

NOT THE WORK OF FENIANS.

Cornwall, July 6.—A prisoner named Wilson, charged with arson, confessed that he fired the Victoria docks, London, in 1881, for plunder. Heretofore it was believed to be the work of Fenians.

FLOODS.

Calcutta, July 6.—Heavy floods in Burma have caused great damage to property and some loss of life. The waters are subsiding.

SHOT BY MASKED MEN.

Denver, July 6.—The city is terribly excited over the startling news that the Grand County Commissioners were attacked by a masked mob. In 1879, when the county was created, the seat was located at Hot Sulphur Springs. At the election in 1880 the people changed the county seat to Grand Lake. The matter was taken to the District Court and then to the Supreme Court. Meanwhile hatred existed between the two sections. The Grand County Commissioners are Ramsey Day, R. O. Mills, E. F. Weber, Day and Mills favor declaring the vote illegal that created Grand Lake the county seat. On Monday the Commission had a regular meeting at Grand Lake, and reported that they decided to declare the office of County Treasurer vacant because of his refusal to file satisfactory bonds. Day, Webster and Clark Dean stopped at a boarding house near a pine thicket. On Wednesday morning, just before ten o'clock, the two commissioners and Clerk started to the place of meeting. Midway through the thicket three masked men suddenly commenced firing at and shooting all down almost instantly. One of the commissioners returned the fire, instantly killing an assailant. The other two masked men disappeared. Startled citizens arrived a moment later, and found Day dead and Webster and Dean mortally wounded. They tore the mask from the other, and found that it was Mills, like other County Commissioners. The other assailants are not known, but completed their work upon the noted desperadoes, Bill Redman and Les Coffin. The news at Hot Sulphur Springs produced intense excitement. Shortly before dark twenty horsemen, all well armed, left the Grand Lake, and a terrible fight is expected. A confeder riding fifty miles over mountains is the only means of communication.

FRENCH FLAG HOISTED.

St. John's, N. S. W., July 6.—A French Man of War has hoisted the French flag on the New Hebrides Islands.

Dr. Thomas Gray, Carpenter, St. Thomas, says:—"My wife has long been troubled with Constipation, she has used a great many so-called cures, but without doing her any lasting good. Dr. Casson's Stomach Bitters cured her, and she thinks it the best medicine ever made. For sale by all Druggists everywhere, in large bottles at 50 cents."

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1883.

Dr. J. C. TACHÉ, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has published a most complete and thorough refutation of the charges of inaccuracy against the third volume of the Census Report for 1881. He shows that asserted discrepancies are not really errors, but that it is the critics not the compilers who have blundered.

Because Mr. Foster admits that as a matter of strict grammatical construction, the Crooke Act as amended prohibited the sale of liquor on Sunday open to guests, it is assumed that the law is so. To adopt the literal meaning of this already dated clause would be to adopt the absurdity that the legislature passed an utterly unnecessary and meaningless amendment. One after another the license officials have declared that they interpreted the clause in the same manner as every one else did till this quibble was invoked to attack the new License Act. Whatever grammarians may say, the law permits Sunday selling to guests, for so the courts have decided, and that is the law till the decision is reversed.

THE PORT HOPE NEWS congratulates the Cobourg World for "handling" without gloves. As this "handling" consisted simply of violent abuse without argument, because we pointed out that the World had published a falsified version of a speech by Mr. Monaghan as a foundation for false charges against him and Sir John Macdonald, it is obvious that the sympathies of the News are with falsehood and abuse. The following choice, extracted from the same issue of the News will show its unimpaired strength for giving a judgment on such matters:

"The government press has descended to the lowest depths of scurrilous and misrepresentation to vilify the Liberal party, and especially the leaders thereof. The News has fairly expressed itself in this branch of Sir John's policy, for there is abundant cause well informed people that he is justifying the lying abuse that has been heaped upon him. Sir John does not hesitate to stoop to any low, mean advantage of his political opponents."

It is not surprising that the Port Hope News admires the Cobourg World. They are a very prettily matched pair.

EXECUTIVE AND LEGISLATURE.

A state paper, written by Lord Carnarvon ten years ago, is quoted by the Opposition to show that in his opinion

"The constitution of Canada does not contemplate any interference with Provincial legislation on a subject within the competence of the Local Legislature, by the Dominion Parliament, or, as a consequence, by Dominion Ministers."

We quite agree with Lord Carnarvon in his interpretation of our constitution. The difficulty with our Reform friends seems to be that they do not distinguish between the legislative and executive powers of our Dominion and Provincial Governments.

The Parliament of Canada has no right and no power to interfere with matters over which the provinces have exclusive jurisdiction. The executive of Canada, the Governor-General in Council, has the right, and it is its duty, when advisable so to interfere by the exercise of the veto power entrusted to it, a power conferred upon it by our constitution, and exercised when both Conservative and Reform Administrations have been in power.

As to the boundary question the Reformers make the opposite mistake of attributing a power to the executive which it does not possess. They assume that the executive of the Dominion and of Ontario, the Governor-General in Council, and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, had a right to make an arrangement that would pledge the good faith of Canada and Ontario and impose upon the respective legislatures a moral obligation to ratify the award. By our constitution this right was expressly given to the Legislature, so neither the executive nor any other power had the slightest right to influence their action in this respect.

Methodist Union.

Methodist union would seem to be almost certain. All six conferences have debated the question and five have decided in favor of it. The vote was as follows:—

	For.	Agd.
Montreal	28	25
London	98	101
Toronto	137	37

BUILDING OPERATIONS AND STREETS.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Before the demolition of the "Royal Oak" on Hunter street proceeds further and the new building is commenced, let me call the attention of the Street Inspector, or other proper authorities, to the necessity of indicating that there should be a sufficiently strong fence erected and a plank walk made around the excavation that passes by the side of the "Oak" at the corner of the street. This method of enclosing is enforced in cities, and if I mistake not there is a municipal law to that effect. If there is not, one should be made and enforced. I am sure that the Street Inspector and others seem to think they have a right to use most of the sidewalk and also the road when working at buildings. This sort of thing should not be tolerated, and I trust the good sense of the "Review" will see to it that they are not allowed to do so after this and similar matters.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.
Peterborough, July 5, 1883.

AN EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Having left Peterborough nearly two months ago for a visit to the Northwest, for the benefit of my health and for business purposes, I am sorry to hear that some people begin to think and say that I will not return. As that false report might be believed, I state here that I most decidedly intend to go back to Peterborough, but I cannot say when yet. I have business interests there and I must consequently go back.

I don't think anybody has a right to complain of my absence, as Mr. Ed. Cravie, an able Veterinary Surgeon, has the management of the business I was in.

I long, Mr. Editor, to see the Peterborough people again, but I will not return, nevertheless, before the object of my mission is accomplished, and my health, which is improving, is thoroughly restored, if this can be.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness to insert this, I remain very respectfully,
P. PAQUIN, V. S.

WARSAW.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PRESERVATION.—On Tuesday evening a number of the members of the Methodist congregation at the Warsaw circuit assembled at the residence and presented the Rev. Thomas Fox with a press and an address, on the eve of his departure for his new field of labor at Huntsville. All the appointments on the circuit were represented. Tea was provided, and a pleasant and profitable evening was spent. Mr. Fox takes with him the respect and good wishes of the members of his congregation and all who were acquainted with him on this circuit.

PORT HOPE.

A HORSE POISONED.—The Guide says that Mr. Henry Billings, near Gores Landing, had a valuable horse poisoned on Sunday. Several vets. were called in but no one could do anything for the animal until Dr. Coomer was sent for and after a good deal of search the Dr. found the horse had been fed with out grass out of a field where a wild poisonous herb had been growing, which the horse had eaten. The proper remedy was given and the animal has recovered.

Visit to Peterboro.

Specialists from the International Hygienic and long Institute, 171 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday July 4-5. The Surgeons will have a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Bouville, of Paris, ex-surgens of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all diseases of the Lungs and Throat. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures we would refer you to Mrs. Spence, Hartwoodville, P. Q., last here. Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Ontario; Mr. De Boucherville, Ottawa, Ontario; E. L. Caswell, Aylmer, Ontario; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto, Ontario; Geo. Agar, New Edinburgh, Brantford and Long Distance; and the complete list of our wonderful cures which we could refer to. For particulars write to 171 Church Street, Toronto or 113 Phillips Square, Montreal.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? Ice Cream.
Go to J. Craig's for Fresh Pastry, Ice Cream, Confectionery, &c., opposite Wrighton's store, George street.

Plane Tuning.
Mr. George I. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Rich, Toronto, is in town, and will attend to any repairs left at T. McNeill's store or Taylor & McDonald's Drug store.

The Weather.
To-day is bright and warm. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 o'clock a.m., to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph company, are as follows:—Moderate, variable winds, and fine, warm weather.

Drainage Required.
The following remark in the London Free Press on the benefits of drainage may also be perused with advantage in this neighborhood:—
"A good deal of drainage will be done on the farms in this region, after the experience of the present season. Where there has been good drainage the benefit has been clearly seen. It is said that underdrainage, besides getting the stagnant water out of the soil, will increase the fertility equal to several years' ordinary manuring."

Smith's Market.
Strawberries every morning. Parties and festivals supplied at a moment's notice. Berries picked on dry days for preserving; all orders will receive prompt and careful attention.
Cherries, Apples, Lemons, Green Peas, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, etc.

Fresh Fish. Parties will confer a great favor by leaving their orders on Thursday evening, as we find it utterly impossible to get over so large a tract of ground late Friday morning in time for dinner.

The A. C. A. Pamphlet.
The Belleville Ontario has the following, and we must tender it our thanks for its compliment to ourselves:—
"We have received a copy of a pamphlet issued by the 'Local Committee' of the American Canoe Association, the annual meeting of which takes place this year at Stony Lake, a short distance north of Peterborough, from the 10th to the 24th of August next. The pamphlet, which by the way is a very creditable specimen of the typographical art, gives full information of the camp and the means of reaching it. The printing was done at the Review office, Peterborough, where good work is always turned out."

Fireworks to-night.
After the conclusion of the open air concert by the Fire Brigade Band in the Court House Park this evening, they will march to the market square; when the remainder of the Dominion Day fireworks will be put off, among which will be on immense illuminated balloons, sky-rockets, Roman candles, etc. The Executive Committee met last night, but owing to the fact that all the accounts had not been received, they adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman. A number of the cups were distributed to the winners, and those who have not yet received their prize can get information concerning them from Mr. Ed. Salisbury, the indefatigable secretary.

Sunday School Excursion.
The annual excursion of the Bible Christian Church Sunday School was held on Thursday. The scholars, teachers and friends went down the river to Campbelltown on the steamer Golden-Eye, which left her wharf on Sherbrooke street at about 8 o'clock a.m. The attendance was so large as it had been in former years, one reason for which was probably that it was held so soon after Dominion Day, but those who were present, and there was a large number, had plenty of enjoyment. The trips down and return were very enjoyable, and at the picnic ground a pleasant day was spent in boating, swinging, running races arranged on the ground, and all the games usually carried out on such occasions. The excursionists arrived home at about half past eight o'clock in the evening, and all appeared to be well pleased with the day.
